Science Museum To Have Wolf Exhibit

First major exhibit to focus on the relationships — social, biological and mythological — between wolves and humans opens Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Science Museum of Minnesota, 10th and Wabasha, St. Paul.

"Wolves and Humans: Coexistence, Competition, Conflict" supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, focuses on human attitudes toward this often controversial animal.

A one-day conference, featuring noted wolf authorities and a citizens roundtable, will be held in St. Paul opening day. Speakers include L. David Mech, wolf biologist; Karlyn Aitkinson Berg, North American Wildlife Foundation; and Roger Caras, ABC Television. For information call (612) 221-9433.

Divided into seven areas, the exhibit includes wolf images, historical and current, and a look at the relationships that humans and wolves have shared throughout history are two subjects explored in the beginning of the exhibit.

Wolf lore is presented in section three. Romulus and Remus, Little Red Riding Hood, werewolves, other examples of folklore and art selections are included. The wolf has been pictured as fool, intelligent, enemy, helper of humans, supernatural devourer and as grateful for human help.

Central section of "Wolves and Humans" is a pack of 12 taxidermically - prepared wolves around a white-tailed deer that they have just killed. This northern Minnesota scene depicts the social organization and behavior of a wolf pack. Video monitors around the group explain these behaviors and show live wolves displaying the complete behaviors.

Another section looks at why wolves howl and how they learn. The recreated setting of a wolf den shows the vocalizations between mother and cubs. A howling booth lets visitors try it for themselves.

A comparison between wolves and dogs considers why the wolf is so suited for hunting and the dangers of having a wolf as a pet. Skulls, skeletons and pictures showing wolves and dogs in similar movements and vocalizations are included.

Final section of "Wolves and Humans" describes the tools researchers use today to study wolves, such as radio-collars and recording equipment. Maps illustrate the present distribution of the wolf in Minnesota and elsewhere compared to earlier times and make projections for the future.

"Wolves and Humans" also includes video-tape interviews of people with differing opinions about the wolf, such as deer hunters, environmentalists, farmers, trappers and Native Americans.

All the wolves used in the exhibit were collected as salvage specimens by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service from 1979 to the present.

Two theater pieces have been designed in conjunction with the exhibit. "The Nootka Klukwalle" focuses on the initiation ceremony for young men and women wishing to enter the wolf society of the Nootka Indians, and "A Medieval European Village" examines the attitudes of this time period. Regularly-scheduled performances will be held in the exhibit area.

Museum hours are 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and children 12 and under. There is additional charge for Omnitheater shows. The Science Museum is organizing other programs, demonstrations, and lectures in conjunction with "Wolves and Humans." Call (612)221-9454 for museum program information and theater performance times.

Wildlife Area New Newfolden Is Dedicated

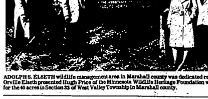
Adolph S. Elseth wildlife management area was dedicated recently when Orville Elseth presented Hugh Price, of the Minnesota Wildlife Heritage Foundation, the deed for 40 acres in Section 33 of West Valley Township in Marshall county.

Family of Adolph Elseth donated the 40-acre tract of land to the Minnesota Wildlife Heritage Foundation to be used as a perpetual wildlife management area in honor and memory of Adolph Elseth. The property will be managed for wildlife by the DNR Section of Wildlife.

This land was purchased by Adolph in 1901 at the age of 20 from the Great Northern Railroad Company. Adolph deeded the property to his brother, Alfred, in 1907, when he went to Canada. Upon his return in 1917, Adolph repurchased the tract from his brother. It has remained in the Elseth family name since his death in 1931. Only a small portion of the tract was developed for agricultural use. The rest remains in it's natural condition and offers excellent habitat for wildlife.

Family of Adolph Elseth no longer lives in the Newfolden area, with Orville being the last to leave in 1971. Alma and Kenneth left in the 1940's, Harold and Cora left in 1967, and Edmund moved in the early 60's.

Family's gift of this tract to the Minnesota Wildlife Heritage Foundation for use as a wildlife area will be an asset to the area.



ADOLPH S. ELSETH wildlife management area in Marshall county was dedicated recently when Orville Elseth presented Hugh Price of the Minnesota Wildlife Heritage Foundation with the deed for the 40 acres in Section 33 of West Valley Township in Marshall county.

Snowmobiling

"Time is wasting if you have not yet had your snowmobile serviced for riding this winter", says Donald M. Carlson, special assistant to the Commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) Trails & Waterways Unit.

"Or perhaps you will be riding a new machine this winter", he continued. "In any case, you should be sure that your snowmobile registration is up to date and you should know current rules and regulations. As in the past three-wheeling is prohibited on nearly all snowmobile trails in the state."

Before setting out this winter, said Carlson, try to get the latest map of those trails you are most interested in. Contacts for maps can be found in the new winter guide from the Minnesota Office of Tourism. The Agency also has snow depth information.

In the Twin Cities call 296-5029; Minnesota toll-free 1-800-652-9747; out-of-state toll free 1-800-328-1461. The skyway location for the Minnesota Office of Tourism is 240 Bremer Building, 419 North Robert Street, St. Paul, MN 55101.

Trail information is also available from the DNR - Trails & Waterways Unit, Box 52, Centennial Building, St. Paul, MN 55155-1679.

Turkey Hunt

Those who would like to participate in next spring's wild turkey hunt were reminded by the Department of Natural Resources that applications must be postmarked by December 16.

A total of 3,000 permits will be issued through use of a computerized drawing. Anyone who is a legal resident and 16 years of age or older by April 14, 1984 may apply.

In applying for a permit, one of five separate hunting time periods must be selected: April 14-18; April 20-24; April 26-30; May 2-6; or May 9-13. All dates are inclusive.

Persons who wish to hunt as a group may submit their applications in a single envelope. The chance of the group being drawn will be the same as for an individual applicant.

Successful applicants, except those who hunted turkeys in a previous Minnesota season, will be required to attend a three hour "turkey hunter orientation program". The sessions will be offered statewide at numerous locations during March and April, said wildlife officials.

Computer drawing will be held Jan. 4 and only successful applicants will be notified. Hunters will be required to purchase a $10 turkey hunting license in addition to a 1984 small game license.

Ski Licenses

Cross country skiing licenses went on sale at some locations Nov. 18, the Department of Natural Resources announced.

Those new licenses are required this year for the first time for skiers 16-64 years of age who use any non-federal public trail which is designated and promoted for cross country skiing.

Licenses are now available at county auditor's offices and DNR License Center at 625 North Robert Street, St. Paul. Officials said other license sources, including certain ski shops and parks, should also have the licenses for sale by now.

A complete list of license sales locations, so far as they are known by the DNR, will be available to the news media by Friday, Dec. 9, according to Donald M. Carlson, special assistant to the Commissioner of the Trails and Waterways Unit.

He asked that the public show patience "if everything does not go smoothly" initially. "There will inevitably be some confusion in the first stages of getting the license system established," said Carlson.

He said public response to the ski license has been "overwhelmingly positive" so far. "We share skiers' optimism that this license will have a long term beneficial impact on ski trails in the state."

Brochures explaining the license system are available at state parks, DNR offices, county auditors' offices and most ski shops and 7-Eleven stores.

Annual license for an individual skier costs $5 and entitles the license holder to use some 1,400 miles of designated cross country ski trails throughout the state, including nearly 700 miles in DNR management units such as state parks and state forests.

There is also a husband and wife combination license available at a cost of $7.50. Skiers also have the option of buying a one-day permit at a cost of $1. An additional 50 cent issuing fee may be charged at some locations.

Party, Awards, Merger, Topics Of Saddle Club

Thief River Falls Saddle Club held its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 22, at Florence's Cafe with 20 members present and Russell McKercher presiding.

Under old business, members discussed ways to improve the next "Funday" event, tentatively scheduled for next spring.

New business included the club Christmas party which will be a potluck supper at 7 p.m. December 17, at the home of Orrin and Linda Joppru. This will replace the regular December meeting. Discussion was also held on the possibility of sponsoring a 4-H award for horse judging, with the matter tabled pending research by Anita Cardinal to determine if there is enough interest in forming a horse judging team.

Members are planning a two-day trail ride in April at Bemis Hill. Input was asked for regarding locations of more riding trails, with everyone to seek possibilities. Donnie Larson of the Oklee Saddle Club discussed the possibility of a merger of the two clubs.

Next regular meeting is scheduled for January 16.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Domestic Content: A Job Killer

On November 3, the House of Representatives passed a bill that would increase the cost of a new car between $333 and $838 per car and destroy tens of thousands of American jobs. (Estimates range from 66,000 to 365,000 jobs lost.) Two hundred nineteen congressmen voted for this bill. One hundred ninety-nine voted against it. The Senate has not yet voted on the matter.

If increasing the cost of new automobiles and destroying American jobs is not your idea of sound economic policy, you may wish to ask your congressman how he or she voted on this legislation, the Domestic Content Bill.

The comestic content legislation would, beginning in 1985, phase in a requirement that foreign auto manufacturers who sold more than 100,000 cars would have to build up 90 per cent of the cars in the United States. It would effectively shut out the most popular foreign cars from the American market.

The United Auto Workers Union (UAW) is the chief backer of this bill, and the November 3 vote demonstrates that an expensive lobbying campaign can overcome economic common sense.

The UAW makes the following claims for the domestic content legislation. It would, they say, create 650,000 jobs in the auto industry and not have any impact on the cost of a new car. That sounds wonderful, and it would be, if it were true.

The facts, however, lie elsewhere.

Slamming the door in the face of foreign automakers would soon lead our trading partners to respond in kind. This has always been the result of protectionist legislation. The most painful example of this phenomenon was the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act of 1930 which resulted in retaliatory tariff barriers being enacted by virtually every country in the world and was a major contributor to the Great Depression. What is it that we are told about those who refuse to learn from the mistakes of history?

Wharton Econometric Forecasting Associates has predicted that domestic content legislation would hike the cost of a new car by 10 per cent, costing American consumers $18 billion a yearf, and destroy more than 365,000 American jobs by the year 1991.

The Wharton forecast is joined by the Congressional Budget Office which reported that domestic content would hike the cost of an average new car by $333 and produce a net loss of 66,000 American jobs.

The Commerce Department pegs the added cost of a new car at $450, and the Federal Trade Commission weighs in with an even higher estimated of $838 per car.

The estimates of just how many jobs would be destroyed and just how high car prices would jump vary, but they all point in one direction. The wrong direction.

The American auto industry had a bad year in 1982, but before we prescribe toxic medicine, let's keep in mind that 1983 has seen the combined auto industry profits rise to more than $5 billion, their highest level in history. With the recovery, which protectionist legislation would well torpedo, more than 100,000 auto workers have gone back to work this year.

Lower taxes, less regulation and a vigorous economy are brining the auto industry out of the recession. Domestic content would send it back.

The domestic content legislation now faces two remaining hurdles. The Senate has not yet taken a vote on the matter and may well show more concern for American consumers and workers than the House of Representatives did on November 3. Should the Senate, however, pass the bill, it still faces a likely veto by President Reagan.

We did not elect our representatives to raise the price of new cars and destroy American jobs. The Domestic Content Bill would do both with a vengeance. It is a lemon.

If your congressman voted for this job-killing bill, you may wish to have him recalled in 1984.

Injection Offers New Treatment For Slipped Disc

Potential for treating a slipped disc in the spine with an injection instead of surgery currently exists at Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls, according to hospital officials. Use of the injectible drug chymopapain (pronounced chi-mo-pah-pane) by trained orthopedic surgeons was authorized by the federal food and drug administration a year ago.

Dr. Jeff Garske, orthopedic surgeon at the Falls Clinic professional association, received his specialized training in use of the drug in August in Akron, Ohio. Although the drug is claimed to be five times safer than surgery, nine out of 10 patients with whom he had discussed the alternatives have preferred surgery, Dr. Garske said.

According to information provided by Northwestern hospital, the use of chymopapain by injection dehydrates the herniated disc rather than requiring surgery to remove it. The substance used is an enzyme derived from papayas.

Chymopapain is injected into the jelly-like nucleus of the disc and is used to treat slipped discs only when they have not responded to more conservative methods of treatment such as bed rest or traction.

Discs are pads of cartilage between vertebrae that absorb shock and keep vertebrae from rubbing together. When a disc ruptures, the jelly-like substance in its center bulges and puts pressure on a nerve, causing pain. Chymopapain dehydrates the nucleus, taking pressure of the nerve and relieving the pain.

Hospital stay is shortened with the injection process as compared with surgery. However, cost of the drug is high and relief from pain may take up to six weeks as the disc is dehydrated. Except for the discomfort from surgery itself, surgical disc removal usually provides almost immediate pain relief.

A major drawback of the injection process, Dr. Garske points out, is the possibility of severe allergic reaction. About one patient in 100 will have the reaction which can take the form of hives, severely increased heart rate, respiratory constrictions and other symptoms which, if untreated, could be fatal. Because of the possibility of the reaction, preparations must be made in advance for treatment immediately if it occurs.

Dr. Garske said that the procedure is advisable only when the ailment of the patient has been truly documented as a slipped disc. It is generally performed under a local anesthetic and requires the use of an image intensifier which permits the surgeon to follow and control and path of the needle being inserted. Such equipment has been available at the local hospital for some time.

One advantage of the procedure, the doctor noted, is that if it is not successful or must be aborted for some reason, surgery is still a follow-up option. Use of chymopapain does not preclude later surgery.

"People who have heard of the procedure may not have been aware that it is an option available at Northwestern hospital," Dr. Garske said.

Carpenter To Seek National FU Presidency

Following a formal indication from National Farmers Union president George W. Stone that he will not seek re-election to the organization's top post, Minnesota Farmers Union president Cy Carpenter said he will likely be a candidate for the position.

NFU will elect officers at its annual convention to be held March 11-14 in New Orleans, LA. The president's term is four years.

Carpenter was reelected president of the Minnesota Farmers Union at that organization's annual convention November 21. He has served as chief of the state organization since Nov. 1, 1972. Prior to becoming president, Carpenter served as MFU's vice president and state secretary. He had joined the state staff in 1965 and served as its legislative director at the state capitol and as organization director, living for several years in Thief River Falls.

"If things continue as they are now, I will definitely be a candidate for the National Farmers Union presidency. And I see no reason why I would not run," Carpenter said. "The organization and services that NFU provide are, of course, more important than any individual could hope to be. But I believe I can provide the kind of leadership necessary to serve the nation's family farmers."

Carpenter had praise for Stone, saying the current NFU president continues to serve the organization with great dedication. NFU will miss Stone's active leadership when he retires, Carpenter said.

Prairie Public TV Shows Set For Christmas

Prairie Public Television is celebrating the holiday season with special Christmas programs. Highlighting the Christmas line-up is "A Christmas Special With Luciano Pavarotti," a performance taped in Montreal's Notre Dame Cathedral. Joining Pavarotti for the hour-long performance are Les Petits Chanteurs du Mont-Royal and Les Disciples de Massenet.

Former conductor of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, Franz-Paul Decker, leads the orchestra in this holiday special which features Pavarotti performing solo and with the two choirs. "A Christmas Special With Luciano Pavarotti" will be televised on Monday, December 19, at 9 p.m.

FORMATION OF ICE on area rivers and lakes brought out the ice fishermen over the weekend, along with Conservation Officer Craig Backer, who made sure that everything was legal. Although the ice appeared to be about three or four inches thick in the area of the Eighth Street bridge, where these people were fishing, water was coming over the ice along the shore in many areas. Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman issued a warning that ice conditions are still very unstable and advised people to stay off the river or at the very least to use extreme caution if venturing onto the river for any type of activity. Parents should especially warn their children to stay off the ice since river current and fluctuating water levels create unstable ice conditions.

At 8 p.m., immediately preceding "A Christmas Special With Luciano Pavarotti", Prairie Public Television offers an all-new production from the producers of Great Performances, "An American Christmas: Words and Music," featuring James Earl Jones. Jones reads Robert Frost's "Christmas Tree.". Joining Jones in this holiday special are: Linda Lavin, starring in a short Grace Paley play about a little Jewish girl who gets a part in the school Christmas presentation; Freda Payne singing Christmas carols; and the Harlem Children's Chorus singing holiday music with the Columbia Boys Choir.

On Tuesday, December 20, public TV's Kennedy Center Tonight presents "Christmas At Kennedy Center With Leontyne Price." This holiday special, which begins at 8 p.m., features songs and reading from traditional Christmas works.

"Christmas With The Westminster Choir," filmed at the Bristol Chapel on the campus of the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, will be televised on Wednesday, December 21, at 10 p.m. The choir performs popular carols under the direction of Joseph Flummerfelt.

On Christmas Eve at 8 p.m., 400-person choir from St. Olaf's College, Northfield, will be featured in "What Child Is This?" Joining the choir for this Christmas special is the 100-person St. Olaf's orchestra.

Three holiday specials are included in Prairie Public Television's schedule on Christmas Day. At 2:30 p.m., Mel Torme leads an all-star cast in a sentimental program, "The Christmas Songs." Joining Torme for this 90-minute special are Les Brown and His Band of Renown, Rich Little, George Shearing, Roy Rogers and the Sons of the Pioneers, Maureen McGovern, Marilyn McCoo and Billy Davis, Jr. At 5 p.m., John Williams leads the Boston Pops Orchestra and the Tanglewood Festival Chorus in "Christmas At Pops." A drama, "Christmas Snows, Christmas Winds," is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. In this touching program a man recalls the colorful scenes and experiences of a Christmas from his past.

Three Christmas programs will be broadcast on all six of Prairie Public Television's stations — KFME (13) Fargo, KGFE (2) Grand Forks, KBME (3) Bismarck, KSRE (6) Minot, KDSE (9) Dickinson and KWSE (4) Williston.

Co-op Had Good Year In Spite Of Ag Economy

Net increase of $11.9 million over the previous year was reported by Harvest States Cooperatives (formerly GTA), St. Paul-based grain marketing, processing and supply cooperative, for the fiscal year which ended May 31.

Allen D. Hanson, president, told 5,000 farmer-owners attending the cooperative's annual meeting in Minneapolis that grain marketing and processing activities generated total revenues of almost $2.4 billion. He said the year's grain volume of 530 million bushels was the highest in the cooperative's history. Along with a general tightening of operations, this enabled Harvest States to achieve a net profit while enduring extremely adverse conditions in the agricultural economy.

There's renewed optimism, according to the Harvest States president, because of expanded membership and facilities in the Pacific Northwest, now tied in with the cooperative's historic strength in the Midwest. Farmers shipped 529,400 bushels of grain through Harvest States cooperatives, a 20 per cent increase for the year. North Dakota farmers led all states in grain shipped to the cooperative with a total of 140 million bushels.

FU President Cites Need For Farm Policy

Growing need for new directions in agricultural policy is evident through the need for national recognition of family farmers, and through the unacceptable fact that America and its government are complaining about stockpiles of food while millions of people in the world go hungry, according to Minnesota Farmers Union President Cy Carpenter. Carpenter spoke to the 42nd annual MFU convention held in St. Paul recently.

The continuing battle over future farm policy will come to a cross-roads with the writing of the 1985 farm bill, Carpenter said, and Farmers Union members must be prepared to be at the forefront as leaders in the discussion.

"We desperately need a family farm policy that is based on the real world values of the rural community that has built our country to what it is today," Carpenter said. "However, we must be careful not to repeat the policies of the past since they may not meet the new challenges we will surely face. We must prepare ourselves for a new, complicated situation both politically and economically.

"The 1985 farm bill allows us the chance to write our ticket for future success. If we sit idly back and let the Reaganauts and the office of management and budget write it for us, we will dismally fail.

"Processors and others who claim a right to direct agricultural policy as agriculture becomes more important, have little recognition of what is really needed for farmers and the rural community. We — farmers and others who live in rural communities every day — should have our input in the decisions. In fact, we must demand our say."

Carpenter said farmers are not receiving the national respect due them, but instead face verbal attacks as budget drainers, rather than praise for the contributors they are.

"We need to develop new action and cause an awareness in the general public, on a national level, for the contributions of agriculture," he said.

In addition, Carpenter pointed out, he is worried about the growing concern over the disparity of a nation that complains about growing stockpiles of food while people in its own cities and around the world go hungry.

"To others in this world, that may be the basis upon which America is judged. This is a condition we in the United States would hold up to ridicule if it happened in a communist nation. We can not tolerate it. It is simply not an acceptable policy," he said.

"We cannot sit still while our government complains about one of the most productive segments of our economy — farmers — and allows others to starve. Solving the hunger-food surplus paradox should be a top priority for the future of agriculture, he said.

Carpenter spoke to a packed auditorium at the MFU headquarters, where delegates and members gathered to write the organization's 1983 policy statement. MFU represents more than 23,000 farm families across the state in legislation, education, and cooperation.

Puppet Troupe On Sr. Program

Senior citizen's program at Northwest regional library on Thursday will feature a presentation by the "Kids on the Block" puppet group.

Members of the organization will explain what they are doing in the schools, how they began and how they help promote awareness of handicaps. Two members of the group will also perform two of their scripts.

Program begins at 3 p.m. in the library meeting room, and is open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

In 1962, the first machinery created to promote unionization and collective bargaining in the federal government was established by Executive Order 10988 issued by President John Kennedy, according to "Labor Firsts in America," published by the U.S. Labor Department.

84 MCC Pupils On Honor Roll First Quarter

Nearly 40 per cent (84 out of 314) students attending Marshall County Central high school achieved placement on the honor roll during the first quarter of the 1983-84 school year.

Placement on the honor roll required that students maintain a grade point average of at least 2.67 (B-) on a scale in which an A is equivalent to 4.00, a B is equivalent to 3.00, a C is equivalent to 2.00, etc. (Extra honor points were given for advanced math and science classes which would allow a student to have more than a 4.00 average.)

Sixteen out of 36 (44.4 per cent) grade 12 students achieved the honor roll, and are listed with their grade point averages as follows: Brenda Berggren, 4.17; Kim Stokke, 4.13; Stacey Gonshorowski, 4.06; Karin Bolstad, 4.00; Paula Gustafson, 3.88; Shanna Brodersen, 3.75; Shelly Anderson, 3.63; Pam Pederson 3.53; Jody Hjelle, 3.48; Ken Krohn, 3.48; Nancy Engen, 3.41; Tami Hanson, 3.33; Grant Nelson, 3.24; Marie Weber, 3.15; Ryan Shern, 3.00; and Nancy Nelson, 2.92.

Seventeen out of 36 (47.2 per cent) grade 11 students achieved the honor roll, including: Scott Gustafson, 4.25; Bret Hanson, 4.09; Rodney Kvalvog, 3.83; Gay Moose, 3.70; Jon Douglas, 3.59; Charlene Fillmore, 3.50; Brian Rud, 3.48; Kevin Boe, 3.47; Donald Engen, 3.37; Sharon Rostvet, 3.29; Tonya Brodersen, 3.17; Betty Blawat, 3.11; Chris Vixie, 2.96; Angie Skadsem, 2.89; Jeff Melo, 2.83; Dawn Olson, 2.71; and Alan Hanson, 2.71.

Nine out of 27 (33.3 per cent) grade 10 students achieved the honor roll, including: Cynthia Ness, 3.56; Carla Bengtson, 3.33; Kelly Johnson, 3.20; Karen Busch, 3.10; Daren Stokke, 3.07; Katie McKenzie, 2.85; Karla Hanson, 2.82; Angie Rabenhorst, 2.70; and Scott Haugen, 2.70.

Fifteen out of 36 (41.6 per cent) grade 9 students achieved the honor roll, including: Jon Kragness, 4.00; Becky Berggren, 3.63; Darin Lee, 3.56; Donelle Folden, 3.48; Kevin Olsen, 3.48; Danni Halvorson, 3.44; Darin Rokke, 3.41; Brian Timm, 3.37; Dan Newland, 3.15; Kory Maurstad, 3.00; Robby Giffen, 3.00; Tom Bolstad, 2.96; Karl Larson, 2.85; Jill Melvie, 2.82; and Brenda Kezar, 2.76.

Fourteen out of 35 (40.0 per cent) grade 8 students achieved the honor roll, including: Michelle Sorenson, 3.93; Andrea Kragness, 3.89; DeAnn Bakke, 3.56; Earl Grandstrand, 3.56; Kalli Peterson, 3.48; Natalie Ueland, 3.44; Nikki Leach, 3.33; Crystal Vixie, 3.26; Greg Graham, 3.07; John VanCamp, 3.07; Wayne Garthus, 2.96; Sharon Olson, 2.85; Denae Mjeide, 2.74; and Corey Olson, 2.70.

Thirteen out of 44 (29.5 per cent) grade 7 students achieved the honor roll, including: Kelli Anderson, 3.93; Tara Brodersen, 3.83; CharRae Underdahl, 3.70; Darcy Gonsorowski, 3.63; Kari Lokstad, 3.56; Dean Grandstrand, 3.37; Christine Havumaki, 3.33; Jaci Timm, 3.33; Shane Chapman, 3.15; Layle Moan, 3.15; Taren Stennes, 2.96; Maria Erickson, 2.96; and Nancy Newland, 2.78.

Bergland Tells Farmers Union NRECA Plans

"The Reagan administration may be trying to get rid of the National Rural Electric Cooperative association and its system of 1,036 user-owned electric cooperatives across the nation by opposing a plan to re-lend money from the organization's revolving fund and keep interest rates on those loans at a reasonable rate," states future NRECA general manager Bob Bergland. Bergland will take over as the organization's top official in March.

Speaking at a news conference in conjunction with the 42nd annual Minnesota Farmers Union convention in St. Paul, Bergland said NRECA's plan to keep the vital revolving fund as much a part of the U.S. treasury as the forest department is ready for floor action in the U.S. House, and there is no action as yet in the U.S. Senate.

He said nuclear power as a substitute for imported oil is of vital interest to him as he prepares for the helm of the rural electric co-op system.

"We simply cannot depend on foreign oil as our source of fuel any longer," he said. Recognizing that the public has many unresolved questions about nuclear fuel and its safety, he proposed that NRECA thoroughly research those questions.

"NRECA is going to do our best to put our arms around the issue and explore the risks, then either reduce them or eliminate them altogether," he said. "We need to look critically at the way our systems are designed." Bergland pointed out that other countries use nuclear power quite successfully, but they utilize a different technology.

And a third area Bergland voiced for NRECA is its capability to administer farm and public programs. There is precedence for such a system, he said, because federal programs have been contracted in the past to organizations such as NRECA that have no profit motive and work primarily to provide services. It will take several years to determine the feasibility of such a system, he said.

The former U.S. agriculture secretary was critical of the farm policies of the Reagan administration, saying they should return to the policies that would best serve family farmers, instead of moving through a "lurching" system of alternatively strong and weak farm programs.

"This administration's attitude is unsettling. Their hope is that the Russians will come in and bail them out. I don't think that is going to happen," Bergland said.

"We can't export ourselves out," he said.

If exports are to be a foundation for future programs, Bergland said he would like to see our commodities and products exported to underdeveloped and developing countries to alleviate world hunger. Sixty per cent of the people in Mexico, for instance, live in abject poverty, according to Bergland. And, he added, there is a lot of work to be done in our own country to eliminate hunger.

Bergland said he would like to see farmer cooperatives form a trading company to deal with those developing countries. Cooperatives that purchase fertilizer, import raw materials, or export their products could be of enormous help in places like Mexico, where there is a fairly large poultry and hog industry that needs new technologies.

In addition, the government should enter into that trading company, he said. Government officials could accomplish much for agricultural exports by helping to provide contacts that are honest and sincere.

"This would establish a relationship between the President of the United States and cooperatives that has never been seen before," Bergland said.

The U.S. Employment Service and affiliated state employment security agencies operate about 1,700 local Job Service officers to serve job seekers and employers.

IMPROVEMENT PLAN for Highway 59 South (Third Street), between Atlantic Avenue and First Street, was given final approval by the Thief River Falls city council last night after voicing concerns over the closing of Red Lake Boulevard one last time. Steve Baker (standing), preliminary design engineer for the Minnesota department of transportation, defended the plan, noting that a lot of people had been involved in developing it. He also reaffirmed the state's position on the street closure, assuring those attending the meeting that there would be no project unless council approved the plan "as set out in the design." Seated (from left) are Alderman Bill Penning, Mayor Bob Carlson, City Clerk Jerry Wigness and Don Stewart of Stewart and Walker, consulting engineers for the city.

City Council Gives 3rd St. Project Okay

Faced without any serious alternatives, Thief River Falls city council approved the preliminary design for improvement of Third Street, between First Street and Atlantic Avenue (including closure of Red Lake Boulevard), at an adjourned meeting held last night in city auditorium.

Although concerns and objections were raised to the closure of Red Lake Boulevard's intersection with Third Street, council was given written notice that the Minnesota department of transportation (MnDOT) would not do the project at all unless council approved it "with the conditions set forth and the layout as shown.

Steve Baker, preliminary design engineer for MnDOT, represented the state, noting that they had evaluated several alternatives in the Red Lake Boulevard area before determining that closure was the only acceptable one. He cited safety as the determining factor in the decision, with limited vision due to the bridge walls reducing safe stopping distance, and proximity to Davis Avenue causing a confusing situation for drivers who would be unsure of where other vehicles were turning. He cited accident statistics which showed that over the past three years, most intersections along Third street experienced approximately seven accidents, with the figure doubling as the bridge was approached, and nearly quadrupling at the Red Lake Boulevard intersection to 27 accidents. More importantly, he emphasized, 40 per cent of those accidents involved personal injuries.

Noting that the majority of objections were being raised over concern for creating more traffic on Atlantic and Davis Avenues, Baker suggested that "maybe these three streets are not the answer." He promised the cooperation of the state in helping the city solve its traffic flow problems, including study of a possible bypass around the city.

Representatives of the Eagles Club expressed concern that they would be losing parking all along Davis Avenue in front of their building. They were assured that only stalls at the corner of the intersection with Fourth Street would be lost, and additional parking would be gained in the cul-de-sac to be created at the end of Red Lake Boulevard. Present plans call for a 90 foot diameter turn-around there, and Baker agreed to work with the club to see if additional parking could be gained by modifying the plan.

Also discussed was the closing of Pine Avenue with construction of a connection across the parking lot of Evangelical Covenant church and the Skogerboe property. Baker noted that they had

Flood Control Project Topic In Newfolden

Public meeting will be held in the Newfolden community center at 7 p.m. Monday, December 5, to inform local residents on the progress of the Snake River project.

Middle River-Snake River watershed district representatives, along with officials from state agencies, will explain the project's progress from its inception to the present, and discuss plans for future activities.

Since the purpose of the Middle River-Snake River watershed district is to define the area's water problems and suggest possible solutions, the Snake River project was suggested as a partial solution to flooding problems.

Overall plan, as designed by the Middle River-Snake River watershed district board, states that potential storage sites in the Snake River stream bed should be considered for development. At a meeting held in June at Warren, potential sites for impoundment structures were suggested in Marsh Grove, Viking and New Solum Townships.

County Levy Increases 13 Per Cent . . .

Taxpayers In County To Dig Deeper During 1984

Pennington county taxpayers will have to come up with approximately another quarter of a million dollars more in tax payments in 1984 than they did in 1983 to support local government, according to Kenneth Olson, Pennington county auditor.

The county board of commissioners set its levy of $1,888,500 at its November meeting, an increase of $215,897 or nearly 13 per cent from this year. Last year the county levy was $1,672,603.

Olson said that the city of Thief River Falls levy was increased from $895,000 in 1983 to $994,990 in 1984 while the School District 564 levy was reduced from $3,695,655 in 1983 to $3,606,470 in 1984. In total, the three governmental units will levy $6,489,960 in local taxes for 1984 in comparison with $6,263,258 in 1983 for an increase of $226,702.

In addition, many Pennington county townships will have to levy more taxes locally as a result of action by the 1983 state legislature. Those townships which did not levy an average of two mills per year over the past three years will lose all of their state aid to local governments. Those which did average the two mills per year will have their local aid cut 50 per cent by the state. Olson said that 12 of the county's 21 townships will lose all of their local government aid and the remaining nine will lose half of what they had received previously.

If townships wish to maintain their same level of income, therefore, they will have to levy for it locally. This will add to the $226,702 increase noted for the combined levy of county, city of Thief River Falls and School District 564.

According to the county auditor's figures, the county levy increased from $633,000 to $730,425 in the revenue fund, from $470,000 to $524,000 in the road and bridge fund and from $475,000 to $532,000 in the welfare fund. Payment on Oakland Park nursing home bonds increases in 1984 from $25,778 to $34,946 while payment on the law enforcement center bonds decreases from $68,825 to $67,129.

Olson said one of the main reasons for the increase in local levy is the reduction in aids from the state of Minnesota. Local government aid to Pennington county from the state will be cut from about $176,000 in 1983 to only $106,000 in 1984 — a reduction of $70,000. Another category of state assistance called attached machinery aid has been eliminated completely, resulting in a reduction of another $4,000.

Wetland reimbursement which amounted to $23,000 for Pennington county in 1983 has been reduced by the state to $5,000 for 1984, causing an additional revenue loss of $18,000. The loss of these state aids accounts for nearly all of the increase in the revenue fund levy.

Road and bridge fund is used primarily for maintenance of county roads and bridges and operation of the county highway engineer's office. Increase of levy in that fund is due to project work scheduled or anticipated for 1984.

Increase in the welfare fund levy from $475,000 to $532,000 is caused primarily by three areas of expense, according to Gary Erickson, director of the county social services department.

Medical assistance levy increases because of more liberalized criteria on

County Fair Needs Help To Avoid $5,000 Deficit

Unless the board of directors of the Pennington county fair association can come up with some ideas to increase revenues for 1984, continued operation of the long-standing summer activity may be in jeopardy. That is the opinion of Oliver (Skip) Swanson, president of the association.

"It doesn't seem to make much difference how we try to shuffle the budget, we still seem to come up about $5,000 short on projected 1984 operations," Swanson said. "There is very little that can be done to cut costs and still maintain a good fair. And there are those on the board who think there isn't much purpose going into a project which is expected to lose that much money."

Swanson noted that the fair board is very interested in continuing to provide an attractive fair for the county, carrying on a tradition of what would be 83 years' standing in 1984. But it is wary of trying to perpetuate something which doesn't have public support to the extent necessary to make it successful.

"There is no way of stating the situation without making it sound like a threat," Swanson added, "but that isn't the intent. We think the people of the community and county should be aware of what the conditions are and that the board is totally open to suggestions, opinions and ideas as to what should be done. Maybe we have been overlooking something obvious."

Annual meeting of the county fair association has been scheduled for Monday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls. The meeting is open to the public and anyone who has purchased a $5 life membership in the association is eligible to vote.

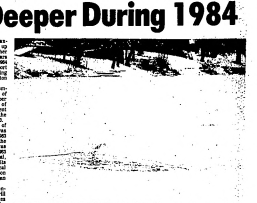
Applications For Fuel Aid Being Taken

Northwest community action will take energy assistance applications at the local intake sites during the month of December. If you wish to apply for energy assistance you must make an appointment.

Appointments can be made by telephone on Monday mornings between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon. In East Marshall county call Karen Skadsem at 222-3309. Applications for energy assistance will be taken until May 31, 1984.



RECOVERY CREW assembled from among law enforcement officers, skin divers and Hubert's Service of Thief River Falls worked nearly three hours to remove a pickup which dropped through the ice in the middle of the Red Lake river early this morning. The pickup, owned by Chester Nessen of route 4, Thief River Falls and driven by Rodney Vigstol, 18, Thief River Falls, has apparently traversed the thin ice on the river from the Eighth street boat landing to near the Third street bridge before breaking through the ice and sinking to the bottom. Vigstol and a passenger, Mark Delage, escaped from the vehicle through its windows before it sank in 12 to 15 feet of water. A skin diver attached a chain and cable to the rear axle and it was winched under the ice to within about 15 feet of the boat launching ramp, at which point it broke through the ice. A chain saw was used to cut the remainder of the ice path to shore. The actual recovery effort began about 11 a.m. and the vehicle was removed from the river about 2 p.m.

Masterworks Chorale Opens Rehearsals

Northland Masterworks chorale and orchestra will open rehearsals the week of December 5. This season's performance to be held on February 26 will be of the "Mass in G" by Franz Schubert and "Americana" by Randall Thompson. Singers and instrumentalists from neighboring communities have been invited to join in this event.

Rehearsals for the chorus will be held each Monday from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning December 5 and continuing until the performance February 26 with the exclusion of December 26 and January 2 which fall during the Christmas holidays. There will also be rehearsals Thursday, February 23 and Saturday, February 25. Rehearsals for the orchestra will begin in January.

There is no audition required for the chorus but auditions for solo parts will be held between December 5 and December 16. Membership in the orchestra is by audition. Instrumentation will include one harp, four violins, two violas, one cello, one bass, two flutes, two oboes, two clarinets, two bassoons, two horns and two trumpets. There will be one percussionist.

"Membership in the chorale and orchestra is intended to be a positive learning experience," states director Les Torgerson. "In order that a fine musical experience might occur, regular attendance is highly stressed. Of the 13 rehearsals which are scheduled, members should plan to attend at least 11."

The chorale and orchestra are in their fifth season. Previous concerts have featured Handel's "Messiah", Mendelssohn's "Elijah" and "Psalm 42", and "Jesu, Meine Freude" by J.S. Bach. Singers and instrumentalists have participated from Thief River Falls as well as Warren, Warroad, Roseau, McIntosh, Red Lake Falls, Newfolden and other northwest Minnesota communities.

Arctco Should Close Deal On Plant By Dec. 1

By the time many readers get their Times in the mail on Thursday, a $2 million deal should have been completed, resulting in Arctco Inc. obtaining sole ownership of all land and property in the former Arctic Enterprises complex from Minstar Inc.

Although Arctco announced their intentions to buy the property in early October, when they secured a 60 day option on the purchase, final closure of the deal was not to be finalized until December 1. When interviewed on Tuesday, Chris Twomey, Arctco's director of corporate administration, stated that the papers were in the hands of Minstar's attorneys, adding that he had every reason to believe that they were going to go ahead with the deal as planned.

Although he preferred not to discuss specifics of the financial arrangements, Twomey noted that the "going purchase price of $2 million was common knowledge." Funds to make the down payment and cover additional carrying costs were raised, he said, "from among the existing shareholders."

When they announced their intentions back in October, Arctco officials noted that they had entered the agreement believing it was "necessary to their survival" since they believed the property would be sold within a very short time, eliminating their ability to continue leasing space to manufacture snowmobiles. Although the purchase stablized the company's future, as far as where they would be located, Twomey noted that the carrying costs for unneeded space at the plant could tax Arctco's financial resources dangerously over the short run.

Of the total [illegible] square feet of space available in the complex, Arctco's immediate need is for only about 108,000 square feet. Even with increased production expected in the next five years, expansion was not expected to go beyond the north portion of the main plant. Arctco officials said they intended to make every attempt to lease out the

School Board, TRFEA Meet Again Tonight

For the first time in almost two months, the Thief River Falls Education association and the board of School District 564 will meet in an effort to negotiate a two-year contract for 1983-84 and 1984-85 school years.

The negotiations session — first since a mediation meeting proved fruitless on October [illegible] — will be conducted tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in the typing room on the second floor of the school district service center.

At the present time approximately 75 of 435 school districts in the state have settled contract negotiations with their faculties. At its previous meeting, the board of education had offered a four per cent increase in salary and fringe benefits over the two-year contract with the TRFEA asking for a 19.5 per cent increase.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Karla Kelly-Dale Nelson Married At Littlefork

Marriage vows were exchanged at Littlefork Lutheran church in Littlefork on Saturday, September 3, by Karla Ann Kelly, Thief River Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Westerberg of Littlefork, and Dale Allen Nelson, son of the late Curtiss and Beatrice Nelson, who lived in this city.

Rev. Douglas Helling officiated at the five o'clock, double-ring ceremony. Margaret Sartain served as organist, playing the traditional wedding march as the bride was given in marriage by her parents. During the ceremony, Ruth Stapleton played the guitar and sang the "Wedding Song, (There is Love.)"

Candelabrum with apricot colored tapers and floral arrangements of peach roses, peach and white carnations and babies' breath graced the chancel.

The bride was attired in a white organza gown styled with a Queen Anne neckline appliqued with re-embroidered chantilly lace trimmed with iridescent seed pearls. Her lantern sleeves of sheer organza were trimmed with a lace ruffle and lace appliques. A corresponding band of wide lace and a satin ribbon sash accented the empire waistline. Multi-tiers of ruffled organza bordered her bouffant skirt, forming an inverted V in front. Creating back interest was a multi-ruffled, semi-cathedral length train. She carried a cascading silk bouquet of white roses, peach and apricot carnations and babies' breath with peach and white ribbon streamers.

Vickie Curtis of Thief River Falls was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Paula Pihlaja, Grand Rapids; Denise Burroughs, Roseau; and Carrie Loken, Big Falls. Their off-the-shoulder gowns in shades of peach and apricot, were complemented by matching shoulder shawls. In their hair, they wore combs trimmed with a peach rose and babies' breath. They carried fans decorated with silk white roses, peach and apricot carnations and matching ribbon streamers.

Wearing a floor-length gown of white organdy and lace with a peach sash, was the flower girl, Susie Kelly, a cousin of the bride. She scattered rose petals from a basket decorated with the same flowers as those carried by the bridesmaids.

The rings were carried by Jason Kelly, a nephew of the bride. Like the groomsmen, he wore a brown tuxedo and a ruffled apricot shirt with a matching boutonniere of roses and carnations.

Attending the groom were Don Adamson, as best man, Scott Olson, Gerald Trickle and Mark Stenberg, all of Thief River Falls.

The groom, in an all white tuxedo had a peach silk rose pinned on his lapel.

The mother of the bride was attired in a blue sleeveless, floor-length gown, topped by a chiffon jacket.

A reception followed in the church parlors with Lynda and Mike Pihlaja, aunt and uncle of the bride, as hosting couple. Cake cutters were Mary Ellen Panchot and Ruth Thompson. Irene Hauner and Shirley Lysdal poured the coffee. All are Littlefork residents.

Amy Windsnes, International Falls, a cousin of the bride, was at the guest book. Personal attendant was the bride's aunt, Diane Windsnes, also of International Falls.

A wedding dance at the Littlefork Community building followed the reception.

After the wedding trip to Mount Rushmore, Yellowstone National Park, Devil's Tower, Grand Canyon, Old Tuscon, Mexico and the Carlsbad Caverns, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Littlefork-Big Falls high school. She attended St. Cloud State university. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school. He attended North Dakota State university and is employed by the Soo Line Railroad as a brakeman.

Legion Auxiliary To Donate For Oakland Gifts

Regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary will be held Tuesday, December 6, in the Legion club rooms.

Preceding the 8:00 p.m. meeting, there will be a dinner at 7:00 with members of the Post.

During the meeting, members will have the opportunity of making a cash donation for purchasing Christmas gifts for Oakland Park Nursing home.

Members are reminded to bring their Poppy hats, as well as half-dozen goodies for the lunch which will follow the meeting.

Franklin O. Browns Note 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin (Oscar) Brown of this city were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary on October 9, at an open house at the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian church in Plummer.

Hosting the open house were the couple's children: Don and Lee Brown, Jerry and Bonny Brown, Darryl and Sandy Weigel, and Dale Brown. Assisting were nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren: Keith and Linda Erickson, Mike and Mel Brown, Pam Brown, Annisia Brown, Darren, Jason and Janice Weigel, and Ryan and Amanda Brown.

The event began with a church service at 1:00 p.m. A brief program followed with the couple renewing their wedding vows. Rev. Robert Shurr officiated and served as soloist, singing "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," and "The Lord's Prayer." The grandchildren served as witnesses. Darryl Weigel was in charge of the program and Maurice Thornton read a poem, based on the couple's life, composed by Edna Hyde.

A reception in the church basement followed with Shirley and Howard Helle as host and hostess. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered, water-fountain anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Edna Hyde. The cake was topped by a golden 50th anniversary bell.

Ryan Brown and Jason Weigel presided at the guest book; Jamie Weigel distributed the thank-you notes; Annisia Brown and Darrin Weigel ladled the punch, Mel Brown and Linda Erickson cut the cake and Wilma Wang and Shirleen Thornton poured the coffee. The flowers, made by Shelva Johnson, were pinned by Mrs. Charles Hovde.

Honored guests were Ruth Lafayette, Naomi Oltoff and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Griffin.

Out-of-town guests were from Grand Island, Neb.; Milpitas, Calif.; Fargo, Wahpeton and Grand Forks, N.D.; Thief River Falls, Hibbing, St. Hilaire, Minneapolis, Winger, Climax, Crookston, Barnsville, Moorhead, Baker, Red Lake Falls, Twin Valley, Bagley, McIntosh, Brooks, Ada, Oklee, Lake Park, Flom, Dilworth, Grand Rapids and Bemidji.

The couple received numerous gifts and congratulatory messages including a telephone call from their granddaughter, Pam Brown of Zephyrhills, Fla.

The Browns were married Oct. 19, 1933 at Red Lake Falls with Rev. Solway officiating.

Two Members Reinstated By Zehlian Club

New members were welcomed and reports were given at the meeting of the Zehlian group of the General Federation of Women's clubs (GFWC) held November 16 at the home of Jean Hogan.

Welcomed into membership were former members Elaine Kayser and Hank Ness.

Kathy Winjum reported on the Illusion Theatre presentation on sexual abuse, awareness and prevention given recently at Warren. The event sponsored by the Warren GFWC was divided into two divisions, "Touch," good and bad, for children K through 6 and "No Easy Answers" grades 7-12, demonstrating ways students can be assertive in preventing sexual abuse situations in which they may be trapped. Attending the presentation with Mrs. Winjum were Margaret Saetre and Gretchen Beito.

Bunny Dondelinger reported that funds and volunteer help was needed by the Health service clinic; and Gretchen Beito stated that Linda Spyhalski had volunteered to work with the Art Adventure program. Diane Krepp informed the group of a new chapter formed in Thief River Falls for the gifted and talented children. It was noted that Mrs. Krepp was president of the group.

It was also noted that volunteers were needed for serving coffee and bars at the art film series being shown at the library. Members volunteering for those services were Kathy Winjum, Jan. 26; Diane Krepp, Feb. 9; and Margaret Saetre, Feb. 23, leaving March 1 as an open date.

The Christmas party was discussed. The event, a noon luncheon, was scheduled for December 7, at 11:30 a.m., at the Gayle Kenville home. A program will be given and gifts will be exchanged.

Nancy Tofte gave the book review of "Jane Eyre," by Charlotte Bronte, an English novelist. A discussion followed the review. It was noted that the Bronte had two sisters: Anne and Emily Jane, who were also novelists.

Awards Given At TOPS MN 88 Club Meeting

Numerous awards were presented at a candlelight ceremony Monday evening at the meeting of the TOPS club, Minnesota chapter 88.

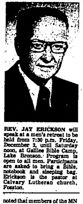
Honored were Rosie Westlin, a reinstated KOPS, who was presented with a carnation, charm and gifts and Loraine Steiger, who was given a charm and monetary gift for being the best loser for the month of October.

Weight charms were also awarded. Shirley Peters received the charm for having lost 30 pounds, Lisa Altendroph, the 20 pound, and Dea Anderson, the 10 pound. The KOPS under-goal charm for the month of October went to Cathy Ripley and Lorraine Engel.

Reports of the Fall Rally at Wadena were given. It was noted that members of the MN 88 chapter; Shirley Peters, Andy Broten, Sara Finley, Cathy Ripley and Renae Timm received individual awards as graduating KOPS; Marilyn Kusel, a seven-year alumni KOPS award, Lorraine Engel, a two-year alumni KOPS; Rosie Westlin, a reinstated KOPS; Doni Packard, best loser in the 1982 Men's division; Gloria Wheeler, best loser in the women's division;

In the summer contest, Kay Kuzel received a charge for the teenagers. In the same contest, Merrie Olson and Emilie Wagner were the best losers in their respective divisions.

Anyone desiring information regarding the TOPS club may call 681-6664 or 681-6431.



REV. JAY ERICKSON will speak at a men's retreat to be held from 7:30 p.m. Friday, December 2, until Saturday noon, at Galilee Bible Camp, Lake Bronson. Program is open to all men. Participants are asked to bring a Bible, notebook and sleeping bag. Erickson is the pastor at Calvary Lutheran church, Fosston.

K. Finstads Announce Birth of a Grandson

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Finstad announce the birth of a grandson, Josiah Boyd, born November 13, to Mr. and Mrs. Joel Danielson at Baptist Medical Center in Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Danielson is the former Lori Finstad.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Danielson of Detroit Lakes.

prepared by association secretary Richard Anderson indicates projected expenditures of $79,900 for the 1984 fair and projected receipts of only $73,850. That is actually a $6,050 difference on operations alone. The association had a cash balance of $1,167 at the end of 1983 operations. If that is applied to the projected difference in revenues and expenditures, the association would end 1984 in debt by $4,883.

Major items in the list of expenditures are $42,000 for grandstand acts, $9,000 for premiums, $5,000 for advertising and promotion, $5,000 for building additions, equipment and maintenance, $2,800 for administrative expense, $2,400 for sales tax, $2,300 for materials and supplies and $2,000 for salaries and wages.

Other expenditures include $1,700 for judging, $1,200 for meals and miscellaneous expense for workers, $1,400 for security, ticket sellers and crowd control, $1,500 for insurance, $1,300 for straw and utilities, $1,100 for account and clerical, $300 for awards, $150 for payroll taxes, $200 for debt retirement, $100 for check printing, $150 for state audit fees and $300 for dues and office supplies.

Income projected includes $32,000 from grandstand admission (a break-even projection), $1,100 for auto parking, $4,900 for space, booth and equipment rent, $8,500 carnival income, $250 entry, stall and pen fees, $2,100 advertising and premium book income, $2,400 sales tax receipts, $2,600 state aid, $9,000 county aid and $1,000 miscellaneous and insurance claims.

"Our board asked the county commissioners for $14,000 for 1984 so that we could expect to break even on the total operation," Swanson said. "The county board appropriated $9,000 and that figure is included in our current 1984 budget projections."

(In 1981 the county provided $9,000 to assist the fair operations. In 1982 that amount was increased to $15,000 with the understanding that the appropriation would be for a two-year period. When the fair came up short on its 1983 operations, the county granted another $8,700 to get the association out of debt.)

"We have spent a considerable amount of money in the past couple of years for major improvements at the fairgrounds," Swanson readily admits. "We have done extensive work on the grandstand, fixed up the office area, installed fencing for crowd control and safety, expanded sewer hook-ups, improved barn and arena facilities for better exhibiting of entries and built a portable stage. These were things the board felt necessary to make the fair better, but they did cost money. Very little had been spent on improvements over a period of years."

Spending for those improvements also cost the fair association in other ways. In addition to the $15,000 appropriation from the county commissioners, the association expended most of the cash balance of $18,686 it had at the end of 1981 operations. This deprived the association of nearly $2,000 in annual interest income on the accumulated balance.

To further discuss what might be done to assure continued operation of the county fair, the executive board of the association met Monday evening at the Holcomb-Knudson accounting office. Meeting with the group was Terry Courneya, Pennington county extension director. Review of the budget showed very little which could be done to appreciably reduce costs.

"We increased premiums to some extent last year," Swanson noted, "and we feel that those increases were necessary and should be maintained. It was also evident in the increased number of exhibits that were attracted, especially in the livestock area."

Persons concerned about the future of the Pennington county fair are encouraged to bring their ideas to the annual meeting on Monday, December 12, or to express them to members of the fair board prior to that time.

modified the original plan somewhat, shifting the connection about 10 feet to the south to reduce a problem of headlights shining into residential windows and salvage some parking space for the church. Purchasing of the right of way for that street and relocating the Skogerboe family will be the responsibility of the state.

City Tree Inspector John Johnson made a recommendation that all trees facing potential damage from the construction along Third Street be removed, since most of them were elms, likely to be lost to Dutch Elm disease in the near future. In this way, he noted, the state would be responsible for their replacement. Based on the emotional nature of the issue of tree removal, as brought out in previous hearings, the state recommended removal of approximately 50 per cent of the trees (every other one) to maintain the aesthetic value of the area. Council approved the compromise, noting that they would assume responsibility for removal and replacement of trees which later died due to root damage.

Other areas of the plan set down by the state included: widening of the street to be accomplished equally on the boulevard and median, leaving a median width of 24 feet; sidewalks to be constructed on the north side all the way to First Street; sidewalks to be constructed on the south side all the way to Merriam avenue; maintenance of emergency traffic at all times by reconstructing the bridge over the Red Lake River half-at-a-time, unless notified by the city before January 15, that they would like to utilize those additional construction costs to build an underpass in the Greenwood Street area; and replacement of storm sewers.

Cost participation from the city is required in the areas of storm sewer replacement, construction of the outside curb and gutter, sidewalks, driveways and approaches.

Baker noted that MnDOT had been working with the planning commission for over a year on the plan, adding that as a result of public input many modifications and changes had been incorporated. He noted that the design had been approved by both the planning commission and the Pennington county safety council, stating, "A lot of local people have provided input on this project, so you can't say it's all been the state's idea." He advised that the project would not proceed without council approval, estimating that it would be set back two or three years, "at which time the state would probably make the same proposal again."

Mayor Bob Carlson commented that he did not want to risk losing a $1.6 million project, noting that the state's offer of assistance in solving traffic problems and developing alternate routes had eased much of his concern. Alderman Bill Penning, who had been very vocal in opposing the Red Lake Boulevard closure, conceded that he was "still concerned; but more satisfied" by the state's willingness to work with the elevators and the city in resolving traffic problems on Davis.

Brought to a vote, the project was approved by council, seven to one, with Alderman Milan Borsheim casting the lone dissenting vote. He commented, "I just can't see why we can't have a right turn only onto Red Lake Boulevard."

In other business, the council:

— Approved a request from businessmen along Highway 59 South, to provide snow removal if they cleared their own lots and piled the snow along the frontage road;

— Denied a request for reduced utility rates for the Racquetball Club;

— Declared a 1977 Pontiac used by the building inspector as surplus property;

— Revised an error in last week's minutes, noting that a progression raise for sanitation worker Mitch Hams should have increased to $1,404 per month;

— Approved payment of special bills from Black and Veatch, for engineering services on the water treatment plant project, $8,240.86; Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, for senior meals program, $2,472.94; and Qaulity Books Inc., for library book, $25.73.

Scott Schmidt was a Sunday afternoon luncheon guest at the Rick Ayers home. He was cutting wood.

Saturday, Nov. 19 Myrna and Lloyd Dyrdal picked up Mrs. Gary Smalley and Kathy from Redondo Beach, Calif. at the Grand Forks airport. They then went to the Melvin Bakken home. Mr. and Mrs. Melville Bakken and family were Saturday evening guests at the Melvin Bakken home.

Services Held For Raymond Mosbeck, 58

Memorial services for Raymond A. Mosbeck, 58, of rural Thief River Falls, were held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Black River Lutheran church. Mosbeck died Friday afternoon at Riverview hospital in Crookston, following a lengthy illness.

Rev. Luther Anderson officiated at the services. Mrs. William Halbasch was the organist and Bud Fontes and Christie LaCoursiere were vocalists. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Raymond Ardell Mosbeck, a son of the late Olaf and Louise Erchinger Mosbeck, was born Jan. 22, 1925 in Polk Centre township of Pennington county. He attended the district 99 school and grew to manhood in the Polk Centre community.

He was married Sept. 23, 1956 at the Black River Lutheran church to Phyllis Mosbeck. The couple made their home in Sanders township.

Mosbeck farmed for a number of years before becoming shop foreman for the Pennington county highway department. He remained in that work for 22 years.

He was a life-long member of the Black River Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, two sons: Steven Mosbeck, Denver, Colo.; and Ray, Thief River Falls; one daughter, Mrs. Anthony (Nancy) Ricci, Thief River Falls and two grandchildren, Jeremy and Colette.

Also surviving are four brothers: Oscar Mosbeck, Red Lake Falls; Sam and Martin of St. Hilaire; and Carl, Thief River Falls; seven sisters: Florence Pehrsson, Evansburg, Alberta, Canada; Lyda Tommerdahl, St. Paul; and Grace Lindblom, Myrtle Waltonen, Hulda Canfield, Esther Anderso and Clara Hanson, all of Thief River Falls; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by one sister, Agnes, and seven brothers: Charlie, Walter, Harold, David, Victor, Vernon and Richard.

LeRoy Johnsrud Services Held At Goodridge

Funeral services for LeRoy Johnsrud, 52, of rural Goodridge, were held Monday at 2:00 p.m., at Ekelund Lutheran church, Goodridge. Johnsrud died Thursday at St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, N.D.

Rev. Gene Broughton officiated at the services. Mrs. Dick Marquis was the organist and Mrs. Arnold Hammer, the soloist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with military honors by the Thief River Falls VFW post. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Clifford Johnsrud, Norman Kriel, Vernon Iverson, Knute Nealand, David Rindahl and Paul Rindahl.

LeRoy Allen Johnsrud, a son of the late Cornelius and Emma Rindahl Johnsrud, was born Jan. 13, 1931 in Pennington county. He attended school in Star township and grew to manhood there.

In April of 1951, he entered the U.S. Army and served overseas in Germany during the Korean conflict. After his discharge, he returned to the Goodridge area where he farmed.

He was married May 17, 1952 at Thief River Falls to Ione Markuson.

He was a member of Ekelund Lutheran church, where he was baptized and confirmed, and a former member of the Thief River Falls VFW.

Surviving are his wife, two sons: Danny and Larry Johnsrud, both of Goodridge, two daughters: Mrs. Glen (Lynae) Nealand, rural Thief River Falls, and Tamera Johnsrud, Vilseck, West Germany; five granddaughters, and a brother, Clayton Johnsrud, Goodridge.

Two brothers: Obert and Orvin, preceded him in death.

Services Held For Emma Bucholtz, 78

Mrs. Emma Bucholtz, 78, of Oslo and formerly of the Grygla and Goodridge area, died Thursday at Oslo.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bucholtz were held Monday at Warren at the Quanrud Funeral home.

Mrs. Bucholtz, the former Emma Bye, was born April 6, 1905 in Marshall county. As a youth, she lived in Grygla and Goodridge.

She was married in January of 1930 at Oslo to Andrew Larson. He died in 1958. In November of 1960, she married Walter Bucholtz at Pipestone, and they lived at Oslo. He died in 1972.

She is survived by a son, Arthur Larson, Minot, N.D.; a daughter, Mrs. Conrad (Jennette) Serseland, Grand Forks, N.D.; eight grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren, and five sisters: Nellie Tweit, Clara Coan, Minnie Tollefson and Olga Kolstrand, all of Goodridge, and Mable Ole, St. Paul.

R. Rhodegard Services Held At Warren

Mrs. Ruth Rhodegard, 86, of Warren and formerly of the Newfolden community, died Wednesday, November 9, at the Karlstad hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Rhodegard were held Saturday, November 12, at Our Savior Lutheran church at Warren with Rev. David Christensen officiating. Mrs. Richard Karr was the organist and Mrs. Glenn Johnson, the soloist. Interment was in Norden cemetery in Pennington county.

Pallbearers were Marvin Neegard, Robert Zak, Dwight Anderson and Gerald Zak.

Mrs. Rhodegard, the former Ruth Engstrom, was born in Warren on April 30, 1897 to Lars and Kristina Engstrom. At an early age, she moved with the family to rural Newfolden where she attended the Bjorness school.

She was married Dec. 20, 1928 to Ole Rhodegard of Thief River Falls. They settled at Langdon, N.D., where Rhodegard owned and operated a creamery. After his death in February of 1943, she moved back to her family near Newfolden. Later, she moved into the village of Newfolden. Since October of 1971, she had resided at the Landmark Center at Warren.

Her only survivors are several nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by three sisters: Mrs. Martin (Kristina) Neegard, Mrs. Oscar (Regina) Asp, and Mary Engstrom; and one brother, Ole Engstrom.

Betty Nordine Services Held At Karlstad

Mrs. Selmer (Betty) Nordine, 85, of Karlstad, died Friday morning at the Sergeant Manor Health Care center at Forman, N.D., where she had been a resident since August of this year.

Funeral services for Mrs. Betty Nordine were held Monday at 2:00 p.m., at the Karlstad Gospel tabernacle with Rev. Dan Taylor officiating. Vocal selections were by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and Dean Johnson. Mrs. Isaac Thompson was the pianist. Interment was in the Riverside cemetery at Lake Bronson, with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Ricky Nordine, Douglas Freitag, Ron Nordine, Barry Nordine, John Nordine and Richard Bergeron.

Mrs. Nordine, the former Betty Pauline Anderson, was born Oct. 7, 1898 in Bleking, Sweden to Pete and Karna Anderson. At the age of six years, she immigrated to the United States with her parents, settling on a farm in Hazelton township of Kittson county, near Lake Bronson. There she attended school and grew to womanhood.

She was married June 10, 1922 at Hallock to Selmer Nordine. The couple farmed in the Hallock area for several years. In 1933, they moved to the present Nordine farm in Springbrook township, near Karlstad.

She was a member of the Karlstad Gospel tabernacle.

Surviving are two sons: Alvin Nordine, Karlstad, and Donald, Grand Forks, N.D.; a daughter, Mrs. Curtis (Madelene) Freitag, Forman, N.D.; 13 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren; two brothers: Ernest Anderson, Hallock, and Axel, Grand Forks; two sisters: Mrs. Lillian Young and Mrs. Helen Johnson, also of Grand Forks; and several nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by two sons.

LEC Reports 13 Cases Nov. 29

Law enforcement center report dated Tuesday, November 29, listed 11 cases investigated by Thief River Falls police department and two cases investigated by Pennington county sheriff's department, by reporting date.

Cases handled by Thief River Falls police department included the following:

October 7 — Mrs. Wallace Leander, Thief River Falls, reported that her son's bicycle had been moved from its parking place at the Piggly Wiggly store to the parking lot, where it was backed over. Damage to the bicycle was estimated at $25. Case is under investigation.

November 16 — Northland Manor Apartments manager reported that a game machine in the lobby had been vandalized, with damage estimated at $25. In addition, approximately $75 in change was stolen from the machine. Case is under investigation.

November 16 — Lisa Kriel, Thief River Falls, reported that her purse had been stolen from a table in the bar area of the bowling alley while she was working there. Later the same day, the manager reported that the purse had been recovered from the men's bathroom, with approximately $30 cash missing. Case is under investigation.

November 22 — Joanette M. Hanson, Thief River Falls, was driving east on Eighth Street at approximately 1:10 p.m., and lost control of her vehicle while making a turn onto Reserve Avenue, striking a parked vehicle owned by Mark A. Forsberg, also of Thief River Falls. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Hanson vehicle. Forsberg's vehicle was undamaged.

November 22 — Leanne Pactznick, Thief River Falls, was driving east on Eighth Street at approximately 10:10 p.m., and Wilbert McGregor, rural Warren, was driving west on Eighth Street and attempting to make a left turn onto Highway 32 when they collided. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to each of the vehicles.

November 22 — Jerald D. Hendrickson, Thief River Falls, was driving north on Edgewood Drive and attempting a right turn onto Dale Street when he lost control of his vehicle and collided with Barbara J. Arveson, also of Thief River Falls, who had stopped on Dale Street for traffic. Damages were estimated at $600 to the Arveson vehicle and $200 to the Hendrickson vehicle.

November 22 — Mary E. Clark, Thief River Falls, was driving south on Highway 32 when she left the road and struck the turn signal at the First Street intersection. Damages were estimated at $500 to the pole and signal, and $150 to the Clark vehicle.

November 23 — Jeri Loeffler, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Muzzy Street at approximately 7 p.m. and Lisa J. Wang, rural Fertile, was driving north on Kendall Avenue when they collided. Impact resulted in the Loeffler vehicle going over the curb and striking a utility pole. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to each of the vehicles and $150 to the pole.

November 27 — Lawrence G. Pruden Jr., St. Paul, was driving east on Eighth Street near Arnold Avenue, at approximately 4:50 p.m. when he collided with a parked vehicle owned by James T. Johnson, Thief River Falls. Damages were estimated at $400 to the Pruden vehicle and the Johnson vehicle was considered a total loss. Pruden received a bruised lip. Street conditions were icy.

November 27 — Kmart store personnel reported observing a young female leave the store without paying for some merchandise. Apprehended by an officer, the 15-year-old was charged with theft of silverware items, value $40.

November 28 — Lew Saltchler, Thief River Falls, reported that their mailbox had been driven over during the early morning hours, causing approximately $25 damage.

Cases handled by the Pennington county sheriff's department included the following:

November 22 — Report was received that a Goodridge residence had been burglarized sometime between 6:30 p.m. November 21 and 5:30 p.m. November 22, with theft of a number of personal items, value unknown, and vandalism of several rooms. Case is under investigation.

November 28 — Jed H. Nelson, rural Thief River Falls, was driving a tractor owned by Nelson Equipment, traveling west on County Road 62, when he lost control of the vehicle due to icy conditions, striking a mailbox owned by Stanley Wick, and going into the ditch. Damages were estimated at $25 to the mailbox. No estimate was available on the tractor.

State Jobless Rate Drops To 6.4 Per Cent

Minnesota's unemployment rate, at 6.4 per cent in October, declined .2 of a percentage point for September, continuing a steady downward trend, Commissioner Barbara Beerhalter of the Minnesota department of economic security reported today.

Comparable national unemployment rate for October was 8.4 per cent.

Improvement in the jobless rate was due to a somewhat greater than seasonal increase in employment, coupled with a modest reduction in the number of unemployed, Beerhalter said.

She said that the state's unemployment rate was dropped for seven of the past eight months, from a high of 10.3 per cent in February 1983. October rate of 6.4 per cent is the lowest since November 1981, when the rate was 5.6 per cent.

Labor market conditions in Minnesota generally showed continued improvement except on the Iron Range, where recalls by some companies were offset by layoffs at other firms, Beerhalter added.

Among the industries which registered highest seasonal changes in employment were: private education (+3,000 persons), state and local government (+15,600 persons), food products (-5,800 persons) and eating and drinking places (-3,500 persons).

Minnesota's unemployment rate in October 1982 was 7.3 per cent, or .9 percentage points above the October 1983 level.

Wayne Graner, department analyst, said that non-agricultural employment was up 8,800 from a month ago. "This was a substantial September to October shift for this decade, but the magnitude would have been considered merely normal in the seventies," he said.

Number of persons employed in October was 2,086,300, up 12,800 from September and up 81,900 from October a year ago.

Number of unemployed persons in Minnesota in October was 141,700, down 3,800 from September and down 16,600 from October a year ago.

Minnesota's labor force in October was 2,228,000 persons, up 9,000 from September and up 65,300 from October last year.

Compared to October a year ago, the size of the Minnesota civilian labor force increased by .4 per cent; the number of employed persons increased by .6 per cent; and the number of unemployed workers decreased by 2.6 per cent.

Average October weekly earnings of production workers in the manufacturing sector increased from $384.40 to $392.69 over the month, on the strength of a longer work week (40.4 hours vs. 40.0 hours in September) and a slightly higher hourly wage ($9.72 vs $9.61 in September) Graner said.

Unemployment rate pertains to the entire labor force and is not used to determine whether unemployment insurance benefits will be extended beyond the 26-week maximum. Unemployment rate among persons covered by unemployment insurance is used to determine whether the benefits payments will be extended.

Congressman Named To Meet Canadians

House Speaker Tip O'Neill has named Congressman Arlan Stangeland to a group of 12 legislators who will attend the 1984 meeting of the U.S.-Canadian inter-parliamentary group to be held March 8-12.

"This is a good opportunity to build bridges with key Canadian leaders," Congressman Stangeland said. "Because of understandings and the cooperation of Canadian officials reached at past meetings, I have been able to help when border area troubles have flared between Minnesota and Ontario."

Last summer, Congressman Stangeland contacted the Canadian embassy and members of parliament when Ontario tried to block fishing charters from entering Canadian waters. That problem was quickly resolved, the congressman said.

Past contacts with Canadian officials also helped Congressman Stangeland to maintain operating hours at border crossings at Warroad, Baudette, Noyes, Pinecreek and Roseau.

The 1984 House delegation to the interparliamentary group meeting includes seven Democrats and five Republicans.

The GOP members also include William Broomfield (MI), Larry Winn (KS), Frank Horton (NY) and David Martin (NY). Democrats on the panel include Dante Fascell (MD), Ed Boland (MA), Sam Gibbons (FL), Lee Hamilton (IN), Jim Oberstar (MN), Mike Barnes (MD) and John LaFalce (NY).

Super Skate Raises $2,653 For Retarded

Pledges totaled $2,653.85 for the Super Skate marathon conducted recently for the Association for Retarded Citizens Minnesota at The Place roller rink in Thief River Falls, according to Sherry Sorenson, chairman for the sponsoring Jaycee Women chapter.

Pledges are to be turned in at The Place between 2 and 3 p.m. on Saturday, December 10. Alan Sparhawk, 15, of Leonard, solicited $465 in pledges to lead all entries. He was followed by Lisa Luxenburg, 14, Plummer, $212; Jason Erickson, 12, Thief River Falls, $200; Mary Lou Larson, 35, Thief River Falls, $186; and Mark Bjorgaard, 28, Thief River Falls, $175.

There were 47 skaters entered in the skateathon and 28 of them completed the 10-hour event. Youngest skaters were Kara Knutson and Jay Asp of Thief River Falls, both seven years old, while the oldest skater was Mary Lou Larson, 35. Hamburgers and French fries were donated for 70 skaters and workers by McDonald's; popcorn and ice cream was donated by Melvin Joppru, owner of The Place; and four canisters of pop were donated by Pepsi-Cola Bottling company of Thief River Falls.

Sorenson also noted assistance from personnel at The Place; disc jockeys Brad Hahn, Jon Fladtland, Jason Stromstead, Mike Ballou and instructor Howard Rokke of the AVTI radio station KSRQ FM; local news media; Sjoberg's cable TV; Dave Fournier, first aide provider; and Jaycee Women members Judy Adamson, Sue Sculthorp, Lana Christianson, Bonnie Anderson, Margaret Peterson, Lynn Pederson and Deb Swanson.

Under new rules announced by the U.S. Department of Labor to guide administration and development of the new Job Training Partnership Act, veterans and other specified groups are eligible for job training programs at the state and local level.

State MASWCD Convention At Bemidji

Supervisors from the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district will be attending the 47th annual state convention of the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts (MASWCD) at Bemidji December 4, 5 and 6. Theme of this year's annual meeting is "Conservation: A Cooperative Effort."

Bill Bryson of Aldon, president of the MASWCD, said, "The state's 460 soil and water conservation district supervisors, and others, will be focusing their attention on local, state and federal agency cooperative efforts aimed at conserving the state's soil and water related natural resources."

The annual convention begins Sunday with registration at the Holiday Inn in Bemidji. Highlights of Monday's session include a panel discussion entitled "Looking at Future Issues in Conservation." Participants on this panel include Milton "Bud" Mekelburg, president of the national association of conservation districts; Donald Ferren, state conservationist, U.S. soil conservation service, St. Paul; and Wayne Haglin, chairman of the Minnesota soil and water conservation board, Staples.

Jim Nichols, commissioner of the Minnesota department of agriculture, will be guest speaker at Monday's awards luncheon. Nichols will emphasize the need for cooperation among local, state and federal agencies and others to achieve meaningful soil and water conservation efforts.

On Tuesday, MASWCD's president Bill Bryson will discuss actions taken on the association's 23 proposed 1983 resolutions. Although some of these resolutions relate to internal association business, others are concerned with lobbying, taxing authority for districts, cost-sharing for conservation tillage practices, water inventory, funding for conservation targeting, hazardous waste disposal, urban technical assistance and consideration to seek legislation to create a permanent legislative commission on agricultural land preservation and conservation with adequate staff and financial resources.

Tuesday's noon conservation farmer luncheon will feature presentation of the conservation farmer awards by Bob Rupp of "The Farmer Magazine". Sen. Gerald Willet will be the featured luncheon speaker.

Following the luncheon, farmers and others will participate in concurrent mini-sessions that will discuss conservation tillage, soil surveys and use of biomass. Audience question and answer periods will follow each mini-session.

Dr. Joe Jeffrey of Lexington, Neb., a farmer, rancher and veterinarian, will close the convention activities at Tuesday night's banquet. He will give an illustrated program entitled: "Confessions of a Fence Post".

Farm Income Insurance Gets Consideration

Had it not been for Commodity Credit corporation loans keeping farmers afloat in 1982, Minnesota's farm income picture for 1982 would have been a lot worse than it actually was, according to the latest farm income estimates released by the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

Just released, the official estimate of 1982 cash farm receipts in Minnesota is pegged at $6.67 billion. That this is up three per cent from 1981 receipts may be misleading. USDA's ongoing series of farm income accounts include government CCC loans. When these loans of over $600 million are removed from Minnesota's 1982 receipts, the total drops down to only $6.04 billion, the service reports.

Even with CCC loans figured in, Minnesota farmers' total net farm income dropped to $1.09 billion in 1982, a sharp 27 per cent decline from 1981. Take out the CCC loans and state farmers saw total net farm income dollars of just $450 million. That averages out to less than $4,400 per farmer, or below the poverty level. Meanwhile, inflation (as measured by the consumer price index) gained six per cent.

Farm production expenses rose only two per cent from 1981 to 1982. Again, though, this is misleading. Total expenses were held down by declines in farm inputs such as feed, livestock, fertilizer, even energy items — some of the declines a result of less usage. But significant increases occurred for farm services, notably interest on debt, farm property taxes and hired labor. In fact, the cost of farm loans has soared as interest on farm mortgage debts has almost quadrupled since 1975 in Minnesota.

Total expense tab for running Minnesota's farms in 1982 came to $6.34 billion... or 95 per cent of Minnesota's total cash farm receipts.

Dean D. Lokken Enlists In U.S. Air Force

Dean D. Lokken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lokken of Thief River Falls, has enlisted in the U.S. air force, according to SSgt. Doug Hagen, USAF recruiter in Bemidji.

Upon successfully completing the six-week basic training course at Lackland air force base, TX, he will receive training in the security specialist career area. He is a 1983 graduate of Lincoln high school.

Lokken will be earning credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the community college of the air force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

TORCH AND SHIELD award was presented by Dr. S.D. Sahlstrom, provost of the University of Minnesota at Crookston, to Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer at the ninth biennial awards banquet recently at Crookston. Sen. Stumpf was acknowledged among 12 recipients for his consistent support of UMC through the legislature and strong support of UMC's Ag Arama and the agriculture divisions animal science programs.

IRS To Hold Individual Tax Workshops

Internal revenue service is looking for 605 Minnesotans. These people have undelivered federal tax refunds available to them, according to C.D. Switzer, director of the Internal revenue service in Minnesota.

The most common reason for an undelivered refund is that a person has moved and left no forwarding address with the post office. The 605 refunds are all that are left over from more than one million refund checks sent to businesses and individuals in Minnesota each year, Switzer said. Refunds range from $1 to $7,701.

Refund checks are not issued by local IRS offices, so taxpayers need not make a special trip to pick up their refund. The check will be reissued and mailed four to six weeks after the taxpayer contacts the IRS.

If someone believes he or she is due a refund from 1982, or earlier, the IRS should be contacted at 291-1422. Anyone from outside the Twin Cities area may call toll-free 1-800-424-1040. For all inquires, a person should have at hand the name and address as it appears on the return, the social security number, the type of tax return, the year it was filed, and the dollar amount of the refund.

Milk Output Continues Up During October

Milk output continued up, posting a three per cent gain in October from last year in Minnesota. The state's dairy herd averaged 890,000 head, the same level as last year. Contributing to the higher level of milk produced was a 24-pound gain in output per cow to 895 pounds per month, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

The U.S. also showed a three per cent gain in milk production levels from a year ago. Output totaled 11.4 billion pounds.

The number of milk cows in the U.S. at 11.1 million head edged slightly higher than last year. Production per cow averaged 1,023 pounds, 22 pounds more than October of 1982.

For the first 10 months of 1983, total U.S. milk production now totals 117 billion pounds, up two per cent from the same period last year.

Annual Christmas flea market at the Thief River Falls city auditorium Saturday will bring together 43 dealers from northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota.

Specialty foods will be available this year in addition to items intended for the holiday trade, including antiques, crafts, jewelry, toys and specialty gifts. Doors will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

AIC Gives Suggestions On Frozen Locks

There are only a few things more aggravating than a frozen door lock. If it should happen to you — beware! Using the wrong method to thaw out the lock could cause costly damage to the car, says the Automotive Information council (AIC).

Never pour hot water down the side of the car window and the door handle to thaw the lock. Water freezes again very quickly, making the situation worse. Also, you could crack the window glass and ruin the car's finish as well.

Best and quickest way to thaw the lock, says AIC, is to heat the key. You can use a match, candle, cigarette lighter or some other heating device that may be handy. It is easier to use a lighter, since you don't have to keep relighting it. Even if you don't smoke, you might consider keeping an inexpensive disposable lighter on hand for this purpose. Wear gloves to keep from burning your fingers on the hot key. You may have to repeat the heating process several times to thaw the lock completely.

There are products on the market especially designed to unstick frozen car door locks. They come in an aerosol spray can and are generally a mixture of alcohol and a lock lubricant which is squirted into the keyhole. As these mixtures contain alcohol, never use a flame near the lock after using them.

Once the door lock is unfrozen, you may discover the latch mechanism on the door edge is also frozen. A spray lock-thaw product can be used on the moving parts of the door latch to thaw it. If you don't have a lock-thaw spray, try closing the door as far as possible and running the car heater on high. The heat should eventually warm the door enough to thaw the latch mechanism and get you going on your way.

Or if you are near an electrical outlet and can reach the car with an extension cord, an electric hair dryer will often thaw locks quickly and safely.

Beginning Sunday, December 4th at 8:15 a.m. the Doster Kile family of Minneapolis will present "SONGS OF PRAISE", a weekly radio broadcast of inspiring music and message on station KTRF.

Minn. Indians Will Receive Energy Grants

Minnesota department of economic security has awarded ten energy conservation grants, totaling $475,000, for the state's American Indian population, Commissioner Barbara Beerhalter announced recently.

Grants will fund activities such as energy conservation repairs, weatherization and jobs for unemployed American Indians. Projects in urban and rural areas received the funding, Beerhalter said.

Largest grant, totaling $142,500, was awarded to the Minneapolis American Indian center to employ 15 low-income people who will weatherize all 212 units of the Little Earth housing project in south Minneapolis, she said.

In St. Paul, the American Indian center will receive a $66,500 grant to support six apprentice positions in the United Brotherhood of carpenters union, Beerhalter said.

Programs funded in rural areas are designed to make energy conservation improvements to the homes of residents on Indian reservations, Beerhalter said.

Ten organizations receiving grants and the grant amounts are: Minneapolis American Indian Center, $142,500; St. Paul American Indian center, $66,500; Leech Lake Reservation business committee, $66,500; Bois Forte Reservation business committee, $47,500; White Earth Reservation business committee, $46,550; Fond du Lac Reservation business committee, $46,550; Grand Portage Reservation business committee, $20,900; Mille Lacs Band of Chippewa Indians, $15,200; Upper Sioux community, Granite Falls, $11,400; and Red Lake community action agency, $11,400.

Driving More Dangerous In Winter

Winter is a dangerous time for both motorists and pedestrians. For native Minnesotans, it is necessary to refresh their winter driving senses. For newcomers, the seasonal change requires a new educational experience.

Commissioner Paul Tschida of the Minnesota department of public safety said the first thing motorists should do is make sure their vehicles are ready for winter driving. Items that affect traction and visibility, such as brakes, tires, lights, defroster and windshield wipers should be checked.

"Tires with a good tread are a must on slippery roads," Tschida said.

Before driving, drivers should clear ice and snow from all windows including the side and rear windows as well as the windshield. Streaking windshield wipers should be replaced and windshield washers should have an adequate supply of anti-freeze solution.

Drivers should also remove heavy accumulations of snow from the tops of vehicles before starting to drive. Some drivers have reported following or meeting vehicles, especially large vehicles like trucks, and having large chunks of snow or pieces of frozen ice blowing off and temporarily obscuring vision and in some cases breaking out a windshield.

Complete "tune-up" of a vehicle can help make winter driving more bearable. Batteries, spark plugs, carburetors, and fuel pumps are all less effecient as they age. Special attention should be focused on the vehicle's exhaust system because of the danger of deadly carbon monoxide gas seeping into the passenger compartment if it is faulty. A little time getting a vehicle ready is a good investment when it avoids starting problems on cold, blustery mornings or stalling on busy highways.

"Most of all," Tschida urged, "motorists and pedestrians alike should use common sense. If a winter storm is in progress, allow for conditions accordingly."

Tschida advises pedestrians to continue practicing the elementary rules of "looking both ways before crossing and allowing more time to cross when walking on a slippery surface. Where there is a stoplight cross only with the green or when a 'walk' sign is on. Even when a pedestrian has the right of way, he or she should watch an approaching car to see that the vehicle can stop before entrance to an intersection is made on foot."

Self Worth And Security Is Footsteps Topic

Theme of the "footsteps" program for the week of December 5 is "I Love You When You're Good" and talks about how parents influence the development of self-worth and security in children.

Footsteps is a parenting program sponsored by community education which involves video tape presentations followed by a group discussion. Tapes are broadcasted over KTRF cable channel three at 8:30 p.m. each Monday and are shown again at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in room 114 at the AVTI. Group discussion is held from 8 to 9 p.m. Tuesday after the video presentation.

Parents may attend any of the sessions at no charge. Preregistration is required and can be done by calling adult education at 681-5424 before 2 p.m. each Tuesday.

IRS Holding Undelivered Tax Refunds

One of the easiest ways to get free help with your taxes this year is through an individual income tax workshop put on by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) in Minnesota. Main idea behind a workshop is to help a group of people at a convenient time and location, according to C.D. Switzer, director of the IRS in Minnesota.

Workshop, usually lasting about two hours, can be scheduled during or after normal business hours and even on a weekend. "Last year we put on just over 105 workshops for approximately 2,400 people," Switzer said. In a typical workshop a trained tax specialist from the IRS will guide a group of people through their own tax return.

Tax workshop is designed as a "hands-on" session. "People coming to a workshop are asked to bring with them any records or information that are necessary to complete their return. This would include, for example, the tax package that came in the mail, all W-2 and 1099 forms showing wages, interest and dividends earned, plus records for any itemized deduction," Switzer said.

Workshop can be tailored to a shorter, lecture-type format covering the highlights of the tax law changes. This type of session is suitable for lunch-time or evening meetings.

To schedule a workshop for your group or organization, simply call the IRS and ask for the taxpayer education office. In the Twin Cities call 291-1422, or toll-free from anywhere else in the state, 1-800-424-1040.

White, Kokomo, IN., speeding 65 in a 55 mph zone, fined $27.50.

Grade B Milk Standards To Be Explained

Dairymen who produce grade B milk are being asked to attend an important meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Goodridge senior citizens center. Explanation of the 1983 milk quality standards act is being offered by the University of Minnesota ag extension service.

Dr. V.S. Packard, extension dairyman and a representative of the Minnesota department of agriculture will provide an overview of the requirements of the law relating to herd health, cooling milk, milk quality, milkhouse or milkroom construction, water supplies, waste disposal and certification of farms.

The law affects all grade B producers, but will be of major concern for those currently storing and shipping milk in cans. Along with certification procedures, reimbursement considerations (who is eligible and how to apply) will be explained. Deadline for compliance is July 1, 1985.

Host Families Needed For Youth Exchange

Youth exchange service (YES) is in constant need of families all over the United States who would like to host students from different parts of the world for periods of three months, one second school semester or one school year (nine months):

Students are carefully screened and oriented before arrival, have excellent medical-accidental insurance, and bring their own spending money.

Host families provide a bed and meals and accept the student as a member of the family. Host family may receive a tax deduction of $50.00 for each month they host the student.

For detailed information on opportunities to host a high school student from another land, please contact Youth Exchange Service (YES), 350 South Figueroa St., Los Angeles, California 90071, or phone: 800-848-2121.

Jobless May Get Help With Medical Bills

Falls Clinic Professional Association, Thief River Falls, has contracted to provide primary health care services for the unemployed, under the federal jobs bill program, which has been extended to include Marshall, Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties, effective December 1.

Aim of the program is to assist families with the cost of primary health care when the head of household is unemployed, the family has no insurance coverage, does not qualify for medicaid and meets certain income guidelines.

Health services covered include family and general practice, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics and internal medicine with related laboratory and x-ray procedures. Program does not extend to hospital services, covering only outpatient visits.

With cooperation of local Minnesota Job Service offices, the program is being administered by Cook Area Health Services Inc. Persons who may be eligible should check with their Minnesota Job Service office and complete necessary paperwork. Vouchers will be issued to eligible parties, and these will have to be presented to the clinic or physicians providing service.

Windbreak Can Cut Fuel Cost, Aid Livestock

Research shows that an adequate windbreak can save up to 30 per cent on fuel requirements over an unprotected home, states Ralph Rundell, soil conservation technician with the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD.

Windbreaks protecting feedlots are also energy savers. They can reduce the energy needed for livestock to maintain body heat and increase gains from the same amount of feed. Windbreaks are not only energy efficient, but they beautify, add to general comfort year around and provide habitat for wildlife.

"It is surprising how many farmsteads in our area have deer and other upland game that frequent the windbreak," Rundell said. "If you are interested in planning a windbreak or just talking about how to add to or improve your present protection, call 294-6144 or stop in and visit about your farm."

DOT Announces 4-Year Major Hwy. Project

Four-year program of major highway construction and reconstruction projects totaling about $289 million was announced recently by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT).

Transportation commissioner Richard P. Braun said the 77 projects are planned for the period from July 1, 1985, through June 30, 1989.

Coupled with today's announcement was word that the transportation department will also be advancing development of highway projects into next summer's construction season. Total worth of those projects is $33 million.

Braun said the long-range program is geared to economic development, including road projects in growth areas.

List includes projects in the highway 5 and 212 corridor in the Eden Prairie area, where there is major commercial and industrial growth; a new interchange in Rochester; and upgrading of highway 71 between International Falls and Bemidji, as well as highway 61 along the North Shore of Lake Superior.

Other projects include highway 60 between Windom and Mountain Lake (including the Mountain Lake Bypass), the St. Cloud Bypass on highway 15, extension of the Lafayette freeway (I-494 to highway 52) and others.

Braun said about half the projects on the list will depend on approval of a plan by Governor Rudy Perpich to accelerate the transfer of funds from auto and truck excise taxes into the state's highway construction fund.

"We have to make some funding assumptions in order to put these programs into motion," Braun said. "There is a lengthy process that includes planning, public hearings and environmental impact statements. These projects also require acquisition of right of way and other preliminary work.

"To have these projects ready requires an assumption that the legislature will approve the accelerated transfer recommended by the governor. We're moving ahead on that basis."

Perpich has recommended that proceeds from the vehicle excise tax be moved from the state's general coffers to the highway construction fund, on a phase-in basis. Perpich has called the transfer the largest single transportation issue on his legislative agenda for 1984.

"What that passage would do is further commit the state to jobs and economic development, something the governor totally supports," Braun said.

"Highway construction jobs ultimately mean an improved economic vitality. Farmers, timber producers, truckers and industry in general all depend on good, solid, safe roads. The same holds true for the motoring public of Minnesota and tourists we hope to have in increasing numbers."

Braun reviewed the list of projects with the governor last week. Perpich made no changes in the list proposed by Mn-DOT.

"As the list stands, we'll begin to make a dent in the enormous backlog of highway work in the 1986-89 period," Braun said. "That backlog has been piling up since 1979, when we began to face highway fund shortages because of reduced fuel consumption. We went into a patch and repair maintenance program and didn't do much else.

"The governor's highway funding initiatives have allowed us to begin a catch-up program, but there are still unmet needs. This will give us a start."

Braun said still more projects in other categories will be added to the 1986-89 program at a later date. These include projects which require a shorter lead time — such as reconditioning, safety improvements, resurfacing and bridge repair.

Certificates were presented at an appreciation reception held recently for those retiring board members.

south 100,000 square feet of the main plant, and would have no need at all for the five remaining buildings. The unneeded property was "conservatively" valued at over a million dollars.

Twomey said he was very optimistic about the chances for disposing of the unneeded property, noting that there were four basic things which would be helpful in that effort:

(1) The property is immediately available. It has buildings on it and can be put to immediate use without a lot of development costs.

(2) It's priced right. Arctco wants to sell to recover its working capital. "We don't want to be in the real estate business," Twomey noted.

(3) The complex is within the enterprise zone approved by the state, which offers liberal tax benefits to industries located there.

(4) City and county governments have shown a willingness to work with businesses in enabling them to located in the community.

"Any one of the incentives might not be enought," said Twomey, "but when you put the four together, we've got a pretty good package."

eligibility of recipients and a decreased share of state participation. State share of funding has been reduced from 95.221 per cent to 95.03 per cent, with the seemingly insignificant .191 difference amounting to about $6,000 when applied to the county's $3.5 million medical assistance bill.

Aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) rises because there were two increases in standards of assistance in 1983 — seven per cent on February 1 and five per cent on July 1 — and because the average case load per month has increased to between 150 and 160. General assistance has increased because a new set of rules which went into effect on October 1 expanded the potential eligibility for assistance.

The county auditor said the estimated expenditure budget of Pennington county's revenue fund for 1984 is $1,351,481, although it can not be finalized because salaries for county employees and health insurance contribution by the county have not been set for the coming year. The county has nearly 100 employees with 10 in the law enforcement center and 19 in the welfare department represented by unions. The welfare union contract has been negotiated and is in effect for a two-year period. The law enforcement center contract has not been settled, nor have slaries for the remaining non-union employees.

In other business at its meeting, the county board approved allocations of $6,000 to the Pennington county historical society ($11,750 had been requested by Orville Trontvet and Gordon Peterson, representing the historical society board) and $9,000 to the Pennington county fair ($14,000 had been requested at an earlier meeting). The board also voted to continue its monthly salary of $100 for Inga Geving as director of the pioneer village and museum.

Jobs Incorporated was given an appropriation of $7,500 for the first half of 1984, with a report to be given to the board at the end of that time on progress being made in local job creation and retention.

Discussion was held on collection and distribution of gravel tax and gasoline tax for the townships. Gravel tax of 10 cents per yard or seven cents a ton collected by the county is to be distributed on the basis of 60 per cent to the county road and bridge fund, 30 per cent to the townships and 10 per cent for reclamation of the gravel excavations. Question of whether all townships should share in the minimal proceeds or if they should go only to the townships in which the gravel is mined was at issue, and no decision was reached.

The board determined that gasoline tax of about $26,000 would be distributed to townships who qualified by having a two-mill levy for road and bridge funds. Distribution would be on the basis of 50 per cent population and 50 per cent number of township road miles in each qualifying township.

Contract with Glenmore foundation in Crookston for 1984 services in the amount of $38,017.50 was approved, as was acceptance of bids on sale of a 1979 sheriff's department squad car. The car was sold to Kevin Duffy for the high bid of $1,075.

Job Training Program Aids Jobless Vets

President Reagan has signed legislation appropriating $75 million in support of a job training program to aid unemployed Vietnam-era and Korean conflict veterans.

Congress authorized the funds last week to provide financial incentives to employers to hire and train veterans. Congress is considering an additional $75 million in funding for the first year of the two-year program.

"This is a major undertaking and underscorers the nation's special commitment to those who have served in the military," administrator of veterans affairs Harry N. Walters said.

Joint labor department-veterans administration effort will be administered by the VA. The program will fund 50 per cent of the starting hourly wages up to $10,000 for veterans to provide a maximum of 15 months' training for certain veterans with service-connected disabilities, and up to nine months for other participants. It will also allow employers to enter into agreements with educational institutions to provide vocational instruction.

To be eligible for participation in the program, a veteran must have been unemployed for at least 15 of the 20 weeks immediately preceding the date of his or her application. Eligible veterans will be furnished a certificate of eligibility by the VA to be presented to an employer offering a job training program that meets specified requirements. This certificate will be good for a period of 60 days and may be renewed. Applications may be obtained from any VA regional office or local state employment job service office.

Employers wishing to take part in the program are urged to contact the local VA or job service office. Approval of training programs will be made by the VA.

VA officials said that assistance under the program is prohibited for those veterans receiving education or training benefits for the same period under the GI bill or the post Vietnam educational assistance program. Also barred from participating are employers receiving assistance for a veteran under the labor department's job training partnership act or a credit under the targeted jobs tax credit program.

Holiday Hints

Home computers are the latest craze. Yet, while there are over eight million in use in U.S. homes today, not many people know that they take the drudgery out of holiday preparations. Here are some tips on using a computer system to make your mood merrier in the coming holiday season.

A mailing list program such as Commodore's EasyMail is helpful in preparing greeting card lists. Once the list is typed into the computer, it can be printed out onto address labels, and then saved on a floppy disk for use again next year, or anytime in between, without retyping. If someone on the list changes his residence or marital status, revisions are easily made.

Holiday gift lists are easily prepared on the Commodore 64 using a word processing program, called EasyScript. Lists can be printed for Santa or saved for anyone else who wants to "call them up." In addition, financial and data base programs like The Manager, EasyFinance and EasyCalc can keep track of gifts purchased, prices paid, bills to expect, and the budget.

If you're a more knowledgeable computer user, you might use the Commodore 64 Super Expander cartridge to help design a video show with colorful holiday characters dancing on the video screen to music made by the computer's music synthesizer.

Your computer can also help cut down on trips to crowded shopping areas. By adding the VIC Modem and connecting the computer to a telephone, banking and shopping can be done without even leaving the house. Then when preparations are completed, add to the festivities by gathering family and a few favorite friends to play the new Commodore games like Lazerian, Kickman, and Dragonsden.

Minn. Wheat Flour Donation Gets To China

Container of high protein bread flour, which was shipped from Minnesota in August, has arrived on schedule in Beijing, the People's Republic of China. The 38,000 pounds of 12.5 per cent protein flour is a gift from United States Wheat associates and the Minnesota wheat research and promotion council to the model demonstration bakery constructed in Beijing by United States wheat producers through United States Wheat associates.

According to Red Ross of Fisher, chairman of the Minnesota wheat council, the purpose of the flour donation is to demonstrate the advantages of using higher protein bread wheats, both in mixes and in straight doughs, over the lower protein wheats that the Chinese are currently using.

Presently, Don Dubois, baking consultant with the American institute of baking in Manhattan, Kan., is in Beijing working with the bakery operators to demonstrate the proper utilization of the flour. The 38,000 pounds of flour will be enough for a two-day run in the bakery, and the bread made from the flour will be sold at 27 outlets located throughout the city of Beijing.

Minnesota wheat council chairman, Ed Ross, and the United States Wheat associates secretary, Adrian Polansky, from Kansas, departed on Sunday, Nov. 27, for Beijing to make the official presentation of the flour to officials of the Chinese government.

Farm Income In 1982 Down By 27 Per Cent

Congress is exploring the idea of replacing support programs with a farmers' income insurance plan.

Problem is, Congress is looking at it in terms that are too traditional, insurance-wise; the rigid premium formulas are like those used in conventional insurance policies and critics say a rigid income insurance system just won't work, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

What's income insurance? Basically, it guarantees that revenue per acre won't drop a certain percentage below expected revenues. Should lower yields or prices cause revenues to drop below the insured level, the policy reimburses the farmer. Overproduction is discouraged because farmers would have to pay additional premiums for larger acreage.

But a look to the north could be helpful, the statistics service says.

Experts say to study Canada's way of handling it. It must be successful, because 75 per cent of Canada's grain farmers are signed up for this voluntary program. Participants pay two per cent of their annual grain sale proceeds (up to a maximum of $900 per year) into the stabilization fund. The Canadian government then doubles the farmer's contribution.

If production costs are higher than his receipts, the farmer receives enough money so his income won't fall below his five-year average income.

During 1976-80, farmers put in $172.5 million, Canada's government put in $345 million, and the fund earned interest of $38.7 million.

A good indication that Canada's plan works: the program ended the decade with a surplus of $188 million. This program means that farmers save money in good years and draw upon it in poor years.

Meanwhile, the system accumulates a financial reserve which means government doesn't have to dole out huge sums in year of low market price.

Washington Report

Sen. Dave Durenberger

Preparing Ourselves

Ten years ago many of us found ourselves sitting in our cars, waiting in line at the local gas station.

We were angry. The Arabs had embargoed all oil exports to the United States.

We wrote our representatives in Washington. We demanded they fund research to find alternative energy resources, as well as protect us from this sort of thing ever happening again.

Six years later, we were in line again. Another energy crisis, this time the result of revolution in Iran.

We began seriously converting to alternative energy sources, as well as insulating our homes and turning down the thermostat.

Still, 37 per cent of our oil needs are met by importing oil from other countries.

In 1974, Congress passed legislation creating the Strategic Petroleum Reserve — a stockpile of oil to be used in the case of another oil cut-off. A few years later, the "holding tanks" were built, and we started buying oil and storing it.

We have 350 million barrels of oil in the SPR now. But although we've taken this precautionary measure, we have one problem. If there is another emergency — who gets the oil first?

The administration has a plan, but that plan doesn't tell us when the stockpiled oil will be used, and by whom.

For all we know, it could be sold to the highest bidder.

For that reason, I am planning to introduce the Petroleum Disruption Management Act at the start of the next session of Congress.

My bill will very simply be a plan on how and when to distribute the oil.

My bill will call for the SPR oil to be used early in the crisis to prevent the price of oil from hitting the ceiling — a price which often becomes permanent. Right now, the administration's plan is to wait. But by then, the price of oil would be outrageously high.

My bill will say we should sell the oil only to companies that will refine it domestically and get it to the marketplace fast.

My bill will set the price of oil at what it was before the crisis, and not the price of the panic market.

My bill will call for the oil supply to be targeted to ease regional supply imbalances and to keep the essential industries operating.

One of those essential industries is agriculture. A farmer can't wait months for energy crisis to end before planting or harvesting crops. A farmer often has only a matter of days.

We've invested $10 billion in the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Only one more step has to be taken to fully prepare us for another energy emergency. That step is to design the plans now on how to use the oil should another crisis occur — the purpose of my legislation.

Security has really tightened around the U.S. Capitol building since the recent bombing that caused over $1 million in damage. That incident, and the several bomb threats which followed the next day, is the reason.

Bags, purses and briefcases are examined before a visitor or a congressional staff member can bring them into the building. Metal detectors have been installed in the basement of the subway leading to the Capitol. And starting in January, all employees of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives must wear identification badges.

The buildings are still very open and accessible to visitors, the way they should be. It's just that a few dangerously crazy people have made extra precaution necessary, both for the safety of the elected representatives and the visitors to the Capitol.

I did read something in the newspaper the other day that made me chuckle, however:

"Dogs trained to sniff out explosives are going over every vehicle that enters the White House grounds, including the limousines of Congressman. . . in an apparent response to the terrorist bomb that exploded in the Capitol. . ."

I wonder if they realize that my "limousine" is a '73 Ford Torino?

FASTER WAYS WITH MICROWAVES

It is often difficult to come up with new and appetizing ways to serve vegetables. Broccoli is one of the most easily obtainable and nutritious vegetables and it can be an elegant and tasty accompaniment to any meal. Broccoli with Mushroom-Cheese Sauce is a recipe from a Whirlpool microwave oven cookbook that looks as special as it tastes. It's easy to prepare and fast microwave cooking retains all the best qualities of the vegetable. Scalloped Broccoli Casserole is another delicious way to use this versatile vegetable and the canned cream-style corn gives this dish a wonderfully unique flavor.

BROCCOLI WITH MUSHROOM-CHEESE SAUCE (shown)

Total cooking time: 19 minutes, 30 seconds

- 2 10-ounce packages frozen broccoli spears
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup shredded American cheese
- ½ cup shredded process Swiss cheese
- 1 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
- ¼ teaspoon dried dillweed

Place broccoli in serving bowl with 2 tablespoons water. Cover and place in micro-wave oven.

Cook broccoli at HIGH for 15 minutes, rearranging the broccoli spears twice; set aside. Place butter or margarine in a 4-cup glass measure. Place in microwave oven.

For cheese sauce, heat butter at HIGH for 30 seconds till melted. Stir in flour. Add milk. Cook at HIGH for 3 minutes till bubbly, stirring every 30 seconds. Stir in cheeses, mushrooms, and dillweed. Return to microwave oven.

Cook sauce at MEDIUM HIGH for 1 minute. Drain broccoli; spoon cheese sauce over. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SCALLOPED BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

Total cooking time: 13 minutes, 30 seconds.

- 1 10-ounce package frozen chopped broccoli
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 beaten egg
- 1 16-ounce can cream-style corn
- ½ cup coarsely crushed saltine crackers

In 1½-quart bowl place broccoli and onion. Cover and place in microwave oven.

Cook broccoli and onion at HIGH for 3½ minutes. Stir; cook at HIGH for 3½ minutes. Drain and set vegetables aside. Place butter in same bowl. Place in microwave oven.

Melt butter at HIGH for 30 seconds. Stir in egg, corn, crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, and dash pepper. Fold in cooked broccoli and onion. Turn into 1-quart casserole. Cover and place in microwave oven.

Cook broccoli mixture at MEDIUM HIGH for 6 minutes, giving dish a half turn once. Makes 6 servings.

TIPS & TECHNIQUES

Cooking frozen vegetables: Place the vegetable carton or pouch on a plate. Make an X-shaped slit in the carton top or puncture the pouch with a fork, to allow for the escape of steam. Cook according to directions given in microwave oven vegetable cooking charts.

Cooking whole vegetables: Large vegetables such as cauliflower can easily be cooked whole in the microwave oven. Remove outer leaves and the excess part of the stem. Place in a 1½-quart casserole with about 2 tablespoons water. Cover and cook according to the times given in microwave oven vegetable cooking charts.

Cutting into equal pieces: Fresh vegetables will cook more evenly when they are cut into uniform sizes and shapes. Irregular-shaped pieces have a tendency to overcook and become mushy in spots while other areas may require additional cooking time.

Hints For Homeowners

Do-It-Yourself Wallcoverings: A Beautiful Idea

You can give any room in your house a fresh and lovely look without intensive (and costly) redecorating: try wallcoverings. Today's wallcoverings range from soft, subtle and warm to bright, cheerful and entertaining, each capable of creating a different mood, a different environment. Many patterns have coordinating fabrics in 50 percent cotton and 50 percent polyester blends. What's more, by using pre-trimmed, pre-pasted wallcoverings, it's easier than you might think to do the job yourself. Here are some hints:

- Wash walls clean and rub smooth.
- Glossy painted surfaces should be lightly sanded. All surfaces should be clean and grease-free.
- Measure and cut wallcovering and allow a few inches top and bottom for pattern matching and easy trimming. Mark plumb line on the wall as a hanging guide.
- Half fill a water tray and immerse cut length for 60 seconds.
- Lift out carefully so that the water runs back. Place first length into position against plumb line. Smooth out all the air bubbles with a smoothing brush. Trim along ceiling and baseboard. Hang each strip the same way, matching the pattern and butting all the seams.

A wallcovering job can go even easier if you choose a pre-trimmed, pre-pasted vinyl wallcovering such as those from MayFair. Every pattern is scrubbable for easy care and tough enough to stand up to the steam and moisture of kitchen and bathroom use with lasting beauty. The company's twenty-inch wide rolls provide 55 square feet of coverage and are all peelable for easy removal if necessary.

Prepare the walls by cleaning them and making sure they are relatively smooth. Let dry before application.

Measure and cut wallcovering. Allow a few inches extra for pattern matching and easy trimming.

Wet and hang pre-pasted wallcovering. Smooth out all the air bubbles and trim top and bottom. Hang each strip the same way, matching the pattern and butting all the seams.

TRF Opponents Highly Rated

Lincoln high school basketball team will be opening its 1983-84 season next week, Tues., Dec. 6, at Roseau, and playing the Rams at home will apparently be a tough assignment for the Prowlers.

Roseau has been picked in a coaches' poll conducted by John Oren of the Baudette Region to win the North Border Conference this winter. The Rams return eight of the 11 players who logged varsity time a year ago for a 10-10 team, headed by seniors Greg Welin, Craig Singer and Neal Feldman.

All three have been starters since their sophomore year. Welin is 6-2 and a rugged rebounder who averaged almost 18 points per game last year. Singer is an excellent penetrating guard, reports Oren in his pre-season North Border Conference preview publication, who averaged nearly 12 points a year as a junior. Those two were all-conference picks a year ago. Feldman, the league's most underrated player, says Oren, is the Rams' tallest player at 6-4. He averaged 9.5 points and 12.3 rebounds last winter.

Also back is 5-9 senior guard Scott Kompellien, a full-time starter last year.

Actually, Roseau, Marshall County Central (another Thief River Falls opponent) and Lake of the Woods are expected to wage a close struggle for the North Border Conference title, won a year ago for the first time ever by Warroad. Roseau has the experience and the depth, points out Oren; Marshall County Central has the depth and a talented group off a strong junior varsity team; and Lake of the Woods has 6-6 Joe Krouss, figured to be an all-state candidate.

Marshall County Central will appear in Thief River Falls' eight-team holiday invitational tournament Dec. 27, 29 and 30, and the Prowlers will meet the Nordics in a regularly scheduled encounter Tues., Jan. 17, in Newfolden.

Cocah Ron Ueland had the finest group of sophomore hoopsters in the school's history last year, explained Oren, and those players engineered a 15-3 junior varsity record that might have been even better except that sophomore Kevin Boe spent most of the season as a varsity starter.

While Roseau, Marshall County Central and Lake of the Woods battle it out for the title, Warroad and Middle River are expected to fight for the fourth and fifth spots in the North Border Conference, while Grygla and Badger struggle to stay out of the cellar.

Like Marshall County Central, Middle River is also scheduled to appear in the Prowlers' invitational and will be in Thief River Falls for a regularly scheduled game Sat., Feb. 11. But the Skippers aren't expected to fare as well as the North Border Conference favorites with an 11-man roster that includes eight sophomores. However, they do have strong talent in senior Kevin McKeever, an all-conference player, and 6-2 sophomore Tom Neumann.

Miscellaneous

+First part of a five-game series featuring the United States Olympic hockey team vs. the Soviet Union Hockey Federation team will be televised locally Fri., Jan. 9 at 7 p.m. on KTHI-TV, Ch. 11. U.S. and Soviet teams will meet Dec. 9 in Lake Placid, N.Y.; Dec. 11, at the Met Center in Bloomington; Dec. 12, at Cleveland, Ohio; Dec. 15, at Cincinnati, Ohio; Dec. 16 in St. Louis, Mo.; and Dec. 18, at Indianapolis, Ind. That's part of a 66-game schedule for the U.S. team in preparation for the 1984 Winter Games at Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

+Freshmen Lon Aune and Kristy Forsberg of Thief River Falls were letter winners on the 1983 University of North Dakota cross country teams. Aune was the No. 4 runner for the Sioux men's team and was named the team's most improved runner award. Forsberg was the No. 2 runner on the UND women's team throughout the season. Both Lincoln high school graduates are already preparing for the indoor and outdoor track seasons with the Sioux. Workouts include 8-to-10 miles per day for Aune and 6-to-8 miles per day for Forsberg.

+Lincoln high school graduate Mark Gere is a member of the University of Minnesota-Crookston basketball team. The Trojans open their 1983-84 season Friday when they host the Mayville State junior varsity. Northwest Division rivals UMC and Northland community college will not face each other this winter until meeting Tues., Feb. 7, in Thief River Falls and again in the regular season finale Thurs., Feb. 16, at Crookston.

GUARDED CLOSELY BY Marshall County Central defender Jodi Nelson, Thief River Falls guard Paula Wilkens nearly lost the ball when the dribble got a little high in the first half of Tuesday's season-opening girls high school basketball game in the Lincoln gym. The Prowlers edged the Nordics 39-38 in the final seconds.

Northland Teams Open Schedules At Winnipeg

Northland community college basketball teams will open their 1983-84 schedules this week when the Northmen and Northwomen compete in the Red River community college invitational tournament at Winnipeg.

Eight teams will compete in both the men's and women's division of the four-day tournament that begins tonight (Wednesday) and continues through Saturday. The tournament field, which is identical in both the men's and women's divisions, includes a mixture of college and amateur teams from Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Ontario.

Northland starts play Thursday against the men's and women's teams for Briar Crest college of Saskatchewan. Coach Deb Jacobson's Northwomen play at 8 p.m. and coach Chet Engelman's Northmen play at 9:30 p.m.

Jacobson's starting line-up will probably include sophomore Lorene Bulzomi (Fertile-Beltrami) and freshman Kari Skoglund (Middle River) at the guards; freshman Karen Sovde (Greenbush) and Jenyne Beehler (Finlayson) at the wings; and sophomore Tara Nicholson (TRF) in the post position.

With just an eight-player roster, most of Northland's preseason work-outs have been designed to improve conditioning, pointed out Jacobson.

"We have lots to work on yet," she admitted. "December is going to be a learning experience for us."

Engelman's Northmen are also shorthanded with an eight-player squad. He said his tentative starting line-up in the opener would likely include an all-sophomore unit with 6-7 newcomer Rodney Scales (Inkster, Mich.) and 6-4½ Shorty Johnson (Kenai, Alaska) inside; 6-4½ Kyle Ramsey (Milwaukee, Wisc.) and 6-5 first-year squad member Jon Neumann (Middle River) on the wings; with 6-1 Kevin Sanders (TRF) at point guard:

Rick Van Camp, Bud Fontes, Dan Flanagan and Pat Burke will undoubtedly get plenty of playing time, too, in the three Northland games.

"It should be a good tournament," noted Engelman. "It should be a good experience for us. We're not as far along as we'd like to be at this point, but we'll get there."

Cards Expect To Field A Much-Improved Team

A Plummer high school basketball team that has won just two games over the past four years expects to make dramatic improvements during the 1983-84 season, scheduled to start Friday for the Cardinals when they host East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Plummer was 1-17 last year, but third-year head coach Jim Baron says that will not happen again.

"We're definitely optimistic," reported Baron. "I think we can leap over the .500 mark, if not better. I think we can probably be in the upper half of our district (31) this year."

Reason for the optimism is the return of all five starts, plus a roster full of players who were members of Plummer's unbeaten North Tri-County Conference championship football team this fall. That winning atmosphere is catchy, said Baron.

Starters back include seniors Tim Gagner and Eric Eskell, plus juniors Russ Fisher, Gene Fisher and Duane Franklund.

"We have a lot of speed and a lot of depth this year," pointed out Baron, who plans to utilize those assets in his fast break offense and pressure defense.

Rest of the squad members include seniors Warren Tvedt and Jim Kelly; juniors Dave Eskell and Mark McPhearson; plus sophomores Gary Torkelson, Chad Nelson and Jeff Engesether.

In other season openers for area teams Friday, Middle River will be at Roseau and Grygla hosts Oklee. Goodridge will begin play Tuesday at home against Clearbrook and Marshall County Central will wait until Fri., Dec. 9, to open the season at Badger.

Girls Basketball Season Opener . . .

Prowlers Edge Nordics 39-38 In Final Seconds

Penni Johnston sank two free throws in a bonus situation with 13 seconds remaining Tuesday to lift Thief River Falls past Marshall County Central 39-38 in the 1983-84 girls high school basketball season opener for both teams in the Lincoln gym.

Shelly Anderson's base line drive with 1:21 remaining gave the Nordics one of their few leads of the night in the closely-played contest, 38-37, and Marshall County Central had a chance to put it away when freshman Jodi Foss stepped to the free throw line for a one-and-one opportunity with 15 seconds on the clock.

But Foss, who played well off the bench and led the Nordics with 12 points, missed her first shot and Johnston was fouled on the rebound. She didn't miss, and the Prowlers won the game.

Those two free throw opportunities represented the story of the game. The Nordics out-shot the Prowlers from the field, but hit a poor 36 per cent at the free throw line on a 4-for-11 showing. Thief River Falls, meanwhile, shot 69 per cent at the line on a 9-for-13 effort that did not include two shots taken away when the shooter stepped on the foul line.

"We missed way too many free throws," confirmed Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We're a lot better free throw shooting team than what we showed tonight."

Figured to be a close, low-scoring game, the match-up of a struggling Class AA school (TRF) vs. a proven Class A winner (MCC) lived up to that billing. It was an 8-8 tie at the end of the first quarter; an 18-18 deadlock at halftime when Foss threw one up from the side from close range as the clock hit :00 following a couple of possession changes on rapid-fire turnovers; and it was a narrow 28-26 lead for Thief River Falls at the end of the third quarter when sophomore Connie Grovum made one of two free throws with time expired and the court cleared of players.

Biggest point spread of the game came when Thief River Falls guard Michelle Olson, high scorer for the night with 20 points, began the fourth quarter by hitting back-to-back jumpers from the side to open up a six-point, 32-26 gap for the Prowlers.

Marshall County Central stayed in it, though, and the Nordics' had only their second lead of the game when junior guard Jodi Nelson hit one from the top of the circle to make it 36-34 with 3:07 to play.

A free throw by center Colleen Cullen and a basket from near the base line by Olson put Thief River Falls back on top 37-36 with 1:34 remaining before Anderson's drive on the base line put Marshall County Central temporarily back in front.

"Our defense is what won it for us," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "We played an aggressive zone. We didn't give them an open shot."

Mjelde, too, was happy with the defense his team played, but said the offense left a little to be desired. "I thought we played pretty decent defense, but we've got to take the ball to the hoop more," he said.

Actually, neither offense was really great. Thief River Falls shot only 28 per cent from the field (15-for-53) and had 18 turnovers, while Marshall County Central shot just slightly better 29 per cent (17-for-59) and had 15 turnovers. The Prowlers had a 33-29 edge on the boards.

Bright stops on offense were the guards — Olson for the Prowlers and Foss for the Nordics.

"I was really impressed with Michelle Olson," pointed out Mjelde. "She is really good. She is one of the best players in this area for sure."

"In the first half we just moved the ball around, but in the second half when we needed points we went to Michelle," acknowledged Schafer, who also had words of praise for Johnston, Grovum and senior playmaking guard Paula Wilkens.

Thief River Falls plays Tri-County Saturday at Karlstad. Marshall County Central hosts Warroad Monday.

MCC Girls Beat Lincoln JV Team By 36-25 Score

Marshall County Central defeated Thief River Falls 36-25 Tuesday in girls junior varsity high school basketball.

Karen Busch scored 11 points and Patty Odberg had 10 for the winners, who trailed 10-9 at the end of the first quarter and 18-17 at halftime before taking a 23-20 third quarter advantage.

Brenda Russell led Thief River Falls with 8 points.

Prowlers Host Central . . .

Hockey Season Opens On Sat.

High school hockey season opener for Thief River Falls will take place Saturday when the Prowlers begin their 1983-84 schedule by hosting Grand Forks Red River in a 7:30 p.m. game at the sports arena. Junior varsity game gets underway at 5:30 p.m.

Thief River Falls was involved in the 19-team, preseason Section 8 jamboree Saturday, with the Prowlers out-scoring Crookston 3-0 in two 11-minute periods.

Line combinations for the Prowlers that night found senior Ryan Bakke centering junior Dan Imgrund and senior Mitch Semanko; freshman Scott Novak skating between seniors Steve Wiskow and Tim Bottem; with sophomore Al Erickson centering senior Rick Spong and junior Joe Blankenfeld.

Working together as defensive pairs were seniors Jim Geatz and Gary Cornell; senior Brian Johnston and sophomore Bill Desrocher; plus senior Al Ness and sophomore John Tranby.

Senior Lee Genereux and junior Steve Solheim each worked one period in goal at the jamboree.

Plummer Wins 1983-84 Debut In Overtime 37-35

Plummer overcame a poor shooting performance Tuesday to edge host Strandquist 37-35 in a season-opening girls high school basketball game that went into overtime.

"It was not an impressive game," acknowledged Plummer coach Rick Koivisto, whose Cardinals shot just 19 per cent from the field (14-for-75) and shot only 32 per cent from the free throw line (9-for-28).

Strandquist, meanwhile, shot just a little better with a 24 per cent figure from the field (13-for-55) and a 43 per cent mark from the free throw line (9-for-21).

Plummer started with a 10-6 first quarter lead and had a 22-12 halftime cushion, but Strandquist tied it 26-26 in the third quarter and it was knotted 32-32 at the end of regulation time.

Down 36-35, Strandquist missed a go-ahead lay-up, and Plummer iced the game by making a free throw with just two seconds remaining.

Sophomore Sheila Jaeger led Plummer with 13 points. Sheila Sorenson and Jody Pahlen both grabbed 10 rebounds for the winners. Melanie Lefrooth had 13 points for the Warriors.

Plummer home opener will be played Thursday against Warren.

Middle River 63
Goodridge 37

Middle River opened its 1983-84 season with a 26-point first quarter scoring burst and was never challenged in a 63-37 home court win over Goodridge.

A turnover-producing pressing defense helped stake the Skippers to a 26-8 first quarter lead. It was 41-18 at halftime and 54-24 through three quarters.

"Offensively we played well," reported Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "Our passing game was really effective."

Three Middle River scorers hit double figures as Diane Black collected 21, Jody Christofferson 18 and Paula Rantanen 17. Lori Sjulestad and Jennie Boutain had 12 and 10 points, respectively, for Goodridge.

While the press helped build that early lead, Neibauer said he wasn't real happy with the Skippers' overall defensive play. "Too much hacking," he pointed out. Four Middle River players carried four fouls.

It was a busy night at the free throw line for the Skippers, who were 15-for-37 (41 per cent). Goodridge was 5-for-15 (33 per cent).

Middle River will be at Warroad Tuesday. Goodridge hosts Argyle that night in the Huskies' home opener.

A young line-up with four sophomores and a single senior starting made some first-game mistakes Tuesday as Grygla lost a 54-38 decision at Hallock.

"I wasn't disappointed," explained first-year Grygla head coach Mike Gast. "I don't like to lose, but we're awfully young. We made some first-game mistakes. Turnovers hurt. But I thought they still played pretty well."

Hallock had quarter leads of 13-7, 27-20 and 41-29.

Kathy Foss scored 13 points for the Eagles. Jodell Anderson led the Bears with 16 points.

Grygla was 16-for-55 from the field (29 per cent) and 6-for-12 from the free throw line (50 per cent). Hallock was 22-for-64 from the field (34 per cent) and 10-for-19 at the line (52 per cent). Hallock owned a sizeable 30-18 rebound edge.

Next outing for Grygla will be Thursday at Roseau.

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) opened its 1983-84 season schedule Sunday with the Eagles Pee-Wee A and VFW Bantam A teams in Bemidji, while the Pee-Wee B and Bantam B teams were at home against Crookston.

In Bemidji, coach Tim Engelstad's Eagles Pee-Wee A team won 7-0 with goalie Chris Lawrence earning the shutout. Rick Looker scored the hat trick, while Dave Stengrim, Robby Coltom, Mike Howe and John Seaverson added single tallies.

VFW BAntam A team lost to Bemidji 4-1 with John Thompson scoring the lone goal. Goalie Shane Anderson had 22 saves in the losing effort.

At home in the sports arena, coach Dale Wennberg's Pee-Wee B team overwhelmed Crookston 16-0. Blake Tangquist and Paul Hejlik scored three-goal hat tricks. Goalies Carl Heinrichs and Todd Stewart were forced to make only three saves in the game.

Coach Scott Bergland's Bantam B team lost 3-2, with Mitch Zutz and Lynn Skibicki scoring goals.

Games Saturday will find Crookston at the sports arena for a 1 p.m. game against the Eagles Pee-Wee A team and for a 2:30 p.m. game against the VFW Bantam A team, while the Pee-Wee B team visits Roseau for a 1 p.m. game.

Pee-Wee In-House

Schedule of games gets underway Saturday for the newly-formed Pee-Wee In-House program, with Thief River Falls teams Hardees, Hartz and Bridgeman joined by a Red Lake Falls entry to make it a four-team league.

DNR Pays Counties For Wildlife Lands

Minnesota counties received a total of $829,318 this year from the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Fish and Wildlife, to compensate for loss of tax revenues on lands purchased for state wildlife management areas (WMA).

Payments in-lieu of taxes are made annually from the state game and fish fund. Receipts into this fund are primarily from the sale of hunting, trapping, and fishing licenses and federal aid reimbursement through the Pittman-Robertson and Dingell-Johnson programs.

Payments to the individual counties are calculated based on the following formula, using whichever amount is greatest:

1) 35 per cent of the gross receipts from all special use permits and leases of lands acquired for WMA's, or;

2: 50 cents per acre on purchased land actually used for WMA's, or;

3; three-quarters of one per cent of the appraised value of purchased WMA lands.

By law, the county treasurer is required to distribute the payments among the county and the respective towns and schools districts where these wildlife lands are located — on the same basis as if the payments were received as property taxes.

Appraised value of the acquired wildlife lands is considered the purchase price for the first five years following acquisition. After five years (or in the case of lands acquired prior to July 1, 1974) the appraised value is et by the appropriate county assessor.

In addition to these payments, the DNR also makes in-lieu-of tax payments to counties for natural resource lands from the "general fund". This year, $4,284,510 was paid to Minnesota counties. Payments for wildlife lands are deducted from the next year's in-lieu-of tax payments from the general fund.

Division of Fish and Wildlife currently manages 520,000 acres in 971 WMA's located in 84 of the state's 87 counties. WMA's are managed for wildlife production, habitat protection and enhancement, and public hunting, trapping, and other compatible uses.

Following is a list of counties and the in-lieu-of tax payments they received for wildlife lands for 1982:

Aitkin — $2,052.36; Anoka — $21,774.82; Becker — $4,442.90; Beltrami — $804.55; Benton — $1,998.83; Big Stone — $8,471.25; Blue Earth — $7,804.64; Brown — $2,440.42; Carlton — $0; Carver — $1,854.00; Cass — $5,557.98; Chippewa — $22,847.65; Chisago — $14,298.13; Clay — $15,336.12; Clearwater — $1,747.50; Cook — $0; Cottonwood — $8,008.03; Crow Wing — $948.47; Dakota — $3,329.12; Dodge — $993.00; Douglas — $4,451.90; Faribault — $3,789.37; Fillmore — $0; Freeborn — $3,169.73; Goodhue — $1,105.40; Grant — $5,312.99; Hennepin — $1,333.50; Houston — $0; Hubbard — $11,115.00; Isanti — $2,221.31; Itasca — $40.00; Jackson — $14,715.75; Kanabec — $3,448.90; Kandiyohi — $12,538.49; Kittson — $11,489.57; Koochiching — $0; Lac Qui Parle — $18,858.63; Lake — $13.25; Lake of the Woods — $390.00; LeSueur — $1,636.07; Lincoln — $19,285.58; Lyon — $36,539.58; McLeod — $1,747.87; Mahnomen — $4,908.52; Marshall — $22,317.78; Martin — $22,003.90; Meeker — $6,809.51; Mille Lacs — $10,180.87; Morrison — $2,842.48; Mower — $2,820.15; Murray — $16,490.69; Nicollet — $507.32; Nobles — $5,378.63; Norman — $11,730.75; Olmsted — $11,817.06; Otter Tail — $11,920.38; Pennington — $4,012.20; Pine — $30.87; Pipestone — $4,457.60; Polk — $15,985.58; Pope — $3,149.25; Ramsey — $0; Red Lake — $2,088.46; Redwood — $10,524.14; Renville — $4,649.49; Rice — $7,090.09; Rock — $0; Roseau — $6,390.26; St. Louis — $976.22; Scott — $2,631.58; Sherburne — $1,543.50; Sibley — $3,454.60; Stearns — $3,532.27; Steele — $4,816.41; Stevens — $5,249.54; Swift — $11,702.97; Todd — $2,873.39; Traverse — $124.24; Wabasha — $15,105.25; Wadena — $398.63; Waseca — $3,992.27; Washington — $4,618.83; Watonwan — $3,145.56; Wilkin — $13,324.95; Winona — $38,461.22; Wright — $11,339.78 and Yellow Medicine — $5,625.38.

RACQUETBALL
Century 21-OK Realty (formerly Action Realty) has worked out a lease for the TRF Racquetball Club for the winter. A three month membership will be offered for the period of December 1 to March 1. You can't ask for a better time of the year. We need 200 members to justify opening the club; so if you want to join this winter, contact us right away. If the membership figure is not met, the club will not open.

National Wildlife Federation
News Release

Warm-blooded seals thrive in Antarctica's icy vastness; land-trekking fish breathe air; cowboy crabs fight adversaries with anemone "six-shooters."

They're all in the fascinating cast of characters in the National Wildlife Federation's new book, Earth's Amazing Animals.

Packed with amazing information, spectacular color photographs, and beautiful black and white illustrations, the book's 208 pages explore the adaptations that enable animals to perform spectacular feats.

Book's first chapter, "Wonders in Motion," unfolds like a gallery of speed demons and acrobats. Cheetahs, the world's fastest land animals, burst at 70 miles an hour after their prey. Klipspringers, delicate African antelopes, leap onto rock ledges the size of a silver dollar. Tropical geckos saunter up walls on traction-padded toes.

Another chapter, "Beyond Wild Expectations," celebrates nature's overachievers — creatures that thrive in hostile environments. The desert-dwelling fennec fox radiates excess heat through its oversized ears; penguins' insulation works so well that the birds actually overheat in their frigid home; deep-sea fish come equipped with living lights to see their way through their perpetual night.

From the tiny Australian honey possum to the giant humpback whale, all the creatures in Earth's Amazing Animals make for fascinating reading for the entire family. It is available for $16.95 plus $1.55 per order for handling before December 31, 1983, (after January 1, 1984, price is $18.95 plus $1.55 per order for handling) from the National Wildlife Federation, Earth's Amazing Animals, 1412 16th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Nature Book Made Available

Escape to the frozen tundra, home of wolverines and polar bears — to the mountains of Quebec where maple trees are tapped for syrup — to the imaginary town of Here and There where red "boodles" bloom on vines.

Ranger Rick's Storybook offers children a rich and inviting selection of stories that do more than entertain. They teach as well — about wildlife, about ecology, about all of nature — and the fascinating text is accompanied by lush color illustrations.

This new hardcover book, published by the National Wildlife Federation, is written for children of ages 5 to 12, but wildlife lovers of all ages will find it fascinating and informative. Its 96 pages contain 27 stories that tell about a rich variety of wild animals, from unfamiliar creatures in distant lands to familiar ones in our own backyards.

For instance, are cougars really "killer cats" who slaughter for fun? No, according to "Cougar, The Ghost Cat," which explains that the animal is simply another predator that must kill to live. Cougars once had the largest range of any American mammal — from southern Canada to the tip of South America, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Now the big cats survive only in the wilderness, in the West, and in the Florida Everglades.

Another Florida resident in Ranger Rick's Storybook is "Trash Masher" — a 10-foot alligator that devours chunks of drifting wood, floating cans and bottles, and even rocks.

Ranger Rick's Storybook takes children and adults alike on real and fanciful adventures. Among the fascinating characters brought to life are a long-eared owl, a South African hippo, a California sea lion, Siberian snow owls, and a famous dolphin that used to escort ships around the New Zealand coast.

This stimulating and educational holiday gift for youngsters is available for $10.95, plus $1.55 per order for handling, from the National Wildlife Federation, Ranger Rick's Storybook, 1412 16th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Some pet tortoises are said to have excellent vision and strong loyalties, says International Wildlife magazine. Tortoises can recognize their owners from a distance, while ignoring strangers.

CARNEGIE BUSINESS CENTER
A PRIME OFFICE BUILDING — AT A PRIME LOCATION IN THIEF RIVER FALLS
Completely renovated brick Carnegie Library Building (4,000 sq. ft.) with new brick addition (4,200 sq. ft.) to be available for tenants by Summer, 1984.

- Located at the corner of Third Avenue and First Street, CARNEGIE BUSINESS CENTER is conveniently located for businesses and professionals at the center of government, medical and business activities.
- Ample, convenient parking lot adjacent to the Center.
- Renovated and new building will be super insulated to reduce rents and maximize comfort with an all new, central heating and air conditioning system.
- Your office will be part of a historic landmark which will be listed on the National Register of Historic Places.
- Rents will be only slightly more than now paid by professionals and businesses in older, less convenient, and less comfortable offices.
- Some spaces would be suitable for retail shops or for office-warehouse use (inquire for details).

For further information, call or write to: Gerald Mundt Architects 4969 Olson Memorial Hwy., Golden Valley, MN 55422. Telephone No. (612) 542-8219.

Card of Thanks

My heartfelt thanks to Dr. Bray and the nurses for the wonderful care I received during my stay in the hospital.

Thanks to Pastor Hushagen for his visits and the prayers on my behalf.

Many thanks to my friends and relatives for their visits and for all the cards and flowers I received.

God bless each and everyone.

Public Notices

Card of Thanks

Our most sincere thanks to all relatives, friends and neighbors who helped ease the loss of my beloved husband and our brother.

A special thank you to Pastor Richard Larson for his comforting words, Jerry Joringdal, the organist, the casket bearers and Silvertones. Thank you for the many cards, memorials, flower arrangements, letters and phone calls, the food brought to our home and the ladies who served lunch.

Thank you to the Ecklund-Holmstrom post for the military honors, the ambulance service and the Green Funeral home for their kindness.

Your many acts of kindness and love shown to the family in the loss of John will always be remembered.

May God bless each one of you.

STROUT REALTY — INC. —

ENCOURAGES YOU TO LIST YOUR PROPERTY WITH THEIR AGENCY FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

DENNIS McCULLOUGH

☑ Strout encourages "open listings." An open listing allows the owner to list with as many real estate agencies as desired. Also, the owner may sell the property on his or her own while it is listed. A commission is charged only if Strout sells the property.

☑ Strout provides branch managers with a confidential list of hundreds of prospective buyers each week from throughout the United States and abroad.

☑ Strout provides, on a regular basis, national advertising of properties in major magazines and newspapers throughout the country.

☑ Strout publishes three major catalogs each year advertising properties like yours through print and pictures. These catalogs are FREE to prospective buyers and were distributed to over 10 million recipients last year.

☑ Strout has a National Referral System to assist you in buying or selling property throughout the United States.

☑ Strout has standardized signs which are recognized nationally by potential clients.

☑ Strout is a company with over 80 years of real estate experience and has a reputation for integrity and service to its clients.

NATIONAL ENERGY CONSERVATION WEEK

LOWER THE ENERGY COST OF YOUR LAUNDRY.

True or false—the hotter your wash water, the cleaner your clothes. FALSE. Until recently, hot water was needed so soap would dissolve and clean. But today's new detergents work in cool and cold water.* This cuts energy costs and reduces fabric wear. REALTORS® believe saving energy is vital. As members of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® they are committed to cutting energy consumption in both their businesses and homes. REALTORS® work for America's property owners every way they can.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE SEWER SERVICE RATES FOR SEWER SERVICE SUPPLIED BY THE CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA, ORDAINS:

Section 1. City Code, Section 3.80, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 3.80. SEWER SERVICE RATES AND CHARGES.

Subd. 1. General Sewer Service - Metered. Available for sewage contributors discharging domestic strength waste (or less) sewage into the sanitary system:

A. Monthly Service Charge - Minimum: 5/8" or 3/4" (water meter) $1.70; 1" $3.60; 1¼" $4.50; 1½" $6.35; 2" $10.60; 3" $19.80; 4" $26.55; 6" $73.35.

B. Volume Charge. 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water delivered to said premises.

Subd. 2. General Service - Unmetered. Available to sewage customers discharging only domestic sewage into the sanitary sewer system. When the utility cannot immediately install its water meter to measure discharges into sewers, service shall be billed at the rate of $3.50 each month. This rate shall be applied to only single-family residential and small commercial customers and approximates the cost of 6,000 gallons per month. If it is determined by the utility that usage is in excess of 6,000 gallons per month, an additional charge of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons will be made for estimated additional usage.

Subd. 3. Multiple User Meters.

A. Charges for sewer service to mobile home courts, apartment houses and other facilities where there are multiple users of the sewer system but only a single water meter, the billing shall be a $1.70 monthly service charge multiplied by the number of units plus a volume charge of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water delivered to said premises.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in force and effect for the January, 1984, billing and all subsequent billings.

Energy Charge: For the first 1,000 KWH per month 5.103 cents KWH; For the next 3,000 KWH per month 4.103 cents KWH; Excess KWH per month 3.851 cents KWH

When a customer's monthly use exceeds 15,000 KWH for four consecutive months, the Thief River Falls Electric Utility at its option or the customer's request will install a demand meter for metering and determination of which rate the customer should be billed.

When the Thief River Falls Electric Utility determines that HP should be used as the minimum bill, the charges shall be as follows: First 3 h.p. $1.50; All over 3 H.P. $.75

Power Factor Below 95 per cent. Any establishment where power factor is below 95 per cent will be required to correct same to 95 per cent. At the option of the City, a penalty will be added to the consumer's monthly bill according to the following chart until the correction has been made: 95 per cent to 100 per cent P.F. No Penalty; 85 per cent through 94 per cent P.F. 4 per cent Penalty; 0 through 85 per cent P.F. .5 per cent Penalty

After the consumer's P.F. has been determined, the City will not be obligated to take additional readings until the consumer has taken action to correct his P.F.

No consumer shall maintain a leading P.F. beyond 95 per cent leading.

Discounts: Primary Metering — 2 per cent Discount; Through customer owned transformers — 3 per cent Discount; Primary metering and through customer owned transformers — 5 per cent Discount

Commercial Metering. A customer must have a 300 K.W. load or larger to qualify for primary metering and then the decision of having secondary or primary metering is solely at the discretion of the City.

THE RATE SHOWN ABOVE IS SUBJECT TO STATE SALES TAX. THE CUSTOMER CHARGE IS THE MINIMUM CHARGE AND IS IN ADDITION TO ANY ENERGY USED.

Subd. 5. LARGE GENERAL SERVICE RATE-INDUSTRIAL

Availability. Available in the City of Thief River Falls to any commercial industrial and institutional customers as single business establishments for all power and lighting requirements, when all service hereunder is provided through one set of meters and at a single point of delivery.

Applicable. To commercial or industrial customers for combined lighting and power purposes. Service will be rendered at the utility system standard secondary voltage, single or three phase, or at primary voltage designated by the utility system as the service voltage available in the area for the size of load to be served. Special voltage transformers for lighting and other purposes shall be owned and maintained by the customer.

Rate 1984-8
RATE:
DEMAND CHARGE FOR SERVICE AT SECONDARY VOLTAGE:
40 kilowatts or less per month $193.60; Excess kilowatts per month $4.84 per KW
PLUS ENERGY CHARGE OF:
All kilowatt hours per month at 2.477 cents per KWH

PRIMARY SERVICE DISCOUNT:
Customers receiving service at primary distribution voltage will receive a 2 per cent discount of the net billing for service.

MINIMUM DEMAND:
In no month shall the demand to be billed be considered as less than the largest of the following: a. (80 per cent of the greatest demand in kilowatts registered from November 20 through March 20) b. (40 kilowatts).

DETERMINATION OF DEMAND:
The maximum demand in kilowatts for billing purposes shall be the greatest 15 minutes demand load during the month for which the bill is rendered and subject to power factor adjustment by dividing the maximum demand in kilowatts by the determined power factor (See Power Factor Below) expressed in per cent and by not more than 95 per cent power factor and multiplying the quotient so obtained by 95 per cent and rounding off to the nearest kilowatt.

POWER FACTOR:
The customer shall at all times take and use power in such a manner that the average power factor shall be as near 100 per cent as possible.

After the consumer's P.F. has been determined by the City, the City will not be obligated to take additional readings until the consumer has taken action to correct his P.F.

The City can take P.F. readings at it's discretion.

LOAD CONTROL:

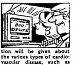
Phone-In TV Show On Heart Disease To Help 42 Million Americans



"HEARTLINE '83," a television program which involves home viewers in a unique two-way dialogue with physicians, will be shown on cable television on Tuesday, December 6, 1983, from 7 PM to 11 PM (EST). This educational and entertaining program, called an "informathon," will cover all facets of heart and blood disease, which affect 42 million Americans.

The unusual phone-in format lets you call in during the four-hour telecast to consult medical specialists, directly and privately. The program is being produced by Cable Health Network, in cooperation with the American Heart Association. It is made possible by Pfizer Pharmaceuticals as part of its consumer healthcare program to inform the public on the early warning symptoms and risk factors of major diseases—such as heart and blood vessel (cardiovascular) disease.

You will also be able to participate in quizzes and see demonstrations of emergency procedures. Information will be given about the various types of cardiovascular disease, such as heart attack, hypertension, arteriosclerosis and stroke—as well as recovery, rehabilitation, the latest research and use of medicines.

Many celebrities, including actor Ben Vereen, will appear on the program. It will be co-hosted by popular television medical authority Dr. Art Ulene and Joseph Benti, anchorman for "Cable Health World Report."

The program will be re-broadcast from 11PM to 3 AM, giving viewers from all over the country the chance to talk with a medical expert. Viewers with questions about any aspect of cardiovascular disease may call a toll-free number, (800) 828-LIFE, during the entire eight hours of programming.

Stangeland Favors Dairy Compromise

Congressman Arlan Stangeland says he led the successful fight to pass compromise legislation on the federal dairy program which the House passed 325-91 on Wednesday.

"For once, the urban Congressmen were willing to listen to our advice on complex agricultural legislation," Congressman Stangeland said. "When the Senate and House settle minor differences on this compromise, I will strongly recommend to President Reagan that he sign this into law.

"This is not an ideal bill, but it took a year to reach this compromise," he said. "It would help to keep many young and highly-leveraged dairy families on the farm."

The bill would eliminate the current $1 per hundredweight assessment on the $13.10 dairy price support. In its place, a 50-cent payment would be used to finance a "paid diversion" program to encourage farmers to reduce production.

"This will save the taxpayers dollars by reducing the surplus of dairy products which the government purchases," Congressman Stangeland said.

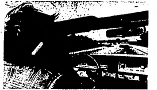
During the debate, Congressman Stangeland voted for five amendments to improve the compromise and against a proposal to substitute a "meat-axe" cut of $1.50 in the price supports.

Congressman Stangeland voted for two amendments which passed. Rep. Tom Harkin (D-IA) offered a plan to protect existing red meat and poultry producers from the effects of the culling of dairy herds, which passed 348-71. Rep. Sid Morrison (R-WA) had a plan to exempt farmers from up to all of the 15-cent assessment for national dairy promotion if they already participate in state or regional programs. It passed by a voice vote.

Stangeland also voted for three defeated amendments. Rep. Jim Oberstar (D-MN) had a proposal to extend the "paid diversion" program from 15 to 21 months, which was beaten 93-325. Rep. Bill Clinger (R-PA) lost by 159-255 on a proposal to apply the 50-cent assessment only to dairy farmers who increase their production. Rep. Joe Skeen (R-NM) lost on an amendment to exempt producer-handlers from the bill on a 162-249 vote.

Congressman Stangeland voted against the $1.50 reduction plan offered by Rep. Barber Conable (R-NY), which was defeated 174-250. "That was a meat-axe approach which would have controlled production by throwing families off the land," Congressman Stangeland said.

NEWS For Car Owners



General Electric's cellular mobile telephone is now undergoing field testing. It will be available April, 1984.

Have you ever been stalled in traffic and wished you had a telephone in your car to call home?

And wouldn't a mobile telephone have come in handy on those occasions when you searched in vain for a telephone booth so you could call for directions?

Well, chances are you'll soon be able to make that call in most major markets. The reason is that the Federal Communications Commission is licensing a new type of service called cellular telephone.

Cellular telephone divides a metropolitan area into small cells, each with a transmitter and receiver which communicate with a central computer that switches calls to and from land lines.

Until the advent of cellular, mobile telephone systems nationwide only served about 150,000 subscribers; lines were often busy and in major cities there were long waiting lists just to get the service.

Now, a cellular telephone will be available to anyone who can afford the cost of the equipment, initially about $2,300, plus the monthly usage fees.

A typical in-car system consists of a compact transmitter/receiver unit, installed in your trunk or under the seat, and a telephone handset that mounts on the dash or console, and a small antenna.

General Electric, a leader in the field, forecasts that by the year 2000 there will be 25 million mobile telephones in use.

4H CLUB

Sanders

Regular meeting of the Sander 4-H club was called to order by President Edna Johnson on November 11 at the Sanders town hall. Flag pledges were said and roll call was taken.

Motion was carried that $20.00 be sent to the Fergus Falls state hospital. Letter was read from a family who lost their home in a fire, thanking the club for its donation of clothing.

Committee was formed to plan the Christmas party to be held at the next meeting. This committee includes: Kerry Helle, Edna Johnson, Dori Grandbois, Jenny Lane, Lezlie Engen, Ron Koop and Dale Dobias. Demonstration was given by Beattie Mickelson on parlimentary procedure and its use. There were 14 members, eight parents and three visitors present. Next meeting will be December 9 at the Sanders town hall.

Awareness Is Supported By Safety Council

Tragedy of traffic accidents, according to Robert L. Anderson, president of the Minnesota safety council, is that innocent people often are victims, and this is especially true in mishaps where "the other guy" has been drinking.

Speaking in support of Drunk Driving Awareness week, December 11 to 17, Anderson said it's important that motorists recognize the actions of a drinking driver:

— Alcohol-impaired drivers might pass with insufficient room, change lanes at excessive speeds or straddle the centerline of the road.

— Persons who have been drinking are forgetful; inebriated drivers occasionally travel at night without lights and often fail to dim headlights for oncoming traffic.

— In many instances a drinking driver will not be speeding but will be traveling below posted speeds.

"The drunk motorist often drives at inconsistent speeds, rocking the accelerator. Try and get out of that person's way. If he or she is driving right behind you, turn right at the nearest intersection and let him or her go by," Anderson advises.

In addition to staying alert to any out-of-the-ordinary driving practice which may indicate an alcohol-impaired driver, Anderson emphasizes the importance of safety belts for driver and all passengers. And small children should be in approved child-safety restaints, he adds.

"To avoid an accident, you generally have only a few seconds to react defensively," he warns. "Do everything you can to avoid a head-on collision, which is the deadlist of car accidents. If another driver is coming right at you, slow down quickly and stop or drive off the right side of the road is necessary. Sound your horn and flash your lights if there is time. If the driver is drunk, drowsy or sick, his or her actions may be completely unpredictable." Anderson advises motorists not to try to pass the oncoming car on the left — the driver may recover at the last moment and swerve right into them.

Safety council estimates are that one in ten drivers is drunk on a Friday or Saturday night. In Minnesota last year, 581 persons died in motor-vehicle accidents, and alcohol is estimated to have been involved in more than half of those accidents. "It's statistics like these which have prompted a nationwide crackdown on drunk driving," says Anderson.

Airway Science Course At UND Is Commended

Federal aviation administration (FAA) recently awarded the University of North Dakota (UND) a certificate of commendation for the development of its airway science curriculum.

"This contribution to aviation education warrants the commendation of all who fly," FAA Administrator Lynn Helms said.

UND's airway science program was the nation's first approved program, and is tailor-made to fit industry and FAA employment needs for years to come.

Under the guidance of Helms, the FAA has begun a 20-year modernization program that will involve state-of-the-art computer and weather prediction technology to make U.S. airways safer and more efficient. Airway science curriculum, developed at the FAA's request, is a step in that direction.

This dovetails nicely with UND's recent academic reorganization that placed the fields of aviation, computer science and meterology into the University's center for aerospace sciences. Students in the center's airway science curriculum will graduate with all of the skills necessary for employment in the FAA's modernized operation, Center Director John Odegard said.

UND's airway science curriculum, implemented just this fall, is one of only a few such programs in the nation that have been recognized by the FAA; that recognition gives students graduating from those programs priority in the FAA's hiring process.

In awarding the certificate, Helms said, "The University of North Dakota is a leader in this important and exciting endeavor. John Odegard embraced the airway science concept immediately, and successfully worked very hard in the academic community to gain broad based support for the program.

"We are particularly grateful for the opportunity of working with John Odegard because he possesses several characteristics that not only built one of the very finest collegiate aviation programs in the country, but he also makes major contributions to the whole of our exciting aviation industry."

THE DAY THE COMPUTER FAILED

If you're tired of being treated like a number you'll appreciate this story . . . They asked the computer a simple question it couldn't answer!

"NOT PROGRAMMED FOR THIS FACTOR." Everyone was astounded. Then they discovered that a typist copying the word sole had spelled it S-O-U-L.

Thank the Lord that all of life cannot be programmed like a computer. There are values and realities—precious ones—which defy mathematical expression.

We will be looking for you in Church next week. We are the millions of your neighbors who are seeking and finding spiritual answers to life's problems.

Opinion On Speed Limit

His personal experience and opinion regarding the nation's 55 mile per hour speed limit was expressed as follows by editor Neil Mattson in last week's Warren Sheaf as follows:

Friday, November 4 at mid-afternoon while cruising down I-94 on our way to the Twin Cities, the highway trooper on the opposite lane of the interstate made a quick turn across the median and came up behind our car with his lights flashing. He clocked me at 68 on his super, duper radar. He was very nice but made me come back to his car, stuck me in the back seat with steel bars between us and no inside handles on the door so it was impossible to get out of his car.

We had a nice chat while he filled out the ticket and he did his job in a very professional manner. He didn't give me any lectures about speeding, but simply told me I could mail $33 to the Stearns County Court at Sauk Centre.

I think that this 55 mph speed limit is for the birds. Going from Warren to St. Paul this adds at least an hour to the driving time on roads that are built for 80 miles an hour. There is little traffic on these 4-lane super highways. We are buying smaller cars and diesels that get better mileage, one big reason for reducing the speed limit. The cars operate better at 65 or so. You darn near fall asleep going a slow 55 miles per hour down the highway.

But the interesting part is that as we got closer and closer to the Twin Cities the amount of traffic increase because it was nearing rush hour. The speed of the traffic kept increasing and finally when we got to Minneapolis if you were going 55 you'd be run over. Of course, we never did see another State Trooper. They certainly were conspicuously absent when the traffic got heavy. Why they make a special effort to arrest motorists going 68 on a clear road in the daylight with little traffic and obviously let the traffic flow at its own pace when speed could be more of a factor in accidents I don't know. 55 miles an hour is dumb.

It Will Stir Controversy

Following editorial is from the Bemiji Pioneer:

A legislative proposal that promises to stir up several hornet nests simultaneously makes its St. Paul debut today. Before the idea gets beyond the door of the State Office Building, it will be attacked and heralded by a number of factions.

The bill calls for educational reform and new alternatives for disadvantaged students in Minnesota. It would establish, through state education department administration, freedom of choice as to where parents would like their children to attend school. When we say "freedom of choice," we mean that it would allow economically disadvantaged Minnesotans (students who qualify for free school lunches) to attend the school of their choice, public or private, with state aid backing. If parents wanted to enroll children in another public school, 100 per cent of the pupil's state aid amount would be transferred. If a non-public school situation was favored over the home school district's opportunities, than 80 per cent state aid would be transferred. The bill is sponsored by Rep. John Brandl, DFL Minneapolis, developed with the Citizens League.

Let's stop right here for a moment. According to the information we have, the proposal would allow poor families to send children to the school system of their choice and the state picks up all or most of the tab through state aid. Sounds like a Robin Hood bill to us... one of those bureaucratic marvels that marches to euphoria... providing disadvantaged folks with the same opportunities that only the rich can presently afford.

We're all for more opportunities for the disadvantaged, but this idea is going to have to go from stone cold to full-boil and then back to simmer before we can assess all the ramifications.

One sure result of this boldy fascinating suggestion will be some very interesting reactions, indeed. Like what the teachers associations and local school establishments will have to say about the suggestion that they might not have the best possible educational system a person could want, and, are their state aid benefits going to be drained off? The conservatives will be hollering about socialism and more government, and the liberals will be mildly supportive until they figure out how many voters are behind the plan in their district. The advocacy groups will be chanting hallelujahs wherever Brandl goes, and the private and church schools will be trying to figure out if they're for it or against it. Taxpayers who have no children in schools will hope for an amendment that lessens their burden, and parents of economically disadvantaged students will try to figure out if they can afford the extra costs that will occur if they send Johnny or Susie off to another school.

It will be a very educational, if not enlightening, experience.

New Immigration Policy

Following editorial is from the Ely Echo:

Any foreigner who wishes to become a citizen of the United States has only to follow a two-step procedure: (1) Become a communist, (2) Defect.

Somehow in the strange labyrinth of Washington, D.C., the entire U.S. immigration policy has been rewritten without benefit of Congressional approval or public debate with the result that defectors from communist countries are welcomed with open-arms while citizens from non-communist nations must line up and await their chances to enter under strict quotas set by law.

Some preference seems to be allowed for communists athletes and performers. Thus we see communist tennis players, track stars and ballet dancers jumping ship for the U.S. while our State Department officials clap their hands with glee. Just why this nation needs more tennis players, track stars, or ballet dancers is not clear, but somehow our government officials and much of the press gets extremely excited when we acquire some from the Iron Curtain or China.

Athletes or ballet dancers from friendly nations such as Canada, Mexico, England or France cannot do this. We won't let them in.

Currently, the word is out. If you want to become an American citizen, first become a communist behind the Iron or the Bamboo curtain, and then defect. You can't miss.

More of Murphy's Laws

Some additions to the basic Murphy's Law which declares that "if anything can go wrong, it will, at the worst possible time" were supplied to Ken Hickman for publication in his "Shooting the Rapids" column in the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

"It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you place the blame."

"A friend in need is a friend to avoid."

Those who think they know it all are very annoying to those of us who do."

"If you can tell the difference between good and bad advice, you don't need advice."

"Never do card tricks for the group you play poker with."

"Even if you under stood women, you'd never believe it."

"If you see someone approaching with the obvious intent of doing you good, run for your life."

"A man with one watch knows what time it is — a man with two watches is never sure."

"Don't force it — get a larger hammer."

"Halitosis is better than no breath at all."

"The shortest distance between two points is always under repair."

Homespun Philosophy

Credit goes to Rosalyn Hart Finch for the following homespun philosophy and witticism which appeared in her "Buckey Farm News" column in Ohio:

— Don't you think it's about time we gave up asking Congress to examine its own ethics? It's like asking the fly to supply the swatter.

— I've begun taking birthday control pills. A friend brought her little boy over to visit and he asked if he could play connect-the-dots with the liver spots on my hand.

— My kid's idea of a balanced diet is a pizza in each hand.

— An optimist is a middle-aged man who thinks his cleaner is shrinking his suits.

— A great way to lose weight would be to have the handles of refrigerator doors about two inches from the floor.

— Four-day weeks will never make it; that's not enought time to recover from three-day weekends.

Borrowed Nonsense:

The anxious young mother was asked how her children were doing in school. "Oh, it seems to be getting a little better," she said, "but I still go to PTA meetings under an assumed name."

IS YOUR VOICE BEING HEARD IN WASHINGTON D.C.?

Do you know how your Representative voted on:
■ Nuclear Freeze
■ Sanctions against the Soviets
■ Tax increases
■ Food stamps
■ Government subsidies to business

Here's how you can find out...

A list of important issues before the House and the Senate and a record of how each Senator and Congressman voted is available for free from a non-profit, nationwide citizen's action group called CALL for Conservatives Against Liberal Legislation. Formed to mobilize concerned Americans seeking the restoration of our economic and military strength, the group is dedicated to an expanding economy through lower taxation and deregulation; a strong defense capability; a resolute foreign policy directed toward preserving world freedom; tougher laws on crime; less social maneuvering and regulation by the federal government. Whatever your stand on the issues, the organization's free brochure can be a useful tool in determining where your legislators stand.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The Minnesota Institute, in conjunction with Minnesota public television, the state of Minnesota and support from a number of Minnesota corporations, helped in the development of a highly publicized public television series called, "Chemical People- Minnesota." This involved over 500 town meetings throughout the state for Minnesotans who are concerned about adolescent use of alcohol and other drugs. We deeply appreciate the support from churches, schools and media points throughout northwestern Minnesota for contributing to the success of the program.

I would like to make a general comment to the readers of the Thief River Falls Times. Minnesota has a national reputation as a leader in responding to people who are endangered, whether it deals with child abuse, environmental issues or alcohol and other drug problems.

In the area of chemical abuse, though it was not mentioned on the TV program, several of the real leaders in chemical abuse programming for the state have evolved in northwestern Minnesota. In particular, Glenmore foundation in Crookston has always served as a benchmark for forward thinking, quality service in drug and alcohol treatment throughout the state.

I've had the opportunity to serve in an advisory capacity to the White House on drug abuse issues and, for some time, the institute monitored federall-funded alcohol and drug abuse treatment services in Minnesota. If someone I cared about were endangered regarding alcohol or other drugs, I have and will continue to recommend Glenmore as a treatment program that works. Similarly, I've heard wonderful things about the adolescent unit at St. John's.

Minnesota made technological and human-touch history with the Chemical People-Minnesota program, but it would be profoundly wrong if we didn't acknowledge to the people of northwestern Minnesota, that, in part, the giants among themselves gave us the moral direction for the television and town meeting programs.

As with any other population there is alcohol and other drug misuse in northwestern Minnesota but, unlike many communities, you have Glenmore and other family-oriented treatment programs that can really help. We appreciate having been able to share in your good fortune.

Sincerely,
Bruce Bomier, President
Minnesota Institute

To The Editor:

"Cancer", like "nuclear warfare", is a term that strikes terror in the hearts of all of us. I know this from bitter experience, having been confronted by this spectre twice now, with two husbands. Happily, there are many victims of this disease who have discovered it early enough and are living out happy, useful lives years later. But not all are so fortunate!

When the prognosis is "non-operable", the circumstances assume another pattern. You go from devastation, to anger, to a desperate searching for help — any kind of help, from anywhere.

In hospital rooms and corridors, you battle with a hundred decisions: where to live during your loved one's treatment; wondering whether medicare and your supplement will provide enough to allow you to keep your home to pay the enormous costs; whether you should face it together or pretend that it doesn't exist. In my case since faulty eyesight keeps me from driving a car, it is difficult to find rides to and from the hospital — and the list goes on.

At first you have no idea where to turn! Then you learn that most hospitals have Human Services departments and you stumble into their office. There you find unbelievable compassion, smiles, words of encouragement and a staff with answers! And since cancer is only one area of their concern, they refer you to people who are trained in the area where you most need help — the people of Hospice!

There are phone calls, as many as you need to make or have them made for you — and they can open doors you never even knew existed! Soon, one of them takes you apartment hunting and gets you settled. They come to counsel with the two of you in the hospital room, helping you confront the truth and softening it by their understanding. They are there and that's what matters. You no longer feel like a lost soul in a sea of strangers.

Later, one of the Hospice people offers to stay with the patient, talking, listening, sounding him out. Often, the patient will open his heart far more readily to them than to members of the family, with them he can be honest and need not hide his fears, for they know how to help the fears surface. Often, they are from families that have experienced cancer; often theirs has been the pain you and your loved one are feeling. They know of your need to go shopping, to just get out of the hospital environment occasionally; to enjoy a bit of life with and call on whenever you need their particular kind of help.

They make coping possible, "... focus on quality of life and preparation for the future, offer emotional support and bereavement care, assist in providing continuity of care between the hospital, nursing homes or home, with home health care services," to quote from their brochure... And most of all, "support patient and family in whatever setting is the best for the care of the patient: home, hospital or nursing home."

The Hospice people are volunteers, giving of themselves, their time or whatever is needed in bringing comfort and assistance wherever it is necessary — carong on a one-on-one basis!

It was with such profound relief that we learned of the formation of a Hospice team locally. Now it is up to us to spread the word, to get as many people involved as possible, to impress upon the volunteers the huge need for their loving service. Hospice today means "an organized program for caring for people going through life's last stages." It is today's prototype of the Good Samaritan.

If you don't know what to do with your leisure time, and are 18 or over, by all means ask about this marvelous program at your local hospital. It's putting your heart "up front" where it counts; It's making of yourself an "angel without wings" and will put you forever in the debt of those to whom you spread comfort and help in their lonely, needful hours.

You are needed!

Most sincerely,
Mrs. Med (Flora) Mercil

The U.S. Department of Labor reports that in fiscal year 1981, Job Service offices served 16.5 million persons. Of these, more than 3.7 million were placed in jobs. Nearly 1.3 million were members of minority groups, and over 507,000 were veterans.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

TO: Residents of Thief River Falls.

SUBJECT: Change in residential garbage pick-up service to once (1) a week during the winter months.

Effective the 1st Monday in December, 1983, (12-5-83) and extending to March 31, of each year, the City Sanitation Dept. will change their residential garbage pick-up to once a week in an attempt to reduce operating costs and avoid possible increases in the current monthly garbage rates. In the month of April through November of each year, the normal twice (2) a week pick-up service will apply.

Your pick-up day will be in accordance with the following description and attached map.

MONDAY: The residential area north of Sixth Street on the west and north side of the river (includes Sherwood Forest Addition).

TUESDAY: The residential area south of Third Street and west of Crocker Avenue on the east side of the river. This includes the residential area west of the Soo Line tracks from County Road 62 to County Road 61 (Hersen's, Thyren's, and Heinze Additions).

THURSDAY: The residential area south of Sixth Street on the west side of the river.

FRIDAY: The residential area north of Third Street and east of Crocker Avenue on the east and south side of the river.

ISN'T IT RIDICULOUS?

Some people have had what experts consider a pretty silly idea: that drycleaning causes clothes to wear out. The truth is, it's the dirt and soil that wear out clothes.

A microscopic examination of a garment that has been worn will show the presence of dirt with rough, sharp edges. If such soil is not removed, it can have an abrasive effect on the fabric and that's what causes the fabric to wear out. Many tests have shown drycleaning solvents do not damage fabric. In addition, drycleaning helps protect clothes from insects.

Melt-In-Your-Mouth Doughnuts Ready To Eat In Minutes

For a quick breakfast or coffee treat, make up a batch of Speedy Orange Glazed Doughnuts—in minutes. The recipe for these melt-in-your-mouth doughnuts sidesteps all the fuss of traditional homemade doughnuts by starting with refrigerated biscuits.

Simply make a hole in the center of each biscuit and fry in hot shortening or oil. Then dip the light, tender doughnuts in the tangy orange glaze given here or another favorite glaze or frosting.

SPEEDY ORANGE GLAZED DOUGHNUTS

GLAZE

1 1/3 cups sifted powdered sugar
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange peel

DOUGHNUTS

7.5-oz. can Pillsbury Refrigerated Buttermilk or Country Biscuits
Shortening or oil for frying

Heat shortening to 375°F. In small bowl, combine sugar, orange juice and peel; set aside. Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Using thimble or small round cookie cutter, cut hole in center of each biscuit. Fry biscuits and holes in hot shortening (375°F.) until golden brown, about 1 1/2 to 2 minutes. Drain. While hot, dip both sides of doughnut into glaze. Serve warm. 10 doughnuts.

Lion's Meeting

The regular monthly supper meeting of the Newfolden Lion's club was Thursday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. The table grace was sung and then all enjoyed a meal of roast beef, mashed potatoes, with gravy, peas and carrots, tossed salad, bread, coffee and milk with ice cream for dessert. The cooks who prepared this were Art Rud, Harvey Underdahl and Stan Holmaas.

After a fun time with the tall twister Stu Sethre stealing the show, the business meeting was called to order by president Harvey Stokke. The secretary's report and the treasurer's report were read and approved. It was noted that a gift of $10 was donated to the Crafty Critters homemakers club of Newfolden for sponsoring the annual Halloween party. Also a memorial of $22 had been given to the Lion's Eye bank in memory of Lion Don Engelsrud who died Oct. 5. A kind thank you letter was also read from the family showing appreciation to the club for kindness shown to them during their bereavement.

Deputy Sheriff Herb Maurstad was our guest speaker for the evening. He presented a slide presentation and also told some facts and statistics of the problems and results of chemical dependency in our county and state. He stated the drug problem, as some consider drugs, has eased somewhat, but drugs and alcohol has increased among the young and older folks. It also is the cause of over 50 per cent of deaths by car accidents.

He also said three of every four accidents after midnight involve alcohol. Deputy Maurstad also showed among other statistics some crude and also some fancy pipes that have been used to smoke marijuana. He also told us some very sobering stories of encounters with victims of various drugs, how lives have been forever ruined and personalities completly changed as a result of getting hooked on different narcotics. On the positive side, Maurstad was very pleased with the efforts made by the educational approach presented to our young folks in our schools. "Preventive" medicine is the best cure. Tell the kids the consequence of the use of narcotics in any form, be firm, but don't exaggerate, tell the truth. This must begin in the home and followed up in the schools and churches. Appreciation is shown to any organization or individual for whatever help they do in this effort.

You & Your Skin

Tips From Avon Skin Care News Bureau

COLD WEATHER SIGNALS A NEED FOR EXTRA PAMPERING

Many women are surprised to find their skin type changes with the winds. The combination of cold outdoor air and often overheated interiors can result in dry skin that needs extra pampering.

If you clean your skin with soap and water all summer long but find your face feeling dry and taut, dull and flaky with the same treatment in winter, it's time for a change.

Your regimen should remain constant: cleanse, tone, energize and moisturize twice daily. However, if dryness is a problem, try a rinse-off or tissue-off cleanser. Follow with a toner that has a lower alcohol content. Richer day and night moisturizers are essential. The light lotions and creams of summer won't offer the optimal moisturization and protection in winter.

A cell energizer, such as Momentum, should be used twice a day to keep complexions at their peak. Even in winter, look for beauty care products with built-in sun screen, such as Nurtura, Adapt and Envira.

Keep flakiness under control with a weekly facial mask that can lift away dullness and leave skin feeling soft and glowing.

Cold winter weather signals the need for special skin care.

The entire family can benefit from the Care Deeply products with natural moisturizers that include a lip balm and products to soothe dry hands, arms and legs.

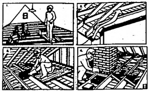
INSULATING? START AT THE TOP!



A large percentage of your total heat loss in winter or heat gain in summer comes through the attic.

Homeowners who glance upward for help when they receive their heating or air conditioning bills each month may actually be looking in the right direction.

The attic is the area of the house that is responsible for the largest percentage of heat loss in the winter and heat gain in the summer. So it's the best place to start insulating.

To help you get the most of your insulation dollar here are some tips from the energy experts at Owens Corning Fiberglas Corporation.

- Before visiting your building materials dealer, measure the length and width of the areas to be insulated and multiply those two dimensions.

The answer is the square footage of the material required.

- Next, determine how wide the insulation should be. Insulation usually is installed between attic joists or wall studs, and the space between these members almost always is 22 1/2 inches or 14 1/2 inches. Therefore, the typical home insulation project will require a material that is designated either 24 to 23 inches or 16 to 15 in width.
- You should also determine the proper insulation thickness or R-value. The R-value designates the insulation's ability to resist the passage of heat—heat gain in the summer months and heat loss in the colder seasons. An energy audit from your local gas or electric utility, or a manufacturer's fact sheet from a building supply store can give you this information.

The six critical areas of the home that will require insulating are:

- Unfloored/unfinished attics.
- Finished attics to living areas.
- Walls between heated and unheated areas.
- Basement walls.
- Floors above unheated crawl spaces.
- Masonry walls in heated crawl spaces.

There are four simple steps to insulating the floor of your attic area.

1. Lay a temporary flooring and hang a worklight. Leave the insulation in packages until you're ready to use it.
2. Extend the insulation far enough to cover the top plate, but do not cover the eave vents. If necessary, install baffles at the inside of the eaves.
3. Begin laying insulation blankets at the outer edge of your attic, working towards the warm-in-winter area of the house.
4. Fill the space between the chimney and wood framing with glass fiber insulation. Be sure to keep the insulation three inches from recessed light fixtures.

Red Lake Falls Hospital Hopes To Keep Operating

(Editor's Note: Following article by Dave Bedore appeared in last week's issue of the Red Lake Falls Gazette:)

The future of St. John's Hospital will be determined, in part, by a four-part survey the hospital is conducting in the area.

The first part of the survey is called the key informant approach. In this stage, 15 community and county leaders will be interviewed in an in-depth, person-to-person interview.

The second part of the survey will be a random sampling of people in the surrounding area. A total of 250 people will be sent identical forms to fill out and return. In Red Lake Falls, 60 people will receive the forms; in Oklee, 50. Forty people in Plummer will be sent the forms, 30 in Mentor, 20 each in Dorothy, Brooks and St. Hilaire and 10 in Gentilly.

The third phase of the survey involves mailing a form to every person in the area for their answers. The last stage of the survey consists of publishing the survey in the Gazette-Shopper to make sure anyone who didn't receive one in the mail has a chance to fill one out.

St. John's administrator, Tony Schmitz, said the results of the survey will be an element to determine whether there is potential support for the hospital.

"A positive survey will not be enough to keep the hospital open," said Schmitz. "We will need some witness of the support. If people say they will come here, they have to come here."

Schmitz added unfavorable results would mean there would be no reason to keep the hospital open. "You can't run a hospital on 2.1 patients per day as we are seeing in November," he said.

The 1983 budget for St. John's was based on 10 patients a day. At the end of September, the hospital was averaging five per day.

"We estimated so much revenue and expenses. Our revenue is down but not our expenses," Schmitz said. The hospital must carry a minimum staff to keep its doors open.

The declining number of patients at St. John's began in 1975, according to Schmitz. He added the turnover of doctors and the lack of stability in 1978 gave more people reason to go out of the community for their medical attention.

Schmitz estimated St. John's now serves an area with 2,000 potential patients. Of these, he said 40 per cent go to Thief River Falls for their treatment, 10 per cent travel to the Crookston hospital and 10 per cent go to either Grand Forks or Rochester for their medical needs.

One way to attract more people to the hospital, according to Schmitz, is to have an attractive medical staff and to be competitive in prices.

NEW INSTRUCTOR at Northland community college is Ray Nowak who will be full-time instructor in the college law enforcement program. Nowak is a 25-year veteran of the Milwaukee police department and is enthused about the opportunity to direct the local program.

NCC Hires Law Enforcement Coordinator

Ray Nowak will serve as coordinator and instructor of Northland community college's law enforcement program when the winter quarter of classes beings this week.

Nowak has recently moved to Thief River Falls from Arbor Vitae, WI, where he worked with a security detective agency. He has served over 25 years in the Milwaukee police department and has also been coordinator of the police science in-service training program, servicing suburbs of Milwaukee. He served four years in the navy from 1952-1955.

Nowak graduated from Marquette university in Milwaukee with a B.A. in law enforcement and a minor in sociology. He attended the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and completed his M.S. degree in administrative leadership and supervision in adult education in 1981, and also has post graduate credits in social work and criminal justice.

Nowak's hobbies include fishing, hunting, cross country skiing, racquetball, hiking, climbing and bicycling.

Sound Of Winter Theme For LHS Concert Tonight

"The Sound of Winter" is the theme for the Lincoln high school instrumental winter concert tonight (Monday) at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Participating will be the Lincoln orchestra conducted by James Solsten and the stage band, concert band and wind ensemble directed by Douglas Engstrom.

Orchestra program will include "Serenade for Strings" by W. A. Mozart, "Theme and Variations" by Guido Papini, "The Syncopated Clock" by Leroy Anderson, "Dotted Swiss" polka by Toni Levtwiler and "Fascination" by F. D. Marchetti.

Stage band numbers include "Flashback" by Lennie Niehaus with tenor saxophone solo by Shannon Kezar and piano solo by Nora Hushagen; and "Medley from Sophisticated Ladies" by Bob Lowden, including such songs as "Don't Get Around Much Anymore," "Solitude," "Satin Doll," "Sophisticated Lady" and "Take the 'A' Train," with soloists Kezar, Hushagen, trombonist Dave Ose and alto saxophone players Sheila Duke and Mike Purdy.

"Brighton Beach" by William P. Latham will lead off the concert band program, followed by "That's Entertainment" by Bill Holcombe and "Le Sabre" by Eric Osterling.

Wind ensemble will play "The Fairest of the Fair" by John Philip Sousa, "Sinfonia Nobilissima" by Robert Jager, Overture to "The Messiah" by G. F. Handel (arranged by Lucien Cailliet), selections from "Oliver" by Norman Leyden and "Americans We" by Henry Fillmore.

Concert band members include the following:

Flutes — Kari Hanson, Tammy Gunderson, Monica Rausch, Lori Henrickson, Stacey Carriere, Mindy Hornseth, Cari Offerdahl, Kay Kainz and Karin Schmitz;

Clarinets — Heather Bakke, Paula Erickson, Val Forsberg, Dana Sevre, Kris Adams, Kerri Jenson, Janelle Skjerping, Shelly Bruggeman, David Novak, Kristi Johnson,

Santa Claus To Pay Visit Here Saturday

Santa Claus will pay his annual visit to Thief River Falls Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. at the chamber of commerce office in the Soo Line depot building on Third street. All area youngsters are invited to visit with Wanda and receive a candy cane from one of his helpers.

As an assist to shoppers with children ages three to 10 years, a story hour will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. at the Northwest regional library at the corner of Main avenue and First street. Movies and stories will be included in the supervised program and children in that age group may be left there while parents shop.

The Santa visit and story hour are sponsored by the Retail business association of the chamber of commerce in cooperation with the staff of the regional library.

Arctco Purchase Opens Options For Sale, Lease

Signing of papers Thursday to transfer ownership of the former Arctic Enterprises property in Thief River Falls from Minstar, Inc. of Minneapolis to Arctco, Inc., of Thief River Falls clears the way for the local snowmobile manufacturing company to more aggressively pursue disposal of several buildings in the complex.

Chris Twomey, director of corporate administration for Arctco, said the final agreement was signed Thursday in Thief River Falls by Bill Ness, president of Arctco, and Walt Mahanes, president of Minstar.

Details of the agreement were not made available, except that the purchase price is $2 million, the down payment was raised by shareholders of the local corporation and the purchase was made on a contract for deed from Minstar. Twomey said that the stockholders also provided sufficient funds to provide for some carrying costs so as not to jeopardize the short term borrowing ability of the company with its lender.

With the purchase accomplished on Thursday, Arctco will be able to exert more effort toward the sale of five buildings of the complex for which it expects to have no use. Twomey said the main manufacturing plant in which Arctco's operations are now located has some 411,000 square feet of total space. Arctco presently uses about 100,000 square feet of that total and could lease out 100,000 square feet of the main plant on a long term basis without having an effect on the company's potential future expansion.

Offered for sale by the company will be the former administration building having about 55,000 square feet of space and being located directly south of the main plant; the design building, having 8,000 square feet of space, south of the administration building; the engineering building, having 60,000 square feet of space and located west of the design building; the cold storage building, having 32,000 square feet of space and located further west, along with the race building, offering about 6,000 square feet of space.

Twomey said both Arctco and Jobs Incorporated, the local industrial development organization, have prepared prospect lists of firms to contact regarding potential interest in the buildings. Information packets on each of the buildings are being prepared, suppliers to Arctco are being contacted regarding their potential to expand and local people are not being overlooked as potential buyers. Some advertising in trade publications is also planned.

Production of 1985 model Arctic Cats is projected to begin in early July of 1984 — about a month earlier than the intitial year's production run in 1983. Four models —

A MORE SECURE HOME for the Arctic Cat snowmobile manufacturing operation has resulted from the purchase of manufacturing facilities by Arctco, Inc., from Minstar, Inc. The purchase was completed last week when presidents of the two companies signed final papers in Thief River Falls.

Susie Thune Wins State Sewing Contest

District I winners fared exceptionally well at the Minnesota Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool competition Saturday at the Sunwood Inn of St. Cloud.

Susie Thune of Thief River Falls won first place in the junior division and will advance to national competition December 17-20 in Phoenix, AZ.

Jackie Thune of Thief River Falls was named alternate in the senior division and Wendy Nelson of Moorhead was named alternate in the adult division. Susie and Jackie are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Thune and Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nereen of rural Thief River Falls.

Competition was among winners of the eight districts in Minnesota having Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool competition. Susie, Jackie and Wendy won their divisions at the District I contest conducted November 5 in Thief River Falls.

Meeting, Tour On Moose River Project Slated

Red Lake watershed district will hold a special information meeting on the Moose River project on Friday, December 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the Steak Knife II in Grygla. A tour of the project area will follow the meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Minstar Hopes Sale Is Favor To Community

Don Nicholson, vice president for finance with Minstar, Inc., told the Times that he hopes Minstar has done a favor to Arctco and the Thief River Falls community in the sale of local properties here last week.

"The property is probably worth 10 times the price that was paid for it," Nicholson said of the $2 million sale. "It gives Arctco and the community a good economic situation and is a first positive step to get a user into the property. Obviously Arctco can't justify the purchase on their own, but we're betting on the community to get involved, find other users and add to the development."

Nicholson said Minstar is also pleased with the transaction from the standpoint of getting out from under a $300,000 a year carrying cost for the facilities. In addition, Minstar will receive some royalties through Certified Parts corporation of Janesville, WI, as a result of snowmobile manufacture and use of the Arctic Cat name.

Within the last several months, Nicholson said, Minstar has been successful in selling off its snowmobile operation real estate in Winnipeg, Rainy River, Crosby, Plymouth and Thief River Falls, leaving only Shell Lake, WI, and Moorhead remaining to be sold.

Under terms of the bankruptcy court, the first $3 million from cash sales went into a fund for the unsecured creditors, Nicholson said. This is the only entitlement for those creditors and they would not be affected by the current property sales.

Beyond the first $3 million generated, the banks were to receive the next $10 million. The next $5 million was to be divided on a 70-30 split between the banks and the company with the remainder to be divided on a 50-50 split between the banks and company.

Nicholson said that as of July 31, 1983, Minstar showed that it has brought in about $6 million as its participation from selling off snowmobile assets. This included about $1.5 million from 30-70 per cent participation and $4.5 million from 50-50 division of income.

Nicholson said the percentage retention by the company was an incentive built into the plan to encourage the company to act expeditiously in liquidating the assets of the company's snowmobile operations. He termed it a "commission schedule" which encourages the company to do the best job possible in disposing of the property and converting it to cash.

Cosmetology Students Share Knowledge On PH

Students in the cosmetology program at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute are provided instruction in a number of areas of hair and skin care as well as techniques of styling and design, according to Maxine Mottram, who became head of the cosmetology department at the beginning of the current school year.

One of the current areas of emphasis for students has been the term PH and what it means in the purchase of a cosmetic. "From time to time we would like some of the students to share their areas of study with the public," Mottram said. "Our educational role should extend beyond what is taught to the students, and we believe this is one way we can be of some assistance to the public."

Six of the students have prepared comments on what they have learned about PH and believe would be of interest to the public. Their comments are as follows:

Darlene Ignaszewski, Stephen — "The symbol, PH, stands for potential hydrogen. You may see this symbol on many products but many people don't understand the importance of PH.

"Potential hydrogen is charted on a scale from zero to 14 and 4.5 to 5.5 is considered to be the proper PH level. Anything that's seven and below is said to have a low acid content. Anything above seven is said to have a high alkaline content.

"What you try to look for in a product is a proper PH level. If you have an improper PH content it causes the hair to swell and become brittle. If you have your hair at a proper PH level it will be strong and beautiful."

Charlotte Rolf, McIntosh — "PH is an important part of our shampoos and other cosmetics. It determines the health of our hair and skin. We need to know how different amounts of PH affect us. Too much PH is damaging and has a drying effect. Neutral PH is established as seven, but this is still high as our skin and hair need a PH of 4.5 to 5.5. Watch for the PH level in cosmetics to keep your hair and skin healthy.

Vickie Hesse, Red Lake Falls — "PH is a very important part of beauty. The term PH refers to the amount of hydrogen in a solution. Hydrogen determines whether a solution is acid or alkaline. The skin and hair have a PH or 4.5 to 5.5 on a scale of 0-14. It is important for us to use a shampoo with a low acid PH. If your shampoo is alkaline it causes the cuticle to soften and swell. When this happens the cuticle opens and allows moisture loss. We want to keep this moisture content for healthy looking hair."

Melinda Trudeau, Mentor — "The PH of a product is very important to our whole body in general. What is PH? There are several meanings: Potential hydrogen; a tool to achive a desired result; the measurement of acid and alkaline in our body and hair. Therefore, products play a big factor in maintaining this and keeping our hair in a healthy state.

"Cosmetic products are used daily for cleansing, coloring and conditioning the hair, nails and skin. By constantly affecting our bodies with these products, we need to choose the ones that will be effective, yet helpful to us. I now understand that reading labels and using items with a PH balance closest to the body's acid mantle will benefit myself and my clients. In some cases, a [illegible] PH will be necessary to achieve results with permanent waves and color.

"I feel as a student and future cosmetologist, it will be my duty to try and inform my clients about the differences in products, why there are differences, what PH has to do with products, and what to look for in selecting them."

Carol Narlock, Warren — "PH is important if you want healthy hair. Your hair only needs a certain amount of PH for it to be healthy. The healthy state for PH on the scale is 4.5 to 5.5. If your hair gets a PH above 5.5 it starts to swell, dry and change structure. This could be caused by permanent waves, color and other chemical treatments. When this happens you need to lower the PH or bring the hair back to a healthy condition.

"This is what happens: Your hair is in a high PH from the chemical treatment. Then use a low PH shampoo to bring the level down. Don't use a shampoo below 4.5 very often as this will also be damaging. Select shampoos and conditioners with a PH of 4.5 to 5.5.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Susan Mae Anderson And John Larson Wed. Oct. 8

Susan Mae Anderson and John Henry Larson exchanged marriage vows in a double-ring ceremony October 8 at the Pembina Lutheran church, Pembina, N.D. Rev. Charles Ellefson officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Anderson, St. Vincent; Mrs. Grace Johnson, Thief River Falls, and Ken Larson, Gardner, N.D.

Music at the ceremony was provided by organist, Betty Irying, a friend of the bride; flautist Marie Roadfeldt, a cousin of the groom; and soloist Pam Giffen, a friend of the bride.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of sheer polyester lined in taffeta. Her bouffant skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. Chantilly lace edged the long, full sleeves and matching lace, touched with pearls, trimmed the bodice and neckline. A wreath of forget-me-nots and pearls held her bouffant veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations, and babies' breath, accented with pearls and ribbon streamers.

Wanda Hughes, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Carol Larson and Nancy Larson, sisters of the groom. They wore fuchsia colored, street-length dresses and carried bouquets of white roses and pink babies' breath. Their headpieces were white floral wreaths with pink babies' breath.

Attending the groom as best man was Ron Jensen, a cousin. Bruce Jensen and Steve Hvidsten, also cousins of the groom, served as groomsmen. The ushers were Bob Anderson, brother of the bride, and Steve Mosloff, a friend of the groom.

Honor guests at the ceremony were Alma Keney, godmother of the bride, and Evelyn Easter, a friend of the bride's family.

Host and hostess at the reception which followed were Mr. and Mrs. Wim Surface, friends of the bride.

Chris O'hara, sister of the bride, and Ruby Jensen, aunt of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake as Florence Wiener and Verna Hvidsten, aunts of the bride and groom, presided at the coffee service.

At the guest book was Tracy Lord, a friend of the couple. Linda Skimner and Natalie Gjovik, sister and cousin of the bride, ladled the punch, and Amy and Tiffany O'hara, nieces of the bride, distributed the match favors to the guests. Karen Svoboda, Natalie Gjovik and Mary Ulferts, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the gifts.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Humboldt high school and a 1983 graduate of Northland Community college, Thief River Falls. The groom is a 1981 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1983 graduate of the local AVTI.

Following a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home at Lisbon, N.D.

Ben Andersons Mark 50th Anniversary Oct. 9

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday, October 9, at the United Methodist church in this city.

Hosting the open house were the couple's two daughters and their husbands: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald (Arlene) Swenson, Thief River Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Sharon) Johnson, Warren. Assisting were the grandchildren: Rev. Rory Swenson, Villard; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Swenson, Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sommars, Mesa, Ariz.; and Mrs. Terry Pilon, Grafton, N.D.

The open house began with a welcome and prayer by Rev. Rory Swenson.

For the reception which followed, the lace covered tables were centered with bud vases filled with fresh ferns and silk roses. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered anniversary cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Vernon Reierson. It was cut and served by Mrs. Arlyn Saage, Roseau, and Mrs. Larry Vigen, Goodridge, nieces of the couple.

At the coffee service were Mrs. Emmit Finley, Roseau, and Mrs. Gilmar Anderson, Thief River Falls, sisters-in-law of the couple. Another sister-in-law, Mrs. William Finley, Roseau, presided at the guest book. Serving punch were Tammy Saage and Rebecca Hagen, Badger, grand-niece of the couple.

Out-of-town relatives and friends in attendance were from Mesa, Ariz.; Kalona and Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Grafton, N.D.; Crookston, St. Cloud, Villard, Badger, Roseau, Grygla, Goodridge and International Falls.

The Andersons were married Oct. 7, 1933 at Grygla. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Day.

Haugen And Anderson Vows Spoken In Hibbing

Debra Haugen, Hibbing, and Gregory Anderson, Mt. Iron, exchanged marriage vows at a summer wedding at the First Lutheran church in Hibbing.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Haugen of Hibbing. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson of Mt. Iron.

Honor guests were the bride's grandparents: Henry Sunsdahl, Goodridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen, Trail; and the groom's grandparents: Mr. and Mrs. George Morgando, Virginia.

Rev. Francis Nelson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist Luella Anderson played "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," as the bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. Selections sung by Esther Miettunen were "Through the Eyes of Love," "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Endless Love." Lavender and white carnations graced the altar.

The bride was attired in a white, floor-length, organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, embroidered with seed pearls; a wedding band collar with a lace ruffle, and fitted lace sleeves with pearl buttons. Her bouffant skirt was complemented by an apron effect overskirt edged with alternating ruffles of organza and lace. Corresponding ruffles enhanced her chapel-length train. A Camelot headpiece held her blusher and cathedral-length veil, [illegible] with lace motifs. She carried a cascade of lavender and white roses with babies' breath and English ivy.

Attending the bride were Andrea Nasi, as maid of honor; Jennifer Lutts, sister of the groom; Roby Meyer and Sheryl Achman, cousins of the bride; and Sharon Glusica, a friend. They wore lavender taffeta, floor-length gowns trimmed with white Chantilly lace. Their headpieces were wreaths of lavender and white silk roses, babies' breath and English ivy, matching their bouquets.

Wearing similar attire and carrying a white wicker basket filled with lavender and white roses, was the flower girl, Amber Anderson, a cousin of the groom. The rings were carried by Billy Hammerbeck, a friend of the bride.

The groom's attendants were his brother, Jeff Anderson, as best man; Keith Haugen, a brother of the bride, Charlie Frericks, Casey Oie and Ken White, friends of the groom. Ushers were Craig Olsen and Scott McDermid, friends of the groom. The groom wore a white tuxedo and his attendants had silver tuxedos, all complemented by silk boutonnieres featuring lavender roses and babies' breath.

The bride's mother wore an apricot chiffon, floor-length gown and the groom's mother was attired in a pale green chiffon gown.

A reception followed in the Memorial building with Kim Sunsdahl and Linda Hammerbeck registering the guests.

The four-tiered wedding cake with flowing water fountain was cut and served by Jan Clark and Barbara Grazdanich. Brenda Haugen, Mishawn Homme and Lisa Hammerbeck poured the coffee.

Following a wedding trip to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, the couple is at home in Mt. Iron. Photo, Nicholson studio, Hibbing.

Verne Spengler Honored By Ag Teachers Ass'n

Verne Spengler, vocational agriculture teacher at Thief River Falls area vocational technical institute, was slated to receive a special recognition during the 35th annual convention of the national vocational agricultural teachers' association (NVATA), December 2-6, in Anaheim, CA.

As immediate past president of the Minnesota vocational agricultural teachers' association (MVATA), Spengler earned the NVATA's professional state vocational agricultural teachers association award for having guided the state organization in fulfilling certain requirements. Recognizing that the national organization can be no stronger than its affiliated state organizations, NVATA encourages certain essential activities, including use of an organized program of activities, keeping members informed through regular newsletters, obtaining a high percentage of potential members, participating in numerous selected activities and submitting national reports within a specified time.

Minnesota was one of 28 state associations meeting qualifications for the award.

Spengler was also given special recognition during the national Future Farmers of American (FFA) convention on November 11, in Kansas City, MO, when he was presented with an honorary American Farmer degree.

Panther, El Tigre, Jag and Panters — will be produced, as well as a Kitty Kat if there is sufficient demand. Two models were produced this year.

Twomey said that doubling of production is anticipated, along with a doubling of a number of employees needed for assembly and production. Manufacturing will again be in accordance with secured orders received. Those orders will be taken in late March, after the company has been in contact with its dealers and after appearances have been made at five to 10 snowmobile shows across the United States.

"This year we want the dealers to see the machines first hand, rather than just show them a picture," Twomey noted. "In particular, the El Tigre model will have some substantial changes that we will want our dealers to be familiar with before orders are taken."

and your hair will be healthy looking."

Kim Bellanger, Waubun — "PH is important to everyone It tells you whether a product is alkaline or acid. We have a protective moisture barrier on our skin called an 'Acid Mantle'. When you buy a shampoo or skin product make sure it has a balance of 4.5 to 5.5 If you get a product with an alkaline PH you may find it will harm your skin by drying it out. To have healthy skin and hair you should understand the importance of PH and take care in selecting the products you use."

Ernest Swanson, Goodridge, has been selected to lead the American Cancer Society's 1984 crusade in Pennington county, according to Unit President Harry Solberg, also of Goodridge.

Scheduled to be conducted nationwide in April (Cancer Control Month), the crusade is an educational and fund-raising campaign requiring more than two million volunteers. Donations will be used to support cancer research, public and professional education programs and services for local cancer patients.

Persons interested in assisting local volunteers with planning and implementation of the 1984 crusade should call Swanson at 378-4282.

Minnesota's honorary crusade chairman for the coming year is Rick Frericks, a 20 year old native of Silver Bay, now attending the University of St. John in Collegeville. Diagnosed with lymphoma a year ago, Rick received radiation and chemotherapy treatments and has now been given a clean bill of health. Frericks told volunteers attending the society's crusade leadership conference in October that their efforts in the past had aided the research which made his successful treatment possible.

Heading the society's Minnesota crusade this year is Leonard W. Levine, commissioner of the Minnesota department of public welfare.

Sparby Notes Concern About Phone Rates

State Representative Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls says he is concerned that higher rates for basic telephone service due to government-imposed toll access charges may force persons on limited or fixed incomes to give up their telephone service.

He expressed this concern in a letter sent last week to the entire Minnesota Congressional delegation, the Federal Communications commission (FCC), and the Minnesota public utilities commission.

"The court-ordered separation of the long distance carrier, AT&T, from the local service failed to deal adequately with who will make up the lost revenues for the local company," said Sparby. "From decisions pending in Congress and the FCC, it appears as if the consumer will make up that difference."

The proposed toll access charge would be paid by consumers to the local phone company for the opportunity to hook up to the long distance system through local facilities. Formerly, AT&T operated both a local and a long distance service and could use money from the more profitable long distance service to hold down the cost of local service. Since a federal court has ordered the breakup of AT&T, as a long distance carrier it will have a greatly increased profit margin.

"The logic in having the consumer pay for long distance hookup is backwards," Sparby said. "It is long distance companies who profit from the use of local facilities — not the consumer — and they should pay the cost of these facilities."

He added, "I'm worried that if we force these costs on the consumer, it will be the straw that breaks the camel's back, and it will force many persons to cancel their service."

Sparby says he has discussed the toll charge increase with his constituents, and many of them have expressed concern that the new rates will cause hardship.

"A phone for many people is a necessity," he said, "and that is why I will do everything I can to prevent the toll charge from being imposed."

RLF Hospital Hopes To Stay In Operation

"Quality of care is very important. If the quality of care the doctors give is good, then people will go to them," Schmitz said.

Schmitz said St. John's is becoming more competitive in its rates. "We are becoming more competitive. We didn't raise our rates last year and, hopefully, we won't have to raise them next year."

The low volume of patients the hospital has had affected the cost of medical care there, Schmitz said.

Schmitz said the possible closing of the hospital would have a major affect on Red Lake Falls. "Economically, it would mean the loss of 30 jobs here and a half a million dollars in revenue. Also, the hospital buys things locally," he said.

Schmitz also pointed out the loss of a hospital would make the town less attractive to industry and professional people who are thinking of locating here.

The impact St. John's closing would have on Red Lake Falls was echoed by Mayor Vaughn Thorfinnson. "There is no question of the hospital closing being a serious thing," he said.

Thorfinnson agreed the hospital is a fairly large employer, but he said the critical issue is losing a care facility which is vital.

Both Schmitz and Thorfinnson mentioned the importance of the hospital to the elderly in the community.

"There is a substantial number of elderly in the community and for those people to drive somewhere or be driven somewhere out of town is difficult," said Thorfinnson.

One alternative to closing the hospital may be to switch to different types of beds which can handle patients who are not acutely ill. Such a type of bed could be a skill bed in which a patient does not require round-the-clock professional care.

Another type of bed is the swing bed which can be a regular hospital bed for acutely ill patients or a skill bed. This would allow the hospital to treat both types of patients.

Schmitz said the hospital is trying to attract patients with a marketing program. Some of the services offered by the hospital include education and health screening services at no charge, pre-natal classes, medical educational programs, free blood pressure checks and a youth scholarship. "We are trying to market what we have here," said Schmitz.

"Before we actually close we are going to meet with the doctors and try to decide what we can do to keep the hospital open. We will look at alternatives and how we can financially make this place float," Schmitz said.

"I don't think the city should just let the hospital go. We should have a concentrated effort to preserve whatever medical facility we have," said Thorfinnson.

Services Set For Margaret Johnston, 87

Margaret L. Johnston, 87, a longtime resident of Thief River Falls, died Sunday morning, December 4, at Northwestern Hospital.

Mass of the Resurrection for Margaret Johnston will be celebrated Wednesday, December 7, at 11:00 a.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Rev. Dave Super will officiate. Christie LaCoursiere will be the organist. St. Bernard's Resurrection choir will sing. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers will be Mark Johnston, Tom Hollinger, Mary Kay Gordon, Carolyn Palluck, Mary Plencner, Tricia Plencner, Patricia Johnston, Marcia Hollinger, Sharon Newmann and Diane Plencner.

Serving as active pallbearers will be Robert Plencner, Spencer Johnston, Don Johnston, Glenn Palluck, Delbert Johnston and Douglas Johnston.

Visitation will be held at the Green Funeral home Chapel from 1 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and for one hour before services at the church. A Biblical Wake service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Funeral home.

Mrs. Johnston, the former Margaret Lillian DeMars, was born Nov. 7, 1896 to Brazil and Caroline Denio DeMars on a farm near Bathgate, N.D. At a young age, they moved to Bathgate, N.D. where she attended school and grew to adulthood.

She married Melville O. Johnston on March 9, 1922 in Gretna, Manitoba, Canada. After their marriage, they lived in and near Bathgate, and at Roseau, before moving to Warren in 1941. They moved to Thief River Falls in 1951 where they have since resided.

She was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John (Leona) Hollinger of Kent, Wa. and Mrs. Ralph (Helen) Plencner of Warren, Mn., a son, Robert Johnston of San Jose, Cal., sister and brother, Kathleen Peake of Seattle, Wa., and Norman DeMars of Grand Forks, ND., 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren also survive.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died March 22, 1979, her parents, and ten brothers and sisters.

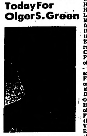
Services Held Today For Olger S. Green



Olger S. Green, 87, returned mortician, died Thursday evening, December 1, at his home in this city, following a brief illness.

Funeral services for Olger S. Green were held today (Monday) at 10:30 a.m., at Zion Lutheran church. Officiating were Rev. Richard Larson and Rev. Roger Hanson. Organist was Jerry Joringdal. Musical selections were provided by Zion's Silvertones. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

The family considered all those attending as honorary pallbearers.

Serving as active pallbearers were Bruce Sandahl, Neal Sandahl, Steven Sandahl, Jerry Sandahl, Carter Green and Rick Olson.

Military honors were accorded by members of the American Legion posts of Newfolden and Thief River Falls and the Thief River Falls VFW post.

Olger S. Green, a son of the late Peder K. and Live Green, was born Dec. 15, 1895 in Marsh Grove township of Marshall county. He was baptized and confirmed in that community and attended the rural Fairview school in that township.

He was a veteran of World War One, serving in the United States Army, overseas in France, from 1918-1919.

On Jan. 17, 1925, he was united in marriage to Agnes Westman at Warren. They made their home at Newfolden, where Green owned and operated the Newfolden Mercantile for 33 years. In addition, he operated a funeral service there.

In 1954, he established the Green Funeral home in this city with his son, Orin. Since then, he had made his home here, retiring in 1975, at the age of 80 years.

While living in Newfolden, he was a member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, was active in community affairs, serving as mayor, councilman and on the school board. He was also a Life and charter member of the Otto Knutson post of the American Legion in Newfolden.

Since moving to Thief River Falls, he had been a member of Zion Lutheran church, a past Grand Noble of the International Order of Odd Fellows, a member of the World War I Barracks and the Sons of Norway.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Allan (Elayne) Sandahl, a son, Orin Green, all of this city, eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by five sisters and six brothers.

Clara Ronne Services Held At Erskine

Funeral services for Clara Hagen Ronne, 75, were held on Saturday, December 3, at 2 p.m. at Saron Lutheran Church, rural Erskine. Mrs. Ronne died November 30 at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

Officiating pastor at the service was Rev. Russell Wierschke with the Carlin funeral home of Erskine in charge of arrangements. Place of interment was the Saron Lutheran cemetery.

Pallbearers were Art Lee, Ted Meinerts, Harry Meinerts, Joel Sandberg, Frank Machart, and Harry Johnson.

Clara Hagen Ronne was born May 7, 1908, in Badger township, rural Erskine, to John and Johanna Hagen. She grew up in the Erskine area and was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. On June 5, 1930 she married Herman Ronne at Crookston. Herman and Clara lived in Lessor township northwest of McIntosh, and then moved to a farm north of Erskine. Living there until Herman died in 1974, Clara then moved into Erskine, where she had resided until the present time. Clara was employed by the Pioneer Memorial care center of Erskine for many years.

Survivors include: Two sons, Charles, Thief River Falls, and Arnold of Hibbing; one brother Ernest, Erskine; six sisters: Cora Knops, Detroit Lakes; Mrs. Mabel Olson, Mrs. Emma Berg, Mrs. Helmer (Selma) Trandem, all of Erskine; Mrs. Myrtle Kjos, Fertile; and Mrs. Geff (Florence) Horn, Twin Valley; one sister-in-law Inga Ronne, Erskine; ten grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, several nieces, nephews and cousins. She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, two brothers and three sisters.

REFLECTI NS

A man should never be ashamed to admit that he has erred, by doing so he is also saying he is wiser today than he was yesterday. Mistakes are part and parcel of our human estate and if we learn from them we experience a great deal of growth.... Admit it when you're wrong, apologize if you've hurt someone, then get on with your life. Don't burden yourself with unnecessary guilt, after all if you were perfect you'd have little in common with your fellow humans.

Cub Pack 199 Gave Awards At Nov. Meet

Cub Scout Pack 199, sponsored by St. John's Lutheran church, held its monthly pack meeting on November 28, with Den 3, led by Wanda Schuster and assistants Paulette Grindeland and Phyllis Aarestad, as hosts.

Following presentation of colors, the scouts recited the pledge of allegiance and sang "My Country Tis of Thee." Skits were given by Den 3 on Thanksgiving and "How to Invent a Robot." Webelos Paul Borchert and Chris Melbye gave a reading on "What is a Good Citizen." Flag folding was demonstrated by Jason Aarestad and Mason Mannie with a narration by Jason Schuster. This was followed by a flag folding contest for the whole pack.

Pat Fisher was given the Den Chief award, with recognition also given to Mike Fisher and Scott Vedbraaten as Den Chiefs. Other awards were presented by Cubmaster Art Heinze and assistant Winton Dahlen to the following scouts:

Den 1 — (leaders Ruth Ostby and Oliver Goldsberry and assistants Virginia Hanson and Connie Olmstead) First beads to Rick Ostby and Travis Swanson.

Den 3 — (leader Wanda Schuster and assistants Paulette Grindeland and Phyllis Aarestad) First beads to Jason Schuster, Mason Mannie, Shane Pederson and Jason Aarestad; First and Second beads to Wade Grindeland.

Webelos — (leaders Art Heinze, Winton Dahlin and Gary Engstrom) Webelos badge and citizens awards to Noel Carlson, Joel Fremstad, Mark Masters, Ricky Beier, Steven Engstrom, Troy Mattson, Chris Melbye and Paul Borchert; Artist badge to Troy Mattson; Scholar, Engineer and Naturalist badges to Joel Fremstad; and Geologist badge to Mark Masters.

Genius kits were judged to conclude the meeting, with ribbons awarded to the following scouts: (Den 1) first, Tony McEnelly; second, Guy Gustafson; third, Mark Sjurseth; (Den 2) first, Cory Gustafson; second, Jeremy Gagner; third, Tom Upham; (Den 3) first, Mason Mannie; second, Shane Pederson; third, Jason Schuster; (Webelos) first, Joel Fremstad; second, Troy Mattson; and third, Chris Melbye.

Note was made that there will be no pack meeting in December, but other upcoming events include a "Rain Gutter Regatta" at the next pack meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. January 23, at St. John's Lutheran church; and the International Scout exposition, set for April 26. Volunteers are being sought to serve as host families for Canadian Scouts.

Drangstveits Get Award For Conservation

At the November board meeting of the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district recently, Don Broekemeier of Schumacher Tireland in Thief River Falls presented a "Certificate of Merit" award to Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Drangstveit of Goodridge.

The Drangstveits were chosen as "conservation farmer of the year" award winners for 1981-1982 by the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district. The following year the district entered their names in the Goodyear contest which resulted in the presentation of this conservation award.

Broekemeier also gave a brief history of the company's involvement in the promotion of conservation and the award program.

Sparby Speaks At Seminar On World Trade

State Representative Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls was a guest speaker at a "World Grain Production and Trade" seminar held at the State Capitol in St. Paul during the mini-session recently.

Sparby, who headed a delegation from the House agriculture committee to a similar conference in Ottawa, Canada, last summer, spoke of issues raised at that conference. He also urged participants at the Minnesota conference "to discuss the concept of a fair price for farmers" in every country. "Each producer on the land," he said, "needs a stable policy in agriculture."

The seminar was organized by the vice chairman of the House agriculture committee and chairman of the agricultural exports and marketing subcommittee, Tom Shea, as well as the commissioner and assistant commissioner of the state agriculture department, Jim Nichols and Anne Kanten. The agenda was divided between presentations by guest speakers and discussion groups.

"There were basically two things discussed at the seminar," Sparby said. "One was what can be done about the world export problem, and the other is how we can improve the individual farmer's situation. As I said in my speech, 'it is difficult to separate the problems of the world market from the problems in agricultural policies practiced in individual countries.'"

Sparby's remarks were echoed by another guest speaker, Arie Van den Brand, a farmer from the Netherlands and a member of the Dutch Young Farmers organization. Van den Brand said that American and Dutch farmers have a misleading image of each other, and that this misconception is perpetuated by their respective governments. He also mentioned that he believes there is a crisis in U.S. agriculture which is affecting other countires such as the Netherlands.

Both Sparby and Van den Brand criticized credit policies in their individual countries which hurt the farmer. Farmers, said Van den Brand, are steadily transferring their wealth to industry because the return they make on their products is less than what they pay in interest on borrowed money.

Sparby, quoting Milton Friedman, the Nobel prize winning economist, urged the abolition of the Federal Reserve system, which he believes is not responsive to farm credit needs.

"In studying the Federal Reserve system," he said, "I find that it is not really a federal government policy that regulates money. Rather, it is a policy of private banking institutions who belong to the Federal Reserve system."

Other speakers at the conference included Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, Jim Nichols; Vic Althause, a member of the Canadian parliament; Henry Saby, a French deputy in the European parliament of the common market and a member of its agriculture committee; Merle Olson, a Nebraska farmer; Jaci Skelton, a Saskatchewan grain farmer and a member of the Canadian National Farmers Union board; Kent Jones, the North Dakota state agriculture commissioner; and Bill Dietrich, Minnesota's assistant commissioner of agriculture and director of the Minnesota trade office.

SBA Accepts Disaster Loan Applications

Celso C. Moreno, district director for the small business administration (SBA), announced recently that economic injury disaster loans are available to eligible small business concerns in Pennington, Red Lake and Wabasha counties, whose businesses were affected by the impact on farm income as a result of excessive rains and heat during the summer months of 1983, and wind damage on August 25 in Pennington and Red Lake counties; excessive rain, hail and high winds on August 15, 1983, in Wabasha County which delayed planting and harvesting of most crops.

Economic injury disaster loans are working capital loans and are made only to provide relief from economic injury caused directly by the disaster and to permit the business to maintain a reasonable working capital position during the period affected by the disaster. SBA cannot authorize the refinancing of long-term debts nor provide working capital which was needed prior to the disaster. Businesses must be able to furnish balance sheets and operating statements so that SBA may compare results preceding the diaster with those since and during the disaster period.

No economic injury disaster assistance will be made to a business which does not meet SBA's definition of a small business or is determined by SBA to be able to obtain credit elsewhere. Loan assistance to businesses is limited to a maximum of $500,000; however, the actual amount of the loan will be based upon the business' actual economic injury. Maturity of these loans may not exceed 30 years. Interest rate for eligible victims will be eight per cent per annum, and the deadline for filing for financial assistance is May 18, 1984.

For further information or assistance, contact the nearest SBA office or the SBA disaster assistance office, 75 Spring Street SW, Suite 822, Atlanta, Georgia 30303, telephone 404-221-5854. Office hours for the Atlanta Disaster Office are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. (EST), Monday through Friday.

Hamline Ends Fund Drive At $11,076,859

Hamline university in St. Paul has concluded its five-year capital funds drive with a total of $11,076,859, nearly $577,000 over the goal of $10.5 million.

"Achievement beyond the goal is remarkable," notes Harry Kirby, president of the Hamline board of trustees," because the campaign was conducted during the worst recession since the Great Depression. It is also significant, that during the five years of the campaign an additional $7.5 million in gifts was raised for use in the current budget or for special programs. Another $3.2 was given in bequests. This adds up to a total of $21.7 million contributed since 1978, an all-time record of gift support during any five-year period in Hamline's 130-year history."

The campaign has enabled Hamline to build a new law center for its school of law and a new theater complex, to create the Paul and John Hanna chair of philosophy, and to greatly expand its student scholarship programs.

Hamline President Charles J. Graham said he was pleased with the broad support the campaign attracted from alumni, friends, the United Methodist church and corporations and foundations, particularly those in Minnesota.

More than half of the $11,076,859 capital fund was contributed by Hamline alumni, including those who are trustees, faculty and staff. Faculty and staff alone contributed $211,591, which is 282 per cent more than the group's goal. Alumni other than Hamline trustees and personnel gave $4,989,646, which is 125 per cent over goal. These contributions came from 25 per cent of Hamline's nearly 12,000 college and law school alumni. Hamline received $724,871 from Minnesota United Methodist conference churches.

Approximately $596 million in benefits was pad to 90,000 coal miners or their surviving dependents during the 1982 fiscal year, the Labor Department's annual report stated.

Changes Are Necessary

Minnesota higher education coordinating board (MHECB) has adopted a recommendation to change the rules governing the state scholarship grant program that would make it more difficult for students to claim themselves independent of parental support in applying for financial aid.

The proposed rule would affect about 40 per cent of those students now receiving a scholarship grant as an independent student (about 2,800 in 1981-82). A study by the MHECB found that in 1981-82 that 16.4 per cent of the 42,881 grants and scholarship awards went to independent student applicants. This was up from 1979-80 when 7.1 per cent of the 28,332 awards went to independent students.

Preliminary figures for 1982-83 indicate that the percentage of independent recipients rose to 18 per cent.

Under the state scholarship and grant program, most applicants provide financial information that is used in a need analysis to determine how much their parents can be expected to contribute to the cost of attendance. The amount that parents are required to contribute affects whether and how much state aid the student receives. If the student is independent of parental support, his or her parents' financial status is not considered.

The MHECB staff study found that an increasing number of families has been able to arrange its financial affairs so that the student is eligible to apply as an independent student and in many cases qualify for a larger award than possible under dependent status. In other words, there is a growing number of families trying to beat the system and receive financial aid to which they are not properly entitled.

Changes are necessary to stem this tide which drains the funds available and defeats the purpose of the program. If the proposed change in rules is adopted, students would be presumed dependent up to age 22 unless they establish one of two conditions.

They could be considered independent if involuntary separation from parental support results from being an orphan or ward of the state, the parents can not be located or physical or mental abuse necessitates separation. This would have to be established by court document or an affadavit from a clergyman, social worker, lawyer or physician.

Or the applicant could be considered independent if he or she is married or 22 years of age or older and established that for the year prior to applying for aid and during the time aid is received the following conditions were met: the parents did not claim the student as an income tax exemption, the student did not and will not live with his or her parents more than six weeks in any calendar year and the parents did not and will not provide direct or indirect support worth $750 or more in any calendar year.

At least seven states have changed their definition of student dependency to control the flow of grant aid going to students not expected to rely on their parents. Minnesota should be another one to take action closing loopholes and restricting grants to those who truly have a legitimate need.

Time For Teachers To Fight Back

Dick Bennett, editor of the Minnesota Federation of Teachers publication "Action", wrote the following editorial for the December edition:

As Diane Ravitch said in the November 7, 1983 The New Republic, "The most common response to the current crisis in education has been to assail public school teachers. Not only are they incompetent, goes the charge, but good people have abandoned or are shunning the teaching profession." Lest you teacher readers take umbrage at the good Dr. Ravitch, rest assured that she shifts blames from teachers to colleges, the federal government, courts, and state legislatures for the major cause of the "educational crisis."

Public school teachers should fight back and do so with all of the energy they can muster. After all, to hear some of our critics, we have to be one of the most inept and unintelligent professions in existence not to mention one of the most lowly paid among college graduates.

We must fight back because we have had foisted upon us most of the ills of society. We must, by law, search out and report any indices of child abuse, drug abuse, and other forms of behavior contrary to school and community mores. We have to provide assistance to any handicapped youngsters who have been mainstreamed into our classrooms. Those of us recently trained to become teachers have been blessed with many new requirements for courses such as human relations, drug education, family life, and many others which don't have a lot to do with teaching science and mathematics, or other academic subjects.

Our local school administrators and school boards, in many cases, have loosened discipline and increased curriculum offerings so that many students can squeak through K-12 with only a smattering of academic courses. Parents have been "redshirting" junior high students to better prepare their progeny for athletic scholarships. Colleges have allowed athletes to spend four years of athletic eligibility in their hallowed halls and still emerge unable to read, write, and communicate properly.

Instead of better pay and smaller classes, we get "merit pay and prayer in the schools" as alternatives. Our "friend" in the White House wants to further enhance the attractiveness of private schools by giving them the federal aid that used to go to public schools. Legislators want us to remove tenure so it will be easier to get rid of "incompentent teachers."

With this lack of support now and a teacher shortage looming on the near horizon, we need to fight back by pointing out to parents and school boards all of the good things we do — and there are many. We need to show the world that we can become a real political force and elect those who will assist us in improving public education, not those who wish to destroy it. We in the MFT-AFT don't train teachers and we don't hire them so if we are so bad, why not try to gain allies to make us better (as a profession)?

The MFT and AFT are increasing their public relations programs to make the public more aware of what is good in public education and to indicate how it can be made better by positive approaches such as federal aid, lower class sizes, and administrative cooperation instead of merit pay, longer days, and longer years. We can and should assist this public relations effort in local school districts by getting our best and brightest on cable TV and in local newspapers, informing our PTA's of our good programs, and helping each other acquire our rightful niche in society. After all, we are given an awesome responsibility and that is to prepare the citizens of the future. That may not rank very high in some governmental circles but it nevertheless remains one of our citizenry's greatest concerns. We must not assume the task of educating the citizenry besides our students.

Holiday Dining Thought

Just in time for the Christmas and New Year's holiday season comes this anonymous poem from the New York Mills Herald:

"Methuselah ate what he found on his plate,
"And never, as people do now,
"Did he note the amount of the calorie count:
'He ate it because it was chow.
"He wasn't disturbed as at dinner he sat
"Devouring a roast or a pie,
"To think it was lacking in granular fat
"Or a couple of vitamins shy.
"He cheerfully chewed each species of food,
"Unmindful of troubles or fears,
"Lest his health might be hurt
"By some fancy dessert —
"And he lived over 900 years."

Borrowed Nonsense:

The Sunday school student was busily at work with paper and crayons. "What are you drawing?" the teacher asked. "A picture of God," the youth replied. "But nobody knows what God looks like," the teacher admonished. Undaunted, the student continued at work. "They will as soon as I get this picture done," he said.

Workmen who were to install a utility pole were approached by a 90-year-old lady with the request that it be kept away from her driveway so she wouldn't have to worry about backing into it. "You mean you still drive a car?" one of the workmen asked. "Only on Tuesdays and Thursdays," she said, "when I go bowling."

Two friends met at a 50-year class reunion and were catching up on their life's experiences. "Say, did I tell you about my grandchildren?" one asked. "No, you didn't," the other replied, "and I sure appreciate it."

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

Courage is defined as the quality of mind which meets danger with bravery and firmness, the opposite of cowardice, fright and timidity. Being courageous takes guts and involves risk.

Today one of our big problems is the unwillingness to demonstrate courage!

Two years ago, a young man working on improvement projects at our home wanted some advice on whether a new farm crop made sense for him. He was asking about the Jerusalem artichoke, a plant having nothing to do with the Holy Land that was not an artichoke. (It was a member of the sunflower family.) Its promoters described it as a way to make a sick agriculture well, with an easy to raise crop that could be used for energy, sugar, flour and animal feed and bedding.

Not being expert enough to provide specific advice, my comments were limited to: (1) Is there a market for this product and (2) can you produce and finance this crop at a profit? The little I could discover about this product had me concerned. From comments in conversations, I know that it had many others concerned, too!

Farmers, having some very rough times, latched on to this product because of a sales pitch that emphasized its multiple uses and the ability to have the supplier do the selling. Meetings were held with a religious fervor. I attended some sessions and viewed a videotape that had some reputable experts on agriculture supposedly endorsing the effort. I read reports on research and development. I saw the supplier move into a beautiful office building, set up a fleet of planes, and expand an administrative support force.

Farmers visiting the headquarters of this seed operation and its research building could not help but be impressed. Even the son of a former president of the United States was a featured speaker at one of their grower meetings.

Then I visited a farm where this plant was being raised. I was told about major harvesting problems. Some questions about what would be done with the crop besides sale for seed were asked and quickly answered with assurance that there was no problem. I heard some vendors talk about difficulty in getting money that was due. One or two farm magazines raised serious questions about the existence of a market. State legal people were conducting investigations that just ran on and on. Suspicious grew, but that didn't stop sales that committed farmers to invest ten to twenty million dollars in this miracle solution to their problems.

At the same time, the promoter recruited staff nationally. Some of these people had good jobs with benefits and security which they gave up to be a part of this new industry.

While all of these farmers were investing and job-seekers were moving, many freely questioned what was occurring. They questioned selling the seed to farmers before the research and development was completed and a market was assured. One retired USDA employee pointed out that he understood a large agribusiness had thoroughly researched the product and found it wanting. Another agribusiness expert questioned the entire effort, but participated in a videotape marketing presentation.

There was so much of an undercurrent that the promoter made public appearances where he said that anyone who took "swipes" at his company or its product could expect to be sued, with all of the legal costs that would develop.

Forgetting how the firm's millions were spent (it's now in bankruptcy, unable to pay its creditors!), millions of dollars were lost by people who couldn't afford that loss. What really concerns me is why no one had the courage to speak up, raise questions and sound an alarm for two years.

It wasn't a matter of no one knowing or caring. It was a lack of courage, an unwillingness to stand up and let questions and facts be aired.

This whole episode emphasizes the need for many of us to adopt an old motto of mine, "Be a skeptic!" Make the promoter or seller prove out his claims and stand behind them with personal warranties on which you can collect. It's a shame that we can't believe what we are told and need to be skeptics!

That's Straight Talk!

Goodridge Girls Lose Home Opener To Argyle

Goodridge girls opened their 1983-84 home court schedule Thursday with a 66-51 high school basketball loss to Argyle.

"We played well, but we didn't win," reported Goodridge coach Patti Johnson, who was pleased with the effort, but not the results.

Argyle had quarter leads of 18-10, 33-23 and 49-33.

Four Goodridge scorers hit double figures, with Diana Troska getting 15 points, Sheri Vettleson 12, Lori Sjulestad 10 and Jennie Boutain 10. Bonnie Safranski led the Eagles with 16 points.

Goodridge, 0-2, shot 68 per cent from the free throw line (13-for-19), while Argyle shot 57 per cent (8-for-14).

Next start for the Huskies will be Thursday at home against Climax.

Paula Rantanen scored 25 points and the Middle River defense shut down the Warroad offense for most of the night Thursday as the Skippers collected a 58-41 road win over the Warriors.

"Our man-to-man defense was real good," explained Middle River coach Tom Neibauer.

Using the man-to-man, Middle River jumped out to a 17-6 first quarter lead and enjoyed a 31-13 halftime cushion. Midway through the third quarter the Skippers began experimenting with a zone, noted Neibauer, and it wasn't as effective. Middle River still has a 41-25 third quarter cushion, though.

Eleven of Rantanen's 25 points came at the free throw line, where the Skippers were 20-for-28 (71 per cent). They were 19-for-39 from the field (49 per cent). Warroad was 7-for-8 from the free throw line (88 per cent).

Jody Christofferson and Lisa Maertens had 10 points each for Middle River to join Rantanen in double figures. Robin Marvin had 20 points for Warroad, but just four of those came in the first half when Rantanen was guarding her in the man-to-man defense.

Middle River, 2-0, will host Grygla Tuesday.

Roseau 19

Grygla shut out Roseau in the first quarter and held the host Rams to just nine first half points Thursday en route to a 39-19 North Border Conference win.

"We played pretty steady," revealed Grygla coach Mike Gast. "We still had too many turnovers, but we played good defense."

Guards Kathy Foss and Debbie Klein were particularly strong on defense, pointed out Gast, and he has complimentary of the 12-rebound night by Carol Verbout. Foss and Klein were also the Eagles' leading scorers with 14 and 12 points, respectively.

Grygla shot 31 per cent from the field (15-for-48) and 50 per cent from the free throw line (9-for-18). Roseau shot just 15 per cent from the field (9-for-59) and only 13 per cent from the free throw line (1-for-8).

Season-opening string of road games continues for the Eagles Tuesday at Middle River.

Warren 58
Plummer 51

A third quarter offensive dry spell spelled defeat for Plummer Thursday as the Cardinals fell to Warren 58-51 in their home opener.

Plummer, down 17-15 at the end of the first quarter, had a 30-28 halftime edge, but fell behind 46-37 in the third quarter when the Ponies outscored the Cardinals 18-7.

Despite the setback, Plummer coach Rick Kolvisto was more satisfied with the Cardinals' efforts in the loss than he was with their play in a season-opening 37-35 victory at Strandquist earlier in the week. "It was much improved," he said.

Jody Pahlen scored a game-high 25 points for Plummer, with Sheila Jaeger scoring 16 and Sheila Sorenson grabbing 12 rebounds. Leslie Goulden and Kim Vesey combined for 37 Warren points — 20 for Goulden and 17 for Vesey.

Warren shot 40 per cent from the field (26-for-65) and 43 per cent from the free throw line (6-for-14). Plummer shot 30 per cent from the field (19-for-64) and 54 per cent at the free throw line (13-for-24).

Plummer will visit Red Lake Falls Tuesday.

Wildlife Group Studies New Sources Of Money For Nongame Programs

Who foots the bill for fish and wildlife besides anglers and hunters?

Do the 83 million Americans who watch birds, photograph wildlife, and travel to national wildlife refuges support the objects of their affections as sportsmen do: "Will "wildlife lovers" become "wildlife backers?"

Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) is asking these questions as it investigates 18 potential sources of revenue that could be tapped to support state fish and wildlife programs.

This money would be used to support some of the nearly 3,700 wild vertebrate species, most of which are "nongame" special not sought by sportsmen. These animals do not carry special distinctions or protection, such as endangered and threatened species and marine mammals, and are not classed as feral species that have returned to the wild from the domestic state. Nongame species range from chipmunks and porcupines, for example, to herons and songbirds.

Effort to idenfity an equitable and effective source of public funds to foster the state's conservation of fish and wildlife, especially those species not ordinarily hunted, fished or trapped, is required by the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act of 1980. Results, when presented to Congress, could lead to enactment of funding for this program, perhaps an excise tax similar to the "Pittman-Robertson" and "Dingell-Johnson" federal aid programs. Under these programs, sportsmen have been financing the conservation of game and many nongame species for nearly five decades.

Although federal income taxes and certain state taxes help to support some fish and wildlife management programs, sportsmen have traditionally carried the bulk of this financial responsibility. State fish and game management is supported largely by the state's sale of fishing and hunting licenses, and supplemented by the federal excise taxes on fishing and hunting gear. In 1983, for example, nearly $140 million was returned to the 50 states and territories under the federal aid programs, bolstering the $484 million that fishermen and hunters paid for state licenses and permits during the preceding year.

There is "spin-off" value for nongame species from the money that is spent for hunted species. Land acquired and developed with "Pittman-Robertson" funds provides habitat for shorebirds and cranes in addition to waterfowl, for instance; in a similar way, "Dingell-Johnson" funds support habitat for turtles, crawfish and molluscs, as well as sport fish. Nongame species do lack a specific, comprehensive source of funds, however.

Potential sources of revenue that are currently being examined by the Fish and Wildlife Service for State nongame programs, include:

+ Annual appropriations from gneeral U.S. Treasury funds.

+ Fees on minerals extracted from federal lands and waters.

+ Sale of "semi-postal" stamps whose cost would cover basic postage and a contribution to nongame programs.

+ User fees on selected federal lands and waters.

+ A voluntary federal income tax "checkoff".

Sources also include special taxes on:

+ Wild bird seed.
+ Wild bird houses.
+ Wild bird feeders.
+ Wild bird waterers, birdbaths and heaters.
+ Fur from wild animals.
+ Backpacking and camping equipment.
+ Off-road vehicles.
+ Binoculars, monoculars and spotting scopes.
+ Wildlife identidication books.
+ Recreational diving equipment.
+ Photographic equipment and film.
+ Travel trailers and campers.
+ Motorhomes.

Prowlers, Otters Meet Saturday

An early-season Section 8 high school hockey showdown will be featured Saturday when Thief River Falls visits Fergus Falls. The Otters and Prowlers are expected to challenge preseason favorite Roseau for the Section 8 title this year.

Fergus Falls has 13 lettermen back from last year's team that went 17-3-1 in the regular season and carried the No. 1 seed into the Section 8 tournament before being upset by host East Grand Forks 7-4 in the first round quarterfinals.

"We were very diasppointed with the outcome of last season since we thought we had a very good team," Otters coach Tim Cullen told Gary McVey of the Fergus Falls Journal. "But that's over and done with, and we don't want to dwell on it."

Assistant coach Roger Johnson, a former head coach of the Otters, looks at the 1983-84 season and says, "We all know this is probably the best hockey team Fergus will have for a while, and we're going to have to really go for it every game."

"We can skate with any team in the league," added Johnson, "but we have to learn how to control the puck. That's the big thing that Roseau and the other state tournament-caliber teams do well."

Thief River Falls is a lot like Fergus Falls. The Prowlers, too, were frustrated at the 1983 Section 8 tournament, reaching the finals before losing a tough 1-0 decision to Roseau. And like the Otters, the Prowlers return a veteran team this winter, led by 11 seniors.

It should be a great match-up. The two teams won't meet again until a Feb. 17 Fergus Falls visit to Thief River Falls that will not count in the Section 8 standings because it comes after the Feb. 14 cut-off date for league play.

There should be plenty of fan support for the Prowlers Saturday, with the Bantam A, Bantam B, Pee-Wee A and Pee-Wee B teams of the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) in Fergus Falls for Saturday and Sunday weekend games.

Bemidji Girls Have Strong Team

Bemidji, after mssing a state tournament trip by a single point a year ago, could be the North Sub-Region 8AA leader in girls high school basketball in 1983-84.

Only a 37-36 loss at Albany in the Region 8AA finals kept Bemidji out of the state tournament last year, and Albany went on to win the Class AA state title. Graduation took a number of top players off that 16-6 Bemidji team, but coach Jim Wahl told the Bemidji Pioneer he expects the Lumberjills to be strong again this winter.

They started out on the right foot with an impressive 49-25 Thursday night rout of Brainerd. That same night, a few eyebrows were raised when perennial power Moorhead lost a one-sided 64-32 decision to East Grand Forks, a Class A team this year. Bemidji hosts Moorhead Tuesday.

Thief River Falls' 1983-84 schedule finds the Prowlers facing just one North Sub-Region 8AA opponent before Christmas — a Dec. 17 trip to Park Rapids. The Prowlers visit Moorhead Jan. 3.

Northmen Place 2nd At Red River Invitational

Northland community college basketball team reached the finals of the three-day, eight team Red River community college invitational tournament in Winnipeg before losing a 74-73 championship game decision to the Grand Forks Air Force Base Saturday night.

To reach the finals in their first outing of the 1983-84 season, the Northmen defeated Briercrest of Caran, Saskatchewan 109-88 Thursday night in the quarterfinals and handled Sheridan community college of Toronto 102-81 Friday afternoon in the semifinals.

"I think we performed well enough to show promise," offered Northland coach Chet Engelman. "I think we're going to have a great year."

Northland sophomore Kyle Ramsey, who scored 80 points in the three games (26.7 average), was named the tournament's most valuable player award winner. Teammate Rodney Scales, who overcame first-game foul trouble that limited his playing time to score 32 points and grab 37 rebounds in his next two starts, joined Ramsey on the all-tournament team.

Red River community college, the tournament host, will be in Thief River Falls this weekend. The Northmen will be on the court at 8 p.m. Friday and at 12-noon Saturday. The Northwomen will play Red River at 6 p.m. Friday and at 2 p.m. Saturday.

NCC-Briercrest

A switch from a zone to a man-to-man defense in the second half enabled Northland to overcome a 53-51 deficit at intermission and led to an easy 109-88 opening round quarterfinal victory over Briercrest.

Briercrest still owned a 66-61 lead five minutes into the second half, but Northland then ripped off 14 straight points to take control.

Five Northmen were in double figures as Kyle Ramsey poured in 36 points, Shorty Johnson had 18, Jon Neumann 12, Bud Fontes 10 and Rick Van Camp 10. Neumann and Ramsey had 12 and 11 rebounds, respectively, and Ramsey also had five of the 17 blocked shots recorded by the Northmen.

Northland shot 57 per cent from the field (52-for-91) and 50 per cent at the free throw line (5-for-10). Briercrest shot 40 per cent from the field (36-for-90) and 53 per cent at the line (16-for-30). Northland had a 51-48 rebound edge and the turnovers were even at 19 apiece.

NCC-Sheridan

Best Northland effort of the tournament was turned in against Sheridan as the Northmen rolled up a 102-81 semifinal victory against a strong Toronto team that was a fourth place finisher in the Canadian nationals a year ago and brought a 14-2 record into the game.

Northland controlled play, opening up a 50-33 halftime lead.

Six Northmen hit double figures in the scoring column, including Kyle Ramsey with 22 points, Rodney Scales 20 (along with 22 rebounds), Rick Van Camp 13, Jon Neumann 12 (plus 11 rebounds), Shorty Johnson 11 and Bud Fontes 11.

Northland shot 49 per cent from the field (36-for-73) while Sheridan was shooting just 35 per cent (33-for-93). It was a busy day at the free throw line for both sides as Northland went 30-for-47 (64 per cent) and Sheridan was 15-for-27 (56 per cent). The Northmen had a 63-47 rebound advantage and Sheridan topped the turnover figures 32-20.

NCC-Air Base

Northland jumped out to a 20-7 lead just six minutes into the championship game, but couldn't hold on as the Grand Forks Air Force Base rallied for a 74-73 win.

After building that early 13-point cushion the Northmen then went five minutes without scoring as the Air Base pulled even at 20-20 en route to a 44-37 halftime lead.

A Kevin Sanders basket with one minute left in the game tied it 73-73, with an Air Base free throw providing the winning margin with just five seconds left on the clock. The Northmen got off two shots in those final seconds but came up empty-handed.

Kyle Ramsey again led the Northmen with 22 points, while Sanders added 12 and Scales 11, along with 15 rebounds. Shorty Johnson grabbed 13 rebounds and Jon Neumann had 12.

Northland shot 38 per cent from the field (31-for-81) and 69 per cent at the free throw line (11-for-16). Air Base shot 43 per cent from the field (34-for-80) and 50 per cent at the line (6-for-12). Northland had a 59-43 rebound edge and the Air Base had three more turnovers, 20-17.

Prowlers Open Against Rams

Lincoln high school basketball team opens its 1983-84 schedule on the road this week, playing an 8 p.m. game at Roseau Tuesday and playing a 7:30 p.m. game at Detroit Lakes Saturday.

"I've been impressed with the kids," reported Thief River Falls coach Tom Hunt. "They've been working hard. We've got a ways to go, but after three weeks of practice we're ready for some outside competition."

Hunt wouldn't list a starting five for the opener. "We've got nine kids who will see a lot of action for us," he said. "Who starts is academic. They'll all get playing time."

There are five "guard-type" and four "big kids" among those nine, Hunt explained. What combinations the Prowlers go with will be dictated by the game situations.

The guards include seniors Jeff Langan, John Kinsman and John Brandt, plus juniors Mark Bondy and Ryan Drees. The inside people include 6-2 Jeff Hamerlinck, 6-3 Randy Erickson, 6-3 Tim Kruse and 6-3 Scott Fowler, a junior.

Offense is still suspect at this point, mentioned Hunt, requiring the Prowlers to concentrate on defense to be competitive. "We'll have to play tenacious defense and put up a lot of shots if we're going to be successful," he said.

Prowlers Are Beaten 9-4 In Hockey Season Opener

Thief River Falls started with a 2-0 lead, but then surrendered seven unanswered goals Saturday in opening the 1983-84 high school hockey season with a 9-4 drubbing at the hands of Grand Forks Central.

It was a rocky start for the Prowlers, who were skating without the services of two key players in seniors Brian Johnston, a defenseman sidelined by a bad thigh bruise, and Mitch Semanko, a wing who sat out the game with a severly bruised elbow. Semanko should be ready Saturday when the Prowlers begin Section 8 play at Fergus Falls, but Johnston may be out of the line-up longer.

Thief River Falls' line-up that faced the Redskins, then, included six experienced seniors, but two juniors who are first-time varsity skaters, plus two sophomores and a freshman, along with goalies Steve Solheim — a junior who started the game — and Lee Genereux — a senior who came in by design midway through the second period — who are trying to win their first varsity starting duty.

"We're certainly not overly pleased with the way we played," offered Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand, "but on the other hand we had a lot of young kids in our line-up. When you're down 7-2, it would have been easy to call it a night, but they didn't give up. They hung in there and played hard."

It started in great fashion for the Prowlers, who treated the sports arena crowd to a 2-0 lead in the game's first 3½ minutes. Rick Spong was sent in alone and he scored on a point-blank backhand just 56 seconds into the game and Tim Bottem put on a great move to get in close for a sudden two-goal lead at the 3:24 mark.

But the floodgates opened when the Prowlers, having difficulties in their defensive zone, gave up three Central goals in just a one-minute, 50-second span to start that seven-goal surge by the defending North Dakota state champion Redskins.

Greg French caromed the puck off Solheim's pads from the side of the net at 6:27; Chad Swendseid scored on a backhand from the left of the Thief River Falls netminder at 8:17 for a 2-2 tie; and Rick Spicer got the first of his three-goal hat trick effort when he picked up a loose puck in front of Solheim and scored at 8:17 to make it 3-2.

That's the way the first period ended, but Spicer got goals No. 2 and No. 3 just 23 seconds apart early in the second period to give Central a commanding 5-2 cushion. Great individual effort and his speed got him by the Thief River Falls defense at 1:42 and he jumped on a loose puck for a rebound goal just seconds later.

Dave Hanson scored on a power play by picking up his own rebound at 7:06 and Todd Werner gave Central its 7-2 bulge with a knee-high wrist shot from the right face-off circle as the Redskins skated with a two-man power play against Genereux.

That came at 10:08, but a quick eight seconds later Bottem had his second goal of the night while the Prowlers were shothanded, a feat that Spong repeated at 12:35 when he managed to push the puck toward the Central net while under wraps and Redskins goalie Dean Hanson inadvertantly swatted the puck into his own net.

At 7-4, the Prowlers had regained some poise and actually had a couple of good opportunities to make it closer, but the final two goals by Central late in the third period reopened the point-spread as Swendseid tipped in a slap shot by Jim McKay at 13:04 and Todd Palmiscno came in all alone on Genereux at 14:30.

There were 14 penalties called in the hard-hitting game, seven on each side. The Redskins were 2-for-7 on the power play while the Prowlers were 0-7, but scored those two shorthanded goals.

NCC Hockey Team Will Open Against Trojans

There will be no preseason warm-up games against nonconference competition for the Northland community college hockey team. The Northmen start their 1983-84 schedule with a bang Wednesday when they tangle with northwestern Minnesota rival University of Minnesota-Crookston in a 7:30 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) game at the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Then on the weekend the Northmen will find themselves on the road, playing Mesabi in a 7:30 p.m. Friday encounter and a 1 p.m. Saturday rematch at Virginia.

Still shorthanded in the personnel department, Northland coach Tony Dorn, Jr. said his probable line combinations Wednesday against the Trojans will find sophomore Ladd Bjugson (Fargo, N.D.) centering sophomore Jim Dillon (TRF) and freshman Bob Martin (EGF); newcomer Tony Hocumb (Hutchinson), a transfer student from the University of Wisconsin-Superior, skating between sophomore Scott Steinbach (Fergus Falls) and freshman Chris Jorde (TRF); while an all-freshman third line consists of Tom Thompson (Park River N.D.), Greg Bergeron (Argyle) and Darrin Gould (Grafton, N.D.).

Defensive pairs include sophomores Bob Rockwood (Fargo) and Todd Graalum (Fargo), plus freshmen Rod Harder (TRF) and Dean Cuno (RLF).

Freshman goalies on hand include Jay Boomgaarden (Baudette) and Pete Bothum (EGF).

North Border Conference Favorites Beaten...

Skippers Upset Rams In '83-84 Season Opener

Middle River stunned North Border Conference experts Friday when the youthful Skippers opened their 1983-84 high school basketball season with a 44-37 upset of Roseau, the preseason conference favorite, on the Rams' court.

"I think they overlooked us," offered Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, whose team was picked for no better than a middle-of-the-pack North Border Conference finish in a preseason coaches' poll.

It started out like the poll was right when Roseau began with an 8-0 lead. But after a Middle River time-out and some offensive adjustments vs. the Roseau zone the Skippers were down only 10-9 by the end of the first quarter, then went ahead 20-17 at halftime and built a 33-26 third quarter edge.

"We kind of shocked them when we scored on them," mentioned Sparby. "We got in front and dictated the tempo of the game. Our press got to them and they started to panic."

Tom Neumann, one of three sophomores in the Middle River starting line-up, scored 16 points and had nine rebounds for the winners. Greg Welin scored 13 to lead Roseau.

But it was the Middle River defense that drew rave reviews from Sparby. "Defensively our game was nearly flawless," he reported. "I was really proud of the way they played defense. We couldn't play it any better."

Middle River took what it could on offense. Running the ball upcourt, but holding on to it if the shot wasn't there, they put up only 39 field goal attempts, hitting 15 (38 per cent). They were 14-for-26 at the free throw line (54 per cent), but missed 15 fourth quarter free throws that could have put the game out of reach. Middle River connected just once from the field over the final eight minutes. Roseau, meanwhile, was 16-for-47 from the floor and 5-for-16 from the free throw line (31 per cent).

It'll be another tough North Border Conference assignment for the Skippers Friday when they visit Lake of the Woods.

Grygla shooters failed to hit the target Friday as the host Eagles lost their season-opener to Oklee 69-44.

"We shot terrible," pointed out Grygla coach Vern Johnson, who had the statistics to back up that statement. The Eagles shot just 25 per cent from the field, launching 73 shots, but making just 18 of them. Grygla shot 42 per cent at the free throw line (8-for-19). Oklee shot a much-better 53 per cent from the field (30-for-57) and 50 per cent at the line (8-for-18).

Oklee took a 13-10 first quarter lead and turned it into a 23-12 halftime cushion when Grygla made just one of 15 second quarter field goal attempts.

"We had good shots," explained Johnson, "but the lid went on the hoop for us."

Oklee had a 33-29 rebound edge and topped the turnover figures 21-16. Richard Murack led a group of four Oklee double figure scorers with 16 points. Tony McLean scored 12 for the Eagles, the team's only double figure scorer.

Grygla visits Roseau Friday.

Plummer ... 67
Sacred Heart ... 64

Plummer matched its victory total of all last year in its first start of the 1983-84 season Friday by beating visiting East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 67-64.

"It was a total team effort," explained coach Jim Baron, whose Cardinals had won just one game the previous four years. "I thought for the first game of the year, both teams played well."

Sacred Heart led in the high-scoring first half, owning an 18-14 first quarter edge and owning a 42-37 advantage at intermission. The Eagles still had a 54-52 lead at the end of the third quarter. Plummer finally overtook the visitors with about five minutes remaining, with free throws at the end by Warren Tvedt and Eric Eskeli insuring the victory.

Tvedt had 20 points and 10 rebounds for the winners, with Gene Fisher and Tim Gagner adding 12 points each. Darrin West of Sacred Heart was the game's high scorer with 26 points.

Plummer shot 47 per cent from the field (26-for-55) and 56 per cent at the free throw line (15-for-27). Sacred Heart shot an even better 53 per cent from the field (25-for-45) and 78 per cent at the line (14-for-18).

Next outing for the Cardinals will be Friday at home against Alvarado.

Anyone interested in snowmobiling is invited to attend.

Mark Twain Is Winner In TRF Volleyball Play

Thief River Falls' 1983 elementary school volleyball program was completed Wednesday when the Mark Twain girls won the playoff finals held at Northrop.

Washington school was the regular season league leader with a 6-0 record, followed by Mark Twain at 2-4 and Northrop 1-5.

Mark Twain coaches were Joanne Fletcher, the program director, and Peggy Lawrence; Northrop coaches were Jill Overbye and Jane Shafland; while Washington coaches were Karen Kirkeby and Arlene Overbye.

Lincoln Hockey JV Beaten By GF Central 4-3

Grand Forks Central built a 3-0 lead and went on to beat Thief River Falls 4-3 in season-opening junior varsity high school hockey action Saturday.

Thief River Falls, trailing 2-0 after the first period, got on the scoreboard at 5:23 of the second period on an Al Erickson goal, but still trailed 4-1 entering the final period.

Goals by Dave Johnson and Bob Geatz narrowed the gap to 4-3, but Geatz' goal didn't come until the 14:34 mark of the final period.

GRAND FORKS CENTRAL wing Jade Gilbertson reached for the puck, but Thief River Falls goalie Steve Solheim had it covered Saturday in the first period of the high school hockey game played in the sports arena. Central won the game 9-4.

Olson Leads Prowlers By Tri-County Girls 49-32

Michelle Olson scored 25 points and grabbed 15 rebounds Saturday night at Thief River Falls defeated Tri-County 49-32 in girls high school basketball action at Karlstad.

Thief River Falls turned a narrow 29-24 third quarter lead into a 17-point victory margin by out-scoring Tri-County 20-8 in the final eight minutes. The Prowlers were ahead 19-16 at halftime.

"We were kind of ragged to begin with," mentioned Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "I wasn't at all pleased with our first half, but in the second half we did things a lot better."

Olson, who was 10-for-17 shooting the ball from the outside, collected 16 of her points in the second half when the Prowlers finally found a way to get her open against the Roseau defense that was stacked against the junior guard-forward. Schafer admitted that getting Olson the open shots was the key to breaking the game open in the second half, but was also quick to credit sophomore Michelle Puetz, who came off the bench for a 10-point, 8-rebound night, for her strong contributions, especially on the offensive boards.

Thief River Falls shot 38 per cent from the field (21-for-59) and shot 44 per cent from the free throw line (7-for-16). Tri-County shot 31 per cent from the floor (11-for-35) and shot 56 per cent from the free throw line (10-for-18). The Prowlers finished with a 40-29 rebound advantage. The turnovers were even at 17 apiece.

Off to a 2-0 start, Thief River Falls visits Roseau Saturday.

Thief River Falls junior varsity evened its record at 1-1 with a 39-26 win at Tri-County as Brenda Russell scored 14 points in a game that featured 47 personal fouls.

Northwomen Are Third Place Tourney Finishers

Appearing in the women's portion of the three-day Red River community college invitational basketball tournament featuring eight men's and eight women's teams, Northland community college Northwomen opened their 1983-84 season with a 2-1 record and a third place trophy over the weekend.

Coach Deb Jacobson's Northwomen opened with an 81-39 quarterfinal win over Briercrest of Carna, Saskatchewan, lost an 86-46 semifinal decision to Frontier Express, a senior amateur team from Winnipeg, and finished with a 54-49 third place game victory over Seneca of Toronto.

Northwomen will team with the Northmen for doubleheader games in Thief River Falls this weekend against that Red River squad from Winnipeg. Women's games will be played at 6 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday, while men's games will be played at 8 p.m. Friday and 12-noon Saturday.

NCC-Briercrest

Northland's offense was in high gear en route to a one-sided 81-39 first round win over a small Briercrest squad Thursday night.

Tara Nicholson (28), Karen Sovde (22) and Brenda Dahl (21) combined for 71 Northland points. Sovde also had 17 rebounds, Nicholson 16 and Jenyne Beehler 14.

It was already a rout at halftime, with Northland ahead 40-11.

Northland shot 39 per cent from the field (36-for-96) and 43 per cent at the free throw line (9-for-21). Briercrest shot 30 per cent from the field (19-for-63) and 33 per cent at the line (1-for-3). Northland had a huge 74-33 rebound advantage, and the losers topped the turnover figures 27-21.

NCC-Express

Frontier Express lived up to its namesake with a fast-breaking offense that produced an easy 86-46 semifinal win over Northland Friday evening.

Winnipeg led 48-24 at halftime.

Brenda Dahl had 20 points for the Northwomen, their only double-figure scorer. Karen Sovde and Tara Nicholson had 12 rebounds apiece.

Northland shot 27 per cent from the field (21-for-72) and 44 per cent from the free throw line (4-for-9). Frontier Express shot 38 per cent from the field (36-for-93) and 50 per cent at the line (14-for-28). The winners had a 57-42 rebound edge, and Northland topped the turnover figures 28-13.

NCC-Seneca

Northland surrendered an early lead, but came back to edge Seneca 54-49 for third place honors Saturday afternoon.

Midway through the first half the Northwomen had a 14-4 lead, but five minutes later a series of Northland turnovers and poor shot selection saw the lead shrink to 16-12. Northland had a 22-20 halftime edge.

Six minutes into the second half Seneca had its first lead of the game and the Toronto squad lengthened it to 37-29 with 11:08 remaining.

Strong Northland defensive play enabled the Northwomen to get back in it, and a three-point play by Tara Nicholson put them ahead for good with 3:23 left.

Brenda Dahl scored 14 points to lead a trio of Northland double figure scorers, while Jenyne Beehler had 12 and Karen Sovde, an all-tournament team selection, had 10. Beehler also had 15 rebounds, with Dahl grabbing 14 and Sovde 10.

Both sides shot 26 per cent from the field, Northland 17-for-66 and Seneca 18-for-70. It was a busy afternoon at the free throw line where the Northwomen were 20-for-38 (53 per cent) and Seneca was 13-for-23 (57 per cent). Northland out-rebounded Seneca 57-35 and also topped the charts in turnovers 36-22.

Northland coach Deb Jacobson was well-satisfied with her team's season-opening showing. "It was fun," she said. "It was enjoyable. I was surprised. We played pretty well."

Ordinance No. 72, 2nd Series
An Ordinance Providing That the City of Thief River Falls Assumes Responsibility For the Cost of Maintenance, Repair and Replacement of Sanitary Sewer, and Water Mains

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THIEF RIVER FALLS ORDAINS:

Section 1: Section 2.05 Subd 4 of the City Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Subd. 4. Ownership of Municipal Utilities. Ownership of all municipal utilities, plants, lines, mains, extensions and appurtenances thereto, shall be and remain in the city and no person shall own any part or portion thereof. Provided, however, that private facilities and appurtenances constructed on private property are not intended to be included in municipal ownership. After construction and the payment of the cost thereof by special assessment or otherwise the City assumes the responsibility for the cost of maintenance, repair and replacement of water mains, including trunk mains and all connections thereto from the trunk main up to and including the curb boxes and sewer mains for the trunk main only. The abutting property owner is responsible for the maintenance, repair and replacement of all sewer facilities extending from his property to the trunk sewer main including the joints and connections thereto.

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Passed by the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota on the 22nd day of November, 1983.

Goodridge School Board

November 22, 1983
Regular Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. No. 561
Goodridge, Minnesota
December 5, 1983

Members present: Paul Troska, Larry Vigen, Don Langan, Supt., Richard Parnow, Rodney Wayne, Sharon Howard, Gordon Henrickson, Adm. Asst.

Members absent: Norma Hanson.

The meeting was called to order by Paul Troska, Vice-Chairman, at 8:15 p.m., in the Home Economics room, Goodridge High School.

Rodney Wayne moved, Sharon Howard seconded, to accept the minutes of the October 17, 1983 meeting as mailed. Carried.

Larry Vigen moved, Sharon Howard seconded, to approve computer checks 3813-3901, hand-payable checks 24290-24305, and extra payroll for payment. Carried. (See reports 3.1), 3.12, 3.13 attached to the official board minutes.)

Dr. Langan presented the revenue and expenditure report by fund. (See report No. 3.2 attached to the official board minutes.)

District investment report was reviewed showing investments of $100,000.00 invested in the American State Bank of Grygla at 10.5 percent with a maturity on November 24, 1984. Richard Parnow moved, Rodney Wayne seconded, to accept the investment report. Carried. (See report No. 3.3 attached to the official board minutes.)

Larry Vigen moved, Richard Parnow seconded, to increase the 1983-1984 Special Education program budget by $194. Carried.

Paul Troska read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Larry Srnsky expressing their concern over candy sales in the school. They expressed their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Holen and Gordon Henrickson for their prompt attention to an emergency situation involving their daughter. Following discussion, the administration requested the opportunity to discuss candy sales with faculty. Results of this discussion will be included in the next GRANOLA newsletter.

Dr. Langan reviewed Title I reallocation to include help for 7th and 8th graders. He reported that the program appears to be having a good effect in English and Math programs. Dr. Langan reviewed the "High Tech" program and potential district involvement with a model site demonstration project. The board would be asked to approve or reject any involvement should the district's plan be accepted by state officials. (See report No. 4.1 attached to the official board minutes.)

Trustee reports were given on football pairing by Rodney Wayne. He reported that the football committee was asked by Rick Nelson, head coach, to consider the 1984-1985 coaching contracts as early as possible, preferably January or February. Rodney Wayne reported that it was the committee's intention to have personal recommendations to both Grygla and Goodridge boards for January or February action. Dr. Langan reported on negotiation progress with the G.B.A. The mediation session did not happen due to failure of mediator to show up as scheduled. Several language items received tentative agreement. The salary schedule as last offered by the board was reaffirmed with an additional $5,000 per contract year to the designated for staff training purposes. Next negotiation session is scheduled for 7:00 a.m., Friday, December 2, 1983.

Dr. Langan requested Board members to identify special areas of the June 30, 1983, audit that they would like clarified. These areas would be responded to by Russ Christianson at the regular December 19, 1983 board meeting.

Discussion was held regarding activity bus routes. It was determined that the activity bus should be maintained this year despite withdrawal of state aids for this run. It was determined that at least 25 percent of the activity run cost would be regained by community support. Gary Kiesow and Bruce Bjerklie offered to contribute $4.80 per day from activity route salaries as support for the program. This would mean a total contribution of approximately $350 toward the overall cost. The board appreciated this action. It was hoped that the student athletes, district service organizations, and individual patrons would aid in reaching a minimum goal of $1,348.65 toward activity bus expenses.

Rodney Wayne moved, Sharon Howard seconded, to maintain student activity routes for 1983-1984 with an effort to regain a minimum of 25 percent of the total cost through community and student effort. Carried.

Richard Parnow moved, Rodney Wayne seconded, to set the 1983-1984 winter sports tickets as follows: Season ticket for Family from $25 to $30, Couple from $20 to $25, Adult from $15 to $20; Non-participating Student to remain at $10, Participating Student to remain at $5. With the increase being designated to activity bus costs. Single Gate Tickets: Adult from $1.50 to $2.00, Student to remain at $1.00, Senior Citizen to remain at $1.00, Elementary Student to remain at $.50, with increases to be designated to activity bus costs. Carried. (See report No. 9.3 as attached to the official board minutes.)

A letter from the State Department granting the district a personnel variance for elementary principal was reviewed. (See report No. 10.1 as attached to the official board minutes.)

Mr. Henrickson reviewed the girls and boys basketball turn out; handicapped parking signs; and Christmas schedule.

Dr. Langan reviewed "ABC of School Finance" meeting scheduled for December 6, 1983; reservation information for the January MSBA Convention; and reviewed insurance claim for a patron injury.

The Historical Society thanked the janitors, administration, staff and the board for their support of the Diary of Anne Frank production.

Larry Vigen moved, Richard Parnow seconded, to set the next regular meeting for 10:00 a.m., Monday, December 19, 1983, in the superintendent's office. Carried.

Rodney Wayne moved, Larry Vigen seconded, to adjourn at 11:03 p.m. Carried.

Larry Vigen, Clerk

National Study Shows Families Mostly Happy

by Jeanne K. Hanson
'U' M News Service

Most intact American families appear to be pretty happy and to know how to cope when they aren't, according to a national study of 1,000 families conducted by two University of Minnesota family social science professors.

Study showed fairly high levels of satisfaction with most aspects of family life. Some 77 per cent of family members in the study reported satisfaction with their families, the same number said they're satisfied with their marriages and satisfaction with children was reported by 72 per cent. Housing was satisfactory to 69 per cent, health to 59 per cent, jobs to 58 per cent and household responsibilities to 50 per cent.

Families studied were at all stages of the family life cycle, with individuals ranging in age from 12 to 85. Most were white and in the lower to upper-middle income brackets. All adults were in intact marriages. The families were chosen through a stratified random sample of a national insurance company's policyholders in 31 states, although the sample group is somewhat concentrated in the Midwest. Company funded the study to learn about stress and coping among their insured families.

Results have just been published as a book, "Families: What Makes Them Work" (Sage Publications), by David Olson and Hamilton McCubbin, both of the University of Minnesota. Based on a battery of questionnaires, the study presents a snapshot of the divorce-free American family. It showed that:

— Family stress is highest and a sense of family closeness is lowest when the children are adolescents. During this period, a good marriage is more important for the couple than at any other stage of the family life cycle.

— Family stress is lowest before the children are born and after they become adults.

— At all stages, families with the strongest family pride cope best with stress.

— The most uniform and persistent stresses through all stages of family life are managing money, completing household chores and balancing commitment to work and to the family.

— Stress at any stage is dealt with most commonly by drawing on spiritual support — a special purview of wives — and by reframing problems to make them more manageable. Almost all families rely on informal support from friends, extended families and neighbors to do so, with less than eight per cent seeking any professional help.

— Husbands are generally more satisfied with their marital communications than are wives, but wives are more satisfied with their relatives, use of leisure time and family pride and cohesiveness.

—Except among older couples, wives take better care of their health than husbands do.

Results were reported for four stages of family life: couples without children, families with young children, families with adolescents and older couples.

Satisfaction with marriage tends to be very high among childless couples, with 40 per cent reporting they are very satisfied and only 10 per cent of husbands or wives ever having seriously considered divorce or separation. Biggest stresses are work-family issues, especially adjusting to careers, followed by money, family chores and separations caused by travel. Families with the lowest stress levels in this stage said they communicate well, manage their money and share leisure activities.

Marital satisfaction also is reported to be quite high among families with young children, although some 20 per cent of husbands or wives said they had considered divorce or separation. Most significant stresses are money, the children's quarrels, the husbands' travels and household chores remaining undone. Issues purely related to jobs are relatively unproblematic. Families experiencing the least stress were those who said they communicated well, manage their money, draw on a social network for support and remain positive in thinking about their family.

In families with adolescents, finances, lower marital satisfaction and hassles between teens and parents over chores and independence seem to be the main problems. Mothers communicate better with their teenagers than do fathers, according to family members. Job changes cause fewer problems. Among these couples — who grew up when divorce rates were low — only about 16 per cent had seriously considered such a step, in spite of the stresses on them. Those who coped best managed their money well, relied on family and friends for support and enjoyed their marriage, especially their sexual relationship.

In general, marital satisfaction rebounds among the older couples, although sex emerged as a problem mentioned, the study showed. Household chores remain a difficulty in that stage, money becomes less of a problem (until retirement) and job dissatisfaction and illness become more significant. Older couples who reported the most satisfaction were those comfortable with their quality of life, their spouse's personality and their strength as a couple.

Conducting such a study intensified some of researcher Olson's views on the American family. To avoid a divorce, couples should not marry until at least one is established in a job or career — in other words, at anywhere from 25 to 35 years of age, he said. Young couples are too unrealistic about marriage and expect that the relationship will sustain them forever even if they do not invest much energy in it, he said. A divorce rate now stabilizing at about 50 per cent does not typically scare them at all. Olson would like to see a course or part of a course on relationship-building required by high schools.

Couples should make sure to create a good relationship before having children, Olson said. Organizations could help by offering paternity leaves as well as maternity leaves, to help couples adapt to the change children bring. And, as the children get older, it is important to have one "family night" a week for discussions and activities together.

Throughout the life cycle, a good family life takes as much effort as a good career, Olson said.

Scouts Receive Donation From Insurance Co.

Voyageur Trails district of the Boy Scouts of America has received from Modern Woodmen Insurance a donation of $500 for the scout movement. Purpose of the scout program is to develop character building, citizenship training and personal fitness.

Voyageur Trails district is comprised of eight counties in northwest Minnesota and presently has over 1,100 youth members registered, including over 200 in Thief River Falls. This contribution will help in the support of summer camp.

SHOPPERS OF ALL SIZES took advantage of the annual indoor flea market at city auditorium on Saturday, selecting Christmas gifts from the wide variety of merchandise available, including everything from classy crafts to curios and collectibles. Some bought for others, while a few gave hints about what they would like to find in their stocking on Christmas morning. Of course, some shoppers just came to look or sample the special holiday food items and refreshments which were new to this year's sale.

Cancer Society Can Help Outfit Home Sickroom

Families of cancer patients may apply to the American Cancer Society for hospital beds and siderails, wheelchairs, commodes, walkers and other items which make it easier for patients to be cared for in their homes, according to Ginny Krause, service chairman of the Pennington county unit.

Noting that more cancer is being controlled, resulting in cancer patients living longer, Krause says that the society places great priority in offering assistance to them, adding that one of the most helpful aids available is loaned sickroom equipment.

"Too often families are unaware that they can get this assistance from the American Cancer Soceity," she said. "This kind of help is available in every county in Minnesota, and is supported by voluntary contributions to the society. Our service and rehabilitation program is designed to help as much as possible with the care of cancer patients and hopefully to assist them to return to normal living."

Anyone interested in the variety of services available from the Pennington county unit may call Kruase at 681-5301.

"Who's Who" Book Lists 11 NCC Students

1984 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges" will include the names of 11 from Northland community college who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Students named this year from Northland are: Wendy Easton, Geraldine G. Howe, Katy C. Kinsman, Christie LaCoursiere, Ann M. Odegaard, Cheri Ann Perisian, and Roberta Ann Svir, all of Thief River Falls; Steven J. Dalager, St. Hilaire; Timmy L. Finseth, McIntosh; Geralyn M. Kuznia, Stephen; and Wendy Sue Nicholls, Argyle.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Annual Meeting Of County Fair Is Monday Night

Budgeting for 1984 and future fairs and means of solving the problem of money for operation will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Pennington county fair association Monday at 8 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls. Projected budget for the 1984 fair shows a loss of about $6,000 on operations.

In addition to discussion of the budget and financial statement, seven directors will be elected for three-year terms. Directors whose terms expire this year include Si Hanson, Commissioner District 1; Arlen Ellingson, District 2; LaVerne Hamre, District 3; Beth Blankenfeld, District 4; Terry Nelson, District 5; Selmer Holen, Goodridge; and Bernard Huot, Red Lake Falls.

Oliver "Skip" Swanson, president of the fair board, is urging a large turn-out of members for the annual meeting so that a wide variety of opinions and ideas can be obtained. He had stated earlier that the future of the fair is threatened by expectation of operating at a loss.

"We think the people of the community and county should be aware of what the conditions are and that the board is totally open to suggestions, opinions and ideas as to what should be done," Swanson said. "While it appears to us that very little can be done to cut costs extensively and still maintain a good fair, maybe we have been overlooking something obvious."

Anyone who has purchased a $5 life membership in the county fair association is eligible to vote at the annual meeting. Even non-members who are interested in perpetuation of the 82-year-old county fair are encouraged to attend and express their opinions.

Last year the county fair had receipts of $73,734 and expenses of $77,603. The loss reduced the cash balance from $5,036 to $1,167. Included in the receipts was a special appropriation of $8,700 from Pennington county to keep the fair solvent. The 1984 projected budget shows expected receipts of $73,850 and anticipated expenses of $79,900. If the projections are realized and the cash balance is used, the association would end the 1984 county fair $4,883 in debt.

Three One-Act Plays Set For Dec. 16, 17, 18

Chameleon Theatre group will be presenting a trilogy of one-act Christmas plays at the Northland community college theatre, with performances set for 7 p.m. Friday, December 16, and 2 p.m. on December 17 and 18.

Trilogy will begin with "Geraldine and the White Robe", a light-hearted comedy written by Jon Conde.

Second one-act play in the production is "The Long Christmas Dinner," written by Thornton Wilder. Spanning 90 years of Christmas dinners in the Bayard household, this play challenges actors and audience alike to consider its meaning.

Final play in the series is "Christmas at Checkpoint Charlie," written by John Felton. Setting for this one-act play is a U.S. command post along the Berlin Wall. Along this cold, cruel dividing line, two guards risk their necks to reunite a separated German family at Christmas time.

Plummer Sets Concert Mon.

Plummer school's music department, under the direction of Larry Larson, will present its annual Christmas program at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the school gymnasium.

Featured in the program will be all elementary grades (K-6), the junior band and choir and senior band and choir.

Concert is free and open to the public.

Traffic At 1st And 59 Warned About Changes

Cliff Larson, resident engineer for the Minnesota department of transportation, warns that motorists and pedestrians should be alert to changing conditions and construction which will be going on at the intersection of Highway 59 South and First Street during the next week or two.

Work will be resumed this week on signal installation at the intersection, he says, with the contractor installing the controller, poles, mast arms, luminaires and other electrical equipment.

Signals will be placed in operation temporarily next week, to check and tune the system. It will then be placed in a flashing operation for about two days, after which it will be placed in full operation, possibly by December 16 or early the following week.

This will be a traffic actuated control system. Sensors have been placed in the pavement on both Highway 59 and First Street to actuate the signals as traffic flow warrants. These signals will also have intervals to direct left turns of Highway 59 onto First Street, with left lanes constructed to store vehicles until the green arrow light indicates a turn is allowed. Push buttons will be installed on all four poles to allow pedestrians to actuate the signals for a safe crossing.

Water Problems Topic Of Water Summit Session

Fifty persons from different sectors of the Red River valley's political and economic leadership have signed on to direct 16 discussion groups at the Red River Valley International water summit conference scheduled for December 8 and 9 at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

Listed among those participating are the following from this area:

Marcella Gonsorowski, Marshall county commissioner from Newfolden and a member of Minnesota Women for Agriculture and the Snake River P.L. 566 steering committee, who will be a panel discussion leader;

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, state legislator from Plummer who serves on the agriculture and natural resources committee of the state senate, and will be a panel discussion leader;

Vaughn Thorfinnson, mayor of Red Lake Falls and past president of the Minnesota League of Cities, who will chair one of the conference panels;

Ervin Strandquist, Newfolden, former chairman of the Northwest regional development commission and past president of the Minnesota association of townships, who will serve as a discussion leader; and

Charles Anderson, Thief River Falls, engineer for the Red Lake watershed district, who will be a resource person for the conference.

The conference is cosponsored by several groups led by the Valley Mayors and Reeves association and the international coalition for land and water stewardship. Conference chairman Lance Yohe, who also heads the coalition, said the purpose of the conference is "to organize committee representative of the valley's policy leadership, give it direction, and also give it enough support to carry our initiative forward."

As I walk down the street I see the different things surrounding me.
I'm walking in a foggy world, everything is a dream.
The people I meet,
the faces I see, all
a blur.
I am a robot, automatically and mechanically moving through the halls of life.
My memory is an old purple sock thrown in the attic.
I drift aimlessly
through the rooms, bumping into the ugly enemies.
The boob tube, putrid
green and deceivingly
red. I have been drawn to its addiction once too often.
My spirits soar as an earthworm in mud.
When the day is done
and I may go to bed,
I long so much for that magazine, or phone call. I am an old dusty novel waiting to be read.
The landscape changes color as fast as a chameleon rolled in crushed crayons.
My mood changes as a goal is neared.
It was so long ago
yet so near that I felt clear. Smells of frying fish, the—warm, tingly sensation of love, the taste of success, felt so right.
Now it's nothing, it's mixed with the other bundles of forgotten,
smelly, discolored rags.
Will I ever see the end of this bitter silent road?

Edington Poem Selected For MN Anthology

Maria Edington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tarry Edington of Thief River Falls, was one of the student writers selected to have her work published in "The Language of Light," an anthology published by COMPAS, a state-wide community arts agency. Selections were made from student work done when professional writers visited schools under the artists-in-the-schools program.

Maria was an eighth grader at Franklin school last year when she wrote the poem selected for publication in the anthology. According to COMPAS, the book "reveals the vision, imagination, heart and curiosity of young people in Minnesota." It is for sale at a number of Twin Cities area bookstores.

Different sections of the book are entitled "Horses, Swans, Pumpkins and Tumbleweed," "The Spirit Of This Place," "Art And The Hidden Door," "My Family Is A Box Of Crayons" and "The Picnic Of Dreams."

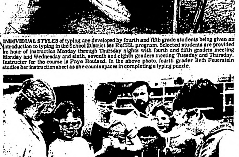
The writers and artists-in-the-schools program places professional poets, fiction writers, playwrights, musicians, visual artists and theatre artists in Minnesota schools for residencies of a week or longer. Through carefully designed techniques and exercises, the writers help students produce their own works of art — poems, stories, plays, paintings, songs, sculptures or dramatic pieces.

By exploring their own creative potential, students learn how the arts impact on the world. During the residency, the writers and artists also conduct in-service programs for teachers and provide them with techniques for classroom use.

The program is funded in part by the state arts board through an appropriation by the Minnesota legislature. Additional support comes from several major foundations and local school districts.

ExCEL Program To Be Expanded After Holiday

INDIVIDUAL STYLES of typing are developed by fourth and fifth grade students being given an introduction to typing in the School District 564 ExCEL program. Selected students are provided an hour of instruction Monday through Thursday nights with fourth and fifth graders meeting Monday and Wednesday and sixth, seventh and eighth graders meeting Tuesday and Thursday. Instructor for the course is Faye Rouland. In the above photo, fourth grader Beth Feuerstein studies her instruction sheet as she counts spaces in completing a typing puzzle.



SCIENCE EXPERIMENT is conducted by students in the ExCEL program at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls. While instructor Randy Johnson watches in the background, these students heat a tube containing fragments of oil shale rock, then light the escaping gas from the heated rock. Different experiments are conducted at each meeting of the class which is conducted after regular school hours at the Franklin middle school science department.

School District 564's ExCEL program for talented and gifted students will be expanded following the Christmas and New Year holidays to provide more course selections for students. Some of the present courses will also be continued, according to Pam Carlson, coordinator of the program. ExCEL is an acronym for Extra Curricular Experiences in Learning.

Currently classes are being offered before or after the regular school day in beginning typing, taught by Faye Rouland; science, taught by Randy Johnson; Junior Great Books, taught by Fay Bolin; beginning computers, taught by James Fremstad; and music, taught by Tony Ricci, Wendy Easton and Mike Lehrer. About 120 students participate in the various programs, some in more than one of the courses offered.

New sessions of the classes offered this fall will begin following the holidays and additional offerings will be available to selected students, Miss Carlson said. Among these will be an expanded artist-in-residence and writer-in-residence program which will place separate professional writers and artists in the elementary and middle school in January and February. These programs are available to a greater number of students through regular classroom involvement.

Among new additions will be seminars on law and medical science. Attorney Ruth Jenny, a former instructor in the Thief River Falls, will lead the law seminar for sixth-seventh and eighth graders in two days of one-hour instruction. She will discuss law as a career, how cases are handled and introduce some role-playing for student participants.

Dr. James and Dr. Penny Langland, both physicians with the Falls clinic, will conduct the medical science seminar for sixth, seventh and eighth graders in one 90-minute session. Covered will be careers, options in the medical field and changes in lifestyle to prevent health problems.

Regular courses will be four to 10 weeks in length and new offerings will include advanced computers, taught by Fremstad; Spanish for grades six, seven and eight, taught by Rachel Temple; German for grades four and five, taught by Sue Block; laboratory science for grades six, seven and eight, taught at Lincoln high school by Scott Hetherington; advanced typing for grades four and five and grades six, seven and eight, taught by Rouland; public speaking, taught for grades six, seven and eight by Jim Kotz and for grades four and five by Walt Redinger; and drama, taught by Frank Womack.

Registration for the courses will begin next week, Miss Carlson said. She noted that students are selected for the program by referral as a result of test scores and observation. The ExCEL program is voluntary for the students and allows them to pursue interests beyond what is offered in the regular classroom. It is now in its second year at School District 564.

School Board Oks Several Contracts

Several contracts with school district personnel were approved when the School District 564 board of education met Monday evening in the school district service center board room. Board members also heard the oral report on evaluation of the area vocational-technical institute and conducted other business.

Contracts approved were with the principals and directors unit for the period of July 1, 1983 through June 30, 1985; Supt. Robert Block for the 1983-84 and 1984-85 school years; and individually negotiated contracts for the current school year with Kathryn Kinsman, food services supervisor; Fred Mykleby, transportation supervisor; Harry Nelson, school district business manager; Diane Paulson, AVTI business manager; Jerry Prickett, supervisor of buildings and grounds; and Ray Vigstol, mechanics supervisor.

Report was given on the negotiations session conducted with the TRFEA on November 30. It was noted that little progress was made toward agreement but that a meeting will be held in the near future to review the budget and clear up any disagreements on just what funes are available.

Charles Shubat and Jerry Schmehl of the state department of education presented the AVTI evaluation report to the board. The evaluation team visited the AVTI on September 28 and 29 and evaluators presented a generally favorable report. A list of recommendations for improvement was presented to the board and the AVTI administration is working on making the requested changes where possible. A response will be submitted to the state department from the local district in a week or two.

Sherman Johnson requested clarification on legal descriptions of some property near the Franklin and Mark Twain school complex. Following receipt of information from Stewart and Walker engineering firm, a meeting will be arranged to attempt to clear up the confusion.

Counselor James Fremstad and principal Dr. Milton Hoff presented results of Iowa basic skills tests given at Franklin middle school this fall. The test results show Franklin students with higher [illegible] than the national average in the same grades.

Survey to be given by the community education advisory committee , was distributed for board review. The survey will be sent to approximately 1,200 people to gain information on needs and interests of school district residents and is expected to be completed by April 1, 1984.

Fund-raiser benefit for Mr. and Mrs. Brent Lee of rural Middle River is being sponsored by the Ringbo Bobcats 4-H club Sunday with a smorgasbord from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Holt community center.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee's son Christopher, who was born September 10, is at the University of Minnesota hospitals where he has undergone surgery for heart repair.

Mrs. Lee, the former Kelly Erickson, is a former member of the Ringbo 4-H club. Members of the club will be assisted in the benefit by members of the Ringbo homemakers club. A free will offering will be received for the smorgasbord. Persons unable to attend but who would like to contribute to the benefit may contact 4-H club treasurer Pat Erickson at Route 1, Box 96, Middle River, MN 56737.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Kiesow-Polansky Vows Exchanged At Goodridge

Laurie Jean Kiesow and Gary Eugene Polansky exchanged marriage vows on September 17, at 2:00 p.m., at St. Anne's Catholic church in Goodridge.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kiesow of Goodridge and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Polansky of Gatzke.

Rev. Gary LaMoine officiated at the double-ring ceremony witnessed by approximately 400 relatives and friends. At the organ was Kari Peterson, playing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," as the bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. Prior to the ceremony, Karen Kertz played the flute solo, "Morning Has Broken." During the ceremony, Dean Ellis sang, "The Wedding Song," and "God, A Woman and a Man," and Kristi Scharmer sang, "Rainbow."

On the altar was a basket of white gladioli with blue carnations and daisies, corresponding with the arrangement on the organ. Royal blue and white ribbon bows marked the pews.

The bride was attired in a bridal gown of white Chantilly lace styled with a sheer English tulle yoke appliqued with Venice lace, trimmed with pearls and iridescents. A lace ruffle, interwoven with a white satin ribbon, outlined the yoke, formed the cuffs of the bishop sleeves and edged the triple tiered bouffant skirt which flowed into a chapel-length train. A corresponding ruffle surrounded her veil of bridal illusion. It was held by a lace headpiece trimmed with pearls and iridescents. She carried an arm bouquet of white, long-stemmed white roses and fresh greenery, accented with babies' breath and satin loops.

The bride's personal attendant was Mary Flickinger, a friend of the couple.

Matron of honor was Marilyn Maddox, Davenport, Iowa, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Cynthia and Catherine Polansky, sisters of the groom. All wore royal blue, sleeveless, A-line dresses featuring ruffled necklines and hemlines, white lace accents, and white ribbon tied at the waistline. At the neckline, they wore gold and pearl necklaces. Their round bouquets were of white and light blue daisies, babies' breath and white ribbon streamers.

Wearing a similar dress, only with puffy sleeves, was the bride's sister, Kristi Kiesow, who served as flower girl. She carried a wicker basket filled with white and light blue daisies. The rings were carried on a pillow by Dominick Hermanson, Braham, a cousin of the groom. Like the groomsmen, he wore a silver tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and a white Sweetheart rose boutonniere.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo. He was attended by his brother, Mark Polansky, Gatzke, as best man. Groomsmen were Bruce and Ronald Kiesow, brothers of the bride. Serving as ushers were Paul Polansky, a brother of the groom, Gerald Verbout, a cousin; Mark Maddox and Grant Hanson, brothers-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kiesow wore a blue gown topped by a flowing, floral sheer overlay. Her corsage was of white Sweetheart roses, light blue daisies and royal blue ribbon accents. A similar corsage complemented the pink gown with long sheer sleeves worn by the groom's mother.

Honor guests were Mary Kiesow, Mary Polansky, and Harold and Olivia Neppl.

Hosts and hostesses at the reception which followed were Eugene and Margaret Kuznia, godparents of the bride, and Trudy Helgeson and Terry Neppl, godparents of the groom. At the guest book were Theresa Mutnansky, aunt of the bride, and Harold Polansky, uncle of the groom. The punch was served by Arlyne Neuschwander and Nila Grenz, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively.

The serving table was centered with a white, tiered wedding cake featuring a lighted water fountain and a stairway decorated with daisies and ivy. The cake was baked and decorated by Janice Peterson, a friend of the couple. It was cut and served by Phyllis Neuschwander, aunt of the bride, and Mary Ann Verbout, aunt of the groom. Pouring coffee were Theresa Jackson, aunt of the bride, and Tillie Bernstein, a friend of the couple.

At the gift table were Betty Jo Kiesow and Lynn Kiesow. Jacki Kiesow distributed the rice packets and Judith Hanson and Mary Jo Kiesow, the wedding programs. All are sisters of the bride. The waitresses were Roxanne and Dawn Verbout and Melisa Helgeson, cousins of the groom, Denise Kuznia, Paula Mutnarsky and Mary Kuznia, cousins of the bride. The flowers were pinned by Diane Kalsnes, cousin of the bride, and Sherry Verbout, cousin of the groom.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota, the couple is at home in rural Gatzke. The bride is a 1977 graduate of Goodridge high school and a 1981 graduate of North Dakota State university. She is employed by the American State bank at Grygla. The groom is a 1980 graduate of Grygla high school and is a dairy farmer in rural Gatzke. Photo, Haugen photography, Goodridge.

Life Line To Hold Festival This Saturday

Life Line Christian center in Newfolden has planned nearly a full day of activities for Saturday, with a children's Christmas festival from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and a gospel music team at 8 p.m.

Children's festival will offer games and refreshments for all ages.

Dennis and Joyce Davenport, Forest Lake, will be featured on the evening program, which is also open to all ages. Lunch will be served. They have been performing musically together since their marriage in 1971, first as a quartet with her two brothers, and as "The Davenports" since 1977. Over the years they have produced eight long play albums and traveled over 600,000 miles presenting traditional and original gospel music, glorifying Jesus Christ.

David Skarp Services Held At Karlstad

David C. Skarp, 87, of Karlstad, who was known for his original recipe for Skarp's Potato Sausage, died November 29 at the Karlstad Memorial Nursing center, where he had been a resident for 19 days. Skarp had been in failing health for the past two years.

Funeral services for David Skarp were held Saturday at 2:00 p.m., at the Karlstad Baptist church with Rev. Harry Ratzlaff and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Dennis Fish was the soloist and Mrs. Avis Netterlund, the organist. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery. The Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Allen Olson, Paul, Fish, Leslie Andersen, Ronald Anderson, Vernon Johnson and Rick Netterlund.

David Carl Skarp, a son of the late Otto and Anna Skarp, was born Dec. 3, 1896 in Deerwood township of Kittson county, near Karlstad. He attended school and grew to manhood in that community.

He was married Aug. 14, 1919 at Karlstad to Olga Spjut. They lived on their farm in deerwood township. In 1935, he opened the L.B. Hartz grocery store in Karlstad. Later, he became known in the area for Skarp's Potato Sausage, which was manufactured in Karlstad until 1972.

After the death of his wife in September of 1945, he was married to Christine Olson in January of 1947 at Aberdeen, Wash. They lived in Karlstad until her death in December of 1955.

On Dec. 30, 1960, he was married at Turlock, Calif., to Signa Pearson. Since then, they have lived in Karlstad.

He was a member of the Karlstad Baptist church, served on the church board and was choir director for many years. He also served on the Karlstad village council for 15 years.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters: Mrs. Sander (Ruth) Gustafson, Hallock, and Mrs. Gordon (Audrey) Sandahl, Lake Bronson; nine grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren, a step-son, Ronald Varner, Turlock, Calif.; and one sister, Elsie Nelson, also of Turlock.

In addition to his first and second wife and his parents, he was preceded in death by one brother and a sister.

Olga Rose Rites Held At Red Lake Falls

Funeral services for Mrs. Olga Rose, 86, of Red Lake Falls and formerly of Plummer, were held Tuesday at 10:00 a.m., at Bethany Lutheran church in Red Lake Falls. Mrs. Rose died Saturday at the Hillcrest Nursing home in Red Lake Falls.

Rev. Holt Walker officiated at the services. Music included a duet by Carole Walker and Karen Seeger. Helene Bjorgan served as organist. Interment was in the Emardville cemetery, rural Plummer, with the Petterson Funeral home, Red Lake Falls, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Clayton Larson, Steve and Michael Seeger, Art Frolland, Lloyd Sorenson and Lawrence Waldal.

Mrs. Rose, the former Olga Waldal, was born April 24, 1897 in Plummer to Jacob and Johanna Anderson Waldal. She grew to womanhood on her parents' farm southwest of Plummer. She was married in Plummer in 1939 to Henry Rose. They farmed near Plummer until his death in 1949. Later she worked for several years as housekeeper at the Sorenson Brothers' farm. Since September 5, 1977, she had been a resident at Hillcrest Nursing home. Prior to that time, she had lived for three years at Fairview Manor in Red Lake Falls.

She was a member of Bethany Lutheran church, the VFW auxiliary and the Modern Woodmen of America.

Surviving are four step-children: Mrs. Clarence (Evelyn) Urban, Amboy; Mrs. Art (Ina) Hieb, Minneapolis; Mrs. John (Norma) Oglesdy, Texas, and Elmer; a sister, Miss Jennie Waldal, Alhambra, Calif.; and several nieces and nephews.

Two step-sons, a sister, and three brothers preceded her in death.

Mrs. Mussetta Tessier Rites Held At RLF

Mass of Christian burial for Mrs. Mussetta Normandeau Tessier, 85, of Stockton, Calif., and formerly of Red Lake Falls, was offered Monday at 1:30 p.m., at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Red Lake Falls. Mrs. Tessier died Wednesday, November 30, at Stockton, Calif.

Con-celebrants at the Mass were Rev. Keough Patnode, Rev. Jerome Fellon and Msgr. Victor Cardin. Music was provided by the church adult choir with Kathie Knott as organist. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Petterson Funeral home, Red Lake Falls, was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were nephews and great-nephews: Keith Morinville, Joe Morinville, W.J. Morinville, Lawrence Kane, Ambrose Miller and Emmitt Morinville.

Mrs. Tessier, the former Mussetta Miller, was born Jan. 16, 1897 in Red Lake Falls to Samuel and Amelia Allard Miller. She grew to womanhood in Red Lake Falls and taught for a time in the Red Lake county rural schools.

She was married Oct. 20, 1920 in Red Lake Falls to Arthur A. Normandeau. They made their home in Red Lake Falls where Normandeau served as foreman at the Tow mill for 28 years. After his death on Jan. 13, 1950, she moved to California. She was married there to William E. Tessier. They lived at Santa Cruz, Calif., until Tessier's death in 1969. Since then, she had made her home in Stockton with her son, Allen.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Ted (Theresa) Shields, Longville; two sons: Allen Normandeau, Stockton, Calif.; and Mark Normandeau, Milwaukee, Wis.; two granddaughters, a great-granddaughters, two sisters: Mrs. Guynor Kane, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Emily Hunter, Detroit, Mich.; and several nieces and nephews.

George Fromm Rites Held At St. Hilaire

Funeral services for George W. Fromm, 63, of rural St. Hilaire were held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at Calvary Lutheran church, St. Hilaire. Fromm died unexpectedly Wednesday evening, November 3, at his home.

Rev. Gary Moore officiated at the services. Music was provided by Mrs. Arnold Hammer. Interment was in the Rux cemetery, rural St. Hilaire, with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Rubert Wolfgram, Frank Dobias, John Wahlbeck, Axel Lind, Earl Swenson and Russell Moen.

George W. Fromm, a son of the late John and Clara Lindquist Fromm, was born March 23, 1920 in Sanders township of Pennington county. He attended school in Sanders township and later worked in that area. In 1945, he moved to Jamestown, N.D. where he was employed by the Great Northern railroad. He was married in 1947 at Jamestown to Mathilda Krause.

In 1961, he returned to the St. Hilaire area and worked at several jobs in the area, including the O & M Elevator. In 1974, he began working for the Pennington County Highway department, where he remained until his retirement in November of this year.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Bennie (Wanda) Tillman, Atlanta, Ga.; three brothers; Clarence Fromm, Milwaukee, Wis.; Carl, St. Hilaire; and Robert, Wichita, Kans.; and two sisters: Mrs. Gerald (Ann) Pratt, Crookston, and Mrs. Frank (Leona) Dobias, St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Herman Schmidtke Dies At Wheaton

Mrs. Herman (Hilka) O. Schmidtke, 72, of Wheaton, mother of Mrs. Harlon Kvick of Thief River Falls, died November 30, at the Wheaton Community hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Schmidtke were held Saturday at St. John's Lutheran church in Wheaton with Rev. Goyce Leckband officiating. Joyce Plautz was the soloist and Sara Ginke, the organist. Interment was in the church cemetery with Ranney's funeral home, Wheaton, in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were the grandchildren. Serving as active pallbearers were James Lupkes, Eugene Borsheim, Fred Schmidtke, all of Wheaton, Randy Olson, Norcross; Gary Schmidtke, Esko; and Jerry Wegner, Swea City, Iowa.

Mrs. Schmidtke, the former Hilka Lupkes, was born March 17, 1911 at Fern, Iowa, one of 12 children born to George and Jennie Lupkes. She was baptized there in the Lutheran church on Sept. 25, 1911. In 1928, she moved with the family to Minnesota, where they settled in Lake Valley township, in Traverse county. She was married May 8, 1937 to Herman Schmidtke with Rev. F. Heine officiating. They lived in Wheaton until 1939, when they began farming in Monson township. Later, they moved to Lake Valley township, where they were residing at the time of her death.

She was a life-time member of St. John's Lutheran church and was an active member of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

Surviving are her husband, three daughters: Mrs. Harlon (Joanette) Kvick, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Robert (Arlene) Lick, Rosholt, S.D., and Mrs. Kenneth (Darlene) Anderson, Danvers; a son, Walter Schmidtke, Wheaton, and 14 grandchildren;

Also surviving are six sisters: Mrs. Wendell (Christina) Hernvall and Mrs. Joe (Tillie) Kori, Wheaton; Jeanette Olson, and Mrs. Earl (Frances) Borsheim, both of Norcross; Irene Kaul, Rochester; and Mary Nash, Madison; and four brothers: Fred, George, Jr., Oscar and Elmer Lupkes, all of Wheaton.

She was preceded in death by her parents and one brother, Ole Lupkes.

Water Problem Topic Of G. F. Summit Meet

He said the long-term goal is "to provide unified policy direction for water use and management on a valleywide scale." Theme of the conference is "Unity."

The valley's lead water policy interests are represented by the discussion group leaders. "Getting a balance among so many diverse interests, from Manitoba, Minnesota and North Dakota, is an achievement in itself," Yohe said. Only state and federal water managers and other government agency officials serving in a support role are from outside the region.

Townships on both sides of the river are represented, as are rural municipalities in Manitoba. There are key county commissioners, mayors, city councilors, conservation district supervisors and legislators involved.

The private sector is strongly represented among the valley's Farm Bureaus, Farmers Unions, and commodity groups such as the valley's potato growers association. Several chambers of commerce are included in the list.

Women's agricultural groups in both states and Manitoba are contributing several leaders, along with the League of Women Voters. There is also balanced representation from environmental public interest groups such as the Minnesota Izaak Walton league and the North Dakota wildlife society.

The valley's religious leadership will help to lead the discussions, with representation from the Crookston diocese of the Roman Catholic church and the Minnesota northern district of the American Lutheran church. Social divisiveness of land drainage and other water management issues has become a moral issue since floods and droughts devastated the valley in the 1970's.

A Chippewa Indian from the Red Lake tribal council in Minnesota will chair one discussion group. A councillor from the Roseau River band in Manitoba will serve as a discussion leader in another.

The discussion groups are expected to frame a response to the challenge posed by the conference: "Can the valley's policy leadership make a commitment to provide unified policy direction for water use and management for the Valley as a whole?"

"Can we have both regional harmony and effective resource management?" Yohe asks. "The various governments and private interests who share the valley will weigh their response after the conference. We've brought the leadership of the valley together; now it's up to them."

Sparby Bill Would Increase Township Aid

State Representative Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls, has introduced a bill that would increase state aid to Minnesota townships by reducing the level of property taxes necessary to qualify for that aid.

"Currently, Minnesota townships must levy property taxes of two mills," Sparby said. "My proposal would lower that requirement to one mill which would make an additional 231 townships eligible for an additional $675,000 in state aid."

Townships in Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties would receive an additional $15,400 in local government aid under the proposal, he added.

Sparby is confident that the bill will receive an early hearing. "I've been assured by the chairman of the state-local fiscal affairs subcommittee that the bill will get a hearing, possibly as early as January," he said. The bill is supported by the Minnesota Association of Townships.

Thorp Loan In New Location

Thorp Loan and Thrift office previously located at 204 Main av. N. has been moved to 304 Third st. E. in Thief River Falls, according to Ron Stradtman, branch manager.

Stradtman said the move was made "to acquire better facilities and a more central location to better serve our customers."

Energy Aid Can Be Applied For

Northwest Community Action will be taking energy assistance applications by appointment only at local intake sites during December. Appointments can be made in East Marshall county between 8 a.m. and noon on Mondays, by calling Karen Skadsem at 222-3309. Applications for energy assistance will be taken until May 31.

committee were John Erickson, rural Red Lake Falls; Evelyn Treitline and Everett Flesche, St. Hilaire; Charles Naplin, Clyde Christensen, Dr. Richard Heinrichs, Dr. Scott Bentson, Tarry Edington, Cecil Anderson, Ev Ault, Jim Hallamek, Dick Kruta, Dr. John Seaverson and Tony Madunich, all of Thief River Falls. Also named was the chamber of commerce education committee.

Named to the excellence in education committee was Gretchen Beito, Laurie Anderson, Melvine Dagg, Raymond Nelson, Larry Mc Dowell, Paul Bortnem and Diane Krepp of Thief River Falls and Earl Hoefert of St. Hilaire. On the extra-curricular subcommittee are Diane Puetz, Irvin Wilson and Ken Wiebolt.

Letter from Thief River Falls superintendent of utilities John T. Anderson was presented to the board and showed test results of PCBs in three transformers at Lincoln and one of three at Franklin. Tests showed all to be above the 50 parts per million currently allowed. The board will be updated as information is received on this matter.

Bids were requested on two school buses, one of which is to be used as an activity bus. It is expected that the activity transportation budget can be reduced by use of the specially-equipped bus.

Following discussion with business manager Harry Nelson, the 1983-84 K-12 tentative revenue budget was adjusted from $7,907,058 to $8,540,134 and the expenditure budget from $7,566,107 to $8,206,710.

Employment approved included Roger Erickson, regular route bus driver; Patricia Heaton, kitchen helper at Northrop; Shelva Johnson and Dolly Hallstrom, AVTI cosmetology instructors for 40 to 45 days, respectively; and Betty Walton as AVTI sales and marketing instructor, two hours per day for 124 days.

Extra-curricular assignments approved included Jay Forney, head boys swimming coach; Paula Meyers, sixth grade girls basketball coach; Pam Carlson, Franklin middle school yearbook advisor; and Patricia Johnson, fall play.

Instructors approved for the ExCEL program were Frank Womack, drama; Ruth Jenny, Government and law; Scott Hetherington, science; Penny and James Langland, MDs, medical science; Walt Redinger and Jim Kotz, public speaking; and Wendy Easton, choreography.

Resignation of Madeline Stadum, clerical aide at Washington, was accepted effective December 31.

December 12 and 26 regular meetings of the board were canceled and the next meeting scheduled for December 20 at 7 a.m. in the board room.

Nominate Four For Board Of T.R.F. Chamber

Four members of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce have been named by the nominating committee as candidates for election to the board of directors for three-year terms. Nominated are Roger Shaffer, Westside Motors; Mike Woods, Noper's Motel; Ken Mehrkens, Mehrkens Farms; and Russ Christianson, Moser, Christianson & Co., CPAs.

Any member of the chamber may now nominate any other member in good standing by December 16 by notifying the chamber of commerce office by mail. Any such nominee, if qualified and willing to serve, would be placed on a ballot with the nominees listed.

If no additional nominees are submitted within the 10-day period, the nominees will be considered elected to three-year terms as directors. Stan Upham is currently president of the chamber of commerce.

BSU Features Clay Artist In December

Talley gallery of Bemidji State university (BSU) is currently featuring an exhibit of new works in clay by BSU alumnus Jeff Oestreich. Exhibit will run through December 16 and may be viewed from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, in the education-art building on the BSU campus.

Demonstrations by the nationally known artist will be December 15, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. in the Crying Wolf room of the C.V. Hobson Memorial union. Slide and talk show will be presented in the Talley gallery from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. also on Dec. 15, in which Oestreich will speak on the subject of the working pottery. Oestreich graduated from BSU in 1969.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS which add to the festive mood on the streets of Thief River Falls might be taken for granted by some people, but for employees of the city utilities department, they represent part of the electrical system which requires periodic maintenance. Apprentice lineman Ted Schmitz was caught by the Times camera as he changed some burned out lightbulbs, using a bucket-truck to reach decorative lamps in front of city auditorium on Tuesday. Decorations are purchased by the Chamber of Commerce, with installation and maintenance provided by the city. Superintendent of utilities John T. Anderson estimated that the 69 decorated poles and overhead banners consumed less than 30 cents worth of electricity per hour. Replacement light bulbs, however, cost over $100, according to the chamber of commerce office.

Diane Paulson Given Grant For Education

Diane Paulson of Goodridge is the recipient of the first recruitment grant presented by Alpha Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma society international in Thief River Falls.

The award was announced at the December meeting of the chapter at the home of Mrs. Orville (Ardis) Botner by Mrs. Ray (Clarice) Bren, chapter professional affairs chairman.

Recruitment grants are offered by the society to persons who are training for teaching. A sophomore at Northland community college, Paulson is majoring in elementary education and plans to continue her training at Bemidji state university next year.

Paulson is a 1974 graduate of Goodridge high school, has operated a day care center for children and has been active in Bible and Sunday school work. She has two children in elementary school.

Mrs. Beverly Kays of Thief River Falls was a recipient of a Tau State recruitment grant in 1979.

Officers of Alpha Phi chapter, chartered in 1979, include Mrs. Darwin (Mary) Boutlette, president; Mrs. Orville (Ardis) Botner, first vice president; Mrs. Kermit (Dorothy) Hanson, second vice president; Mrs. Patricia Johnson, recording secretary, all of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Sheldon (Eldora) Knutson, Goodridge, treasurer; and Grace McManus, Oklee, corresponding secretary.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the article in the Times on the county fair. How they can not hold another fair if the county board does not give them another $5,000 over the $9,000 they are going to get?

I wonder how many remember how the fair was started. The old fair association went through bankruptcy and a new board was formed and started with nothing. Shares were sold at that time too, but all of the money we got in the first years went to the lawyer.

I know times have changed in the last 12 years since I was on the board, but I think you could cut corners when you haven't the money to spend, like $2,600 for administrative expense. Why don't you break that down? I don't think that many people have to go to the state convention when you haven't the money. Cut this by $2,000.

Meals for workers are budgeted at $1,200. Cut this $800. We used to get a $2 dinner at the 4-H stand each day of the fair. Debt retirement is listed at $200. According to the report you have no debts; there would be another $200.

And then there is advertising and promotion, $5,000. When you haven't the money you could cut $2,000 from that amount.

If you have to cut premiums back, cut them back $1,050. You say you are short $6,050. With these cuts you would have the money and maybe have a better fair with everyone working to make it a good fair.

Ask some of the people that started this fair with nothing, like Si and Marge Hanson, Ray Oen, Wilbur Hallstrom, Dale Svendsgaard and I could go on; people that worked to get this fair started. We had a big debt to pay off, too, but didn't spend when we didn't have the money to spend.

I think the county board has helped the fair all they can. You wouldn't have a fair today if it wasn't for the county board.

Wheat Grower Meeting Set For Dec. 12-13

Mother Nature and Uncle Sam will once again be playing major roles in the lives of wheat producers during the coming year and Minnesota wheat growers will have the opportunity to learn more about both these, and other issues, during the upcoming annual meeting of the Minnesota association of wheat growers scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at the Regency Inn and conference center in Moorhead. Meeting is open to all wheat growers.

Convention has been planned to offer information on marketing, transportation, and legislative issues, which are up-to-the-minute, to help Minnesota wheat growers continue to improve their operations.

Monday at 1:30 p.m., will be the business session of the association, including reports, the development of resolutions, and the election of officers for 1984. Also, different from previous conventions, a women's program has been planned for Monday afternoon with Nancy Krogh of Farmers Grain and Livestock in East Grand Forks discussing the role of farm women in grain marketing, and Karen Seeger, a Red Lake Falls farm wife, presenting "Heaven's Harmony" — discovering your natural beauty through color.

Program for Tuesday, at 9:30 a.m., has been designed as a general information forum to cover a number of topics important to area wheat producers. Issues include a discussion on Mother Nature's affect on crops and production in 1984 as projected by Gail Martell of E.F. Hutton. Martell is a meteorologist who translates weather data into the meaningful projections of production in both exporting and importing countries that ultimately determine up or down movements in the market.

Also, Bruce R. "Randy" Weber, wheat program specialist for the agricultural stabilization and conservation service in Washington, will examine Uncle Sam's effect on crops and commodity prices in 1984 with a discussion of the 1984 farm program as announced; possible changes, if any, that may be planned for 1984; and what can be expected in the future with respect to farm programs.

Along with weather and farm programs, Jim Parker, of the U.S.D.A.'s foreign agricultural service, will present a long-term view of export opportunities and some of the problems that will have to be resolved in order for the United States to regain the market share it has lost in recent years.

Wheat growers meeting will also address present and future agriculture policy. Jim Nichols, Minnesota's commissioner of agriculture will discuss Minnesota's agricultural agenda, and national association of wheat growers president, Don Loeslie, will discuss issues on the national level.

Concerns about the St. Lawrence Seaway will be addressed by Bob Kraft, director of plans and policy development for the St. Lawrence Seaway development corporation in Washington, and Minnesota congressman Arlan Stangeland.

Capping off the annual meeting will be banquet speaker, Orion Samuelson, agriculture director for WGN-TV in Chicago, and host of the syndicated "U.S. Farm Report." Free travel package prizes, including hotel accommodations and registration fees, for members of the Minnesota wheat growers to attend the national association of wheat growers convention in Denver, Colo., will also be awarded at the banquet, as well as other very nice prizes.

Beef Cattle Day Slated For Dec. 14

Beef cattle producers from the Red River Valley area are invited to hear the research reports at the annual beef cattle day scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 14, in the ag research center auditorium of the Northwest experiment station, Crookston.

Day will begin with registration and coffee at 9:30 a.m. A printed bulletin with all of this year's beef research reports will be available for $2. Lunch will be available at the college dining hall at 12:30 p.m.

Main topics to be discussed will be: "Using High Moisture Ear Corn in Feedlot Diets"; "Total Farm Evaluation of Corn Silage Feeding"; "Current Developments in the Meat Industry"; "Feeding Holstein Steers"; "Oatlage and Barlage for Growing Beef Calves" and "Rumensin and Bovatec for the Control of Feedlot Bloat."

A question and answer session follows the speakers. Beef cattle day provides beef producers, their bankers, vo ag instructors, county extension workers and others interested an update on research for the beef industry.

Come Home for Christmas

If you are a Catholic who has stopped going to church, this invitation is for you.

Whether you have been angered, hurt, bored, or just taking a sabbatical, we would like to invite you home for Christmas. Christmas is a time for family gatherings, reunions, and peace. St. Bernard's Catholic Community misses you and needs you.

Twenty years have passed since the opening of the Second Vatican Council in 1962. The upheaval in the Church during those years has knocked alot of us on our ears. There has been plenty of head bumping and limping away. The media has feasted on "the conflicts and changes in the Church." Our ups and downs become a giant Soap Opera.

But family remains family. And the loss of any member, for whatever reason, diminishes and saddens everyone.

Your life, your experience, even your anger and hurt are important to us. You can help us become more understanding and compassionate followers of Christ. We need you to become what He is calling us to be.

We cannot turn the clock back or pretend things will be what they once were. What family hasn't changed in the last twenty years? We cannot promise that everyone will agree on everything. What family does? We cannot even say there won't be more turbulance up ahead? Who can?

But we can say that we still find Christ and his love in the community of the Church, the Scriptures, and the Eucharist. And we believe you can too.

We can also say that as far as we are concerned the Church is still your home and we are still your family. And we would like you to feel that way too.

We would like to begin again by simply listening to you. Please feel free to call either Fr. Stan Bourassa or Fr. Dave Super at the parish rectory, 681-3571.

We hope you will think about and pray about this invitation. Whatever you decide, please join us at one of our Christmas Masses to worship and celebrate together on that great feast of homecoming and family joy.

The CHRISTMAS MASS SCHEDULE is as follows:
10:00 p.m. .... Saturday, December 24
8:00 a.m. .... Sunday, December 25
10:00 a.m. .... Sunday, December 25
11:30 a.m. .... Sunday, December 25

HEATING FRAGMENTS of oil shale in a glass tube, student Aaron Tofte works on an experiment in the science class offered through the School District 564 ExCEL program. As the shale was heated, it released gas which was transferred through the tube into the flask at right. Sufficient quantities of gas were created to be lighted as they escaped from the glass tube in the top of the flask. Additional laboratory science classes will be offered in the program beginning early in January.

INSTRUCTOR Faye Rouland distributes puzzle sheets to students in her fourth and fifth grade typing class while student Theresa Johnson concentrates on her instruction book. Typing is offered to selected students in grades four through eight as part of the ExCEL program offered in School District 564. Typing classes are conducted after the regular school day in the school district service center typing department.

Farm Income Drops In MN. During 1982

Preliminary estimates reveal that Minnesota's total net farm income in 1982 dropped to the lowest level in six years at $1 billion, 87.1 million, according to agriculture commissioner Jim Nichols. That was a one year drop of $411.6 million, or a 27.5 per cent decline.

About $594 million of that total net farm income estimate was in actual cash, Commissioner Nichols noted.

Estimate also revealed how important the federal farm program is in cushioning agriculture against an even more devastating economic disaster than was experienced last year.

"Had it not been for about $632 million in federal price support loans and another $183 million in government farm program incentive and cooperator payments, Minnesota agriculture last year would have experienced a $220 million deficit in actual farm cash flow.

"Again record farm production expenses last year of $6.3 billion exceeded the $6.04 billion in farm marketing cash receipts plus the $78.2 million that Minnesota farmers earned by performing agricultural services for others," he pointed out.

Non-money income of $591.8 million representing the value of farm family housing and on farm consumption of food and fiber commodities produced on the farm, accounted for 54.4 per cent of the estimated total net Minnesota farm income for 1982.

While the increase in overall farm production expenses was only 2.2 per cent higher than in 1981, the smallest increase in at least a decade, debt service, hired labor and miscellaneous farm service costs continued to climb at double digit rates.

Interest on long term farm mortgage debt cost Minnesota farmers $525.6 million last year, a one year 18 per cent climb. Short term interest and miscellaneous farm service expenses totaling $1.37 billion, are up 15 per cent. Labor costs of $247.5 million were 19 per cent higher than in 1981.

SBA Announces Loan Approvals For Minnesota

Celso C. Moreno, district director of the Minnesota district office of the small business administration, announced recently that $6,399,500 in SBA guaranteed loans had been approved for 33 Minnesota companies; and $262,000 had been approved in economic development loans for three Minnesota companies in the month of October. Projected additional employment created as a result of these loans is 717 jobs.

Direct management assistance was provided to 45 Minnesota firms through the small business administration's in-house counselors or through support groups like the service corps of retired executives (SCORE), the small business development centers, and the 12 colleges participating in the small business institute program.

One of the loans, amounting to $50,000, was made to a minority-owned firm, making the total minority component of the October portfolio two per cent of the total loans. Sixty-nine loans were paid in full during the month of October.

History Group Annual Meet Next Thursday

Annual meeting of the Pennington county historical society will be conducted Thursday, December 15, at 8 p.m. in the meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Election of directors and officers of the organization will take place, as well as presentation of reports, a short program and serving of lunch. All members of the society and others interested in county history are encouraged to be in attendance at the meeting.

Partial Moon Eclipse Will Occur Dec. 19

Moon, shadows and three planets dance through the dark December skies, ushering the icy winter.

Partial eclipse of the moon will occur December 19 as it passes through part of earth's shadow created by the sun shining behind our planet. In a total lunar eclipse the full moon's entire face is covered by the shadow, just slightly darkening its southern edge. Called a penumbral eclipse, it will peak at 7:49 p.m.

Several planets will be morning "stars" in December. For the first 10 or 12 days of the month, three should be visible before dawn. Look for Saturn low in the southeast sky just above the star Alpha Librae, which also is known by its original Arabic name Zubenelgenubi. Saturn now is titled to reveal its rings beautifully to starwatchers with binoculars. Venus, the brightest object in the predawn sky, is above and to the right of Saturn. The star Spica is also in this area of sky but appears dimmer than Venus. Mars shines reddish even farther above and to the right of Venus.

Two of these neighboring planets, Venus and Saturn, will move even closer together on Dec. 17 in the early morning. Called a close conjunction, this is an artifact of Earth's position in its orbit; Venus and Saturn actually are moving along their normal, widely separated orbits around the sun.

At dawn on Dec. 29, the moon also will move close to Saturn, appearing to swallow it in an event called an occultation. Beginning at 7:40 a.m., the moon, a foreground object from our perspective on earth will slide in front of Saturn, which actually is vastly larger but much farther away. This moment is called the immersion, the beginning of the occulation or blocking. Saturn will remain hidden for about an hour, though its reappearance will not be visible, since the sunlight of morning will obliterate its light.

Other occultations of planets by the moon, including another of Saturn and ones of Mercury, Venus and even Uranus, occur this December, but will not be visible from Minnesota because our part of the world is not exactly aligned with the moon at those times.

Skies are dark during so much of December — blooming with stars for both morning and night star-watching — because the Northern Hemisphere is tilted far away from the sun in this stretch of earth's yearly trip around our star. As a result, the sun appears to make a daily path only from far south of east to far south of west across our skies; this shallow parabola takes a short time to traverse — only nine hours and 20 minutes over central Minnesota on the winter solstice, the shortest day of the year. Farther north, the days are even shorter now, with the North Pole area receiving no slant of sunlight in winter at all; farther south the days are longer in sunlight hours.

Areas near the poles have the drama of differences, but at the equator, day and night are of essentially equal length all summer and all winter. They have no long summer days to savor or short winter afternoons to endure. The poet Emily Dickinson described winter in New England this way: "There's a certain slant of light, winter afternoons — that oppresses, like the heft of cathedral tunes."

This year, the solstice is Dec. 22; and from that day the tilt of the northern hemisphere begins to moderate, shrinking the night and stretching the sunlight until the summer solstice in June.

Late December is not the depth of winter's cold, even though sunlight is now glancing off the thick atmosphere above the northern hemisphere like a flat stone off a pond's surface. The strongest cold takes longer to settle in because earth's oceans and land masses still hold some summer heat. This reservoir helps warm the world until it too dissipates, and the north grows its coldest. Depending upon how hot the summer is, the coldest time of the year comes anywhere from mid-January to mid-February.

Children And Separation To Be Discussed

Theme of the "footsteps" program for the week of December 12 is "Love Me and Leave Me." Discussion will focus on making separations easier. For children, learning to say good-bye is one of the most difficult adjustments they have to make. How the first separations are handled is of utmost importance.

Footsteps is a parenting program sponsored by community education which involves video tape presentations followed by group discussions. Tapes are broadcast over KTRF cable channel three at 8:30 p.m. each Monday and are shown again at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays in room 114 at the AVTI. Group discussion led by Jan Kemper is held from 8 to 9 p.m. following the tape presentation.

Parents may attend any of the sessions at no charge. Preregistration is required and can be done by calling adult education at 681-6424 before 2 p.m. each Tuesday. Next session will be held January 3 after the holidays.

CPLT Offers Craft Workshop For Children

Children and parents learning together (CPLT) is offering a Christmas crafts workshop for children ages three up to kindergarten and their parents. Participants will make crafts that can be used as tree ornaments, package decorations or gifts. Each item costs from 50 cents to $1.

The sessions will be Thursday, 12:30 to 2 p.m. and Monday 10 to 11:30 a.m. at Knox school.

Pre-registration is required. Call 681-2700, extension 283 to register or for more information.

LEC Reports 19 Cases Dec. 6th

Law enforcement center report dated Tuesday, December 6, listed 13 cases investigated by Thief River Falls police department and six cases investigated by Pennington county sheriff's department by reporting date.

Cases handled by Thief River Falls police department included the following:

November 25 — Mrs. Gordon Anderson, Thief River Falls, reported that several pills, value $15, had been stolen from a prescription bottle in her home, sometime between 4:30 and 10:30 p.m. the previous day. Case is under investigation.

November 29 — Katherine Englund, Thief River Falls, reported that her vehicle had apparently been struck by another vehicle while it was parked at the Best Western Inn, causing approximately $350 damage.

November 30 — Lori Swanson, Thief River Falls, reported that the windshield on her car had been smashed while it was parked at the Best Western Inn, causing approximately $200 damage.

December 1 — Lincoln high school janitor reported observing two male juveniles who broke a window and fled the scene. Damage was estimated at $15. Case is under investigation.

December 2 — Mauri Lyn Torgerson, Thief River Falls, was driving east on Hughes Street, and Ronald Northrup, Thief River Falls was driving south on Crocker Avenue when they collided at about 3:12 p.m. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to each vehicle.

December 2 — Jean Tweten, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Greenwood Street at 1:28 p.m. when Mathody Slominski, RFD, Ardoch, ND, slid through a stop sign while driving south on Tindolph Avenue, resulting in a collision. Damages were estimated at $2,500 to the Tweten car and $700 to the Slominski car. Nona Zuiz, Roseau, a passenger in the Tweten car, was taken by ambulance to Northwestern hospital, where she was held for observation of possible head injuries until December 4.

December 3 — Ronald Bunker, Thief River Falls, was driving north on Knight Avenue, and William Kratzer, Charleston Heights, SC, was driving west on Tenth Street when they collided at about 2:04 p.m. Damages were estimated at $400 to the Kratzer car and $200 to the Bunker car. Kratzer received a bump on the head.

December 4 — Lucilla Meyers, Goodridge, was driving south on Arnold Avenue and Gary Hanway, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Eighth Street when they collided at about 1:15 p.m. Damages were estimated at $750 to the Meyers car and $650 to the Hanway pickup.

December 4 — Melinda Treitline, Thief River Falls, reported that a black and green Arctic Kitty Cat snowmobile, value $400, had been stolen from their lot at Greendale Manor, sometime after November 29.

December 4 — Thief River Falls resident reported that a house had apparently been entered by breaking a chain lock sometime during the previous night. Nothing was reported missing. Case is under investigation.

December 5 — Donna Discenza, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Third Street at about 8 a.m. when she skidded sideways on the bridge, and Catherine Ripley, also of Thief River Falls, skidded into her. Damages were estimated at $800 to the Discenza vehicle and $400 to the Ripley vehicle. Barb Johnson, a passenger in the Discenza car, received a bump on the head.

December 5 — Mervin Prestebak, Route 3, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Third Street at about 2:04 p.m. and was struck from behind by Stephan Stark, Grafton, ND, when Prestebak slowed suddenly to avoid striking the rear of a vehicle making a turn in front of him. Damages were estimated at $1,200 to the Stark car and $300 to the Prestebak pickup.

December 6 — Russell Warren, White Earth, was driving east in the 7-11 store parking lot and struck the building, causing approximately $1,000 damage to the west wall. Warren's van sustained approximately $250 damage.

Cases handled by the Pennington county sheriff's department included the following:

November 15 — Burglary of the Cenex fertilizer plant in Thief River Falls was reported, with entry apparently gained by breaking a window. Stolen were a paint sprayer and lawn mower, value $1,584. A vehicle containing the stolen merchandise was later found in a ditch near Fourtown. Case is under investigation.

November 19 — Mailboxes in the Goodridge area, belonging to Elmer Feragen, Jerald Olson, Ernest Race and LeRoy Johnson, were reported to have been removed and smashed, apparently in a deliberate manner. Case is under investigation.

November 25 — Resident of Star township reported that items including a new hot water heater, chainsaw, toolboxes and other equipment, approximate value $1,055, had been stolen from several buildings at his home while he was away. Case is under investigation.

November 29 — Wyandotte township resident reported that two items of antique furniture, value unknown, had been stolen. Case is under investigation.

December 3 — Kristine Sorteberg, Route 3, Thief River Falls, reported that her vehicle had apparently been struck while it was parked at the Lantern restaurant, causing approximately $250 damage to the right rear quarter panel.

December 4 — Report was received at 1:22 a.m. that a silver 1973 Mercury Mark IV, license number LJS 487, had been stolen from the parking lot at the Trapper and Trader in Goodridge. Owner of the car, Ronald Melby of Thief River Falls, reported that he had started the car at about 1 a.m. and left it running, discovering the theft when he went back outside at 1:20. Vehicle is still missing.

Oak Hills Sets Holiday Fest

Oak Hills Bible institute will present its annual Christmas festival this weekend, with two similar performances at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday on the campus located one-half mile south of the Bemidji bypass on highway 71 and two miles west on Oak Hills Road.

No admission fee will be charged for the program which will include the cantata "Emmanuel," by Eugene Butler, sung by the 65 voice festival chorus; an original one-act play, "Once Upon a Christmas Carol", performed by Clean Slate, a student drama group; and performances by both brass and vocal ensembles. Both programs are open to the public.

Pennington Has An Estimated 1,860 Veterans

An estimated 525,000 veterans live in Minnesota, according to the Veterans administration office in St. Paul. Counties with the largest number of veterans were Hennepin, with 131,810, and Ramsey, with 60,620.

This and other information appears in a county-by-county breakdown of estimated veteran population throughout the nation as of March 31, according to Morris Nooder Jr., director of the VA regional office and insurance center at Fort Snelling.

Six other counties in the state have more than 10,000 veterans. They are St. Louis, 31,070; Aonka, 27,390; Dakota, 26,940; Washington, 15,500; Stearns, 12,330, and Olmsted, 11,870. Pennington county has an estimated 1,860 veterans, Marshall county 1,410; Red Lake 640, Roseau 1,400; Polk 3,970 and Beltrami 3,810.

The VA official said that, nationally, 28,304,000 servicemen and women are in civilian life. An estimated 158,000 Minnesota veterans had been in service during the Vietnam-era (Aug. 5, 1964 to May 7, 1975). Of these, 3,000 also served during the Korean conflict, he said. World War II veterans made up the largest group of veterans in the state, with an estimated 186,000. Of the 94,000 Korean conflict veterans in the state, 13,000 also served in World War II.

An estimated 63,000 Minnesota veterans saw military service only between the Korean conflict and the Vietnam-era (Feb. 1, 1955-Aug. 4, 1964). Approximately 8,000 World War I veterans live in the state. There are no known Spanish-American War veterans living in Minnesota. Nationally, 39 Spanish-American War veterans were living as of November 9.

Veterans with questions about their VA benefits were urged to contact the VA regional office and insurance center at Fort Snelling, veterans' service organization representatives or their county veterans service officer. The VA's toll-free telephone numbers for different areas of the state can be obtained from the telephone directory.

New Manager Is Named For Prairie Public TV

Prairie Public Television, Inc., has named Larry White as television manager for the six-station public television network. As television manager, White's responsibilities include buying and scheduling programs from national sources, developing local television productions, and managing PPTV's television staff.

Northmen, Trojans Renew Rivalry

Northland community college vs. University of Minnesota-Crookston rivalry will be renewed tonight (Wednesday) when the Northmen and Trojans open their 1983-84 Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) hockey season with a 7:30 p.m. duel at the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Normally Northland and UMC wouldn't be meeting until they began a middle-of-the-season month-long series of Wednesday night games. But coaches on both sides asked for a break in the demanding schedules that always featured two-game weekend series against the rest of the MCCC, plus the mid-week area encounter.

Defending state champion UMC will be the heavy favorite going into tonight's game against a Northland team that is short of proven hockey talent. The Northmen have some fine hockey players, but may not have the three-line depth needed to challenge teams like UMC.

Northland won the last meeting between the two rivals, 6-4, last winter, but UMC has won 19 of the last 24 match-ups.

Bemidji Eyes North Sub-Region 8 Title

Featuring a veteran roster that includes just two players on the 15-man squad under the six-foot mark, Bemidji expects to be a North Sub-Region 8AA high school basketball contender this winter.

In the 1983-84 season-opener for both teams, Bemidji handled two-time defending North Sub-Region 8AA winner Detroit Lakes 64-51 as senior Jeff Leyendecker scored 23 points and junior Joe Edlund had 12.

"Bemidji is a big, physical and talented basketball team," reported John Erickson, head coach of the Lakers, who will host Thief River Falls Saturday. "They really pounded us on the offensive board and the fact we were smaller and lacked the experience allowed them to dominate in that type of situation."

Bemidji had a 43-23 rebound advantage, and used its strength on the boards to score a number of easy baskets in the fast-break situations.

John Berglund, a 6-2 junior making his varsity debut, led Detroit Lakes with 22 points. The Lakers face Crosby-Ironton Friday before playing the Prowlers.

"Its been a long-dry spell for the Jacks' cagers since Kevin Bohlig, Rob Skeim, Jim Jensen and Co. led them to the 1978 state tournament," reports Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer. "Since then the Jacks have had only one winning season, finishing 12-8 in 1981. They entertained hopes of going back over .500 last winter, but the loss of two regulars for much or all of the year killed off those chances and Bemidji dropped its first tournament start to Fergus Falls to end at 9-10. But while the varsity was struggling, a fine band of sophomores was roaring through a 16-2 winter, even without one of its members who spent the entire winter on the varsity, and two others who spent much of the year there as well. This year, both missing seniors are back and will combine with three classmates and 10 juniors to form one of the Jack's strongest potential squads in many years."

Bemidji will field one of its tallest teams since the day of Jensen and Brad Goodwin, added Carrington, with Scott Kerick going 6-7, Rod Ames 6-5, Leyendecker 6-4 and Keith Bjella 6-3.

Thief River Falls will wait until Fri., Jan. 6, to host Bemidji.

Miscellaneous

+Don Smith, a 43-point scorer on the Bemidji high school hockey team last winter, is a recent addition to the Austin Mavericks' roster in the United States Junior Hockey League after playing with the University of Minnesota-Duluth junior varsity through the early season. He's now attending Austin community college. That gives the Mavericks, 16-4 through their first 20 games, four 1983 Bemidji graduates on their roster, including last year's high-scoring Lumberjacks' first line intact with Don Smith, Ron Smith and Tim Webb, along with Wade Amundson. The Smith line had 92 points for the Lumberjacks last year.

+ High school basketball games are being played at a quicker pace than in the past, points out Ralph Anderson of the Becker County Record in Detroit Lakes, and the reason is the new rule allowing a team only two time-outs per half, and the time-outs are not cumulative. In the past, a team was allowed five time-outs per game, and most coaches "banked" a large number of those time-outs for the final moments when catch-up methods were often employed. The new rule makes for a much faster played contest. It also discourages coaches from calling an early time-out to help stop an offensive burst by the other team, a tactic that would often help change the tempo of the game in the past.

Prowlers Lose To Rams 52-44 In Basketball Season Opener

Thief River Falls shot just 33 per cent from the field; gave up 21 offensive rebounds; and turned the ball over 21 times Tuesday leading to a 52-44 season-opening high school basketball loss at Roseau.

"We didn't play up to our capabilities," said Thief River Falls coach Tom Hunt. "It was a combination of our poor shooting percentage, rebounds and turnovers. We just couldn't get anything going all night."

It was a 7-7 tie after one quarter, with Roseau, going ahead 22-21 at halftime and leading 33-29 after three quarters.

Roseau, the preseason North Border Conference favorites, rebounded from a surprising 44-37 season-opening loss to Middle River last Friday behind the inside play of 6-2 Gregg Welin and 6-4 Neal Feldman, a pair of seniors who combined for 37 points and a bundle of rebounds. Welin finished with 21 points and Feldman had 16 before they both fouled out.

Jeff Langan, making his basketball debut for the Prowlers as a transfer student from Goodridge, led Thief River Falls with 12 points.

Thief River Falls was 18-for-53 from the field (33 per cent) and 8-for-19 at the free throw line (42 per cent). Roseau was 15-for-42 from the floor (36-for-42), but a busy 22-for-39 from the free throw line (56 per cent).

"Our fouls were way too high," mentioned Hunt, "and I attribute that to being in poor defensive position. That was part of our problem rebounding, too."

Roseau finished with a 45-34 rebound advantage. The Rams had 21 offensive rebounds and 24 on the defensive boards. The Prowlers had 16 offensive rebounds and 18 on defense. The Prowlers topped the turnover charts 21-19.

"We were effective getting the ball downcourt," reported Hunt, "but we didn't finish off the fast break. We didn't take advantage of the opportunities Roseau presented to us."

Thief River Falls faces Region 8AA competition in the Prowlers' next two starts, visiting Detroit Lakes Saturday and hosting Moorhead Fri., Dec. 16, in their home opener.

Huskies Lose Basketball Opener Tuesday, 71-65

Goodridge fell behind 24-10 in the first quarter and was never able to overcome that deficit Tuesday as the mistake-prone Huskies lost their 1983-84 high school basketball season opener to Clearbrook 71-65.

It was the head coaching debut of Dan Brinkman, who moved up from an assistant position to succeed Rick Nelson as Goodridge mentor this winter.

"We just turned the ball over way too many times," explained Brinkman, looking at the game's statistics that had the Huskies down for 24 turnovers. "That was a big part of the problem. We would have won if we wouldn't have turned the ball over so many times."

Goodridge trailed 41-31 at halftime but battled back to within 55-51 at the end of the third quarter and actually had a chance to tie the game in the fourth quarter before losing ground again.

Scott Groven of the Huskies was the game's high scorer with 23 points. "He had an excellent game," reported Brinkman, who was also happy with the play turned in by Ross Parnow and Mike Scheef. John Ostby led a balanced Clearbrook attack with 19 points.

Goodridge had a good shooting night, 26-for-56 from the field (46 per cent) and 13-for-16 from the free throw line (81 per cent). Clearbrook was 28-for-64 from the field (44 per cent) and 15-for-27 from the line (56 per cent). Clearbrook had a slight 31-29 rebound edge.

The Huskies were forced to play without Tim Bakken, a starting forward, who may be lost for the rest of the season with torn ligaments in his knee.

Goodridge will be back on its home court Friday, hosting Climax. Elsewhere that night, Marshall County Central will open its season at Badger, 1-0 Middle River will be at Lake of the Woods, 0-1 Grygla will be at Roseau and 1-0 Plummer will host Alvarado.

Weekend Sports Events To Feature Road Games

There's a great deal of sports activity planned for Lincoln high school and Northland community college teams this weekend, but most of the action will be on the road.

Games in Thief River Falls will take place in the Northland gym where basketball doubleheaders will be played Friday and Saturday against Red River community college of Winnipeg. Coach Chet Engelmen's Northmen will play Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 12-noon. Coach Deb Jacobson's Northwomen will be on the court Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday afternoon at 2. Both teams are 2-1 after season-opening play in the Red River invitational last weekend at Winnipeg where the Northmen finished second and the Northwomen third in their respective men's and women's divisions for the eight-team field.

Northland hockey team, scheduled to open its 1983-84 season tonight (Monday) with a 7:30 p.m. game against the University of Minnesota-Crookston in the Thief River Falls sports arena, will be in Virginia this weekend for a Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) two-game series against Mesabi. Games will be played Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m.

Lincoln teams will be on the road Saturday.

Coach Tom Schafer's girls' basketball team will be in Roseau for an 8 p.m. game. The Prowlers will be trying to extend their season-opening record against area Class A competition to 3-0 after earlier beating Marshall County Central 39-38 and Tri-County 49-32.

Lincoln boys' basketball team, after opening the season last night (Tuesday) at Roseau, will be in Detroit Lakes Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. game against the defending North Sub-Region 8AA champion Lakers. The Prowlers' home opener will be played the following week, Fri., Dec. 16, when Moorhead visits Thief River Falls.

Also on the road Saturday will be the Lincoln hockey team. The Prowlers, 9-4 losers to Grand Forks Central in the sports arena over the weekend to start the year, will be at Fergus Falls for an early-season 7:30 p.m. showdown against the Otters. Both teams are expected to challenge Roseau for the Section 8 title this winter.

Thief River Falls VFW Bantam A team saw its record fall to 0-2 with an 8-1 weekend loss at home to Crookston. Thief River Falls' lone goal was scored in the second period by Steve McGann, assisted by Jeff Grand and Troy Hanestad. Thief River Falls goalie Kraig Anderson had 27 saves.

In Bemidji, coach Scott Bergland's Bantam B team played to a 4-4 overtime tie Sunday. Bemidji scored the game's first two goals before Thief River Falls tied it on goals by Bret Haugen and Shoan Nelson. Jason Lindquist and Chris Johnson also scored Thief River Falls. Goalie Kent Holmes had 11 saves for Thief River Falls, now 0-1-1.

Thief River Falls Eagles Pee-Wee A team blasted defending state champion Crookston 13-1 Saturday. Thief River Falls had 45 shots on goal, while Crookston was held to just 11, and got its lone goal on a penalty shot. Wade Jorde led the winners with three goals and an assist, while Aaron Janisch, John Seaverson, Jeff Novak and Rick Looker each tallied twice for Thief River Falls, now 2-0 for the year.

Coach Dale Wennberg's Pee-Wee B team split a pair of road games on the weekend. In Roseau, Roger Anderson scored the game's first goal, but Roseau scored the next four on the way to a 4-1 league victory. Thief River Falls goalie Todd Stewart had 13 saves. In Bemidji, Blake Tangquist's third period goal gave Thief River Falls an exciting 5-4 victory. Thief River Falls led 4-1 in the second period on a pair of goals by Kevin Holmes and single tallies by Todd Mack and Jerod Kolden before Bemidji scored three straight goals to tie it. Goalie Karl Heinrichs had eight saves for the winners, now 2-1.

Area Girls High School Basketball . . .

Marshall County Central Is Winner Over Warroad

A good blend of offense and defense produced an easy 68-32 Marshall County Central win over Warroad Monday in a girls high school basketball game played at Newfolden.

"I was really pleased with the entire team for the defensive effort," mentioned Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We played some really good defense."

Ahead only 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, the Nordics rolled to a 25-9 halftime lead and enjoyed a 46-19 third quarter cushion.

Freshman Jodi Foss scored 17 points for the winners, with Shelly Anderson getting 12 and Nancy Nelson 10. Robin Marvin had a game-high 19 points for Warroad, but many of those came when the game was already decided. Foss and Jodi Nelson shut her down defensively throughout most of the game to receive post-game praise from Mjelde.

Marshall County Central shot 45 per cent from the field (30-for-67) and 53 per cent from the free throw line (8-for-15). Warroad shot only 21 per cent from the field (12-for-56) and 35 per cent at the line (8-for-23). The Warriors were just 2-for-22 from the floor in the first half.

Getting 17 offensive rebounds in the process, Marshall County Central wound up with a 39-17 advantage on the boards. Anderson and Becky Knutson each had 11 rebounds. Warroad topped the turnover charts 26-19.

"We're very pleased with everybody," added Mjelde, whose praise for the Nordics' defense was complemented by kind words for the offense, too. "We ran the fast break like it's supposed to be run," he said.

Marshall County Central, 1-1 after its home court and North Border Conference opener, will host Badger Thursday.

Jody Pahlen scored 24 points and grabbed 16 rebounds Tuesday as Plummer defeated Red Lake Falls 54-34.

Visiting Cardinals won despite missing 51 shots. They were 19-for-70 from the field for the game (27 per cent). Host Red Lake Falls didn't fare much better, going 14-for-50 (28 per cent).

"We didn't shoot very well," acknowledged Plummer coach Rick Koivisto, "but we improved our rebounding."

Plummer charts showed the Cardinals with a big 60-33 rebound advantage. From the free throw line the Cardinals were 16-for-23 (70 per cent) and the Eagles were 6-for-12 (50 per cent).

Cardinals led at the quarter breaks 16-10, 30-14 and 39-23.

Sheila Jaeger joined Pahlen as a double figure scorer and rebounder for the winners with 14 points and 16 rebounds. Robin Brantl added 14 rebounds to the Cardinals' total. Erika Kankel led Red Lake Falls with 10 points.

Plummer, 2-1, will host Alvarado Friday.

Middle River	53
Grygla	40

Middle River shot poorly from the field, but cashed in on numerous free throw opportunities Tuesday en route to a 53-40 North Border Conference win over visiting Grygla.

Jody Christofferson scored 22 points for the Skippers, including an 8-for-8 night at the free throw line. Paula Rantanen added 12 points for the winners, who stretched their record to 3-0. Long-range shooting by Grygla guards Kathy Foss and Debbie Klein produced 30 of the 40 Grygla points, with Foss getting 17 and Klein 13.

Middle River led at the quarter stops 13-10, 26-19 and 45-27.

After shooting 49 and 50 per cent from the field in their first two starts, the Skippers slipped to a 28 per cent shooting performance against Grygla (17-for-58). But they had 34 free throw chances, hitting 19 of them (56 per cent) to put the game away. Grygla was 8-for-16 at the line (50 per cent).

Middle River built a 48-28 cushion with the help of its full-court press defense that produced 18 steals and a number of fast break baskets off those Grygla turnovers.

But Middle River coach Tom Neibauer wasn't satisfied with the Skippers' offense, which was charged with 18 turnovers. "Our ball handling was pretty poor," he noted.

Neibauer was impressed with the shooting by Foss and Klein. "We shut them off inside, but their guards were hot," he explained.

"Turnovers hurt us quite a bit," admitted Grygla coach Mike Gast. "Their press got to us, especially in the third quarter."

Middle River's parade to the free throw line and Grygla's inability to produce an inside game also hurt, mentioned Gast. The Eagles scored just six points inside all night. "They were tough on us inside," he confirmed.

Still, even without an inside game the shooting of Foss and Klein enabled the Eagles to shoot 32 per cent from the field (16-for-50).

Grygla, 1-2, will host Oklee Thursday. Middle River plays Lake of the Woods Friday at Baudette.

LHS Basketball JV Opens Year With 65-36 Win

Thief River Falls defeated Roseau 65-36 Tuesday in season-opening junior varsity high school basketball action.

Jeff Anderson scored 14 points while Tracey Peterson had 12 and Dave Onkka 10 for the winners.

Thief River Falls had quarter leads of 12-7, 16-16 and 45-23.

MCC Beats LHS Freshman Team By 79-45 Score

Lincoln high school freshman basketball team began its 1983-84 season Monday with a 79-45 loss at the hands of Marshall County Central in the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Marshall County Central had quarter leads of 20-10, 40-26 and 59-31.

Darrin Rokke scored 25 points for the winners, with Danni Halvorson getting 14 and Jon Kragness 12. Griff Newland scored 13 points for Thief River Falls.

Lincoln freshmen will host Grafton Thursday at 4:15 p.m. in the city auditorium.

TRF Backcourt Club Announces New Directors

Election of officers for the 1983-84 season was featured Saturday at the regular monthly meeting of the Thief River Falls Backcourt Club.

Don Balmer was named club president, Vern Treat vice-president, Kathy Treat secretary-treasurer and Charlotte Bjorgaard director.

Buttons with the slogan, "I Love Basketball," were distributed to all members present to sell for $1. Backcourt Club members are seeking community support in the purchase of the buttons, that can be obtained through Vern Treat at 681-5440 or Charlotte Bjorgaard at 681-1131 or 681-3536 after 7 p.m.

Backcourt Club members will be helping at the Lincoln high school holiday basketball tournament to be held in Thief River Falls Dec. 27, 29 and 30. Two ticket takers and two people for crowd control are needed for each session. Anyone interested in helping with the tournament should call Charlotte Bjorgaard.

Fourth and fifth grade boys and girls elementary school basketball program began Dec. 5. A volunteer coach is still needed for the Washington school girls. If a coach cannot be found, the girls' program at the school will have to be canceled.

A club membership drive will take place later this month. Watch The Times for details.

Next regular monthly meeting of the Backcourt Club will be held Sat., Jan. 7, at 9 a.m. at the Rex Cafe. Anyone interested in the basketball program is welcome to attend the meeting. For additional information contact any of the Backcourt Club officers.

Sports Arena Is Available For Jogging

Thief River Falls sports arena may be used for walking or jogging purposes between the hours of 8 a.m. to 12-noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, it was announced by the city park and recreation office.

Those using the facility for walking and jogging should be careful, note city officials, because certain areas of the building may be slippery.

No one will be allowed in the bleacher areas. Individuals are reminded that the building's normal use at this time of year is for ice skating, and preference will be given to skaters.

Cardinals Name Award Winners

Russ and Gene Fisher have been named co-captains of the 1984 Plummer high school football team.

Other post-season honors awarded to members of the 1983 unbeaten North Tri-County Conference champion Cardinals' squad went to Troy Gustafson, most valuable player and most valuable back; Gary Torkelson, most valuable lineman; Karl Mattison and Tony Gerardy, who shared the most improved player award; and Mike Konickson and Mattison, who were co-winners of the Cardinal award.

In addition to the team awards, five Plummer players were named to the North Tri-County all-conference squad, including Gustafson, Konickson and Russ Fisher as backs, Tim Gagner as quarterback and Torkelson as a lineman.

En route to their first unbeaten regular season record and first conference title since 1969, the Cardinals won half of their eight regular season victories by a one-touchdown margin or less, but still would up out-scoring the opposition 211-82.

Plummer began the year with an easy 40-14 win over Gonvick-Trail, then came three consecutive narrow wins over Gryla-Goodridge 14-8, Erskine-Mentor 28-22 and Fisher 22-18. Back-to-back shutouts followed over McIntosh-Winger 33-0 and Middle River 34-0 before the Cardinals closed the regular season schedule with hard-fought wins over Oklee 20-6 and Clearbrook 20-14.

First-ever post-season playoff appearance for the Cardinals produced a 31-24 opening round win over Kennedy before the season ended in the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state Nine-Man quarterfinal playoff loss to eventual state runner-up Norman County West-Climax 46-0.

Without doubt it was one of the finest football seasons ever for the Cardinals, who envisioned the success and were made one of the early North Tri-County Conference favorites.

"We had hoped and dreamed about it," acknowledged Plummer coach Gary Brantl, "but whether or not it would happen was another question. We were hoping to get a break here or there and avoid any serious injuries."

Plummer scored on both accounts. The breaks came when those close games all fell in their favor, and while Konickson (three games) and Gene Fisher (one game) missed playing time due to injuries, they both returned to the line-up and in their absence the Cardinals built depth with a number of line-up changes. One of the team's most versatile performers in that regard was Mattison, who missed the entire 1982 season because of a non-football injury. Brian Fisher was another player who filled in admirably at several different positions, said Brantl.

"We felt we were lucky," admitted Brantl, "but people say good teams make their own luck. We had the belief in ourselves. We always believed we could come back no matter what the situation was."

A one-sided playoff loss to Norman County West-Climax was not an ideal way to end an otherwise-perfect football season, confirmed Brantl, but the players, coaches and fans will remember the good things that occurred during the season more than that final loss, he figures.

"We were very dejected after that game," he noted. "Not so much because we had lost, but because we played so poorly. We felt bad about the way we played. It was our worst game of the year by far."

Still, an unbeaten regular season record, a conference title and a playoff game win made for an outstanding season, pointed out Brantl. He admitted that maybe some other Plummer teams have had more football talent, "but I've never had a team with the heart and the attitude this one had," he said. "That's what made them winners."

He gave special praise to the nine seniors on the squad: Gagner, Marc Cook, Gustafson, Konickson, Mattison, Mark Anderson, John Maki, Brian Fisher and Eric Eskeli.

"Those seniors are going to be hard to replace," said Brantl, "but we have five starters coming back next year, I think we can still have a competitive team."

DNR NEWS

DNR Survey

Department of Natural Resources is asking the cooperation of 27,000 hunters and trappers who will be receiving questionnaries regarding their success this year.

Roger Holmes, Chief of the Section of Wildlife, said information from the annual mail surveys is essential for scientific wildlife management.

"The surveys provide an estimate of the harvest as well as information on hunting pressure," he explained. "This information is necessary to plan future hunting and trapping seasons."

Persons to be surveyed are selected at random from among all license buyers. Holmes asks those who receive a questionnaire to fill it out to the best of their knowledge, and return it promptly. He said it is essential for people to return their questionnaires even if they didn't actually hunt or trap this year.

"Traditionally, hunters and trappers are enthusiastic about providing this information," he said. "They realize that this is their opportunity to assist in managing the wildlife resources of Minnesota. They are proud of their heritage and go out of their way to help."

Ice Dangers

Last winter's unusually mild temperatures proved dangerous for outdoor enthusiasts, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

Kim Elverum, Boat and Water Safety Coordinator, said the state's ice-related death toll reached an all-time record high of 20 fatalities.

"During an average winter," he said, "most accidents involving people breaking through the ice of frozen lakes and streams occur in November and December when the ice is forming. But last winter, because of warm weather and a heavy snow cover, this type of accident was being recorded throughout the season."

Elverum also noted that consumption of alcohol and night time operation of snowmobiles and vehicles contributed significantly to last winter's accident toll.

"The records show that 64 per cent of the adults who died in snowmobile and vehicle accidents on the ice had been drinking, and 77 per cent of the snowmobile — vehicle fatalities occurred at night," he said.

Elverum urged parents to warn their children of the dangers of playing on the ice of frozen lakes, ponds and streams. He also advised motorists and snowmobilers to avoid driving on the ice at night "if at all possible."

STRANDQUIST . . .

Thanksgiving day supper guests at the Dolly Larson home were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Larson, Lucas and Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Larson, LouAnn, Brian and Jeremy and Donna Larson.

Edmund Kostrzewski and Tina, Eunice Rud and Lisa and Shane Bodell of Warren have visited this past week at Louis Lofstroms.

Thanksgiving day dinner guests and visitors at the Julius and Toni Kleinwachter home were Fr. John Kleinwachter of Warroad, Paul and Shirley Kleinwachter and Katrina of Worthington, Wayne and Pat Larson, Thief River Falls, Ben and Dee Kleinwachter, Mark and Brian, Terry and Betty Pietruszewski and Michael. Fr. John left for Warroad Friday and Paul and family went back to Worthington on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Chwialkowski visited Karen Skadsem, rural Middle River Saturday forenoon.

Snowmobile Races Are Planned For Dec. 17-18 At Alexandria

For the first time in several years, snowmobile manufacturers will be in direct competition with each other. Where it used to be in SnoPro, now it is in class commonly known as "ProStock." This 56-h.p. limited class will be the battle ground for the International SnoCross Championship and the Super Seer Cup Saturday, December 17, at the Douglas county fairgrounds in Alexandria.

Over the years, Polaris has dominated this class with consistent wins in cross country and snocross events. Last year a crack appeared in that dominance as the Yamaha SR-V proved to be a match for the Polaris Indy. This year the SR-V is not only back, but Yamaha has also introduced a light weight, high torque model called the "Phazer" which will also compete in this same arena, point out race officials.

Of even more interest is the long awaited Ski Doo "Formula MX." This is a high performance machine specifically designed to be very competitive in snocross and cross country events. Racing fans remember the first proto-type of this sled which surprised everyone in winning the International Snocross Championship two years ago. Last year was a second year of testing. This year 50 Formula MX sleds have been built, just enough to meet the production requirements allowed by the sanctioning body for "stock" racing.

If that isn't enough of a "perk," the "Cat Is Back." Lurking in the back-ground is the possibility of Arctic Cat El Tigre 6000s showing up with a newly developed independent front suspension (IFS), plus an exhaust restricter which

Bird Count Set Saturday At Crookston

Saturday, December 17, is the date set for the 11th annual Crookston bird count. Participants will meet at the Country Kitchen at 7 a.m., according to Tom Feiro, organizer and senior lab technician in the natural resources area of the agriculture division at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Crookston count will be one of over 1400 similar counts take from Hawaii to Labrador, and from Alaska to Venezuela, during the period between December 17 and January 2.

This year marks the 84th anniversary of the original Christmas bird count taken on Christmas day 1900 by an intrepid group of strollers in 25 locations, mostly around major northwestern cities. Since then the annual event has grown from its original 25 to last season's 1,418 and the total participants from 27 to an estimated 35,000.

Every Canadian province, every American state, many Central American countries, and numerous West Indies islands will submit their results to the National Audubon Society, which supervises the affair and publishes all the counts in its journal, "American Birds."

By tradition, the "count area" is a 15-mile diameter circle. Crookston count is centered at Harold Station and covers the area between Crookston, Gentilly, Melvin's slough and Greenview. Within the circle of land and water, count organizers attempt to field as many birders as they can who are grouped into "parties," each with a section of the circle, or points on the map which they alone will search. There is no limit to the number of participants.

"We count in all weather conditions," added Feiro. "In fact, one year the Warren count was accomplished in 20-below-zero temperatures, one of the lowest readings nationally for the count.

Count totals for Crookston have ranged from 18 species and 358 individuals in 1972 to 30 species and 2,218 individuals in 1980.

"Each year there are many surprising birds found lingering or wintering in Crookston," added Feiro.

All counts are open to any interested birders. For information on year nearest count, contact Feiro at UMC, telephone 281-6510, extension 312, or after 5 p.m., at 281-5515.

Stumpf Would Promote Area Rail Service

State Senator LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer has proposed improved railroad passenger service throughout Minnesota, including adding passenger runs from the Twin Cities and northwestern Minnesota to Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Stumpf, who serves as chairman of the transportation subcommittee on rural and commercial transportation, offered this bill last session as a method for achieving expanded Amtrak service. His subcommittee heard testimony on the subject recently in St. Paul from the Minnesota department of transportation, the Wisconsin department of transportation and Amtrak.

"I introduced this bill which basically calls for a state study on railroad passenger service to be commissioned by the legislature to determine the feasibility for establishing this service across a number of major Minnesota communities," Stumpf said.

"Our people in northwestern Minnesota have a strong affection for rail transit, since the railroad is what originally built up our area," Stumpf added.

"If we had decent rail transit service here, I am sure people would use it both here and in Canada. Another important part of any railroad legislation like this would be to promote it extensively, such as is now done for the St. Paul-to-Duluth Amtrak line," Stumpf added.

Stumpf and the other state lawmakers have argued strongly that, in addition to providing an additional transportation service to both Minnesotans and Canadians, the future emphasis on rail transit would provide more economic development to the state and nation and offer a more energy-efficient transportation alternative.

"As a direct result of the federal deregulation on the transportation industry, we are seeing cutbacks in aid and bus service to rural Minnesota," Stumpf said. "Because of this and the trend toward rail abandonment in the region, we must begin now to look seriously at modes of transportation in the years to come."

Stumpf expects his subcommittee to report back to the legislature on its recommendations in time for the 1984 legislative session beginning next March.

Merle Lundeen, Harry Howard In Farm Forum

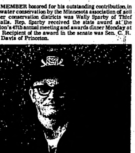
Two men from this area were appointed to participate in the Minnesota agricultural forum held at the Marriott hotel in Bloomington Saturday. They included Merle Lundeen of Trail, representing the National Farmers organization, and Harry Howard of Warren, representing the Minnesota wheat growers association.

Congressman Arlan Stangeland said the group of 17 agricultural leaders would take a non-partisan approach to planning agricultural policy in preparation for the 1985 farm bill.

"We need some semblance of unity from the farm community," Rep. Stangeland said. "The national ag forum has been successful in drawing the major outlines of the farm debate. Now it is important to reach a consensus with the state ag forum."

NEWEST RESTAURANT in Thief River Falls, the Casa Del Taco was welcomed to the business community by Chamber Ambassadors Bill Duckworth, left, and Arnie Naryerud, who extended their congratulations and a first dollar of clear profit to co-managers Gary McClaflin, center left, and Scott Sundby. They have completely remodeled the former Happy Joe's building on Highway 59 South, and employ 15 to 20 people in preparation and serving of Mexican food. In addition they offer hot dogs and sloppy joes for children, and wine and beer for adults dining in-house. Carry-out service is also available. Hours are from 11 a.m. to midnight on weekdays and until 2 a.m. on weekends.

HOUSE MEMBER honored for his outstanding contribution in soil and water conservation by the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts was Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls. Rep. Sparby received the state award at the association's 47th annual meeting and awards dinner Monday at Bemidji. Recipient of the award in the senate was Sen. C. R. (Chuck) Davis of Princeton.



LELAND "BUD" ENGE, superintendent of the wastewater department for the city of Thief River Falls, displays the plaque which he received from the central states water pollution control association, as Minnesota's wastewater operator of the year. Enge was recognized for his work, both in helping to develop the city system to a point where it is considered to be a model of efficiency, and for promoting better operations for other cities through participation in educational activities of the operators association.

Woodland Again Heads National Farmer Group

DeVon Woodland of Blackfoot, ID, was reelected president of the National Farmers organization (NFO) as the national convention of that group drew to a close in Denver Co, recently.

Delegates from states and counties across the nation gave Woodland a 52 per cent vote to 44 per cent for challenger Al "Butch" Mueller of Minnesota, and four per cent for Oliver Hanna of Wisconsin.

In the election for vice president Rick Avila of Corning, IA, a member of the NFO dairy department staff, won on the second ballot over incumbent Robert Arndt of Echo. Rodger Schlottach, director of the NFO grain department, was eliminated on the first ballot in the three-way race.

Election of the national officers climaxed the four-day convention which Denver hosted for the first time.

Main thrust of the annual meeting is the report to members by the livestock, grain and dairy departments where NFO is daily involved in collective bargaining for members' production. Each department recaps the past year and lays plans for the coming year.

Shelly Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nelson of rural Red Lake Falls and a senior at Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls, was selected first runner-up to the Minnesota Queen of Beef Saturday at state competition held in Minneapolis.

Shelly represented the Northwest Stockmen's association in the contest among winners of area princess titles. Competition was sponsored by the Minnesota Cattlemen's association. Shelly was crowned Northwest Beef Princess in June and has participated in a number of promotional events since that time, including the Pennington and Red Lake county fairs.

4H ✻ CLUB

Mavie

The Mavie 4-H club held its monthly meeting on November 14 at the Goodridge Senior Citizens Building, hosting it was the Morris Grosz family.

President, Twyla Svendsgaard, called the meeting to order. Roll call and flag pledges were said. Roll call was "name your favorite winter sport." Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Business: If you have any suggestions or improvements you would like to make for Awards Night, let the leader know. Remember to write your "thank you" notes to the donors of your awards. 4-H plays November 18 at the College Theatre. Saturday, November 19 is our club bake sale at Hartz, please bring $5 worth of baked items to the Dennis Kainz home or to Hartz by 9:00 a.m.

Records were handed out and discussed.

The club Christmas Party will be December 12 at Goodridge senior citizens building. A pot luck supper will start at 6:30. We drew names for gifts — members and leaders can spend up to $2 and pre-4-H up to $1.50. We also plan on donating a Christmas tree to the senior citizens. Bring a homemade ornament to help decorate the tree. Each person was given a bib to sew and then bring them December 12 to the party. They will be sent to the Roseau children's home.

Lunch was served by the Morris Grosz family and we watched a film. Meeting was adjourned by Jennifer Ryan and seconded by Jason Kainz.

State Hospital Council Holds Gift Appeal

Through the generosity of many area organizations and individuals, the Christmas season was brightened last year for 509 residents of the Fergus Falls state hospital.

Fergus Falls state hospital volunteer council is again in need of support for its annual Christmas gift appeal, "Operation Merry Christmas." Many donors prefer to send a monetary contribution as their gift thereby allowing the volunteer council to buy those gifts which would most help to brighten Christmas for each hospital resident.

Monetary donations and gifts should be sent by December 10 to: Fergus Falls state hospital volunteer council, Box 157, Fergus Falls, MN 56537.

During 1982, the Fergus Falls state hospital provided residential care, treatment and educational services for over 2,500 handicapped persons from west central and northwestern Minnesota who had disabilities caused by mental retardation, physical disabilities, emotional problems, and chemical dependency problems.

Photographs Displayed At Bemidji State

Touche's gallery at Bemidji State university is hosting through December 15 an exhibition entitled "Women in Action: North Dakota Photographers." Both contemporary and historical photographs depicting the working and recreational lives of Dakota women will be featured.

Forty-nine photographs in the exhibition were selected from the archives of various libraries and museums. Display is sponsored by Plainswoman, Inc. in Grand Forks and is funded by a grant from the North Dakota humanities council. Touche' Gallery is located in the C.B. Hobson memorial union.

UMC To Give Cantata Tues.

Christmas cantata "Emmanuel" by Eugene Butler will be presented at the University of Minnesota-Crookston on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Kiehle auditorium. This choral work will be performed by the university chorale under the direction of George French. There is a $1 admission and children under 12 ar admitted free.

Cosmetology Students Join Careers Day

During "Careers In Action Day" at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute Thursday, students in the cosmetology department will demonstrate artistry in make-up, nails and braiding designs.

Four classes will be conducted from 9:30 to 10:05, 10:15 to 10:50 and 10:55 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:15 to 1:50 p.m. Public is invited to attend any of the sessions at room 120 at the AVTI.

According to student Robyn Juelson, the cosmetology department conducted a similar program during national education week, but in that case the AVTI students brought the program to students at Grygla high school. Parents, teachers and students at Grygla were shown a sampling of cosmetology as a career.

During one-hour segments students Barb Ottesen and Julie Gustafson demonstrated make-up, students Brenda Rice and Kellie Swanson reviewed nail care and artificial nails; and Connie Hanson and Robyn Juelson demonstrated hair designs with braids.

Instructor Darlene Sunram presented a number of informative items about cosmetology. All demonstrations were performed on Grygla high school students who volunteered. Cosmetology students at the AVTI appreciated the opportunity to visit the Grygla school, Juelson said.

Thursday's "Careers In Action Day" will attract some 150 area students to the AVTI to learn more about potential careers and training. Each department of the AVTI will present a program on that study field.

Zion Offers Choir Concert Here Sunday

Annual choir concert at Zion Lutheran church will be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. Potluck supper will follow the concert and the public is invited to the musical event. A free will offering will be taken.

Performing along with the senior choir will be the brass ensemble consisting of Paul Hahn, Van Swanson and Madalyn and Peter Novellino. Readings and poems will be presented by Eleanor Bothman and the youth and children's choirs as well as the "Silvertones" will also perform.

Grygla

Lillian Sundberg, Grygla, 294-6146

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilkins and Doris Wilkins of Dallas, Tex. visited at the Rheinard Holthusen home last Sunday and also enjoyed having dinner with him.

Thursday dinner guests at the Allan Berndt home near Goodridge were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Darold Holthusen, Stacy, Joey and Tobey, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hoeper, Bobby Jo, Danny, Jason and Crystal of Stephen and Doris Wilkins.

Last Saturday evening a get-together of some of the members of the Grygla-Gatzke high school class of 1980 was held at the Steak Knife, to visit with Doris Wilkins who is employed at Dallas, Tex. and who was spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilkins. The members who came to the get-together were: Donald and LeAnn Wilkert, Gerald Verbout, Roger Thomas, Wayne Saul, Lori Hulthusen, Jodie Peterson and Kevin Nelson of Crookston, Julie Lian, Cindy Nordby, Eric Klein, Gary Foss, Sue Roen, Gary and Laurie Polansky and Doris Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilkins took their daughter Doris Wilkins to the airport at Grand Forks on Monday where she boarded a plane to return to Dallas, Tex. after a three week's visit at home. Others who went to Grand Forks to see her off were Mrs. Lorraine Holthusen and Tobey, Mrs. Roger Hoeper, Bobbi Jo and Crystal of Stephen. Doris telephoned home to say that she had arrived home in Dallas by 10 that evening.

Correction

The name of Mrs. Mavis Newton of Thief River Falls was omitted in the list of guests who attended the shower honoring Bonnie Verbout and baby daughter which was held at the Wayne Verbout home last Sunday afternoon.

Guests at the Adeline Sorenson home last Tuesday were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gibbs of Grand Forks, N.D., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sorenson and Lee Sorenson of Roseau.

Adeline Sorenson spent Thanksgiving at Baudette as a guest of her sister-in-law, Kaye Rudd.

Mrs. Barnett Benson received word that her brother-in-law, Carl Ahola of Chula Vista, Calif. had passed away on Nov. 7. Carl was married to the former Vergil Holthusen of Grygla. Carl Ahola is survived by a brother, Ed Ahola of Hill City and a sister, Hilda, who lives in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. His sisters, Elma and Martha, live in California.

CHAMBER AMBASSADORS Jane Mackenroth and Roger Shaffer extended congratulations to the staff of Thorp Loan and Thrift, recognizing their move into the former Central office at 304 East Third Street as more progress for Thief River Falls. Complete remodeling of the office has been accomplished to adapt it to their financial services which include homeowner, consumer and commercial loans and insurance products. Staff members include: (from left, between the Ambassadors) Ron Stradtmann, manager; Jeff Johnson, manager-trainee; Lori Waterworth, secretary-cashier; and Dave Rislov, assistant.

PROGRESS
Thief River Falls
Congratulations!

NEW LOCATION for Variety Sales at 204 North Main Avenue was recognized recently by the Chamber Ambassadors as more progress in Thief River Falls. Signs noting the progress were presented to Olivia Newland, co-owner of the business with her husband Robert. Ambassadors making the presentation were (from left) Roger Shaffer, Arnie Narverud and Bill Duckworth. Olivia noted that the new location offers them more room for merchandise display and improved customer traffic. They specialize in factory direct, overstock and liquidated merchandise.

AREA WINNER of second place in the soil and water conservation district essay contest recently was Brent Magner, senior at Marshall county central high school in Newfolden. He was presented with a $20 check by Leonard Zilka, conservationist for the Marshall county SWCD. Magner qualified for the area contest by winning the county contest earlier in the year.

Snowmobile Races Planned For Alexandria

would bring the horsepower back to 56, say officials.

Then, there is the Manta, a twin-tracked, cockpit type snowmobile. About 250 have been manufactured this year and some of them will be on hand for the snocross championship according to Bob Bracey, company president.

There hasn't been anything this interesting in snowmobile racing since the manufacturers were using SnoPro as the field of battle. Interest in this event is actually doubled because of the many different brands competing and the fact that the Alexandria event is the first big snocross, SnoPro event of the year and no one knows which sled is likely to win. No serious snowmobiler will want to miss seeing what actually happens.

With machines of several brands now likely to be competitive, a greater number of entries is also expected. Initial qualifying fee is $50. Twenty-four drivers who qualify for the semifinal will pay another $50. Purse for the International Snocross Championship is a 100 per cent payback of the entry and semifinal fees with the Super Seer Cup going to the winner.

Other class on Saturday is the "Open Shassis" sleds, machines which also are limited to developing 56-h.p., but with more changes allowed in body modification. Entry and qualifying fees are the same.

Snocross course at Alexandria is an ideal course to test every aspect of a machine's capability and the driver's skill, say officials. With jumps, bumps, right and left hand turns, plus straightaways the ten of 12-minute motos demand the most of man and machine. A soft snow stretch in front of the grandstand will be incorporated into the course to enhance the action and excitement for the race fan.

Sunday, Dec. 18, will be the first time the SnoPro sleds hit the track for the year. Attraction of a $5,000 cash purse will bring racers from all over North America to compete on the big, half mile, iced oval. Featured in this group will be World's Champion racers Brad Hulings and Jac Villeneuve of the Ski Doo factory team. SnoPro is still a big attraction for the race fan because of the big names, color and excitement they generate with their exotic race equipment.

Also Sunday on the oval will be the same 56-h.p. sleds and drivers from Saturday's snocross races. Again, this is expected to be very close competition as the different brand sleds test each other.

Yamaha drivers in the 56-h.p. "Pro-Stock" and "Open Chassis" classes have a chance to pick up some big "Yamaha Bucks" in addition to their prize money. A first place finisher would get 300 Yamaha Bucks, 200 for second, and 100 for third.

Race events are controlled by the specifications as indicated by ISRI. They are promoted by Racetime, Inc. of Alexandria, and sponsored by Super Seer of Evergreen, Colorado manufacturer of goggles and face shields for the snowmobile industry.

Race information can be obtained from Racetime, Inc. by calling 612-763-5411.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Thief River Falls water utility announced today that the State maximum allowable limit for turbidity in drinking water is being exceeded.

Turbidity is caused by the presence of finely suspended particles such as clay, sand or organic matter in the water. Turbidity can be a problem if it interferes with chlorine disinfection. However, the high turbidity levels, do not create any health hazard because the water utility is able to maintain effective levels of chlorine for disinfection.

The Thief River Falls water utility staff is working closely with State Health Department officials to reduce the turbidity to acceptable levels.

Any citizen seeking additional information should contact Allen Lemm at the Water Plant, phone number 681-3609.

CARD OF THANKS

Our most sincere thanks to the many wonderful relatives, friends and neighbors who have stood by us with their prayers, love and concern to help ease the loss of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother, Signe Nelson.

Special thanks to Pastor Dick Larson for coming so quickly that Friday morning to give us the comfort and support we all needed, and to Pastor Roger Hanson for his comforting message and kind words about mom. Thanks to Phyllis Dalager, organist, Zion Silvertones for their beautiful messages in song, the casket bearers, Retired Teachers ass'n., and Zion Church Women for the nice dinner served.

Special thanks also to the staff at Green Funeral home for the help, support and kindness they gave, and to the many who sent lovely flower arrangements, memorials, cards, letters, for phone calls and food brought to our homes.

We would also like to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to Dr. Heinrichs for the special care and kindness given mom the past several years.

The thoughtfulness of each one of you has meant so very much to our family at this sad time.

COUNTY OF PENNINGTON
PROBATE COURT
COUNTY COURT-PROBATE DIVISION

In Re: Estate of Nettie E. Dahlstrom, Deceased Order and Notice of Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will and Appointment of Personal Representative in Supervised Administration and Notice to Creditors

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

It is Ordered and Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of December, 1983, at 2:00 o'clock P.M., a hearing will be held in the above named Court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for the formal probate of an instrument purporting to be the will of the above named decedent, dated July 14, 1940, and for the appointment of Marilyn D. Meixell whose address is 203 Meadowdale Lane, Frederick, Maryland, 21701 as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent in supervised administration, and that any objections thereto must be filed with the Court. That, if proper, and no objections are filed, said personal representative will be appointed to administer the estate, to collect all assets, pay all legal debts, claims, taxes and expenses, and sell real and personal property, and do all necessary acts for the estate. Upon completion of the administration, the representative shall file a final account for the allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the Court, and close the estate.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

Duck Stamps Suggested As New Gift Idea

You can give the gift of wildlife this holiday season for less than the cost of almost any other present, according to officials at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS).

Federal duck stamp is an easy and inexpensive way to invest in the future of America's migratory birds and other wild creatures, FWS officials point out.

By buying the colorful $7.50 conservation stamp, you provide the money to acquire land for national wildlife refuges throughout the United States. Your dollars, by law, go directly into the purchase of vanishing wetlands and other types of wild places for birds, deer, fish and many endangered and threatened species. For 50 years, the duck stamp has been one of America's premier national conservation programs, contributing more than $270 million to wildlife protection.

There's no easier way to get serious about wildlife conservation than by buying duck stamps. They're a great gift for friends, relatives and co-workers who care about wildlife. Real estate that the duck stamp buys will give them a real stake in the nation's conservation effort.

Duck stamps also can be valuable collectors' items. Stamp collectors, hobbyists, artists, and outdoor enthusiasts of every description prize the duck stamp for its beauty and uniqueness.

Duck stamps are as close as your nearest post office and many national wildlife refuges. The 1983-84 issue is currently on sale and the last three issues can be purchased from the U.S. Postal Service's Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20265-9997. (Write the Postal Service for its latest color philatelic catalog showing back issues.) In addition, many wildlife art galleries and stamp dealers have materials for mounting your duck stamp.

Write the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for a free pamphlet about the special message that the duck stamp carries. A copy of "The Duck Stamp Story" will make your holiday gift all the more meaningful. Write: Publications Unit, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

We Wish You A MERRY CHRISTMAS

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

For Christmas: A Video Disc Player

Tuning in to top entertainment may be one way to turn this holiday season into something special for you and your family.

Miss Piggy and Kermit can sing and dance right in your living room whenever you want, if you treat your family to a video disc player this Christmas.

For little more than it might cost a family to see a film just once, you can bring home an uninterrupted movie to view as often as you wish, thanks to the exciting world of RCA video discs and video disc players.

There are hundreds of RCA video disc selections available these days—blockbuster movies, superstar concerts, great moments in sports and more, many in stereo. You can build a children's library of classics such as "Heidi," "Mary Poppins" or "Annie," or favorite Charlie Brown movies and Disney cartoons that will keep the children entertained for hours.

FmHA Office For RL County In McIntosh

Russ Bjorhus, state director of the Farm Home Administration (FmHA), recently announced that Red Lake county has been designated eligible for emergency loan assistance to help farmers recover from losses due to excessive rains, heat, hail and wind damage in 1983.

FmHA, an agency of the U.S. department of agriculture, makes emergency loss loans at lower interest rates. Currently the interest rate for emergency loss loans is 5 per cent up to $100,000 and 8 per cent for amounts in excess of $100,000.

To be eligible for emergency loans, an applicant must: be an established farmer and intend to continue farming; have suffered at least a 30 per cent loss in his overall operation; be unable to obtain the credit they need from a commercial lender; be a U.S. citizen; show ability to repay the loan; and have adequate security for a loan.

Red Lake county is now served by the McIntosh FmHA office, which will take applications for loans based on physical and production losses, until May 16.

McIntosh office is located in the municipal building on Cleveland Avenue, 1½ blocks north of Highway 2. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. County supervisor's office day is each Monday. For further information, write to FmHA, Box 215, McIntosh, or call 563-3825.

McIntosh Office, formerly served all of Polk county, but was recently divided and a new office was established in Crookston. Crookston office serves all of Polk county west of Highway 59, while the McIntosh office serves Polk county borrowers east of Highway 59 and all of Red Lake county.

McIntosh office staff includes: Mahlon L. Bly, county supervisor; Gary Davis, asst. county supervisor; Phyllis Ose, county office assistant; Mavis Berg and Grace Quam, county office clerks; and Judy Lee, county office assistant for emergency loans.

Index Of Farm Prices Down From October

Mid-November index of prices received by Minnesota farmers at 136 was down one per cent from October but was 11 per cent above the index a year ago, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Declines in major meat animal prices were partially offset by higher prices for dairy products, poultry and eggs and most crops. Average prices received by farmers for all hogs were the lowest since June of 1980 and prices for all beef cattle were the lowest since March of 1978.

The crops index rose one per cent to 146 during the month and was 40 per cent above the index a year earlier. The mid-November prices and the changes from last month are: All wheat, $3.79 per bushel, down three cents from the revised October estimate; corn, $3.09 per bushel, up 10 cents; oats, $1.70 per bushel, up one cent; barley, $2.41 per bushel, down five cents; soybeans, $7.88 per bushel, up three cents; flaxseed, $6.57 per bushel, down 80 cents.

Potatoes averaged $4.40 per hundredweight, for all grades, down $1.10. All hay was up 19 per ton to $75; alfalfa hay at $80 per ton was up $10 and other hay at $59 per ton was up $7. All sunflowers at $13.10 per hundredweight, were down 40 cents from the revised October price. Dry edible beans were up $1 to $27.10 per hundredweight.

The meat animal index at 112 was seven per cent below last month and 18 per cent below a year ago. All hogs at $37 per hundredweight were down $5 from a month earlier. Beef cattle averaged $41.70 per hundredweight, down $1.20. Calves were down $1.70 to $50.50 per hundredweight. Sheep brought $12 per hundredweight, up 60 cents. Lambs were up $2.80 to $56 per hundredweight.

The dairy index rose one per cent during the month to 150. This was one per cent below the index last year. The preliminary milk price at $13.20 per hundredweight, was up three cents from the revised October price.

The poultry and egg index at 120 was three per cent above last month but one per cent below a year ago. Turkeys were 35 cents per pound liveweight, the same as a month earlier. Table market eggs brought 63 cents per dozen for all grades in mid-November, up five cents from mid-October and 14 cents above a year earlier.

BACK ON THE TRACK
Holy Bible

It was quite a wreck and no one thought it would ever run again. But now it's back on the track and on its way.

We all know how important it is for people, as well as for trains, to stay on the right track. We know that one of the biggest influences in keeping people there is the Church.

We also know that even when people have gotten a little bit off the track, it is never too late to get on again. The Church isn't just a passing station. Instead, no matter where you are, it is always near and ready and waiting.

Get back on track and attend Church this week.

PROGRESS IN MEDICINE

Facts From The National RP Foundation Fighting Blindness

Doctors are still seeking a treatment for retinitis pigmentosa, now that a Moscow theory has been discounted by U.S. doctors.

Nearly five million people throughout the world are affected by retinitis pigmentosa, also known as RP, a disease that involves the deterioration of the eye and vision.

Retinitis Pigmentosa—which usually begins with night blindness and progresses to an increasing loss of side vision—is the object of much research, both here in the United States and abroad.

A widely publicized Soviet experimental treatment for this eye disease raised much hope in the United States, but a team of American doctors reported that the treatment had no validity.

Researchers at the RP Foundation Fighting Blindness affirm that there is no conclusive scientific evidence that the Russian treatment, ENCAD, has value for patients affected by retinitis pigmentosa, and therefore, the Foundation cannot recommend this treatment. This conclusion was based upon a comprehensive review and evaluation conducted by Alan Laties, M.D., Chairman of the Foundation's Scientific Advisory Board, and Eliot L. Berson, M.D., Director of the Berman-Gund Laboratory for the Study of Retinal Degenerations, during a 4-day fact-finding mission to Moscow's Helmholtz Institute.

"There is a lack of evidence that this is helping anyone," said Dr. Eliot Berson of the RP Foundation Fighting Blindness, after the fact-finding mission to Moscow.

"Not one of the 18 patients—whom we examined before they went to Moscow and have followed since they have returned—has improved and two-thirds of them have worsened," Berson reported. "I cannot recommend these injections to people with this disease."

The search for a treatment that will halt this inherited disease goes on, and when it is found will bring new light into the lives of millions of people throughout the world.

Hints On Safety And Economy From The Experts At One Of The World's Leading Tool Companies

THE RIGHT BLADE FOR THE RIGHT JOB

Carbide-tipped saw blades can give the cutting edge on home construction jobs.

Do-it-yourselfers: if sawing is something you do a lot of, here's a tip to keep in mind—the power's in the saw, but the performance is in the blade. More and more do-it-yourselfers are following the lead of professional carpenters in choosing carbide-tipped blades for sawing jobs.

Formerly used primarily in industrial applications, carbide-tipped blades are rapidly becoming the preferred choice because of their extremely long life, versatility, and ability to retain sharpness.

One company, Vermont American, manufactures carbide-tipped blades from start to finish, using exacting quality control specifications. High-technology manufacturing begins with the making of the tips. Tungsten carbide and cobalt are mixed for just the right combination of hardness and toughness. Tips are then precision-brazed to an all-steel body.

The result is a saw blade that lasts many times longer than conventional steel blades, cuts a greater variety of materials, and maintains sharpness far longer than all-steel blades. Blades with as few as 8 teeth are acceptable for rough cutting. They are available with up to 100 teeth for the finest finish work.

Among the things you should consider when deciding which carbide-tipped saw blade is right for the job:

- Does the job call for moderate smoothness? Then use the most popular blade for all-purpose cutting applications, the cutoff-rip 20-tooth or 28-tooth blade.
- Do you need to cut non-ferrous metals such as aluminum, copper and brass? You should use the smooth-cut combination blade from 32- to 48-tooth.
- Does your job call for extra fine cutoffs and finishing? The 60- to 100-tooth blades can do the job for you.

The Confident Cook

Step-by-Step Cooking Instructions

"Three-For-One" Meal Plans Save Time, Money

When cooking for one, stretching your budget and creativity can be as easy as 1-2-3 with ground beef and canned condensed soup.

The number of households in the United States continues to increase. However, the size of the average household has decreased. According to the U.S. Census Bureau more than one-quarter of all household units now are comprised of just one person.

Here's a way for singles to stretch one pound of ground beef into a meal to share with a friend and still have enough beef left for two more solo meals.

For the first evening, try a broiled-to-taste quarter-pound hamburger. Serve it on a bun or English muffin with a garnish of lettuce and tomato.

The next night, whip up Chili Souperburger, a zesty main dish that's ready in a flash. This tasty combination of 3/4 pound browned beef, canned condensed tomato soup, onion and spices is ready to serve in only 15 minutes. Enjoy a 1/2 cup portion of the souperburger mixture on a split and toasted hamburger bun. Refrigerate the remaining 2 cups to use as a sauce base for meal number three—a chili casserole.

A can of mushrooms and a cup of cooked macaroni added to the chili souperburger mixture create a new taste for two. Serve this range-top casserole with a salad and basket of warm corn muffins, to please a special companion.

With a little planning, meals for one can be creative, varied and fun.

CHILI SOUPERBURGER

3/4 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Tomato Soup
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/8 teaspoon ground cumin seed
Hamburger bun, split and toasted

1. To make chili: In 10-inch skillet, brown beef and cook onion with garlic until tender; stir to separate meat. Pour off fat.
2. Add remaining ingredients except bun. Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve 1/2 cup mixture over hamburger bun. Makes 1 serving.

To make casserole: To remaining chili mixture in skillet over medium heat, add 1 can (about 4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained and 1 cup cooked elbow macaroni. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Makes 3 1/2 cups or 2 servings.

College Sports Problems Deserve Careful Study

Following editorial is from the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

Any sports fan will agree that the slumping University of Minnesota football program is in deep trouble.

Minnesotans are reluctant to surrender the glory years when the Gophers were truly Golden and consistently ranked among the top teams in the nation. Not all supporters of the University are, convinced that winning teams are an essential part of the educational process. But most agree that sports programs are worthwhile and should be operated on a sound basis.

What is disturbing is that so many seem convinced that the only way to correct the trend is by spending enormous sums of money for a high-powered, big-name coach who should be allowed to bend the rules a bit in the pursuit of gridiron glory. Some sportswriters have openly suggested that "a little cheating" will be necessary.

A Select Committee for the National Collegiate Athletic Association began 16 months ago to examine the problems confronting college athletics and to propose possible solutions. Compiled largely by administrators and coaches at big-time institutions, the committee report indicates that football and basketball teams must generate revenue and that they can be good public relations tools.

In Division 1, the top level of competition, the report suggests that freshmen should be ineligible for varsity teams in football and basketball. "Freshman participation constitutes an unnecessary hurdle and, at worst, a great hindrance to academic success," it declares.

Loopholes involved in the eligibility of junior college transfers could be closed by requiring that accumulated credit hours be applicable toward a degree at a four-year insititulon, the committee proposes. It calls for further limiting contact with high school students for recruiting purposes and urges a period before the time for athletes to sign letters of intent when no contact would be allowed.

Recruiting infractions cited most frequently involve automobiles — muscular young men with no visible means of support are suddenly behind the steering wheels of costly cars on college campuses each fall. Over-eager boosters might be discouraged if rules required athletes to prove the ownership of their cars each year.

There is concern about the coach who makes far more money than the university president or its top-rated faculty leaders. Some coaches pocket more money from such outside sources as television shows and endorsements than from coaching. Strange loyalties and prioritires can result when coaches become "mini-corporations," the report advises.

Efforts are already underway to raise academic standards by requiring standardized test scores in determining initial college eligibility and to establish guidelines to ensure that student athletes are making satisfactory progress toward a degree. It was incredible, for example, that nobody at Oklahoma University seemed to know or care that ballcarrier Marcus Dupreee wasn't attending classes until coaches decided he was of no further value and dropped him from the squad.

If Minnesota can return to the ranks of football powers without "a little cheating," fine. If it can't, we should always remember the University always has been, is and always should be primarily a great institution of learning.

Football is exciting, but fans can only ask that the young men who represent them on the field are giving their best. And that's what the struggling Gophers of 1983 have been doing.

You Know You're A Farm Wife If . . . .

Linda McCreery of Eldon, MO, explains how to identify a farm wife in an article published in "Farm Wife News". According to McCreery, you're a farm wife if:

You look forward to winter with joyous anticipation as the season in which no produce has to be canned, frozen, pickled, dried, or preserved.

The only time you can find for reading is when you go to the bathroom — and the only magazines you can find to take with you are The Beefalo Journal; The Belsaw Bulletin, or the newsletter from the Farmers' Electrical Cooperative.

While helping your husband round up cattle, you know instinctively when the rogue cow with the crooked horn is going to break rank and head for the wide open spaces.

You've forgotten your marriage vows but can recite the FFA and the 4-H creeds foward and backward.

Your children have picked out and marked for chopping their Christmas tree for the next five years to come.

You're a real farm wife if:

You suspect that you are in labor, but wait until the milking is finished, the hay is in the barn, or the horse has foaled befoe you tell your husband that it really is time to go to the hospital.

The penetrating aroma of a turkey barn or hog lot makes you think of money first and an escape to a Caribbean island second.

You sincerely think a brand-new heifer calf is a prettier sight than a mink coat.

You tell your husband how much you like being a real partner, but occasionally enjoy secret fantasies of being a "kept" woman in a penthouse.

You can accept with stoicism a late, killing frost even though you know personally and had great aspirations for each tomato, pepper, and sweet potato plant in your garden.

The smell of new-mown alfalfa brings tears to your eyes that are not entirely the result of hay fever.

You have the same abiding and sustaning love for the land as you do for your husband and children.

Buying Votes?

Following editorial is from the Bemidji Pioneer:

Voter registration and the possibility of increasing enfranchisement in America is as notable a goal as one could find today. But the ideas that some people have toward getting out the vote, in preparation for the 1984 elections, should be viewed with great caution.

A campaign is brewing to register droves of poor and disadvantaged people as they apply for federal benefits, or routinely partake of those benefits, encouraging them to exercise their right to vote. While we might not see people in our local social service offices eagerly going after their clients with a clipboard and stack of voter registration cards, that is essentially what will be taking place in urban industrial regions. The people who work for the various assistance programs, at all levels of government, will be acting as part-time voter registrars wherever this idea catches on. And it will catch on, as organizations aligned against the social program cutbacks of the Reagan administration (16 have been identified to date) seek to rally the "poor" vote.

We encourage any movement that stirs Americans to vote, and social service workers, as anyone else would, should be allowed to promote voter registration.

But we would hate to see partisan coalitionists coercing clients who register to vote, many for the first time, into "getting Reagan out" or otherwise converting their social service positions into specific campaign causes. We expect social service agencies to help the disadvantaged, and if that means helping those who are interested in registering to vote, or helping arrange transportation to the polling places, that's one thing.

And anything more than that, as self-serving partisanism would undoubtedly enter the picture, is no more honorable than the big city bosses of old who would round up all the winos and take them to the polls on election day to cast their ballot for the "candidate of their choice," even though most of them had never heard of the person.

That's Not My Job

For any person who has been involved in an organization or community activity of any magnitude, it would be impossible not to identify with this little story which crossed our desk recently:

The story is about four people named Everybody, Somebody, Anybody and Nobody. There was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it. Somebody got angry about that, because it was Everybody's job. Everybody thought Anybody could do it, but Nobody realized that Everybody wouldn't do it. It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Johnny was explaining that the class sang to open the first day of school. "What did you sing," his mother asked. "I don't know what the other kids sang," he said, "but I sang 'Little Brown Jug'."

Brunch Can Be a Joy For the Holidays

Holiday Baked Eggs is the star of this menu with condensed cream of celery soup saucing the herbed potato mixture beneath the eggs.

Brunch can be an elegant but inexpensive way to entertain. For a festive, yet easy entree, serve Holiday Baked Eggs, with a tiny French touch. Condensed Cream of Celery Soup offers its double-rich, double-thick goodness to the egg main dish. Complete the menu with a tureen filled with condensed tomato and onion soups laced with tarragon, a fruit compote and basket of warm corn muffins.

Whatever your choice of dishes, condensed soups can make a festive brunch a holiday—even for the cook.

HOLIDAY BAKED EGGS

6 slices (about 6 ounces) Canadian bacon
3 cups unsalted mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
6 eggs
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Celery Soup
2 tablespoons salad dressing or mayonnaise
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons sherry
1/2 teaspoon chervil leaves, crushed

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Place bacon in 6 shallow individual baking dishes.
2. In small bowl, combine potatoes and parsley; spoon around the edge of each baking dish. Break 1 egg into each dish.
3. Meanwhile, in 1 1/2-quart saucepan, over medium heat, combine soup and salad dressing. Gradually blend in milk and sherry. Add chervil. Spoon 1 tablespoon of soup mixture over each egg.
4. Arrange baking dishes on cookie sheet, bake 20 minutes or just until egg whites are opaque and yolks are softly set.
5. Heat remaining soup mixture; serve with eggs. Makes 6 servings.

Last Sunday Cora Rantanen of Middle River came to have noon lunch with her sister Hannah Moen. Morris Moen treated Norman Folden to dinner at the Country Kitchen in Thief River Falls, they did some shopping and enjoyed coffee together. ASK YOUR STATE PATROL

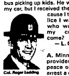
Q. My son failed to stop for a school bus picking up kids. He was driving my car, but I received the ticket because I told the police I wasn't sure who was driving my car. How come?

—L. C., St. Paul



Col. Roger Ledding

A. Minnesota law provides that a peace officer may arrest a driver who goes through a school bus stop arm and flashing red lights up to two hours after the incident. If the driver cannot be identified or found, the registered owner of the vehicle may be fined up to $100 for the offense. This puts the responsibility of identifying the driver on the owner, or of accepting responsibility for the driver's actions.

Q. I want a copy of the report that a trooper wrote on my accident. He says he cannot give it to me, but I can get it from the State. Where, how?

A. You can get a copy of the report on your accident from the Minnesota Department of Public Safety, Accident Records Division, 110 Transportation Building, St. Paul, MN 55155, telephone (612) 296-3279. A fee of $4 is charged for each copy. Copies are available two weeks after the accident.

A question often asked was "Where can I have my speedometer checked?" This is a problem. The number of repair garages or car dealers with the equipment to perform this service seem to be very few. We would like to make a list of them. If you know of any, please send their names and addresses to ASK YOUR STATE PATROL.

Remember. . .

A solid white line on the pavement is used to mark the edge of a traffic lane where travel in the same direction is permitted on both sides of the line, although crossing the line is discouraged. Solid double white lines on a roadway mean passing or crossing those lines is prohibited.

It's the law. . .

Minnesota law forbids motorists to use headphones on both ears to listen to broadcasts or recordings.

Need information? The State Patrol will gladly answer your questions on Minnesota laws of interest to motorists. Write: ASK THE STATE PATROL, 2795 Highway 55, Eagan, MN 55121, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope for reply. Only one question per letter, please.

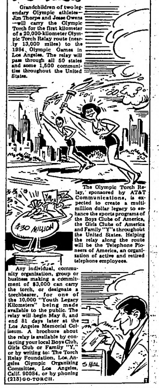
IT'S A FACT!



Grandchildren of two legendary Olympic athletes—Jim Thorpe and Jesse Owens—will carry the Olympic Torch for the first kilometer of a 20,000-kilometer Olympic Torch Relay route (nearly 13,000 miles) to the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles. The relay will pass through all 50 states and some 1,500 communities throughout the United States.

The Olympic Torch Relay, sponsored by AT&T Communications, is expected to create a multimillion dollar legacy to enhance the sports programs of the Boys Clubs of America, the Girls Clubs of America and Family "Y"s throughout the United States. Helping the relay along the route will be the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization of active and retired telephone employees.

Any individual, community organization, group or business making a commitment of $3,000 can carry the torch, or designate a torchbearer, for one of the 10,000 "Youth Legacy Kilometers" being made available to the public. The relay will begin May 8, and end 81 days later at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. A brochure about the relay is available by contacting your local Boys Club, Girls Club or Family "Y," or by writing to: The Torch Relay Foundation, Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, Los Angeles, Calif. 90084, or by phoning (213) GO-TORCH.

Covenant Woman Have Christmas Party

Covenant women held their annual Christmas party at the church Sunday evening. Words of welcome were expressed by the chairwoman, Mrs. Keith Ranum, after which she turned the program over to Hal Anderson, chairman of the church, and the men of the church gave the program. Devotions were given by Lloyd Ranum. Two numbers were sung by a trio of Danny Olson and sons Timmy and Terry. Kent Hudson read a poem, followed by the piano solo by Michael Werenberg. Virgil Hjelle sang a solo and the little men of the church sang a group number. Tom Price gave a reading followed by a piano solo by Raymond Drotts Pastor Dale Van Deusep sang a solo accompanying himself on the guitar and also brought a brief message. Kent Hudson sang a solo and all the men sang a number. Mrs. Keith Ranum in closing made announcements and an offering was taken which was to be sent to the Sheldon Lorensons, missionaries in Trinidad. The audience joined in singing a Christmas carol, which concluded the program. A lovely luncheon was served in the lower auditorium which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and Christmas cards were distributed to all.

Survival Kit In Auto Could Save Your Life

With Minnesota winter weather a reality again, motorists should consider putting together a survival kit for placement in their vehicles where there is easy access.

Commissioner Paul Tschida of the Minnesota department of public safety, reminds citizens that being out in a severe storm is very dangerous and exhaustion can overcome a person in a short period of time. "Think again before you leave the shelter of your vehicle," said Tschida.

Emergency services, a division of the department of public safety, recommends that a three-pound coffee can filled with life-supporting items can help save the life of a loved one if that individual becomes stranded in a stalled vehicle during a storm.

Original design of the winter survival kit came from the Para-Rescue Team, Inc. David Lundberg, natural disaster planner for emergency services, offers these suggestions for making a kit:

Can, in addition to being a container for survival supplies, could be made into a kettle for melting snow and heating food.

Before filling the can, punch three holes around the top edge in a triangular pattern. By fastening a cord, string or wire (stored inside the can) through the punched holes, the container is ready for the melting and heating use mentioned above. Leave enough string to hang the can from the rear view mirror. A candle or canned heat, placed on the dashboard or center hump, will warm the contents.

Keep the kit inside the car. The trunk could get jammed by a collision or buried in the snow.

Place these supplies in the can:

— Matches, stubs of dinner candles and canned heat.

— Small, sharp knife.

— Facial tissue.

— Large size plastic garbage bag. This can be used as a container and is also an improvised rain poncho.

— Safety pins, spoons, pencil stubs, plastic whistle.

— Flashlight (non-metal) and spare batteries. Reverse batteries in the case to avoid accidental switching-on and burnout. Note; Flashlight batteries can freeze. Warm them with your body, between your legs or underarms before using.

Snacks to nibble. Food suggestions are: Semi-sweet chocolate, raisins in small packets, miniature candy bars, wrapped hard candies, honey, instant beverage, soup, cream and sweetener, canned meat or poultry and chewing gum.

— Red bandana or cloth.

Also, mittens, scarf and stocking cap may be tied around the outside of the can with 30 feet of cord, drapery or strong nylon string. If you must leave to inspect outside conditions or fasten a signal banner, the cord can be tied to yourself and the steering wheel of the car.

For other tips on the kit, a pamphlet entitled, "Winter Survival in Your Car," is available from the Office of Emergency Services, B-5, State Capitol, St. Paul, 55155.

What You Should Know About Your Vision

Bifocals are not the only way to see both close-up and far away with one pair of glasses. Today there's a lens that can give better vision than bifocals at all distances.

Your comfort and your safety may be at stake when you are choosing an eyeglass lens.

If you wear bifocals, for example, you may not be getting the best available correction for your vision needs. Bifocal lenses let you see clearly at just two distances—close up and far away. The lower portion of the lens helps you see close up, to read or write. The upper portion of the lens helps you see things far away.

However, bifocals do not provide adequate vision at the intermediate, or arms-length distances where good vision is necessary for performing a number of everyday tasks.

An advanced spectacle lens has been developed to provide not only the distance and near vision, but arms-length vision as well. These lenses, called Varilux, have no bifocal lines and provide the eye with continuous, natural vision from one distance to the other. Varilux renders the bifocal obsolete.

Varilux lenses are complex in design but simple to wear. You look through the upper portion for distance viewing. You look through the central portion of the lenses for intermediate viewing, and then through the lower portion for close-up viewing.

Not surprisingly, more than 20 million people worldwide wear these progressive power lenses. Qualified optical professionals are able to dispense the Varilux spectacle lens.

Here are some helpful hints from the National Society to Prevent Blindness:

- Have your eyes checked regularly. Children should be given a complete eye examination as early as the day they are born. A child should definitely have a complete eye examination before entering school.
- If you get a speck in the eye don't rub the eye. Lift the upper eyelid outward and down over the lower lid and let tears wash out the particle. If it doesn't wash out, keep the eye closed, bandage lightly, and see your doctor.
- If you receive a blow to the eye, apply cold compresses for about 15 minutes, and again each hour as needed to reduce pain and swelling. A "black eye" could mean internal eye damage and should be seen by your doctor.

Local SWCD Board Attends Convention

Soil and water conservation district supervisors from the Pennington soil and water conservation district at Thief River Falls are attending the 47th annual state convention of the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts (MASWCD) at Bemidji Sunday through Tuesday.

According to Ray Olson, chairman of the Pennington district board, the theme of this year's annual meeting is "Conservation: A Cooperative Effort."

Fed Reports Farm Finance Picture Better

Financial health of farmers in Minnesota and the eastern portions of North and South Dakota improved during the third quarter, according to rural bankers surveyed by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis.

Many bankers in the Fed's survey attributed the improvement to higher prices of the region's principal crops, especially feedgrains and oilseeds. Prices for these crops were well above 1982 levels because of government acreage control programs and the severe drought that cut production of these crops in other parts of the country. Minnesota and eastern Dakota farmers have plenty of these crops to sell because their growing conditions and yields were closer to normal and because many of them will receive stored grain in return for the acres left unplanted under the U.S. department of agriculture's payment-in-kind (PIK) program.

High crop prices and near-normal supplies apparently led many farmers to market some of the large crop inventory built up in 1981 and 1982. As a result, most bankers in the area say third-quarter net farm earnings were up from 1982.

According to their bankers, farmers in Minnesota and the eastern Dakotas have used these higher revenues from crop sales to help catch up on past debts. From the second to the third quarter the percentage of bankers reporting that farm debt refinancing was above normal in their area has dropped about 25 percentage points. In addition, fewer bankers reported slower-than-normal rates of farm debt repayment.

Most Minnesota and eastern Dakota bankers expect area farmers' financial conditions to strengthen further in the fourth quarter. They think that fourth-quarter farm earnings will exceed last year's fourth-quarter levels, primarily because of higher revenue from crop sales. Demand for farm debt refinancing is expected to drop to its normal level by even more banks than currently report this condition.

Tom Anderson Returns To Minister In Music

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

A firm believer in the contention that to those who have the proper training and education blindness is reduced to being a nuisance, Tom Anderson will return to Thief River Falls Monday, December 19, in a program of gospel music and message. He will be accompanied by his wife Linda, also blind, and their presentation will be at the December meeting of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International.

The meeting will be conducted at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Public attendance at the program is invited by members of the local FGBMFI chapter.

A native of Greenbush who attended school at the Minnesota school for the blind at Faribault from kindergarten through 10th grade, Anderson transferred to School District 564 and attending his junior and senior years at Lincoln high school, graduating in 1971. He was one of five blind students in the school system at that time and says he really enjoyed the public school experience.

"It was better for me," he explained about the transfer here from Faribault. He said the program at the school for the blind was gearing more toward work with the retarded and he needed a greater challenge. The public school provided that challenge and his grades improved dramatically as he adjusted to the public classroom. He played baritone in the band under the direction of John Moum and was on the B squad wrestling team coached by Ed Krystosek. With 212 students in his graduating class, he became best-acquainted with those in his interest fields of music and sports.

While at the school for the blind, he was a member of the choir which was selected to perform for the national music educators association and the band which consistently won superior ratings in state area competition. The director of the band was a violinist who auditioned and was accepted for inclusion in the Minnesota orchestra but declined the offer. He was a strong personality who would not accept mediocre performance by his students.

From Lincoln Tom went on to Northland community college, directing his efforts toward an eventual four-year degree in political science. He was in the choir and band and in Northland's first musical, "The Music Man," he was a member of the town council quartet.

Tom completed his political science major and added a music minor at St. Cloud state university, graduating in the fall of 1975 and being selected by his class as student commencement speaker. He was in the choir at St. Cloud state and while there became involved as precinct chairman for the Stearns county DFL party, was a co-founder of the local services corporation and had his first exposure to the national federation of the blind.

He served a two-month internship for Congressman Richard Nolan in Washington, DC, answering constituent mail and preparing a newsletter.

In October of 1976 he felt called into the ministry and enrolled in an American Baptist seminary. After a short time there he transferred to Faith Bible college, a non-denominational school in Great Bend, KA. In July of that year he had married his wife Linda, a native of Overland Park, KA, who he had met at a federation of the blind convention.

"We had both gone to the convention in the summer of 1975 in Chicago," Linda explains. "A music committee was being formed and a chairman was to be selected. I got up and gave my credentials to explain how I was qualified to be chairman. Tom was sitting behind me, and he also gave his qualifications, as did a number of other people. Neither one of us won, but we

TOM ANDERSON and his wife Linda will present the program for the Full Gospel Business Men's fellowship on December 19 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Tom will be returning to the community where he attended two years of high school and graduated from both Lincoln high and Northland community college. A native of Greenbush, he is now involved in a music and gospel ministry. Tom and Linda, who are both blind, now live in Lawrence, KA, where they are in charge of music at Wellsville Assemblies of God church.

Survey To Ask Farmers About Values and Debt

Survey of area farmers by mailed questionnaire begins this week with farmers asked to complete the information requested and return the forms within five days. Objective is to provide additional financial information on a current basis with which to convince government that long term, low interest debt consolidation is a necessity for survival of many area farmers and businessmen.

A group operating under the title of "Concerned Farmers and Businessmen" has organized to prepare and distribute the questionnaires and to collect and tabulate the data from returns. Members of the group also intend to follow up by providing and interpreting the information gathered to legislators and officials in the federal administration.

Contention of the group is that information has never been compiled which accurately portrays liquidation value of farmland, machinery, equipment or other chattels in relationship to debt load carried.

"Due to the loss of value on land and machinery and the continued loss of crops," a letter with the questionnaire explains, "a large number of creditors have bcome unsecured despite their mortgages on security agreements. Any loan or payment balance that can not be paid from the present liquidation of the assets pledged as security is deemed to be unsecured debt."

If debtors were to liquidate today, the letter points out, a number of creditors would be left short on payments. The group conducting the survey states that the difference between debt and ability to pay

Schedule Dairy Information Meets In Area

Meetings to provide dairy farmers information on the dairy compromise bill are scheduled for Goodridge in the senior citizens center on December 21, Thief River Falls in the courthouse meeting room on December 22 and Newfolden in the community center on December 27.

All meetings will begin at 1:30 p.m. and farmers can choose the date and location they prefer. Pennington county extension director Terry Courneya will discuss provisions of the program and conditions under which an individual dairyman is likely to benefit from participation in it.

Rules and regulations for participation will be reviewed by Phil Bergland and Jerry Turgeon, ASCS executive directors for Pennington and Marshall counties respectively.

The decision whether or not to participate in the program will require thoughtful consideration, Courneya said. 'A plan for feeding, scheduling breeding and reducing and-or rebuilding cow numbers should be determined, he added. The University of Minnesota has developed a worksheet to assist dairymen in making the best choice. This worksheet for hand calculation will be available at county extension offices this week.

There is also a computer analysis program available on individual request at the Pennington county office. Dairymen interested in utilizing the computer to assist in planning should call the county extension office.

City Council Meets Tues. On Sunday Liquor

Thief River Falls city council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in council chambers at city auditorium. Topics on the agenda include a request to allow on-sale liquor to be sold on Sunday, February 26, which is the date of the World Series snowmobile race in Thief River Falls.

Other topics on the agenda include: adoption of the 1984 budget, establishing boundaries of the area eligible for federal aid to urban systems, request to change the state aids formula, settlement of a defective utilities meter claim with L.B. Hartz Wholesale; approval of on-sale intoxicating liquor licenses for 1984; presentations from the back court basketball club and a special use permit request from Carl Ferber; and an agreement relating to the paying agency for $200,000 in general obligation bonds.

Rail Line Subject Of Meeting Thur.

"How slow will the trains go before they quit running?" is a question to be asked at a meeting regarding the Burlington Northern line from Highway 32 to Warroad Thursday at 7 p.m. in the city auditorium basement in Thief River Falls.

Options for rehabilitating the line are to be discussed at the meeting which is being arranged through the Northwest regional development commission. Traffic along the line is reportedly restricted to less than 10 miles per hour with some segments of the track being closed during portions of the year due to poor track conditions.

The Burlington Northern segment in question — which runs from Warroad through Salol, Roseau, Greenbush, Middle River, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls to the main line track just south of highway 2 — is nor currently listed in any abandonment category but has been given little maintenance attention.

According to the regional commission, BN officials have indicated that the line will be looked at closely to determine whether revenues from shipping on the line will be able to offset the high cost of making track improvements.

A good portion of traffic on the line is generated by Marvin Windows at Warroad. The line also carries a large volume of grain from this area and is used to bring fertilizer and farm machinery as well as other items into the area. Although Thief River Falls itself is served by both the BN and Soo Line railroads, the local industrial park is served by the Burlington Northern and is therefore tied to the future economic vitality of this community.

Shippers and other interested persons are encouraged to attend the Thursday evening meeting to discuss the status of the line and options for its rehabilitation. Minnesota department of transportation officials will be present to review the possibility of assisting such rehabilitation efforts through the Minnesota rail service improvement program. Formation of a rail shippers association will also be explored, according to Wayne Goeken of the regional commission staff.

Goeken said that BN officials indicated declining shipping volume and therefore lower revenues show up in recent records. If the line is only marginally profitable, track improvement may not be forthcoming unless it can be shown to the railroad that revenues from increased shipments on the line will offset the costs of improvements.

Costs of improvements to bring the line up to standard have been placed in excess of $10 million. Should the Minnesota rail service improvement program become involved, it would provide 60 per cent of the initial funding with shippers to provide a minimum of 10 per cent and the railroad to provide the remainder.

The 70 per cent of funding provided by the shippers and the state program would be in the form of a no-interest loan to the railroad, to be repaid by the railroad over a long-term period with revenues from the line.

Charles Sanft of the rail division of the Minnesota department of transportation will attend the Thief River Falls session and point out costs and potential of state participation. No representation from Burlington Northern is expected at this meeting. Area legislators are expected to be in attendance, including Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer and Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy who conducted hearings on the matter in Roseau county in July.

Burlington Northern centralized service on the line in the past year, eliminating agencies at Thief River Falls and Roseau but leaving an agent at Warroad while consolidating agency service at Crookston for the remainder of the line.

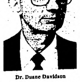
Duane Davidson Killed In Crash

Head-on collision on highway 1 about nine miles east of Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon took the life of Dr. Duane Davidson, 52, a partner in the Thief River clinic and a physician here since 1964.

Dr. Davidson was the driver of a west-bound car which collided head-on with another vehicle about 5:30 p.m. According to the state patrol which investigated the accident, there was heavy snow, blowing snow and poor visibility at the scene of the mishap. Dr. Davidson was dead at the scene and believed to have been killed instantly, according to the patrol report.

A passenger in the Davidson car was his wife Jeanette, 54, who received fractured ribs and was hospitalized at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

Driver of the east-bound car was Brian Wayne Holthusen, 18, Grygla, who received a fractured leg and was also hospitalized in Thief River Falls. A passenger in the Holthusen car, Lester Allen Johnson, 24, Thief River Falls, sustained bumps and bruises and was treated and released from the hospital here.



Dr. Duane Davidson

Shortly after the initial collision, a third car driven west by Arthur Joppru, 72, Thief River Falls, struck one of the vehicles and sustained some damage. Neither Joppru nor his passengers — his wife Evelyn, 65, and Harvey Dyrud, 77, Newfolden — were injured. The accident continues under investigation.

Funeral arrangements for Dr. Davidson are pending at the Green Funeral home.

County Fair Meet Tonight

Annual meeting of the Pennington county fair association will be conducted tonight (Monday at 8 p.m. in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Board chairman "Skip" Swanson has asked for a large turnout of members to assist in determining future direction of the 82-year-old county fair, which has a projected $6,000 deficit for 1984 operations.

Directors whose terms expire include Si Hanson, Arlen Ellingson, LaVerne Hamre, Beth Blankenfeld, Terry Nelson, Selmer Holen and Bernard Huot. Directors are elected for two-year terms and all persons who hold a $5 lifetime membership in the association are eligible to vote at the annual meeting.

DECORATING OF an official Thief River Falls Christmas tree was conducted on Wednesday morning in Elks Park, as a cooperative effort between Paul Bedard and Larry Kron of the city utilities department and Jane Mackenroth of the chamber of commerce. An official lighting ceremony will be conducted at 8 p.m. Thursday, with an opening prayer by Rev. Stanley Bourassa, reading of a proclamation by Mayor Bob Carlson, and a performance of Christmas music by the Lincoln high school chorus. Ceremonies will be followed by caroling to the Chamber of Commerce office where hot chocolate and cookies will be served. Ceremony will be carried by radio station KTRF.

Dairy Farmers Warned Not To Sell To Others

Dairy farmers who are interested in participating in the federal government's new dairy program are being warned not to sell their cows to other farmers.

"Selling, leasing or otherwise transferring cows to other farmers will disqualify one from milk payments under the program," said Paul Hasbargen, University of Minnesota extension economist. "This aspect of the law is already in effect and has been since November 8."

Dairy farmers who have historically sold animals for breeding purposes will be able to continue, but others who want to participate in the program should avoid cow sales until they can check on final program regulations, which may not be out until the end of the year.

President Reagan last week signed the bill establishing a program to pay dairy farmers to cut back milk production. The program will begin January 1.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

New Residents Are Welcomed At Valley Home

Seven new residents were welcomed at Valley Home during the month of November, according to the monthly report submitted by Ella Overum, the Home's news reporter.

New residents welcomed were Julia Anderson, Peter Ostlund, Florence Anderson, Clifford Lindquist, Mildred Splittstoesser, Hilda Klopp and Sivert Sjulson.

The November birthdays were observed at a party on Friday afternoon, November 25, with a musical program presented by Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Dalzell and their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Leroy Scheumann.

For the occasion, those noting birthdays in November were seated at a special table and were presented with cards and cash gifts from the Home. The birthday lunch featured a pumpkin dessert.

Residents noting their birthdays and the dates were Hilda Johnson, November 4; Olaf Olson, who was 102 years old November 10; Ella Overum, November 13; Minnie Walhaug, November 14; Bjarne Olson, November 16; Mathilda Berget, November 19; Erick Rensla, November 20; Mary Welch, November 27; Laura Lund, November 28; and Selma Douttiel, November 30.

On Olaf Olson's 102nd birthday, the Home served ice cream and cake to the residents and guests in his honor. Special treats were also served on their respective birthdays by some of the other residents. Minnie Walhaug and Selma Douttial served ice cream; Bjarne Olson, strawberry flavored ice cream; and Carol Ness of Middle River served decorated birthday cake on Mary Welch's birthday, and Erick Rensla's relatives served cake and ice cream in his honor. As a special treat, Olive Lunke a member of the staff, served Krumkake to all residents and staff.

Of great interest were the slides of the Martin Luther Tour to East Germany shown by Carroll Parnow and his wife of Charlotte, N.C., who were visiting his mother, Mary Parnow, during Thanksgiving week. In showing pictures of the church which Luther attended 500 years ago, Parnow stated that the churches in East Germany are well kept as tourist attractions. He said that only the very aged attend church as the working class are in jeopardy of losing their jobs if they are caught attending services. The majority of the wealthy class are communists and do not attend church, and the youth are prevented from attending church due to the compulsory activities which are scheduled on Sundays. Consequently, he said, none of the priests of pastors are young.

Other special programs during the month were presented by Carl Ekwall's daughter, Gloria Jasperson, who played the piano, organ and accordion; Ray and Jodi Housker, who played the guitar and sang; the Ekelund Lutheran church choir of Erie, who presented a program and served sweet breads; the Christian Fellowship group of Plummer, who presented a program; the Evangelical Free church women, who gave a program and served cinnamon bread; the Happy Seniors Rhythm band, who entertained the group; St. Bernard's guild, who served homemade doughnuts; the Rebekah circle of Trinity Lutheran church, who served a variety of sweet breads; the CAP students, who presented a Thanksgiving program; and Rev. Art Ortmann of Warroad, who showed a Christian film.

Devotional services were led by Lester Brekke, Rev. Ollie Urdahl with Mark Kelly leading the singing; Rev. Floyd Dalzell, Dean Benson; Art Grimstad, assistant pastor at Our Saviour's Lutheran church; Rev. Dave Super of St. Bernard's Catholic church, and Rev. Berton Hushagen of Trinity Lutheran church, who offered Holy Communion the last Wednesday of the month;

Also Rev. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of the Lutheran Brethren church; the Lowell Trochmanns, Norris Trochmann and Laurie, Dean Paskewitz, Don Johnson, Gary Ellingson and Harvey Dyrud.

Weekly Bible studies were led by Judith Wold and Tim Trudeau, intern pastor at the Evangelical Free church.

Outside activities included going to the polls and shopping. The monthly bowling game with Oakland Park Nursing home were held Valley Home with the Valley Home team winning the event, and retaining the Rabbit trophy.

Of special interest was a visit from former activities co-ordinator Gail Zaharies, who is now employed at a nursing home near Chicago.

Other activities included weekly games with Constance Driscoll and Earl Yonke in charge, baking day on Tuesday, and hair day on Wednesday with beauticians giving perms and cutting and setting hair, in the remodeled shop in the Home. Regular activities include exercise sessions, dart ball, shiffle board, movies with pop corn, band and choir practice, shop work and crafts.

Winslow Chapter 182 To Meet Wednesday

Winslow chapter 182, Order of Eastern Star, will meet Wednesday at 8:00 p.m., at the Masonic hall. The evening will include a gift exchange.

All members are encouraged to attend.

Mary Parnow Is Honored On 98th Birthday

Mrs. Mary Parnow of this city celebrated her 98th birthday on Tuesday, December 6, at a birthday party at Valley Home where she is residing.

Hosting the event were her children: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parnow, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Parnow, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Parnow and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey (Alice) Patton. They served cup cakes and ice cream to all the residents and staff.

At the birthday table, where the honored guest was seated, was an arrangement of lavender and white mums, as well as a decorated birthday cake.

Those coming to extend birthday greetings were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patten, Mrs. Esther Lindquist and her granddaughter Wendy Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burstad, Mrs. Emma Erickson, Mrs. Otis Wold, Mrs. Bruce Hall, Mrs. Mary Reierson and her Brownie troop, Mrs. Ken Mehrkens, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parnow, Robert Parnow, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Parnow, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Patten and Dr. Leo Herber. Evening callers were Ann Zinter and Esther Beiswenger.

Unable to attend but extending birthday wishes by telephone were her son, Carroll of North Carolina, who had visited her at Thanksgiving, her daughter, Ethel Christianson of California, and her grandchildren living in California, Michigan, North Carolina, Illinois and Texas.

On Sunday prior to her birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parnow, their son Ross and Mamie Kulseth brought a birthday cake and had coffee with Mrs. Parnow.

Nelson And Erickson Engagement Announced

Veronica Nelson an Timothy Erickson, together with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne J. Nelson, Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Erickson, Thief River Falls, have announced their engagement and plans to be married June 2 at St. Peter and Paul Catholic church in Warren.

Miss Nelson is employed by J.A. Anderson, Jr., DDS, Grand Forks, N.D.; and Erickson is an installment loan manager at Northern State Bank, Thief River Falls.

Gust Qualeys Will Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Qualey of Middle River will be honored on their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house on Sunday, December 18, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m., at the Community center at Middle River.

Hosting the open house will be the couple's children.

All friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

USE OF MAKE-UP was demonstrated by cosmetology students at the Thief River Falls AVTI during "Careers in Action" day Thursday. High school students were given demonstrations on class activities and an introduction to career fields in the visitation program. Melinda Trudeau applies make-up to one of the high school visitors who volunteered for one of the demonstrations.

Freda Ekdahl And Orville Gulseth Wed At Wayzata

Freda Ekdahl, formerly of St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, became the bride of Orville Gulseth of Mena, Ark., on Thanksgiving day.

The wedding ceremony took place at Wayzata, at the home of the bride's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strom. Rev. Gerhard Bode officiated.

Mrs. Henry Amundson of St. Louis Park, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Best man was the groom's son, Martin Gulseth of Scottsdale, Ariz.

Prior to the ceremony, music was provided by Yvonne Ekdahl with clarinet selections played by Susan Strom, granddaughter of the bride.

The couple will be making their home in Minnetonka.

Oakland Park Residents Note November Events

Birthdays and private Sunday dinners highlighted activities at Oakland Park Nursing home during the month of November.

Five residents observed their birthdays at the joint birthday party held November 29. Hosting the party were members of the Rebekah circle of Zion Lutheran church, Viking. A brief program was given with Rev. Robert Moberg in charge of devotions.

Residents noting birthdays and the date of their birth were Alice Jesme, November 2, 1900; Theresa Ristau, November 3, 1894; Nick Urdahl, November 8, 1885; Clara Bloomquist, November 9, 1894; and Anne Oftelie, November 11, 1895. On Mrs. Jesme's birthday, her family served lefse and doughnuts to the residents.

Those hosting Sunday dinners were Nels Olson, November 6 with Mrs. Warren Hanestad and children as guests; Signe Evenson, November 13, with Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad and Mrs. Ethel Wiseth as guests; Carl Franson November 20 with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Anderson as guests; Bertha Klungness on November 24 with Pete Klungness as guest; and Daniel Danielson, November 27 with John Danielson as guest.

Visiting clergy were Rev. Berton Hushagen of Trinity Lutheran church, who offered Holy Communion to the residents; Rev. Dale Van Deusen of the Viking Covenant church; Rev. Earl Eveland of the Newfolden Evangelical Free church, and Rev. Charles Johnson of the Faith Lutheran Brethren church.

Devotional programs with special music were presented by the Trochmann family and the Dalzells; and musical programs were given by the Rhythm band, Dicky Miller and Vernon Iverson, who provided entertainment for the Happy Hour, and Susan Wiseman of Warren, who sang to the group and served open-face sandwiches. Members of the Rachael circle of Trinity Lutheran church visited the home, presented a program, and served lunch.

Veterans Day was observed at a special breakfast served by Donna Knott and veteran Sherryll Irvine, the administrator. Residents recognized, who are veterans, were Stanley Lausness, Leonard Fergan, Ole Ness, Louie Meyer, Will Anderson and Ellert Lien.

On November 8, several of the residents spent the afternoon making lefse for a special treat; and on November 14, the residents welcomed a visit from their adopted grandchildren from the Seventh-day Adventist school. The time was spent visiting and creating Thanksgiving decorations. On November 23, the residents babysat for the children of the Sarah circle of Zion Lutheran church. In addition to Thanksgiving crafts, the group celebrated the second birthday of one of the youngsters.

Other activities during the month included games sponsored by the Legion and Eagles auxiliaries, card games and movies with popcorn.

WCTU Together With Academy Gives Program

Thief River Falls Women's Christian Temperance Unit annual Christmas party at Valley Home was held Monday afternoon with the students at Our Savior's Christian academy presenting the program.

The program was a preview of the musical "A Miracle Happened at Christmas," which was presented to the public on Thursday night. The musical featured children preparing for Christmas, wrapping gifts and distributing them to a school for special children. In a mix-up of gifts, the deaf child was given a music box. The children witness a miracle as the child hears the music and begins humming the melody. The program concluded with the children acknowledging that the greatest miracle happened at Christmas with the birth of Jesus.

Selections sung by the children were "It's Merry Christmas," "Come all who seek good Cheer," "Christmas is a time for being Thankful," "What's so Merry about Christmas," "A Loving time of Year," "God's still doing Miracles," and "A Miracle happened at Christmas."

Rev. Floyd Dalzell gave the devotional medication and served as master of ceremonies.

As a special treat, the members of the WCTU served Christmas breads, cookies and fruit juice to all the children, teachers, residents, and staff.

Sparby Award Noted Work On Board Transfer

State Representative Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls, who was chosen "Legislator of the Year" by the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts, says "I'm naturally pleased and honored to have been given this award. It makes me feel that my efforts in soil and water conservation have been recognized."

Sparby was author of a bill during the 1983 legislative session which transferred the state soil and water conservation board from the department of natural resources to the state agriculture department.

"Minnesota is first and foremost an agricultural state, and the soil and water we are protecting are essential to our number one industry," he said. "It just makes sense to coordinate our soil and water policy with the farmers who work the land."

Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Nichols was the guest speaker at the annual awards luncheon.

Surplus Food Distribution Is Next Week

Surplus cheese, butter and honey will be distributed on December 19, 20 and 21, within the four county area served by Inter-County Community Council Inc. (ICCC), Oklee, to households meeting income guidelines.

ICCC Outreach staff and local volunteers will be distributing the commodities on Tuesday, December 20, at the following locations and times: Thief River Falls auditorium, 9 a.m. to noon; St. Hilaire council room, 1 to 2 p.m.; Goodridge senior building, 3 to 4 p.m.; Emardville Hall in Plummer, 1 to 2 p.m.; Brooks town hall, 1 to 2 p.m.; and Eckstein in Red Lake Falls, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

On Monday, December 19, commodities will be distributed from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Gully church and Trail VFW Hall. On Wednesday, December 21, distribution will take place from 2 to 3 p.m. at the Oklee municipal building.

Robert Melby, ICCC administrator-planner, asked that potential recipients not call the distribution sites for information, adding that commodities should be picked up locally if possible, in order to assist the staff in planning. He noted that commodities will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis, for as long as they last or until the scheduled ending time.

Eligibility guidelines allow a maximum annual gross income of $8,326 for a household of one; $10,877 for two; $13,450 for three; $16,012 for four; $18,574 for five; $21,136 for six; 21,616 for seven; $22,097 for eight; $22,577 for nine; and $23,057 for 10.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. J.R. Borchert
506 Maple Avenue South
Thief River Falls

Walnut Cheese Log

2 cups chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon butter, melted
¼ teaspoon salt
one-eighth teaspoon pepper
1 8-oz., package cream cheese, softened
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
2 cups grated Swiss cheese
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
1 teaspoon paprika

Method: Pour walnuts into a shallow pan and toss with butter. Toast in a 300 degree oven for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from oven and strinkle with salt and pepper. Cool. Chop one cup walnuts medium fine. Combine the cheeses and seasonings and beat together until well blended. Stir in medium fine walnuts. Divide mixture into two parts and shape each into a roll. Roll logs in remaining chopped walnuts. Wrap logs in foil, pressing walnuts into cheese. Chill.

Mrs. Borchert stated that she cannot take credit for this recipe as she dipped into her husband's specialities for the copy. Among this culinary arts are his fruit cakes and candies. In the business, he is an agent for the Horance Mann insurance company, and Mrs. Borchert is a substitute teacher.

They have two children: Gayle, 15, a freshman at Lincoln high school, and Paul, 11, a fifth grader at Mark Twain.

Mrs. Borchert lists cross country skiing as her favorite means of relaxation.

They are members of Zion Lutheran church.

CSWPCA Gives Bud Enge Top Operator Honor

Thief River Falls' wastewater treatment system is recognized statewide as a model of efficiency and design, and Leland "Bud" Enge, wastewater supervisor for the city, is acknowledged by his peers as an authority on such systems. However, he remains rather humble about his position, preferring to leave the "horn blowing" to someone else.

In fact, if other employees within the city utilities department hadn't brought it to our attention, the general public probably would have remained unaware of the fact that Enge was presented with the "Operations Award" of the Central States Water Pollution Control Association (CSWPCA), recognizing him as the top operator in the state of Minnesota for the last year. Presentation of the award was made at the annual meeting of the CSWPCA, held May 19, in Delavan, WI., with operators from Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota attending.

Enge was nominated for the award by members of the Minnesota operations award subcommittee, who noted that he has been superintendent at the Thief River Falls wastewater treatment facility since 1963. Although he is only required to have a class-C operators certificate, Enge has earned and maintains a class-B license. His immediate supervisor, John T. Anderson, city superintendent of utilities, notes that Enge is "continually striving to better the system, the crew and himself by attending seminars and taking correspondence courses." He has also passed a special course on operation and maintenance of wastewater collection systems.

Bud has been an active member of both the Minnesota wastewater operators association (MWOA) and the CSWPCA, serving as president of the MWOA from August 1981 to August 1982, and on the executive board of the association for eight or nine years prior to being elected president. As a member of that group he has hosted numerous educational seminars and programs in Thief River Falls for wastewater operators throughout the state.

According to Anderson, improvements made to the local wastewater system by Enge have included development of a mapping system showing the complete wastewater network, including mains, lifts and manholes, to better keep track of work records; installation of alarms in all lift stations to warn of overloading due to either mechanical failure or high water levels; addition of new equipment to provide better service to customers; and updating lift stations to increase capacity and efficiency.

Anderson notes that Enge has made these improvements without additional staff and at considerable savings to the city. In a letter accompanying the nomination, Anderson concluded "Bud has good rapport with the people he works for and the people that work with him. He is liked and respected at work and in the community. If every superintendent had a supervisor like Mr. Enge, their job would be immeasurably easier."

Bud's philosophy on maintenance is to "act before you have to react", and he has set up a daily, monthly and yearly program to maintain the integrity of the system. In addition crews of city employees have begun a program of inspections to find leaks and illegal connections into the system which can contribute to overloading during periods of extremely heavy rainfall. Utilization of smoke testing, now underway, has not located any leaks in the city system so far, but Enge notes that a number of potentially dangerous, faulty connections within homes have been discovered.

Enge's job is an awesome one when you consider that he is responsible for over 40 miles of sanitary sewer mains, 10 lift stations, and the treatment system which includes two 125 acre primary treatment ponds and one 83 acre secondary treatment pond. That system is designed to handle 1.4 million gallons of sewage per day, and Bud notes that at the end of November they were pumping 1.383 million gallons per day, which is pretty close to optimum efficiency.

Is he concerned about the future? Bud says the city is in pretty good shape if industrial development should require expansion of the system. "That's one nice thing about the process we use," he says. "It's real easy to increase capacity just by adding on to the system, and the city already has additional land in the area of the holding ponds if they need it."

Survey To Ask Farmers About Value And Debt

creditors from proceeds of forced liquidation needs to be publicized. There is a tendency by financial instructions, the group says, "to cover up this existing worthless debt."

Farmers are not asked to identify themselves on the questionnaire but to calculate as accurately as they can the information requested. This includes information on the land, machinery and chattels they own, its market and cash liquidation values and the amount of debt owned to various types of creditors. Only composite information collected will be released.

Tom Anderson Returns For Music Ministry

did talk and enjoy each other's company throughout the remainder of the convention."

Later they began corresponding, then calling and eventually visiting each other's homes and marrying the following year. They have expanded on their musical ministry, traveling in the midwest and southwest. They have even had a six-week stint in Zambia, Africa, where Tom was one of five Americans on a team teaching 20 blind Zambian students how to use a cane for mobility.

The Zambia experience was a minor triumph for Tom who is upset with the prevalance of bureaucracy in this country. "In this country," he said, "it seems to be assumed that you have to have a master's degree to teach someone how to move a cane back and forth and listen for traffic lights. That's nonsense!"

While he was in Zambia he also had the opportunity to minister at an Assemblies of God tabernacle there. He and Linda-both would like to go back to Zambia some day and to otherwise expand on their teaching ministry. Linda has a degree from Kansas state university with a major in music and is an accomplished pianist, having received an award from the federated music clubs of America.

In their ministry they make themselves available for programs in all manner of churches of all denominations. "You name it and we've probably been in it," Linda quips. But they share a preference for the charismatic type religious bodies where there is more emotional freedom of expression of a relationship with God than in the more traditional services.

The Andersons have developed a varied repertoire of music from old hymns to jazz to near rock and roll to Hebrew style. They say they could present a program of five to six hours in length without repeating a song, yet they rarely plan a program in advance or decide what music they will present. "We let the moment dictate what we present," Linda said. "It's hard for someone else to understand, but it works."

Recently Tom and Linda adopted the name "Heralds of Victory" for their ministry and they make their home in Lawrence, KA. Although they have family in this area (Tom's father, Joe Anderson, still lives at Greenbush), their main purpose in coming here at this time is for the Full Gospel Business Men's program next Monday.

Sighted people might think it would be difficult for a blind couple to make their way around the nation, handle arrangements for travel and programs and conduct other business. Tom and Linda have a different perspective on the situation.

"Really," Linda explains, "the most difficult thing is having people grabbing you and trying to help you. In an airport, all we usually need is for someone to give us directions on how to get where we have to go. We'll get there . . . and we prefer to walk rather than ride a cart."

Tom has had his share of experiences with common carriers, especially since there has been an emphasis placed on catering to handicapped. "They assume the worst in everything," he said. "Like they want you to stow your cane while aboard the plane. 'If we crash,' they say, 'we'll get everyone else out first and then come back and get you.'"

"And if we crashed," Linda adds with classic logic, "the lights would probably go out and we would have to lead everybody else out anyway."

The Andersons work to dispel the idea that many seem to have that blind people are somewhat retarded, or unable to think for themselves, or hard of hearing, or all musically talented. "There's good folks and kooks among us just like everybody else," Linda laughs.

Tom recalls a blind friend and his sighted wife to agree before entering a restaurant that the wife would pretend to be deaf. When the waitress asked the common question "what does he want?" of the wife, she stared obliviously into space. "Oh, are you talking to my wife?" the blind man asked. "She's deaf." The waitress became so flustered she had to leave and ask for help.

Linda had a seeing eye dog for about four and one-half years and was trained in its use and in other mobility aspects at "The Seeing Eye" in Morritown, NJ. She greatly appreciated the use of the dog, but when it developed cancer and died, she did not replace it.

How would Tom and Linda describe their work?

"We believe God is in the needs-meeting business," Linda says. "He will be very much a part of our daily lives if we let him be. Too many people who need three good meals a day for their bodies are content with one cold meal a week for their spirit. You should be able to get together with God on a more frequent and personal basis."

MIXED FEELINGS were exhibited by Chris Pribula, 4, and his brother Joey, 2, as they took their turn on the knee of Santa Claus at the Chamber of Commerce office on Saturday. "Tell him what you want for Christmas Joey," said Chris. Although a candy cane helped to ease his suspicions a little, Joey still didn't appear real sure that he wanted to talk to anyone but Dad. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Greg Pribula of Thief River Falls.

TOO YOUNG to doubt the existence of Santa Claus, Kirsten Hanson, eight months, gave him a good looking over anyway, as she took her turn on the knee of the jolly old elf at the Chamber of Commerce office on Saturday. Those fluffy white whiskers were even more interesting than the candy canes he was handing out for such a tiny tot. Kirsten is the daughter of Gary and Sherril Hanson of Thief River Falls.

AVTI Presents Careers Event

More than 150 students from Karlstad, Warren, Hallock, Plummer, Strandquist, Kennedy and Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls took part in the "Careers in Action" day Thursday at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute.

Demonstrations were provided by instructors and selected students in AVTI programs to illustrate skills and equipment used in various career areas. Demonstration periods were 30 to 35 minutes in length which allowed students to have exposure to three interest areas during each half-day program.

Two hundred and forty-eight demonstrations were included in the total program throughout the day, according to Vern Treat, director of student services at the AVTI. Aviation mechanics program was presented at the airport facility and those students attending those sessions were transported to and from the airport.

Demonstrations by department included the following:

Architectural Drafting and Design — Computer operating drafting system;

Auto Mechanics — Wheel balancing, scope demonstration, valve grinding and seating and demonstration of exhaust analyzer;

Aviation Mechanics — Fabric repair, sheet metal riveting, measurement of engine components, painting, magneto installation, operational engine check, magniflux of steel parts, electrical trouble-shooting using a multimeter, 100-hour engine inspection, rigging retractable landing gear, sheet metal fitting and bending and alternator and regulator circuit testing;

Broadcasting — Involvement in FM work schedule and production area;

Business — Word processing, data processing and electronic calculator;

Cosmetology — Long hair and special nail techniques and porcelain make-up for teens;

Electronics — Color TV setup, microcomputer running a moter or playing music, Hero I robot demonstration and robotic arm demonstration;

Farm Equipment Mechanics — Dynometer and spark plug ignition timing demonstrations;

Farm Operation and Management — IBM personal computer and record keeping and accounting records demonstration;

Sales, Marketing and Management — Sign press demonstration, pinning and flying, cash register and computers and sales;

Welding — Shielded metal arc, gas metal arc, gas tungsten arc and oxy-acetylene welding.

Cosmetology instructors Maxine Mottram and Darlene Sunram noted that their students had worked many hours to prepare their skills for the demonstration program. Carol Narlock and Pam Robb, advanced juniors, demonstrated long hair design with ornamentation; Myra Kaste, Brenda Rice and Kelly Swanson, senior students, demonstrated artificial nail extension; Theresa Haaven, senior student, explained oil and plain manicures; Connie Hansen, Robyn Juelson and Angie Strieff showed make-up looks for teens, evening and the new porcelain look.

Any community group interested in a cosmetology presentation may call Mrs. Mottram at 681-5424.

Pallbearers were Keith Gram, Donald Sourdif, Floyd Borgen, Robert Lorenson, Gordon Sourdif and Myron Peterson with Lavern Rondorf serving as honorary pallbearer.

Military honors were accorded by members of the Thief River Falls American Legion.

John H. Qualey, a son of the late Henry and Christine Johnson Qualey, was born Dec. 11, 1906 at Sharon, N.D. He moved with the family to Salol and lived there until 1921, when they moved to Argyle. In 1932, he moved to the Newfolden area.

He was married June 7, 1943 at Newfolden to Maxine Robison. The couple lived in Newfolden where Qualey operated a grocery store and later a radio shop. He also worked on the Soo Line Railroad. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army. Since 1965, the Qualeys have made their home in Thief River Falls.

He was a member of the American Legion.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Paul Qualey, Thief River Falls; two daughters: Mrs. Morris (Joyce) Blackberg, Solway; and Mrs. Richard (Nora) Peterson, Thief River Falls; five grandchildren, a brother, Gust Qualey, Middle River; and three sisters: Mrs. Carl (Clara) Bjorhus, Castle Rock, Wash.; Mrs. Lawrence (Gladys) Haugen, Warren; and Emelie Oslby, Argyle.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his step-father, a brother, and four sisters.

Rites Held At Oklee For Sable Bruggeman, 78

Mass of Christian Burial for Mrs. George (Sable) Bruggeman, 78, of Oklee, was offered Friday at 10:30 a.m., at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church in Oklee. Mrs. Bruggeman died Tuesday at the Lutheran Memorial Nursing home in Twin Valley, where she had been a resident since March of this year.

Concelebrants of the Mass were Rev. Keough Patnode and Rev. David Super. Selections were provided by the church choir with Jennifer Cyr as organist. Interment was in St. Athony's Catholic cemetery in Terrebonne. The Petterson Funeral home, Oklee, was in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Robert Wegner, Lester LaJambe, "Happy" Hince, Tom Toulouse, Arthur Piche and Otto Causin.

Serving as active pallbearers were Eugene, Richard and David Bruggeman, Raymond Lessard, Kenneth Lessard and Delton LaCoursiere.

Mrs. Bruggeman, the former Sable Emely Wegner, was born May 20, 1905 at Mentor to Frank and Mary Habein Wegner, now deceased. She grew to womanhood at Mentor, received her Teacher's training at Red Lake Falls, and taught in the area rural schools.

On June 7, 1927, she was married to George E. Bruggeman at Oklee. The couple farmed in the Brooks-Terrebonne area until 1963, when they retired and moved into Oklee. She resided there until she entered the Hillcrest Nursing home in Red Lake Falls on June 3, 1983. Since March 28 of this year, she had been a resident of the Lutheran Memorial nursing home.

Survivors are a son, James Bruggeman, Brooks; three grandchildren, a brother, George Wegner, Moorhead; and numerous nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died Feb. 21, 1977, a sister and four brothers.

REFLECTI NS
The greatest happiness is to be that which one is. Some of us foolishly spend our lives wishing for "what might have been." Meanwhile precious time slips by, opportunities are lost and our days are clouded by the energy we spend on finding excuses for our lack of success. Accept yourself, work toward self improvement and above all, build your self-esteem by honest endeavor.

KaKaygeesick Named "Artist Of The Month"

(Thief River Falls community arts council features an area artist each month, whose work is exhibited in the display case at Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls for that month. People who would like to recommend an artist to be featured should contact the arts council at 681-2980 or 681-4056.)

"Artist of the Month" selected for December is Robert KaKaygeesick of Warroad. A member of the Ojibwa tribe of American Indians, KaKaygeesick's artwork reflects his cultural heritage.

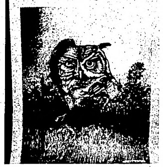
Although his work appears to be highly symbolic, KaKaygeesick contends that he draws pictures as he sees them, realistically, and does not strive for impressionism, abstract or symbolic art. That is just the way people see them.

To obtain fresh ideas for paintings, KaKaygeesick says he listens to his people talk and recall past incidents. Relying on discussions of symbolic ceremonies and dances which occur at pow wows and while visiting family and friends, the artist is inspired to create an expression of what was discussed through his drawings and paintings.

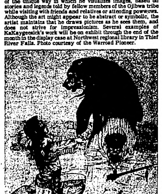
Growing up in Warroad, KaKaygeesick listened to his family tell Ojibwa legends and learned their deep respect for nature. Although he says he felt the need to express himself artistically even then, the Warroad school offered no art classes at the time, and his talent was not channeled in that direction. Later, he went to Milwaukee Institute of technology in Wisconsin, where he took courses in drafting. This was followed by a commercial art course in Minneapolis vocation technical school, where a teacher encouraged him to draw upon his Indian culture for his work. This was where he began developing the unique style he is associated with today.

Known both nationally and internationally, KaKaygeesick has had exhibits of his work shown in Calgary and Edmonton, Alberta, Vancouver and Fort McMurray, British Columbia; and Eatons and Wausau galleries in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada; as well as in Buffalo, NY and Minneapolis.

His display at the library will be open to the public during regular library hours.



ROBERT KAKAYGEESICK of Warroad has been chosen as December's "artist of the month" by the Thief River Falls community arts council. This recent painting is a good example of the unique way in which he visualizes images, based on stories and legends told by fellow members of the Ojibwa tribe while visiting with friends and relatives or attending powwows. Although the art might appear to be abstract or symbolic, the artist maintains that he draws pictures as he sees them, and does not strive for impressionism. Several examples of KaKaygeesick's work will be on exhibit through the end of the month in the display case at Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls. Photo courtesy of the Warroad Pioneer.



PENCIL DRAWING done by Robert KaKaygeesick of Warroad reflects the unique way in which he visualizes stories and legends told by the Ojibwa people of this area. KaKaygeesick has been selected as "artist of the month" by the Thief River Falls community arts council which will be exhibiting a number of his works at Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls through the end of December. Cancer Fund Memorials Are Received

Memorials to the cancer fund have been received by the Pennington county chapter of the American Cancer society in memory of Thelma Armstrong, Violet Hazard, Annie Woods, Nettie Dahlstrom, Leland Knight, Morris Bye and Ray Mosbeck.

"Memorial gifts are a fitting tribute to loved ones," stated Mrs. Charles Krause, memorial chairman. "These remembrances help support the research, education and service programs of the American Cancer society".

Year-End Tax Plans Offered To Businesses

If you own a small business, there are a few weeks left in which you can find ways to reduce your 1983 federal income tax bill. There are two basic ways to do it, says the Minnesota society of certified public accountants (CPAs). You can shift income into 1984, or increase deductions for 1983 before January 1.

This would involve careful planning plus an awareness of how tax laws affect you. Estimate your income and deductions for this year. Then, try to position the most deductions in the year with the highest income.

Postponing income can be as simple as delaying billings. That may be practical unless delays create December cash-flow problems.

There are many ways to increase your business deductions in 1983, CPAs say. For instance, if you plan buying business equipment early in 1984, move your purchase into 1983 instead. The way you qualify for your first depreciation deduction this year. Equipment purchased in December can be treated the same as equipment purchased in January — you get a full six months depreciation.

If you don't depreciate business property, you can "expense" up to $5,000 of the cost all at once. That's a $5,000 tax deduction for 1983 if you buy before the end of the year.

Another tax break in business equipment is the investment tax credit (ITC). During the year of purchase, you can subtract a portion of an asset's cost from your tax bill. For property written off in three years, the tax credit is six per cent of the asset's cost. For all property written off in more than three years, the tax credit is 10 per cent.

So, with a $5,000 computer (which has a five-year write-off period) you can deduct $500 directly from your 1983 tax bill. If you take the tax credit, however, the basis of your depreciable asset is reduced by one-half of the tax credit. With the $5,000 computer, the cost basis for depreciation is $4,740 ($5,000 cost minus half the $500 tax credit). If you claim the investment tax credit, however, you cannot "expense" the computer.

There are other business expenses that qualify for deductions if you act now. You could prepay some expenses, such as your anticipated first quarter tax bills or your January 1984 rent, utilities or other business expenses. With a cash basis business, you get the deduction when those bills are paid.

It could be beneficial to put your spouse or children to work in your business, CPAs say. They will have to do bona fide work and be paid realistic wages, but you can deduct those wages as a business expense. And, if your business is unincorporated, you won't have to pay social security tax on the wages of your spouse or children under 21. Keep in mind, your children probably won't be taxed on their earnings because they are in a lower tax bracket.

For another tax break, your spouse can put up $2,000 of his or her earnings into an individual retirement account (IRA) and pay no tax at all on those earnings until the money is withdrawn. Working couples can each contribute up to $2,000 into an IRA.

Keep in mind that the 10 per cent marital deduction that married couples can claim if they file jointly may be lost if your spouse contributes all his or her earnings to the IRA account. Also, if your spouse's wages are exempt from the social security tax, you may not be able to claim the marital deduction. Check with your CPA for details.

If you are a sole proprietor of a business and don't already have a Keogh retirement account, be sure to establish one before January — although you have until April 16, or your legally extended tax filing date to deposit the money. You can put 15 per cent of your income (up to $15,000) a year into a Keogh.

In addition to the Keogh, you can maintain an IRA. However, that account doesn't need to be established until your legal income tax filing date.

'U'M To Hold Graduation Ceremonies

Approximately 2,000 University of Minnesota students on the Twin Cities campus will don caps and gowns this month to participate in commencement ceremonies.

Many of the university's schools and colleges hold only one graduation ceremony each year, in the spring. Students participating in commencement ceremonies this month are those who completed their studies during the summer or fall terms in colleges holding winter ceremonies.

About 250 students in the College of Liberal Arts attended that college's ceremony Sunday recently in Northrop auditorium. Another 120 students are expected to participate in the school of management ceremony December 17 in Willey hall auditorium on the west bank.

Consumer Price Rise Greater Than Year Ago

Consumer prices in the North Central region increased 0.5 per cent from August to October, according to the U.S. department of labor's bureau of labor statistics. William E. Rice, regional commissioner for the bureau in Chicago, said the latest rise was smaller than increases in June and August but well above the 0.1 per cent decline recorded from August-October a year ago.

The North Central consumer price index for all urban consumers (CPI-U) for October of 1983 was 164.6 (Dec. 1977-100). This represents a 2.6 per cent gain from October of 1982, slightly below the national average increase of 2.9 per cent. The largest price advances were found in the northwest, where the CPI-U rose 3.4 per cent, and in the south, where prices climbed 3.2 per cent in the past 12 months. The smallest increases came in the west where consumer prices increased 2.3 per cent.

The transportation component, which advanced less than in August, was responsible for about one-third of the October increase in the North Central Region. Other goods and services and the apparel and upkeep components, both recording larger increases than in September, each accounted for about one-fourth of the increase. Advances in entertainment and medical care costs were additional, but minor, factors. The housing and food and beverages components rose slightly.

The transportation component advanced 1.0 per cent from August to October, down from a 1.6 per cent rise in the prior two-month period. Rising auto prices accounted for nearly all of the increase. Auto insurance costs are also higher. Rising tuition and other school fees were responsible for a 2.6 per cent jump in the other goods and services component. This component has risen 8.7 per cent in the past 12 months.

The apparel and upkeep index climbed 2.3 per cent in August-October following a 2.0 per cent rise in June-August. Most of the gain was attributed to a 4.6 per cent increase in men's and boys' apparel prices. Footwear prices were up, rising 3.1 per cent in two months. The food and beverage component rose for the first time since April, edging up 0.1 per cent. A 0.5 per cent gain in the cost of food away from home was mostly offset by a 0.4 per cent drop in grocery food prices. Four of five grocery food groups declined from August. Lower price tags were found on meats, milk and fresh fruits.

The housing component recorded its smallest gain in the last 12 months, rising 0.1 per cent in the two-month period. Increases in the shelter index, up 0.6 per cent, and in-house furnishings were mostly balanced by a 3.3 per cent cut in piped gas and electricity costs. The medical care component advanced 0.5 per cent, reflecting rising fees for professional medical services. Entertainment costs increased 1.1 per cent.

Advise Legacy As One Way To Make Donation

As local American Cancer Society volunteers begin planning the coming year's activities, Bob Stroble, legacy chairman of the Pennington county unit, notes that legacies and bequests can be a particularly meaningful way to support the fight against cancer.

"A bequest or gift in trust, can provide for members of the family in their lifetime and keep an estate intact for later use, he said. "These are the kinds of contributions that can bring hope to future generations." Stroble points out that contributions or bequests to the American Cancer Society are used to further cancer research and to provide education programs and services for local cancer patients.

He advises that persons interested in this method of supporting the fight against cancer can gain further information from an attorney, insurance agents or by writing to: Legacy and Planned Giving Committee, American Cancer Society, 3316 W. 66th St., Minneapolis, MN 55435.

Christmas Tree Safety Facts Are Offered

With Minnesotans getting ready to purchase Christmas trees during the next several weeks, the following safety recommendations are offered by state fire marshal Wes Werner of the Minnesota department of public safety:

+ When buying a natural tree, look first for freshness and check for a deep green color and strong pine scent.

+ Before setting up a tree, cut a couple of inches off the trunk, sawing diagonally, so water can be absorbed more easily. Mount the tree in a sturdy base which has a reservoir for water. Never set the tree close to a heat source.

+ Before stringing the lights on your Christmas tree, check to be sure that there are no broken or cracked sockets, loose connections or frayed wires.

+ Do not use more than three sets of lights per single extension cord. Always turn off all decorative lights before leaving home or going to bed.

+ Displaying a flame-retardant artificial tree is highly recommended. An artificial tree decorated with UL (Underwriters laboratory) tested electrical lights is acceptable in all homes.

+ Don't leave a natural tree in the house too long after Christmas. Check it for dryness and keep enough water in the tree stand.

Werner added that the Minnesota uniform fire code says the following rules apply to Christmas tree displays in schools, churches, stores and businesses:

+ Use or display of natural or resin bearing trees or decorations is prohibited in hospitals, nursing homes, jails, prisons and other institutional occupancies.

+ Use or display or natural or resin bearing trees is permitted in schools, churches, hotels - motels - lodging houses and mercantile occupancies, however, the trees may not be decorated with electric lights or open flame devices. He suggested that different-colored flood lights can be directed at the decorated tree. It makes for a unique effect and still sets off the tree in a special way. Some people use their creativity to cleverly decorate a tree using no lights whatsoever.

+ Use of flame retardant artificial trees decorated with U.L. listed electric-lighting systems is permitted in all occupancies.

+ Natural or resin bearing trees are not permitted to be stored on balconies or grounds of hotels, motels, apartments, condominiums or dormitories.

+ In places of assembly (e.g. bars, nightclubs, restaurants, ballrooms, bowling alleys, etc.) the uniform fire code requires that all decorative material, including Christmas trees, be flame retardant or be treated and maintained in a flame retardant condition.

73 Million Suffer From Lung Disease

According to the American Lund association 27 million American men, women and children report suffering from chronic respiratory disease. Many other millions suffer from acute, or short-term respiratory ailments. Total cost of these diseases in the U.S.A., including lost work days and medical costs, is $48.8 billion a year.

Over 17 million people suffer from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), which includes: 2.5 million persons with emphysema, 7.8 million with chronic bronchitis; and 6.8 million with asthma.

Asthma, furthermore, continues to be the most common chronic childhood disease and one of the leading causes of school absenteeism. Over eight million days of school are lost each year due to asthma-associated illnesses. Over two million people with asthma in the United States are children under 17 years.

Many lung diseases are avoidable. One of the best insurances against them is to give up smoking, or better yet, never to start. Avoidable lung diseases include some of the over 4,000 cases of lung cancer which are diagnosed each year in Minnesota. Long term follow-up studies of people with lung cancer find 75 per cent of lung cancer cases attributable to cigarette smoking.

"Respiratory diseases are treatable through proper medical care and self-help; and some, such as lung cancer, may be avoidable altogether," said Mildred Deanovic, president of the American lung association of Minnesota. "That's why we want to alert every individual to the importance of taking an interest in lung health."

With the support of Christmas seal contributions, the American lung association of Minnesota fights smoking, air pollution and all lung diseases year-round. Its patient and family education programs include "Freedom from smoking" cessation clinics and self-help manuals for adults who are ready to quit; "Smoking and pregnancy" — a health education, self-help package aimed at motivating pregnant mothers to quit smoking; "Superstuff" — a self-help kit of games, puzzles and stories for the child with asthma and his family; lung health education for schoolchildren; research in lung disease cause, treatment and prevention; and many more programs designed to help Minnesotans prevent and control lung disease.

"People can support the work of the American lung association of Minnesota," said Mrs. Deanovic, "by giving generously to Christmas seals and taking care of their lungs. As the lung association says, 'they're only human.'"

Economic Reality

Death of a striking Greyhound company employee beneath the wheels of a bus being operated by a driver in training is certainly an unfortunate happening. If it should be allowed to unduly influence the result of a vote by employees on contract settlement would only add to the misfortune.

The employee was killed when a group of strikers mobbed the bus and he accidently slipped beneath the vehicle. As this is being written it was uncertain if charges would be filed in the case. If they are, it would likely be more of an appeasement than an attempt at justice.

More and more companies seem to be willing to dismiss striking employees and hire replacements if labor negotiations are unsuccessful. It is a case of economic reality catching up to labor and management alike.

A recent editorial in the Bemidji Pioneer pointed out the economic simplicity of a complex situation as follows:

"An efficiently run inter-city bus service could make enough money in years past for Greyhound to pay its average driver $27,000 a year. Because Greyhound was profitable and had a virtual lock on a very healthy market share, the unions that represented its employees had little trouble winning comparatively generous contracts. The same was true for airline employees. Their wage and benefit hikes could simply be passed on to the public by the federal bureaucrats who regulated the industry and effectively set air fares.

"But airline deregulation has lowered fares, especially in relation to operating costs and to the expense of other forms of transportation. So Greyhound is now losing money steadily as more travelers decide to fly. So are those airlines that have not yet fully adjusted to operating in a deregulated, competitive marketplace.

"Greyhound and the currently unprofitable airlines can choose to continue losing money until they collapse, or they can cut their operating costs in line with revenues. Choosing the latter, which means choosing to survive, requires that unsustainable labor costs somehow be reduced. If Greyhound's employees will not accept the necessity for earning less as the only alternative to the company going bankrupt, what choice does management have but to find workers who will accept what the company can afford to pay?"

That is economic reality, and as unpopular as it may be to some — including the striking employees — it means the difference between staying in business or closing up shop. And nobody gains if the latter happens.

Going With The Flow

It is interesting watching politicians and political strategists fall all over themselves and each other in emphasizing what has been described as the "gender gap." It is an exercise in contradictions that provides a good deal of wry humor.

Particularly humorous are the advocates of "feminism," women and men alike, who lament the lack of opportunity for women to be individuals in one breath and espouse the strength of political power in the next. They reject or take exception to suggestions that men and women have different thought processes or motivations than men, yet they contend that women will react differently than men in political situations.

Dorothy S. Ridings, president of the League of Women Voters of the United States, is quoted in a publication by the National Forum of Washington, DC, as stating: "Why this showering of attention? Something called the 'gender gap,' a relatively new patter in elections which means simply this: women have opinions that set them apart from men — and they vote accordingly."

Later in the article she adds, "Although information from the early years of the (voting) franchise is sketchy, there is evidence that, even in the '50s women had distinctive positions on some issues. . . Women have traditionally been more likely than men to oppose aggressive military policies. . . Generally women part company with men when it comes to issues of war and peace, economic fairness and compassion, social welfare, equal rights and environmental protection."

Remember not too long ago when our President was verbally flogged by the feminists for suggesting that women tend to be more emotional than men? How dare anyone suggest that women might not be as hard as men, or might have more compassion or be quicker to show pity! Yet the war cry now is that not only do those differences exist, but that they should be exploited for political purposes.

Politicians should be against war not because people are killed but because it will bring them women's votes. Politicians should be for more social welfare handouts because women get more of them and will support proponents. Politicians should emphasize equal rights while ignoring equal responsibility. Politicians should be aware of environmental issues not because they relate to the perpetuation of life but because they relate to the perpetuation of holding office.

Feminists wrap themselves in the security blanket of ERA and ignore the fact that many, many women who oppose ERA are left out in the cold. Yet they claim to speak for all women and they tend to include all women in their support of specific causes.

Political analysts are quick to listen to the self-professed leaders and to go along with the contentions they make. The popular attitude is to go with the flow on the top of the stream without exploring the deeper pools and quiet water, and oblivious to the fact that the roughest rapids are in the fastest water. Politicians who fall into that trap may be able to shoot the rapids and reach the goal first, or they may capsize and on reflection realize that a portage would have been the wiser route.

Prove Case Before Raising Rates

Following editorial is from USA Today:

If the U.S. Postal Service has its way, starting next October you will pay 23 cents to mail a letter and 15 cents to mail a "penny postcard."

The postmaster general wants to raise other rates as well to recoup a projected $800 million loss this year and to avoid a $2.3 billion loss by 1985. Although postal officials touted profits of $800 million and $600 million the last two years, they say 3½ years of rising costs, higher mail volume and a forthcoming cost-of-living raise for its 670,000 employees spell trouble.

The Postal Rate Commission, which sets the price of mail delivery, has 10 months to approve the rate hike. But despite those gloomy projections, there are those who don't think the increase is justified. The majority of the Board of Governors voted against it. The measure passed only because the postmaster general and his deputy, as ex-officio members, swung the vote. That conflict should raise a red flag.

The Postal Service is not without its problems. Critics say it's poorly run, that workers are overpaid, that a 20-cent stamp for a letter subsidizes bulk rate and junk mail, and that competitive private enterprise could deliver the nation's mail more efficiently.

Still, the Postal Service is more efficient and less politicized than during its money-losing days as a federal agency. It became a quasi-public corporation in 1970 and now handles 40 billion more pieces of mail a year with 70,000 fewer workers. Productivitiy is up 43 per cent. More automation may cut costs by $600,000 this year alone and reduce the work force in six years by 60,000 through attrition.

Unfortunately, that won't erase the projected deficit. When a private business is caught in a similar cost-price squeeze, it unilaterally raises prices, cuts costs, or eliminates services. But the Postal Service has a rate commission because it does not opperate as a private enterprise. Congress restricts the private sector from competing with the Postal Service, and the governing board of seven presidentially appointed members is itself a political body.

Because of its unique nature, the Postal Service has a special burden to prove its need for a rate hike to the public as well as the rate commission. In that respect postal officials first must ask if they have done all they can to cut costs.

Closing some remote post offices, asking for employee wage concessions, and cutting back delivery days are all unpleasant options. Yet, because the Postal Service is insulated from competition, they must be scrutinized.

Until the Postal Service justifies every charge and until the commission examines every option, there should be no rubber stamp on the request for a 23-cent letter.

Travel Info Center Opens At Moorhead

Moorhead travel information center (TIC), which has been enlarged and remodeled, re-opened November 30 with additional services for the traveler, the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) announced.

R. Douglas Olson, travel information center director, said the center's lobby, service counter, office and inventory area have been enlarged and an area containing special displays advertising Minnesota's attractions has been added. The remodeling has also improved access to facilities such as telephones, drinking fountains and restrooms for disabled persons.

Remodeling of the TIC also includes a new playground area for children. In addition, extra insulation has been added to the building and it is now protected by earthen berms to increase its energy efficiency.

Moorhead TIC is located on eastbound I-94 at Moorhead. It is one of six travel information centers operated the year around by the transportation department to assist travelers and promote tourism in Minnesota.

Explore Minn. Is Theme Of 1984 Air Chart

"Explore Minnesota, Its Lakes and a Whole Lot More" is the theme of the 1984 Minnesota aeronautical chart, which is now available to the public, the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) aeronautics division announced.

Aeronautical chart, prepared by Mn-DOT, shows which airports have hard surface or turf runways, which are lighted and which have fuel facilities.

In addition, radio frequencies are shown for air navigational and landing aids, along with those for airport unicoms, control towers and flight service stations. Distances between VHF Omni-directional Radio Ranges (VORs) are listed to help pilots using the airway in computing flight times.

Other information listed on the chart are airport control zones, restricted airspace and military operational areas, excluding low altitude military training routes. Seaplane pilots will find a special telephone number — 612-296-8202 to call for information concerning seaplane operating restrictions on Minnesota lakes and rivers.

New feature is a listing of the airport identifier codes for all Minnesota airports shown on the chart. These codes may be used in conjunction with Mn-DOT's aviation weather information demonstration project. The project involves use of computer terminals located throughout the state where pilots may obtain a flight plan and the latest weather information.

Chart will be mailed to all licensed Minnesota pilots free of charge. The public may purchase the map at a cost of $2.12 including tax plus a $1.50 handling and mailing fee from the Minnesota State Documents Section, 117 University Ave., St. Paul, MN 55155.

Soc. Security Law Undergoes Changes In '84

New social security law has some built-in surprises. For the first time since benefits began in 1940, some recipients will be taxed on their benefits. In addition, payroll taxes for workers and their employers will be boosted on January 1, with the steepest increases hitting the self-employed.

But the Minnesota society of certified public accountants (CPAs) says that understanding how the new law may affect you can shield you from some of the surprises. Certain measures taken before January 1 can save you money.

Most dramatic aspect of the social security amendment of 1983, which takes effect Jan. 1, 1984, is the new formula for determining if your benefits will be taxes and how much that tax will be. Another new twist: if that tax-exempt interest from such things as municipal bonds will now be included in calculating the amount of social security benefits that will be taxed.

Here's how the new formula works: Each individual will have a threshold income of $25,000, below which benefits will not be taxed. For married couples filing jointly, the threshold is $32,000.

To calculate if you are above or below this threshold, simply add these three easy-to-get numbers: take the sum of this year's adjusted gross income, add to it half your social security benefits for the year, and add to that any tax-exempt interest your receive.

If the resulting amount is less than the $25,000 or $32,000 thresholds, no additional tax is due. If the resulting amount exceeds the threshold, however, you will be taxed on half the social security benefits or half the excess above the threshold, whichever is less.

Here's an example. Suppose that a 66-year-old retiree is filing an individual income tax return for 1984, the first year of the new law. He received a $12,000 pension, $3,000 in interest and dividends from stocks and bonds, $10,000 from tax-exempt municipal bonds, and $6,000 from social security. His total 1984 income then, which includes only half his social security benefits, would total $28,000. After subtracting the base amount of $25,000, he'd have an excess income of $3,000.

To determine his new taxable income, he would add $1,500 (half the excess above the threshold, which is smaller than half the social security benefits) to his original taxable income of $15,000 — the sum of the $12,000 pension plus $3,000 in interest from stocks and bonds. From this income of $16,500, he would subtract $2,000 in personal exemptions because he is over 65. His 1984 tax bill on $14,500 would come to roughly $1,901. Without the new social security law, he would have paid about $1,601 on a taxable income of $13,000.

Can planning minimize the effects of the new law? CPAs say yes. When possible, it is generally advisable to shift some income out of 1984, before December 31, and move it into 1983. Perhaps you can take a larger-than-usual withdrawal from your retirement account this year, and a smaller one next year. Or maybe you can sell certain assets now, rather than waiting until next year when they will be included in the new tax formula and possibly push you across the threshold.

Another strategy involves delaying some expenses until next year, to reduce your gross income. For instance, you may be able to put off some deductible business expenses if you are self-employed. Or perhaps you can delay some expenses on rental property. How you plan depends on your income and your needs, CPAs say.

In addition to taxing benefits and including tax exempt bonds in the formula, the new law has another wrinkle: steeper payroll taxes will be imposed over the next six years. While the effects on workers' paychecks will be buffered in 1984 — because a tax credit will offset the boost — those who are self-employed will feel the pain. In 1984, they will be required to pay a 14 per cent self-employment tax. While this may be offset somewhat by a 2.7 per cent tax credit, it will represent a sharp increase over the 1983 rate of 9.35 per cent.

Rate Increase Notice Northwestern Bell Evidentiary And Public Hearings

Northwestern Bell has filed a request for increased rates which would generate $109.4 million in additional revenue with the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission. The Commission has also authorized the Company to place $53.7 million of the requested increase into effect on an interim basis on November 28, 1983.

The Minnesota Public Utilities Commission must decide by July 30, 1984, how much of an increase (if any) will be approved. If the approved increase is less than the interim increase, the difference between the approved increase and the interim increase, plus interest at the current rate as determined by the Commission, will be refunded.

Examples of the present rates, the interim rates and the Company's proposed increase in rates for some of the services are shown below.

Residence One-Party Flat

	Present	Interim*	Proposed
Outstate	$10.72	$12.56	$18.96
Metro Tier I	11.66	13.65	20.60
Metro Tier II	12.35	14.47	21.29
Metro Tier III	14.12	16.56	23.08
Metro Tier IV	17.53	20.55	26.47

Residence One-Party Measured[1]

	Present	Interim*	Proposed
Outstate	$ 5.96 (2.40)	$ 7.00 (2.80)	$10.35 (2.40)
Metro Tier I Metro Tier II Metro Tier III Metro Tier IV	7.02 (3.15)	8.20 (3.70)	12.40 (3.15)

Business One-Party (Non-Hunt)

	Present	Interim*	Proposed[2]
Outstate	$28.11	$32.90	$40.35
Metro Tier I	39.11	45.80	44.00
Metro Tier II	41.24	48.30	46.15
Metro Tier III	46.77	54.74	51.45
Metro Tier IV	57.29	67.10	62.20

(* Effective 11/28/83)

1. Available only in certain locations. Number in parenthesis indicates monthly call allowance included in basic rate.
2. Under the Company's proposal these rates would be reduced by some amount as interstate and intrastate business and user access charges when they become effective.

In the interim increase, all of the service rates being changed are being increased by approximately 17%. The Company has not proposed an increase for services such as long distance, terminal equipment, CENTRON COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS* and CENTREX (except exchange access), and the local coin call charge of 25 cents.

In the proposed full case, Extended Area Service (EAS) and certain miscellaneous services are to be increased 77%. For Directory Assistance Service, the proposal eliminates the $.53 credit and increases the charge per call from $.20 to $.25. TOUCH-TONE line rates and Custom Calling Service charges would also increase. Among the services not proposed to be increased are long distance services provided by Northwestern Bell, CENTRON and CENTREX (except exchange access), 911 Emergency Service, Private Line, Service Charges, and the local coin call charge of 25 cents.

A copy of the Company's requested rates is on file and is open to public inspection during normal business hours at the offices of the Minnesota Department of Public Service, 790 American Center Building, 160 East Kellogg Boulevard, St. Paul, Minnesota. A copy is also available for public inspection at the Company's office located at 200 South Fifth Street, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Persons wishing to inspect the Company's requested rates at a Company office other than the Minneapolis office, may make arrangements to do so by contacting the Company at 612/344-5566.

Northmen Have Impressive Debut

Those attending Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) hockey game in the Thief River Falls sports arena matching northwestern Minnesota rivals Northland community college and the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) might have witnessed one of the finest efforts ever by the Northmen, who overcame a definite manpower disadvantage to stun the defending state champion Trojans 5-4.

Many figured it would be no contest. The Trojans were expected to win handily. After all, they had a full complement of players, including a number of veterans off last year's team that finished third in the NJCAA national tournament at Lake Placid, N.Y. Northland, on the other hand, dressed just 13 skaters and went the entire game with only two lines and two sets of defensemen — 60 minutes of hockey for 10 skaters.

But the Northmen won because they just simply out-hustled the Trojans.

"Those guys knew they were at a disadvantage, and they played like it," said UMC coach Jim Clauson in admiration for the Northland efforts. He readily admitted that despite his warnings, his club took the Northmen lightly. "I'm impressed with what they did with what they have. I'll take 13 guys who want to play over 20 who don't any day," he said.

Northland coach Tony Dorn, Jr. was naturally elated with the win. Decision of several sophomores not to return to school this year came late in the year and left the Northmen scrambling for players. Freshman Tony Holcomb of Fairbault, a transfer student from the University of Wisconsin-Superior, for example, had one day of practice with the team and found himself skating on the first line.

"I was down, knowing our number situation," admitted Dorn. "I was trying to figure out how to stretch two lines over 60 minutes of hockey. But the guys showed an awful lot of pride and guts. I'm really proud of them. When we got tired — and we certainly did — we didn't give up. They hung in there and played hard."

For pure hard work it would be difficult to find a better Northland effort, ever. The Northmen were particularly tough in their own end, diving and scrambling for pucks all night. They were constantly sacrificing themselves to block shots. It was the kind of effort that was appreciated by everyone in attendance.

It's still going to be a long haul for the Northmen this winter. While they did a superb job Wednesday, the numbers game may catch up to them when they get into the MCCC weekend scheduling where Friday night games are followed by Saturday afternoon rematches. It's going to be difficult to be successful in the six-team MCCC with a two-line hockey club, but Dorn says the Northmen can do it.

"If we can get a few things worked out and get our conditioning, we'll be a contender in this league," he promised.

Clausen, meanwhile, declined to make predictions. "It's early in the year," he noted. "I've always maintained you have to split on the road, and we still have one more game back here (Jan. 18) to accomplish that."

Meanwhile, Hibbing appears to be the top team on the Iron Range with season-opening wins over Rainy River 6-3 and Mesabi 14-2. The Cardinals apparently are similar to UMC with a large, veteran team. Rainy River and Mesabi, however, are like Northland in that they have some talent on hand, but are short number-wise. Rochester, at this point, is an unknown quality.

"This should be one of my best teams," said veteran Hibbing coach Frank Catani by telephone Thursday. "I feel comfortable with this team. I think we'll definitely be improved over last year."

A year ago Hibbing lost their first ten games, but won seven of the final nine. There are 12 sophomores back from that team, and the Cardinals benefit from the fact that five Hibbing high school players who have state high school hockey tournament experience, are on the current college roster.

Hibbing will be in Thief River Falls this weekend, facing the Northmen Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. in the sports arena.

Miscellaneous

+Bemidji high school hockey team, scheduled to host Thief River Falls Tuesday, opened its 1983-84 season last week with a 4-2 victory at International Falls, marking just the fourth win for the Lumberjacks in 15 meetings with the Broncos. Missing 13 departed seniors via graduation, Bemidji is skating seven sophomores on its 18-player roster, many of them members of last year's state championship Bantam A team. But Bemidji scored on four of 18 shots in the opener, with sophomore goalie Steve Peters stopping 19 of the 21 shots he faced in the Bemidji nets. Bemidji rolled up a 4-0 lead, scoring twice in the early stages of the first two periods.

+Roseau native Neal Broten was a plus-20 on the latest Minnesota North Stars plus-minus rating to lead the NHL team in that category. At the other end of the scale was Dennis Maruk at a minus-12.

+Freshman defenseman Todd Mack of East Grand Forks will be one of three University of Minnesota players who will be joining the U.S. National Junior hockey team for the World Cup games in Sweden Dec. 25-Jan. 3. Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland, a freshman center with the Gophers, scored his first collegiate goal in Minnesota's recent 4-2 and 4-3 weekend wins over Colorado College. The Gophers, who were idle over the weekend, will host Harvard Saturday and Sunday, the team that beat them in last year's NCAA tournament at Grand Forks.

+ Len Kretchman was named the most valuable player award winner on the 1983 Fergus Falls high school football team after setting three new school records this fall — most yards gained rushing in a single season (1,291); most points scored in a nine-game season (100); and most yards gained rushing in one game (226). He also had two other 200-yard-plus rushing games for the 8-1 Otters.

Shorthanded Northwomen Finish Series Sweep

Cheerleaders have always been credited with providing a much-appreciated aspect of enthusiasm, entertainment and moral support for their respective athletic teams. But the Northland community college women's basketball team got an even bigger boost from the ranks of the cheerleaders Saturday afternoon when the shorthanded Northwomen did a quick recruiting job and cheerleader-suddenly turned-basketball player Gwen Nylen helped out in a 71-27 victory over Red River community college of Winnipeg.

Northland's numbers, small to begin with, were shaved even further for a variety of reasons for the two-game weekend series against Red River in Thief River Falls, and when freshman guard Kari Skoglund of Middle River, the team's best ball handler and passer, hurt her knee in a 79-48 Friday night win the Northwomen were faced with the prospects of a second game forfeit when only four players came on the court for pre-game warm-ups.

Rules say you must have five players in the starting line-up, although you can play with fewer once the game is underway. Nylen was plucked from the cheerleading squad by Northland coach Deb Jacobson to fill out the starting five. And she did a very credible job with a 4-for-9 shooting effort from the floor for 8 points while doing much of the ball handling chores.

All that while running up and down the 90-foot court for 40 minutes of basketball speeded up with a 30-second clock without the benefit of conditioning drills.

Jacobson obviously had some special post-game praise for the sophomore from Thief River Falls. Nylen was understandably "dragging" at the end, but held up remarkably well.

Nylen is no stranger to the sport. She played high school basketball for the Prowlers and played as a freshman a year ago for the Northwomen. Jacobson said Nylen's plans to play again this winter were delayed by a job commitment.

Meanwhile, the other four "regulars" took up the slack, too, pointed out Jacobson. Sophomore Tara Nicholson of Thief River Falls poured in 30 points while freshmen Karen Sovde (Greenbush) and Brenda Dahl (Middle (Newfolden) added 15 and 12 points, respectively, and sophomore Lori Bulzomi (Fertile-Beltrami) contributed 6.

"They knew what they had to do, and they did it," praised Jacobson.

Helping the cause was the fact that Red River simply wasn't a very good basketball team. The Rebels went the first 5½ minutes of the game without scoring, and then after pulling within 18-13 of the slow-starting Northwomen, Red River again went the final six minutes of the half without scoring to trail 33-13 at intermission.

Nicholson had 17 points by halftime, but adding additional worries for the five-player squad, she also had four personal fouls. She collected 13 points and no fouls in the second half.

Northland shot 40 per cent from the field (33-for-82) and 45 per cent from the free throw line (5-for-11). Red River shot 20 per cent from the field (13-for-65) and also 20 per cent at the line (1-for-5).

Weekend sweep left Northland at 4-1 for the year — all against Canadian opposition after a [illegible] third place finish at Red River's invitational the week before. The Northwomen will be at Normandale Saturday.

Northland built a 46-17 first half cushion and coasted to a 79-48 Friday night win over Red River to start the weekend series.

Tara Nicholson had 26 points for the Northwomen on a 13-for-26 night from the field, with Brenda Dahl scoring 21 points and Karen Sovde 18.

Northland shot 44 per cent from the field (35-for-79) and 56 per cent at the free throw line (9-for-16). Red River shot 27 per cent from the field (22-for-82) and 33 per cent at the line (4-for-12). Northland had a 52-40 rebound edge, with Sovde grabbing 19, Nicholson 11 and Dahl 10. Kari Skoglund had a hand in 10 assists.

A TWISTING lay-up by Northland community college sophomore Kyle Ramsey netted him two of his game-high 35 points Saturday against Red River community college of Winnipeg in the Northland gym. Frank Stewart of the Rebels tried to defend the shot. Ramsey had 25 points the night before as the Northmen swept the weekend basketball series 101-64 and 110-47. Northland hosts the Bemidji State University junior varsity Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Otters Edge Prowlers 3-2 In Section 8 Hockey

Billed as an early-season match-up of Section 8 high school hockey contenders, Saturday's Thief River Falls vs. Fergus Falls game apparently didn't disappoint the fans who showed up expecting to see a good hockey game as the host Otters edged the Prowlers 3-2.

Even in defeat, Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand found a great deal of satisfaction as the Prowlers rebounded from a disappointing season-opening performance a week earlier in a 9-4 loss to Grand Forks Central.

"It was a very good high school hockey game for this point of the season," offered Grand. "We're very encouraged by the progress we made in a week's time. We're very, very pleased with our overall defensive play. We need to generate a little more offense, but from a defensive standpoint I thought we played very well."

There were precious few good scoring opportunities for either side, acknowledged Grand, with Fergus Falls scoring with 20 seconds left in the first period to break a scoreless stalemate.

It became 2-0 on a Brad Baglo goal at 3:07. Thief River Falls sophomore Bill Desrocher made it 2-1 at 7:01, but the Otters almost responded immediately as Mike Donley got the game-winner just 51 seconds later.

Defenseman Al Ness served at 11:03 of the third period to make it close at the end.

Thief River Falls was on a power play at the time, but an errant pass led to a Fergus Falls breakaway. Goalie Steve Solheim made the save, but Donley grabbed the puck in the corner, shot it out front and it apparently caromed off the netminder and into the net.

Solheim played a strong game in the net, said Grand. The junior netminder, who shared goaltending chores with senior Lee Genereux in the opener, finished with 22 saves.

Thief River Falls will try to break into the win column Tuesday at Bemidji.

Lakers Defeat Prowlers 45-41

An unproductive second quarter wound up costing Thief River Falls a 45-41 high school basketball decision at Detroit Lakes Saturday night.

Thief River Falls started with a 10-6 first quarter lead, but connected on just one of ten field goal attempts in a five-point second quarter that produced a 19-15 halftime deficit. The Lakers maintained a 28-21 third quarter spread.

"I thought we started out pretty well, but that second quarter really hurt us," reported Thief River Falls coach Tom Hunt.

It was the second loss in two road games to start the 1983-84 season for the Prowlers, who dropped a season-opening 52-44 decision at Roseau earlier in the week.

"We made a lot of improvement," mentioned Hunt. "We played so much better than we did against Roseau, but it's frustrating to play as hard as we do defensively and not be able to take advantage of the opportunites that present themselves on offense."

No scorer hit double figures for the Prowlers, who were within 43-41 in the game's final minute, but missed a shot that would have tied it and promptly sent Detroit Lakes to the free throw line with two game-clinching foul shots with 19 seconds left.

Thief River Falls did not have a good shooting night, going 16-for-45 from the field (36 per cent) and 9-for-18 at the free throw line (50 per cent). Detroit Lakes had one less field goal on a 15-for-43 shooting night (35 per cent), but converted 15 of 26 free throw opportunities (58 per cent).

Jeff Hamerlinck, one of three Prowlers with nine points, had seven rebounds, as did Tim Kruse, as Thief River Falls built a 29-25 edge on the boards. The Prowlers topped the turnover figures 14-11.

Thief River Falls has a tough home-opening assignment Friday when Moorhead visits the Lincoln gym.

Northmen Win 101-64; 110-47 . . .

NCC Handles Red River Twice

David Dickey would have been proud. Dickey, if you recall, made headlines, won basketball games and packed the Northland community college gym with his uncanny, unselfish passing that enabled the two-time NJCAA All-American to set assist records for a single game (20), single season (319) and career (513) with the Northmen in 1973-74 and 1974-75.

Saturday afternoon it was a bunch of Dickey-like passes in the first half that led to a huge 66-22 point spread at intermission en route to a one-sided 110-47 rout of visiting Red River community college out of Winnipeg.

It was no contest, similar to a 101-64 Friday night Northland win that started the two-game weekend series in Thief River Falls. And it was all over in the first half when the sharp-passing, fast-breaking Northmen collected 25 assists while shooting a lay-up-padding 78 per cent from the field (28-for-36). The undersized Rebels, meanwhile, couldn't get underneath and failed to hit from the outside in shooting just 24 per cent (9-for-37).

"We had some spots where we played well," acknowleged Northland coach Chet Engelman in an understatement.

Best performances came from sophomores Kyle Ramsey (Milwaukee, Wisc.) and Kevin Sanders (TRF) who had 35 and 27 points, respectively. Ramsey was an impressive 15-for-20 from the field, but Sanders did even better with a school-record 12-for-12, 100 per cent shooting percentabe from the floor — many from the perimeter. Ramsey also had 11 rebounds, while Sanders finished off an outstanding effort with 12 assists and seven recoveries.

"No question, it was Kevin's finest hour as a Northland basketball player," exclaimed Engelman. "He's had to make an adjustment in his role on the basketball court here. In high school his job was to score and rebound, for us, his job as a point guard is to handle the ball, run the offense and take the shot when it's there. He did those things extremely well today."

Freshman guard Dan Flanagan came off the bench to contribute 13 points to the Northland attack, while sophomore center Rodney Scales dominated the middle with 13 rebounds, leading to a 58-31 Northland edge on the boards.

Northland, now 4-1, finished with a 72 per cent shooting figure from the floor (47-for-65) and a 67 per cent effort from the free throw line (16-for-24). Red River shot just 20 per cent from the field (19-for-69) and 43 per cent at the line (9-for-21).

Only negative aspect of the Northland performance against the obviously overmatched Rebels was the 31 turnovers the Northmen accumulated. Red River had 29.

Red River 64

Starter Kyle Ramsey and top reserve Rick Van Camp were an identical 10-for-13 from the field Friday night as Northland opened a weekend basketball series against Red River by winning 101-64.

Ramsey finished with 25 points and 10 rebounds, with Van Camp getting 20 points for the Northmen, who led 47-29 at halftime. Jon Neumann added 14 points and 13 rebounds, while Shorty Johnson and Bud Fontes each contributed 12 points.

Northland shot 60 per cent from the field (46-for-77) and 69 per cent from the field (27-for-76) and 83 per cent at the line (10-for-12). Northland had a 55-34 rebound edge and Red River topped the turnover figures 21-20.

Plummer Drops 58-52 Game To Alvarado

Plummer saw its record slip to 1-1 Friday with a 58-52 home court Polar Conference loss to Alvarado.

Troy Boman scored 25 points as the Indians built quarter leads of 8-6, 28-19 and 44-38. Gene Fisher scored 12 points for the Cardinals, who will host rival Oklee Tuesday.

Plummer coach Jim Baron said his team didn't play nearly as well as the Cardinals did in opening the season the week before with a 67-64 victory over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

"Our fouls cost us, and our foul shooting," mentioned Baron. "That was the difference in the game."

Both sides made 20 field goal attempts — Plummer 20-for-41 (49 per cent) and Alvarado 20-for-47 (42 per cent) — but the Cardinals were only 12-for-24 at the free-throw line (50 per cent) where the Indians were 18-for-26 (69 per cent).

Huskies' Offense Nets 77-55 Win Over Vikings

Goodridge offense was in high gear Friday as the Huskies rolled to a 77-55 Polar Conference high school basketball win over visiting Climax.

It was the first win for new Goodridge coach Dan Brinkman, whose Huskies lost their season opener 71-65 to Clearbrook earlier in the week.

But 54 per cent shooting from the field, a 27-point performance from Tony Wiseth and 13 rebounds from Ross Parnow produced the 22-point victory over the Vikings.

"Everbody came out ready to play," mentioned Brinkman. "If we play like this we can play with anybody."

Goodridge had a 17-13 first quarter lead, took a 38-30 edge into intermission and broke the game open with a 57-41 third quarter spread.

Joining Wiseth in double figures for the winners were Scott Groven with 16 points despite early foul problems and Jeff Kriel with 10.

Goodridge hit 33 of 61 field goal attempts and was 11-for-18 at the free throw line (61 per cent). Climax was 17-for-57 from the field (28 per cent) and a busy 21-for-32 at the free throw line (66 per cent) to stay reasonably close on the scoreboard. Goodridge had a 36-28 rebound edge.

Next start for the Huskies will be their first road game of the season Friday at Fisher.

Roseau 64

Roseau broke it open with a 27-point fourth quarter Friday as the Rams defeated visiting Grygla 64-38 in North Border Conference play.

"The final score wasn't a true indication of the type of game it was," pointed out Grygla coach Verna Johnson. "I thought we played well. I was pleased with the effort. We forced a lot of turnovers, but we just couldn't battle their height. They wore us down."

Grygla jumped out to a 15-8 first quarter lead and trailed only 25-21 at halftime against the heavily favored Rams, who opened up a 37-29 third quarter edge.

Roseau shot 41 per cent from the field (26-for-62) and 54 per cent at the free throw line (12-for-22). Grygla shot 36 per cent from the field (15-for-41) and 47 per cent at the line (8-for-17). The Rams built a huge 50-13 rebound advantage, but also topped the busy turnover charts 33-24.

Lonnie Kompelien scored 16 points to lead the winners, getting half of them at the end against Grygla reserves. Tony McLean led the Eagles with 10 points.

Grygla, 0-2, hosts Warroad Tuesday.

LOW 58
Middle River 49

Joe Krouss, a 6-6 senior, scored 32 points Friday, 22 of them coming in the second half, as Lake of the Woods beat Middle River 58-48 in North Border Conference play at Baudette.

Middle River, a 44-37 upset winner over preseason conference favorite Roseau a week earlier on the road, tried to come up with another surprise over a highly regarded North Border opponent, but Lake of the Woods, after leading only 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, broke it open by out-scoring the Skippers 14-5 in the second period en route to a 24-14 halftime spread that never disappeared.

The Bears led 40-29 after three quarters.

"Our offense went to heck in the second quarter," reported Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, "and we couldn't make up that 10-point deficit."

Middle River's inability to compensate for a Lake of the Woods defensive switch in the second quarter resulted in the deficit, explained Sparby. "We just didn't react to it like we should have," he said.

Kevin McKeever played well for Middle River with a 22-point night and Sparby also praised the efforts of Sheldon Peterson, who battled Krouss on the boards all night.

Middle River shot 43 per cent from the field (20-for-47) and 50 per cent at the free throw line (9-for-18). Lake of the Woods shot 56 per cent from the field (27-for-48) and 33 per cent from the line (4-for-12). Middle River finished with a 28-25 rebound edge and Lake of the Woods topped the turnover figures 18-11.

"I was pleased with the way we played overall," said Sparby. "It was a pretty good game on our part. The kids worked hard; they hustled."

Middle River, 1-1, will host Strandquist Thursday.

MCC 83
Badger 27

Five Marshall County scorers hit double figures Friday as the Nordics opened their 1983-84 season in impressive fashion with an 83-27 win at Badger.

Jay Nelson came off the bench to pace the productive Marshall County Central attack with 17 points, while Ken Krohn and Kevin Boe each had 16, Ross Olson 13 and Chad Swan 11.

Marshall County Central took a 16-10 first quarter lead and turned it into a 31-17 halftime cushion. It was 52-21 after three quarters and the Nordics' offense was still in high gear with a 31-point fourth puarter.

Still, Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland said the Nordics' fast break wasn't as smooth as it might be. "We didn't execute our offense real well, but we pushed the ball upcourt and got the shots."

Marshall County Central shot 43 per cent from the field (36-for-83) and 52 per cent at the free throw line (11-for-21). Badger shot only 28 per cent from the field (13-for-47) and 33 per cent at the line (1-for-3). The Nordics had a big 41-15 rebound advantage, with Krohn grabbing nine rebounds and Olson eight. Badger topped the turnover figures 27-12. Just 12 turnovers for a fast-break offense in the season opener was the most pleasing part of the Nordics' game, said Ueland.

Next outing for the Nordics won't come until Tues., Dec. 20, when they host Stephen in their home opener.

Lincoln Girls Win By 50-16

Win No. 3 for the Lincoln high school girls basketball team was recorded Saturday when the Prowlers routed a struggling Roseau squad 50-16.

Thief River Falls had quarter leads of 11-2, 28-8 and 34-11. The host Rams hit just five field goals all night.

But it wasn't exactly an overpowering performance by the unbeaten Prowlers, revealed head coach Tom Schafer. "We didn't play well," he admitted, alluding to numerous missed field goal, free throw and rebound opportunities. "It just was not a good night of basketball," he said.

Michelle Olson scored 17 points for the Prowlers to beat the Rams by one. Connie Grovum added 12 and Penni Johnston scored 11.

Thief River Falls shot only 26 per cent from the field (18-for-68), but that was still considerably better than Roseau's 17 per cent showing (5-for-29). The Prowlers shot 41 per cent from the free throw line (14-for-34) where the Rams shot 22 per cent (6-for-27). Thief River Falls had a 35-20 rebound edge and Roseau found itself topping the turnover figures 28-19.

Schafer figures the Prowlers' real test will come this week when they visit Warren Tuesday and travel to Park Rapids Saturday. "That'll show us what kind of ball club we have," he warned.

Northland Upsets UMC 5-4 In Hockey Opener

Season-opener for the 1983-84 Northland community college hockey team was a memorable one Wednesday as the underdog Northmen stunned defending state champion University of Minnesota-Crookston 5-4 in front of a good-size turn-out of fans at the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Shorthanded Northland skated two lines for the entire game against UMC's traditional three-line attack, but a 3-0 first period lead never disappeared for the hard-working Northmen.

Sophomore wing Scott Steinbach of Fergus Falls was the game's outstanding player as he scored twice for the Northmen and displayed superb stick-handling skills while always hustling back to cover up on defense.

"Scott Steinbach played a great hockey game at both ends of the rink," confirmed Northland coach Tony Dorn, Jr.

And while Steinbach was leading the skaters, freshman goalie Jay Boomgaarden was equally impressive in the Northland nets with 35 saves, many of them eye-openers.

"That's the finest hockey I've seen him play," said Dorn of Boomgaarden.

"Their goalie really came up with the big saves," acknowledged UMC coach Jim Clauson. "He was outstanding."

Northland scored early when Steinbach popped in a Jim Dillon rebound at 4:58 of the first period. Dillon was another hard-working sophomore earning post-game praise from Dorn. Bob Martin tipped in a Bob Rockwood slap shot from the point on a power play at 7:19 to make it 2-0 and the margin went to a stunning 3-0 when Ladd Bjofson picked up a loose puck and was all alone for an easy shorthanded goal at 17:57.

Only socring in the second period was Nat Johnson's goal at 2:12 to finish off a 3-on-1 UMC rush for a 3-1 game.

A great individual effort by Steinbach rebuilt Northland's three-goal lead at 3:57 of the third period as he muscled by a defenseman and pushed the puck past UMC netminder Larry Fertig.

Things got tight, though, when Greg Leintz and Kary Strandell scored less than two minutes apart as the gap narrowed to 4-3. Strandell converted a 2-on-1 shorthanded situation at 6:29.

But Northland answered with its own shorthanded goal — the eventual game-winner — by Rod Harder at 7:25.

That goal was quickly matched by Dennis LaCoursiere's deflection on a power play shot from the point by Tony Sprague just 28 seconds later, but that finished the scoring.

"We weren't ready to play hockey in the first period," admitted Clauson. "We were standing around. I thought we came out and played a good second and third period, but Northland deserved to win; they earned it."

Key to the win, said Dorn, was Northland's play in its own end. "I told them to get the puck out of our zone as quickly as possible, and we did that better and better as the game went along," he explained.

There were 17 penalties called in the game, nothing too serious, but 11 of them went against UMC, including five on Sprague.

"We took a number of dumb penalties," admitted Clauson.

The two rivals will wait until Wed., Jan. 11, to renew the series at Crookston.

Northland Hockey 3-0 . . .

NCC Sweeps Weekend Series

High-scoring Northland community college came up with a weekend sweep over Mesabi in a two-game Minnesota Community College Conference hockey series played at Virginia, boosting the Northmen to a 3-0 record at the start of the 1983-84 season.

Northland doubled Mesabi 10-5 Friday night, then outscored the Norsemen 9-8 Saturday afternoon.

"We didn't play as well as we played against Crookston," acknowledged Northland coach Tony Dorn, Jr., whose team came up with an emotional 5-4 season-opening victory over the University of Minnesota-Crookston Wednesday. "It was a flat weekend of hockey; not a very pretty weekend of hockey, but four points (in the MCCC standings) is four points."

Hibbing, one of the MCCC favorites this winter, will be in Thief River Falls this weekend for games Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday afternoon at 1 in the sports arena.

Northland 10
Mesabi 5

Northland broke open a tight 5-4 hockey game with five third period goals Friday night to open the weekend series against Mesabi with a 10-5 win.

Sophomore Ladd Bjugson had a three-goal hat trick for the Northmen, who trailed 2-1 after one period. Freshmen Chris Jorde and Bob Martin both scored twice for the winners. Single goals were scored by Scott Steinbach, Tony Holcomb and Jim Dillon.

Northland goalie Jay Boomgaarden kicked out 27 shots. John Ewens of Mesabi made 35 saves.

Northland 9
Mesabi 8

Northland scored seven power play goals, and added a shorthanded goal for good measure Saturday afternoon to emerge with a 9-8 victory over Mesabi, completing the weekend sweep.

Ladd Bjugson, a sophomore from Fargo North, had his second hat trick performance of the weekend, scoring the first three Northland goals. Bob Martin had his second two-goal game, while Scott Steinbach, Bob Rockwood, Jim Dillon and Todd Graalum all scored once.

It was a 2-2 tie after one period and a 6-6 deadlock after two when Northland scored twice in the final minute of play — including the tying goal by Rockwood with just one second left.

Mesabi went ahead 8-6 in the first five minutes of the third period, but goals by Dillon and Martin tied it and Graalum got the game-winner at 14:20 on a power play.

Northland's Jay Boomgaarden had 35 saves and Mesabi goalie John Ewens had 27.

DNR NEWS

Fergus Falls Geese

Fergus Falls goose flock will be forced to migrate this winter because the Otter Tail Power Company at Fergus Falls has closed down two of its three electricity generating plants. The plants keep the Otter Tail river open all winter, and the goose flock stays right in town.

Now the river is freezing over, though, and the hundreds of Canada geese and the mallards with them may be forced to migrate south.

Officials say the migration will be good for the birds, some of whom have never migrated. Born in the wetlands surrounding the city, they have been able to find enough corn and other grain, using the open river as a staging area.

There are about 4,500 geese in the Fergus Falls area, after about 1,100 were bagged by hunters during the second year of the special goose season.

Peat Project Report

Department of Natural Resources has prepared an environmental assessment worksheet (EAW) for the Fens Bog peat mining pilot project located two miles east of Sax and five miles northwest of Cotton in St. Louis county.

A copy of the EAW is available for inspection and review at the Duluth Public Library, 161 West 2nd Street and at the Arrowhead Regional Development Commission office, 200 Arrowhead Place, 211 West 2nd Street, Duluth. (Office hours 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday).

Fens Bog peat mining pilot project involves the site preparation and mining of about 10,000 tons of fuel-grade peat from a 160 acre site in township 55N range 18W during the summer of 1984.

Peat will be mined using a sod peat production method which is basically an extrusion process.

Purpose of the project is to determine if reed-sedge peat is a viable and price-competitive combustion fuel.

If favorable results are obtained, the project would be expanded to a commercial scale. This expansion will require an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS).

EAW describes the mining operation and the impacts of the project on water resources, air quality and wildlife resources on the site and on the surrounding area.

Persons who wish to submit written comments on the EAW many do so within the 30-day comment period, which ends December 21, 1983. Comments should be sent to Thomas Balcom, Environmental Review Coordinator, Department of Natural Resources, Box 10C Centennial Building, St. Paul, MN 55155.

Winter Naturalist Series

Interpretive Center at Sibley State Park north of Willmar will be offering a series of wintertime activities, beginning Saturday, December 17, and running through Sunday, February 26.

Activities will usually be held on the weekends with the exception of full moon evenings during the months of January, when evening snowshoe hikes will be held.

Program will include cross-country skiing, camping in the snow, observing winter birds, Minnesota's non-game wildlife program, the management of the white-tailed deer herd and snowshoeing.

Sibley State Park is located 15 miles north of Willmar off U.S. Hwy. 71. In addition to the Interpretive Center's activities, park visitors can enjoy 10 miles of groomed and tracked cross-country ski trails, 6 miles of snowmobiling, sledding and ice fishing — all surrounded by deeply rolling wooded hills, marshes and lakes.

A warm trail center will offer woodstove comfort and relaxation.

Naturalist activities are free of charge. However, a 1984 vehicle permit — $3 two-day or $10 yearly — is required to enter the park. A ski license will also be required of those people, between the ages of 16 and 63, who plan to cross-country ski.

For more information on specific activities or cross-country ski licenses and 1984 vehicle permits, contact, Sibley State Park, RR 2, Box 700, New London, MN 56273; phone 612-354-2055.

DNR hotline

1. While hunting deer this season, I saw an orange-red, large grey squirrel. Is this another species or color phase?

You most likely saw a fox squirrel, which is a different species than the grey squirrel. Fox squirrels are generally a little larger than grey squirrels, and are very common in the southern half of Minnesota. Jim Breyen, assistant regional wildlife supervisor.

2. I understand Ontario fishing licenses for non-residents will increase July 1, 1984. What are the various licenses and fees? Will they sell a 4-day license?

Ontario non-resident fees will increase January 1, 1984. Fishermen from the United States will be offered an annual license for $30. A 21-day license costing $20 will also be available. This license can be renewed for an additional 21 days for $10. Non-residents will also have to buy special $5 stamps if they wish to fish for muskellunge or lake trout. Stan Daley, regional fisheries supervisor.

3. We are interested in winter bird feeding. When do we begin and what food do we use to attract grosbeaks?

Begin in the fall while the birds are actively looking for winter food sources. Do not feed heavily until snow comes, but once the birds are relying on you, do not miss feeding them. Sunflower seeds are always a good food for grosbeaks and most other birds will also eat them. Some people mix cracked corn with the sunflowers as an extender. This also allows the birds to vary their diet. Goldfinches and some of the other small birds seem to prefer smaller seeds so add some millet to the mix if you are using a single feeder. If you use two feeders, keep the millet separate. Some people add thistle seed (not the native thistle) for the small birds. Be sure this is a tropical thistle that will not grow here as it may cause a weed problem otherwise. Paul Rundell, regional resource coordinator.

DRIVING THE BASELINE, Northland community college sophomore Tara Nicholson went to the basket for two of her game-high 30 points Saturday afternoon against Red River community college of Winnipeg. Naomi Collins of the Rebels couldn't stop her on the play. The Northwomen swept the two-game weekend basketball series in Thief River Falls by scores of 79-48 and 71-27.

MCC Girls 66-12 Winner Over Badger Thursday

Marshall County Central was an easy 66-12 winner over Badger Thursday in a North Border Conference girls high school basketball game played at Newfolden.

Four Nordics hit double figures as Jodi Foss scored 18 points while Shelly Anderson, Jodi Nelson and Karen Busch each had 10. No Badger player scored more than four points.

Marshall County Central rolled up quarter leads of 17-2, 36-6 and 48-9.

"We didn't try to run up the score on them," explained Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We played everybody. Defensively I thought we played really well."

It was a 40 per cent shooting night for the winners, who were 31-for-78 from the field. Badger shot just 13 per cent, hitting just five of 38 shots. The Nordics were 4-for-11 at the free throw line (36 per cent) while the Rockets were 2-for-9 (22 per cent). Marshall County Central had a 46-33 rebound advantage, which included 26 offensive rebounds. Badger topped the turnover figures 33-15.

Marshall County Central, 2-1, was scheduled to host Tri-County tonight (Monday).

Goodridge 50
Climax 18

First Goodridge win of the year turned out to be a one-sided affair as the Huskies overwhelmed Climax 50-18.

Host Goodridge owned just an 8-6 first quarter lead, but the switch to a pressing defense helped the Huskies out-score the Vikings 42-12 the rest of the way. The Huskies led 24-7 at halftime and had a 41-13 third quarter cushion.

"It was really ragged," admitted Goodridge coach Patti Johnson, "but it was a good game for us to win."

Jennie Boutain and Diana Troska both scored 19 points for the Huskies, who won for the first time in three outings. No Climax scorer hit double figures.

Goodridge shot 21 per cent from the field (16-for-76) and 51 per cent from the free throw line (18-for-35). Climax shot only 13 per cent from the field (4-for-30) and 38 per cent at the line (10-for-26). The Huskies had a 30-24 rebound edge.

A string of four straight home games continues this week for the Huskies, who will host Red Lake Falls Tuesday and entertain Fisher Thursday.

Plummer 57

Liz Holz poured in 37 points Friday as Alvarado beat Plummer 64-57.

Holz had 14 points in the first quarter in sparking the visiting Indians to an 18-6 lead. They were ahead 39-24 at halftime and maintained a 51-36 third quarter spread.

"It was the Liz Holz show and we had the best seat in the house," quipped Plummer coach Rick Kovisto. "She has to be one of the best players in the state."

Jody Pahlen scored 27 points for the Cardinals to bring her career scoring total of 961 points.

Alvarado shot a hot 51 per cent from the field (27-for-33) and 83 per cent from the free throw line (10-for-12). Plummer shot 36 per cent from the field (26-for-73) and 55 per cent at the line (5-for-9). The Cardinals had a 37-26 rebound edge.

Plummer, 2-2, will be on the road Tuesday to play Clearbrook and will be home Thursday to play Argyle, with Pahlen shooting for that coveted 1,000-point mark this week.

Grygla 45

Four Oklee scorers hit double figures, including a 22-point night for Karen Lindquist, as the Bobcats defeated host Grygla 55-45 Thursday.

Kristin Lambert, Karen Whyte and Jean Lindquist all had 11 points for the winners. Kathy Foss scored 19 and Debbie Klein 11 for the Eagles.

Oklee, ahead 11-10 at the end of the first quarter, took a narrow 21-20 halftime edge and turned it into a 37-36 third quarter lead.

It was the third loss in four games for the Eagles, who will be at Clearbrook Thursday.

"We didn't play our best," acknowledged Grygla coach Mike Gast. "I was a little disappointed in the way we played. We were flat."

Grygla shot 37 per cent from the field (21-for-57) and just 30 per cent at the free throw line (3-for-10). Oklee shot 38 per cent from the field (20-for-53) and 50 per cent at the line (15-for-30) to win it.

U.S. Fish, Wildlife Programs Get Aid

Payment of $82.6 million in special taxes from American sportsmen is on the way to the 50 states, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands to support their fish and wildlife research and management programs, Under Secretary of the Interior J.J. Simmons, III, announced.

Funds come from excise taxes paid by sportsmen on hunting and fishing equipment and are used to finance sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter education programs. This is the first of two apportionments of the federal aid funds made each year to the state and territories under the popular Dingell-Johnson and Pittman-Robertson Acts. Second installment will be distributed after the 1983 fiscal year tax receipts are tallied by the Treasury Department.

"I am reminded of the debt we owe sportsmen every year at this time as we witness the spectacle of millions of birds on their annual migration south," Simmons said. "These special taxes, paid willingly by sportsmen, ensure that the songbirds, as well as gamebirds, have places to rest and feed along the arduous route to their wintering grounds. And they also help ensure a healthy diversity of fish in our lakes, ponds and streams."

Of the total funds available, $25 million are for fish restoration, $47.5 million for wildlife restoration, and $10.1 million for hunter education programs.

Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter education programs come from an 11 per cent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a 10 per cent tax on pistols and revolvers and an 11 per cent tax on certain archery equipment. Distribution of wildlife restoration funds is based on a formula that takes into account the number of hunting license holders and the land area of each state. Funds may be used on approved state wildlife projects such as the acquisition of land for habitat, development and management of habitat, and research to aid in managing game species.

Distribution of hunter education funds is based on the relative population of each state. Funds may also be used for state hunter education programs that include the construction, operation and maintenance of public target ranges. States, however, may also use these funds for wildlife restoration projects.

Fish restoration funds come from a 10 per cent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial baits, lures and flies. Distribution of these funds is made according to a formula based on the number of license holders and the land area of each state, including coastal and Great Lakes waters. Activities performed by the state include purchase of land and water areas, construction and rehabilitation of lakes, development of access sites and facilities for fishermen, and research to aid in the management of sport fisheries.

The attached tables show the distribution of funds by state:

Preliminary apportionment for federal aid in wildlife restoration and hunter education programs for fiscal year 1984:

MR. FARMER:

Let's Put It On Paper The Way It Really Is!

Mr. Farmer: Over 2,000 questionnaires are being mailed. This is your responsibility to read and return the questionnaire for accurate results.

Dear Farmer,

Because of the consecutive disaster years in the counties of Pennington, Marshall, Red Lake and East Polk we are presently facing an unparalleled economic disaster for this community and local area. The net effect as you are most likely aware is that a large number of farmers and business men have lost either a large part or all of their hard earned equity due to disasterous crops, reduced business volumn, and subsequent large losses of asset values. These losses in asset values are largely due to the extraction of wealth and cash flow from our community as a result of the disasters.

At the present time there are numerous efforts being made locally and in Washington to arrive at a solution to our economic dilemma. Many farmers are facing the inability to obtain financing and as a result will be forced to either liquidate or declare reorganization under the protection of Chapter Eleven of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

The purpose of Chapter Eleven is to allow the debtor to reorganize his present debt using today's present asset values and then provide a plan of repayment on secured assets and a plan of repayment at a reduced percentage to any unsecured creditor and thereby provide the operator a second chance based on today's present asset values and the operator's future ability to repay a portion of the present worthless unsecured debt.

Due to the loss of value of land and machinery and the continued loss of crops a large number of creditors have become unsecured despite their mortgages on security agreements. Any loan or payment balance that cannot be paid for from the present liquidation of the assets pledged as security is deemed to be unsecured debt for the amount of the shortage.

If debtors were to liquidate today a large number of creditors would be left short on loans and payments. This portion of unsecured worthless debt needs to be identified, brought out, and addressed despite various pressures being exerted by financial institutions to cover up this existing worthless debt.

At present these debt figures are not available to use in soliciting support from local, state and federal authorities. This information is essential to the successful utilization of government programs and the passing of new laws to aid our area farmers and businessmen. These figures must be used to establish to local and government authorities that unless something is done immediately the government itself, local financial institutions and businesses will have to write-off this worthless debt one way or the other.

With these points in mind please fill out the enclosed questionnaire as accurately as possible and return within five days so that the information can be compiled for immediate use. You need not sign the questionnaire.

Please keep certain things in mind as you fill out the questionnaire:

1. (Present Liquidation value) Put down the cash sale price that you could obtain for your property if you had to sell it today under liquidation. Subtract any sales commission.
2. Remember that you are not filling out your financial statement and it is of no advantage to use inflated values.
3. Consult a realtor or machinery dealer to find out what you could receive based on a cash sale today.
4. The exact figures must be obtained to show the government authorities just how bad things really are so please answer as accurately as possible.
5. Be sure to keep in mind that land and machinery will not bring much of a price if you had to liquidate today for a cash sale. Use these liquidation prices in your answers to the questionnaire.

Remember that just because property will not bring much of a price under liquidation does not necessarily mean that the liquidation price is the fair market value but it will show the prices that could be received today.

If a long term, low interest, debt consolidation loan could be worked out it would add financial stability to the area and thus help to establish a true fair market value for assets and further prevent the losses of unsecured worthless debts in the community so please do your part to fill in the questionnaire immediately.

The results of this questionnaire will tell the story of the total amount of worthless debts that are owed in the area and that would result under liquidation if something is not done to ease this present financial disaster.

This information will be compiled and used to persuade the administration and law makers to come to the aid of the community. Your help in this matter is essential in order to achieve results so don't let your community and yourself down. Complete and mail the questionnaire in five days.

Thank you and good luck to us all,

Concerned Farmers and Businessmen

P.S. Note that Pennington County has been reduced one bushel per acre on wheat for 1984 and Red Lake reduced two bushels. Result: loss of $500,000 to $1,500,000 for the community. Let's put a stop to this.

NOTICE OF BIDS FOR TWO SCHOOL BUSSES

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 564, Pennington County, Thief River Falls, Minnesota requests sealed bids for:

Two (2) 87-90 passenger 1984, transit style school busses complete with body and chassis.

F.O.B. Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

The busses must comply with the regulations of the Minnesota State Department of Education and the State Commissioner of Highways in addition to the special requirements requested by the local School Board.

Detailed specifications are on file in the office of the Transportations Supervisor, District Service Center, Zeh and LaBree, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701.

Bids will be received until 3:00 p.m. on January 4, 1984 in the Board Room located in the District Service Center. Bids must be sealed and marked "Bid for Transit School Busses" in the lower left corner.

Bids must be delivered before the time and date indicated above to the office of the Business Manager, or they may be delivered directly to the Board Room where they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Bids shall be accompanied by a bid security (certified check, cashier's check or bidder's bond) equal to five (5) per cent of the amount of the bid.

The Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, and to waive any formalities in the bid proposals.

All bidding shall complete the bid forms in detail so as to eliminate any questions as to the specifications they are providing on their equipment. Failure to answer these in such detail will be cause for rejection of the bid.

Any bidder may withdraw his bid at any time prior to the scheduled time for the receipt of bids, but no bid shall be withdrawn for a period of forty-five (45) days after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m. and Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by A. Cameron and seconded by G. Pribula to approve the Minutes of the October 24, 1983 Regular Board Meeting as amended. Motion carried unanimously.

A financial report concerning revenue and expenditures through October 31 was distributed.

Discussion was held concerning the Facilities Advisory Committee and the possibility of forming a Committee on Excellence in Education whose charge would be to look at what's happening in our schools both at present and in the future. Two areas of particular emphasis would be the extra-curricular program and communications in the district. Board members were asked to submit names prior to the next meeting in order that formal approval can be made at that time.

Superintendent Block suggested that the Board not endorse one person as replacement for Harry Sjulson on the MSBA Board of Directors because there are a number of individuals from surrounding districts that are candidates for the position.

A letter from Laura Zahn, Aide to the Commission of Education, was distributed. The letter was a follow-up to a recent visit with staff and addressed concerns regarding class size and how people really feel about the job teachers are doing. A letter was also distributed from Dick Olson, Engineer of the ATS & R architectural firm, concerning square footage in buildings to be tested for asbestos.

Al Buhl, Chairperson of the Internal Compliance Committee, gave a report on their on-site review of Northrop, Washington, [illegible] recommendations have been reviewed and action taken to rectify the concerns they expressed.

Discussion was held concerning Project Charlie, a chemical abuse prevention program being implemented in the district.

Enrollment projections for 1983-84 were distributed. It is projected that enrollment will continue to decline gradually over the next five years.

A survey on drug use in Minnesota was distributed and discussed. According to the survey, the use of alcohol is higher in Minnesota than the national average and is a very serious problem among our young people.

Board members were informed of the MSBA Delegate Assembly to be held November 28 & 29 and were asked to let the Superintendent know if any of them were interested in attending. Discussion was held concerning possible legislation regarding catastrophic special educational costs.

A motion was made by P. Bortnem and seconded by H. Hallstrom to approve Superintendent Robert Block as legislative representative and Harry Sjulson as alternate on the MSBA COMNET list for 1983-84. Motion carried unanimously.

Discussion was held concerning the need for additional space in the AVTI Aviation Program. The problem will be researched further prior to any formal action.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by A. Cameron to approve the posting for a six-months secretary in the AVTI Placement Office if supported by MEED monies. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by P. Bortnem to approve the participation of Terry Solne in the Blandin Foundation Principals' Fellowship Program. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by M. Carlson to accept the resignation of John Schmitz as Head Football Coach effective the end of the 1983-84 season. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by H. Hallstrom to accept the resignation of Charlie Cornell as Assistant Football Coach effective the end of the 1983-84 season. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by A. Cameron to accept the resignation of Arla Wiskow as Cafeteria Helper effective November 3, 1983. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by A. Cameron to accept the resignation of David C. Peterson as Assistant Hockey Coach effective immediately. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by A. Aune to approve the removal of Ardelle Ostgarden from the Food Service recall list effective immediately. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by A. Cameron to approve the employment of Carl Peterson as Custodian at Lincoln effective November 15, 1983. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by H. Hallstrom to approve the recall of Mavis Newton as Kitchen Helper at Franklin effective immediately. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by A. Aune and seconded by P. Bortnem to approve the extra-curricular assignment of Norman Halse as AVTI VICA Advisor for the 1983-84 school year at a rate of $750.00, to be negotiated. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by P. Bortnem to approve the extra-curricular assignment of Tom Goddard as Assistant Hockey Coach for the 1983-84 school year at a rate of $1,405, to be negotiated. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by P. Bortnem to approve a leave of absence without pay for Jack Boyer from January 18 through February 2, 1984. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by M. Carlson to approve a maternity leave of absence for Bonnie Swantek from approximately February 27 through April 30, 1984. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by M. Carlson to approve the posting for a part-time AVTI Sales and Marketing Instructor beginning winter quarter 1983-84. Motion carried unanimously.

Nuclear Waste Will Not Be Stored In MN.

Some residents near areas under consideration by the waste management board (WMB) as potential sites for a hazardous waste disposal facility are apparently convinced that Minnesota's disposal facility will also be used to store nuclear wastes.

"This assumption is unfounded," states WMB chairman Robert Dunn. "It is also unfortunate. Such misinformation creates unwarranted fear and diverts attention from the real problem the board is working to solve, the improper management of hazardous wastes."

Hazardous wastes and nuclear wastes are very different, and lawmakers have established totally separate procedures for dealing with each of these two waste categories. Hazardous wastes, as defined by law, are those chemical wastes that are toxic, flammable, corrosive or explosive.

State legislature established the waste management board in 1980 to develop programs and site facilities to improve the management of hazardous wastes. Following year, the legislature specifically prohibited any radioactive wastes — including nuclear wastes — from treatment or deposition in facilities sited by the waste management board.

Disposal of "high level" nuclear wastes is the responsibility of the federal government. In late 1982 the U.S. congress passed the nuclear policy act, which initiated a process for siting two repositories to store the nation's nuclear wastes.

Under this law, the federal department of energy (DOE) is to conduct fieldwork on three types of geologic media — located in nine specific areas around the country — to determine if they are geologically suitable for storage of nuclear wastes. Areas to be considered include volcanic deposits in Washington and Nevada, and salt formations in Utah, Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Once the fieldword is complete the president, by March 31, 1987, will nominate one site to congress to serve as the nation's first nuclear waste repository.

Second repository is scheduled to be nominated by the president in 1990. In addition to studying salt and volcanic formations for this repository, the DOE has decided to evaluate 220 crystalline bedrock formations located in 17 states throughout the north central and eastern portions of the nation. Crystalline bedrock consists of a broad category of geologic formations, the most common being granite, gabbro and gneiss. Crystalline rock is present in many areas of Minnesota and, for this reason, the state is one of the 17 the DOE has listed for possible establishment for the second repository.

Waste management board is also studying Minnesota crystalline rock formations for possible establishment of a repository for hazardous wastes, because such formations appear to offer a high potential for secure waste containment. However, the type of crystalline rock repository envisioned by the board would be quite different from the designs discussed by federal officials for storage of nuclear wastes.

Repository for hazardous wastes would be constructed between 200 to 1,000 feet below the surface, and would consist of two vertical access shafts with a large, horizontal "haulageway" extending out from the base of the shafts. Solidified hazardous waste residues would be stored in large galleries branching off of the main haulageway.

Nuclear waste repository would require much more capacity than a hazardous waste repository and would be much deeper, up to a half-mile below the surface. Instead of large storage galleries, this type of facility would contain thousands of holes two feet wide and 20 feet deep to contain long canisters of solidified nuclear wastes.

Board's current investigations of four crystalline bedrock "study areas" — in Stearns, St. Louis, Redwood, and Yellow Medicine counties — are totally unrelated to the DOE's nationwide search for nuclear waste repositories. While the U.S. geological survey personnel will help the board evaluate the bedrock sites, their assistance does not in any way indicate board cooperation with the DOE's search.

Federal government will pursue its siting program regardless of the waste management board's activities. Although it is possible Minnesota could be selected for the nation's second nuclear waste repository in 1990, the hazardous waste disposal site selected by the board will not be used to contain nuclear wastes or any other type of radioactive waste.

As an additional expression of its desire to clarify the two siting processes — and to respond to the fears of citizens in or near potential hazardous waste facility sites — the board on November 23 passed a resolution directed to the governor's task force on high level radioactive wastes, which is monitoring the radioactive waste disposal siting activities of the federal government.

Resolution requests that the U.S. department of energy "not utilize site-specific bedrock data resulting from the board's search for crystalline bedrock candidate sites for hazardous wastes unless and until the same level of data is obtained from potential sites being considered in other states." The board conveyed its strong belief that equal levels of information should be "in hand" prior to any decisions by the department of energy.

Crystalline bedrock is just one of four methods the board is examining for hazardous waste disposal. Others include long-term storage in above-ground tanks or warehouses, disposition in a conventional below-grade landfill using leachate collection systems and artificial liners, and disposal in an above-grade mound-type landfill with leachate collection and artificial liners.

Board will continue to evaluate the social, economic and environmental aspects of the disposal technologies and will select the most suitable for Minnesota's hazardous waste management needs in 1986, at the same time that it designates the final disposal site.

Christmas To Be Discussed At Workshop

"Convenience of Christmas" will be the topic for a workshop to be held on December 20 sponsored by the Marshall county [illegible] service.

Morning session begins at 9 a.m. at the Middle River community center with the afternoon session beginning at 1 p.m. in the Grygla civic center.

There are still many things to be done the week before Christmas and this workshop will focus on foods, last minute gift ideas, and decorating your home with a Christmas flair without spending a fortune.

Dr. Leo Herber Recertified By AAFP Recently

Dr. Leo Herber, Thief River Falls, has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American academy of family physicians, formerly the American academy of general practice.

Members must complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years to be eligible for re-election. The country's second largest national medical association, the academy was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

Founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, MO, the academy was instrumental in establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. This is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians in the future. Continuing education is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Washington To Give Program This Thursday

Washington elementary school will present its annual Christmas program at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, December 15, in the school gymnasium. Program is open to the public.

Presentation of kindergarten and Grade 1 and 2 will be "Achoo, the Sneeze that Saved Christmas" by Geraldine Bailey and Fred Bock. This is a story about a small town of mice who traditionally help Santa every Christmas Eve by putting holes in the Christmas cheese, and how they deal with Kringle Kat, the villain who has kept Santa from visiting.

Achoo is portrayed by Danae Dekkers, Kringle Kat by Rachael Marshall, Santa Claus by Casey Swenson and mice by Allison Myers, Rod Joppru, and Chad Swanson. Narrators will be Tammy Walker, Corey Olson, Heather Crowser, Ben Sjoberg and Angie Goulet.

Grades 3, 4 and 5 will present a Christmas musical fantasy by Betty Hager and Fred Bock titled, "The Greatest Christmas Card in the Whole Wide World." Story revoles around a family selecting a Christmas card to represent them.

Members of the cast include Patty Johnson as Mother, Peter Balmer as Father, Bryan Delorme as Dan, Maureen Johnson as Stephanie, Jamie Thornton as Timmy, Kim Myers as Baby Jill, Teri Garceau as Jenny and Joel Fremstad as G.T.

Some of the songs include "Deck the Halls," "Here We Go, Caroling", "We Wish You a Merry Christmas", "A Shepherd Has a Very Hard Life", "The Kings' Song", and "The Angels' Song."

Program is directed by Pat Beauchane, assisted by the classroom teachers.

Area Students Are Residence Hall Officers

Ninety-eight students have been selected as residence hall officers for the 1983-84 academic year at the University of North Dakota (UND) in Grand Forks. Among them were Sue Gere, Thief River Falls, who is secretary for Fulton hall, and Philip MacGregor, Red Lake Falls, who is vice president of Walsh hall.

Residence units elect presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers and programmers. These officers plan social activities, including dances, parties, intramural sports, exchanges and formal events for the more than 3,000 dormitory residents. They also serve as governing bodies, assisting head residents and resident assistants in establishing regulations and policies for each residence hall.

Ottertail To Cut Building Budget $906,000

Otter Tail Power company's board of directors has approved a construction budget of $25,093,000 for 1984, according to John MacFarlane, president of the electric utility based in Fergus Falls. The amount is $906,000 less than the budget for 1983.

The company's tentative construction budget for the five-year period from 1984 through 1988 has been set at $166,424,000, a downward revision of about $30.1 million.

In part, the budget for 1984 reflects the continuation of uprating distribution and transmission voltages in the Otter Tail service territory, according to MacFarlane. In addition, he said other projects are needed to improve substations, replace conductor and rebuild segments of line that are aging.

"We continue to closely examine all construction proposals and postpone the ones that will not result in adverse effects in providing electric service to our customers," MacFarlane stressed. "Some of the budget reductions reflect the postponed construction of our Spiritwood generating station in North Dakota until at least 1992. This is due to the availability of capacity and electric energy from other sources through the remainder of this decade and into the 1990s."

Downward revision of the $30.1 million for 1984-88 also reflects belt-tightening by Otter Tail, Mac Farlane adds. However, he said a rapid upturn in the economy could result in changes upward for the five-year construction budget.

Dairy Farmers To Do Analysis Of Legislation

Dairy farmers can analyze the proposed milk reduction program with materials developed by the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service.

Materials, available at county extension offices, include a worksheet to help farmers analyze whether to participate and at what level. Analysis includes factors affecting an individual farmer's choices, and guidelines as to who should seriously consider participating in the program. Management strategies such as feeding less energy, holding cows open and buying replacements are also discussed.

The worksheet helps farmers analyze no participation as compared with participation at various levels. Farmers will need 1981 and 1982 sales information from their records or milk buyer. They also need 1983 sales information from their records or milk buyer. They also need 1983 sales data to help them project 1984 milk production if they elect not to participate in the program.

If milk production is significantly reduced under this program, the net price to farmers will be raised at the end of the program at least by the 50 cents assessment that is charged to help finance the $10 per hundredweight payments. But, if production increases again to where large CCC purchases are required, the support price will drop 50 cents.

Volume 72 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, December 14, 1983 Number 98

Ideas Offered For County Fair Here

Faced with anticipated operating deficits for 1984, the Pennington county fair association received suggestions and comments at its annual meeting Monday evening in the county courthouse in Thief River Falls. About 25 people, mostly directors of the association, were in attendance at the meeting.

In addition to reelecting seven directors to three-year terms, the association expressed nearly unanimous support for presenting a "big name" attraction for the 1984 county fair. It was suggested that the 1983 appearance of singer Charley Pride was a success despite a net loss of about $1,100 from the performance.

Treasurer Richard Anderson noted that special arrangements and improvements which had to be made in electrical supply and other items accounted for most of the loss, and that these improvements would be nonrecurring for future attractions.

Reelected to the board of directors were Si Hanson, first district; Arlen Ellingson, second district; LaVerne Hamre, third district; Beth Blankenfeld, fourth district; Terry Nelson, fifth district; Selmer Holen, Goodridge; and Bernard Huot, St. Hilaire.

At a reorganizational meeting of the board following the annual meeting, Oliver (Skip) Swanson was reelected president of the association. Other officers also reelected were Bernard Huot, first vice president; Donna Harder, second vice president; Richard Jorde, secretary; and Richard Anderson, treasurer.

Director Si Hanson expressed appreciation of the association membership and community for the outstanding effort made by the officers in handling the 1983 county fair and planning for the 1984 event. He asked that the commendation be noted in the minutes of the meeting. "You people have done a terrific job," he said, "and your long hours and dedication should be recognized."

Treasurer Anderson answered a number of questions

Wolfe Tells Of MnDOT Intent To Reorganize

About 30 people attended a noon meeting at the Best Western Inn on Tuesday to hear of plans being considered by the Minnesota department of transportation to reorganize and consolidate its districts in an attempt to reduce costs of operation.

Those attending the meeting included representatives from the city council, county commissioners, Jobs Inc., Chamber of Commerce board and the legislative and transportation committee of the chamber. Special guest speaker was Bob Wolfe, district engineer from the Bemidji MnDOT office, who explained that Commissioner of Transportation Richard Braun had requested preparation of plans for reorganization, with instructions that the number of district offices be reduced from its present level of nine. He said that consolidation of offices was required to reduce operating costs and increase efficiency of the department's highway construction program.

Engineers from the affected districts and the central office began working on alternative plans in September, presenting Braun with 13 different suggestions. From these he selected two final alternatives on December 1. Wolfe noted that the restructuring committee was now studying the two alter-

Two New School Committees Go Into Action

Two newly-appointed committees in School District 564 are meeting this week for their organizational sessions and to determine their role in regard to their specific areas of study.

The building facilities advisory committee met this morning at 10 a.m. in the school district service center board room to discuss what can be done about the district's high school facilities.

The excellence in education committee will meet Friday at 10 a.m. in the board room. This committee is concerned with the level of education for all students in the local district and will make evaluations and present recommendations to the board of education. Supt. Robert Block said this committee is in part a response to the report "A Nation At Risk" and will be an attempt to stimulate greater opportunities for learning in this school district.

Badger Man Is Second Hwy. Fatality Tues.

Second highway fatality within four days in the Thief River Falls area happened Tuesday when Marvin Duane Lindland, 52, Badger died as a result of injuries sustained in a car and pickup crash on highway 32 about three miles north of Holt.

Lindland was driving south on highway 32 when his vehicle collided head-on with a pickup truck driven north by Douglas Gerals Hoverson, 22, of rural Strathcona. He reportedly sustained back and internal injuries and died at Northwestern hospital where he was transferred by ambulance.

Hoverson, who was alone in the pickup, suffered a hip injury and cuts and was experiencing chest pains, according to the state patrol which is investigating the accident. Mrs. Phyllis Lindland, 49, a passenger in the Lindland car, sustained a dislocated hip, broken upper arm, fractured left wrist, cuts and bruises. She is hospitalized in Thief River Falls.

Patrol officer Murray Herrboldt of Thief River Falls, who is conducting the investigation, said the accident happened on a curve in the highway.

Thief River Falls physician Dr. Duane Davidson was killed in a two-car collision late Saturday afternoon on highway 1 about nine miles east of Thief River Falls.

Tree Lighting Thursday Night At Elks Park

First community lighting of a Christmas tree will take place Thursday at 8 p.m. in Elks park southeast of the Soo Line depot (chamber of commerce office) on Third street in Thief River Falls. Public participation in the event is encouraged.

Mayor Bob Carlson has proclaimed the event, noting that all who love Christmas see its glory and meaning through the tradition of the decorated tree and that the tree is one of the most popular symbols of the festive season. "This tradition radiates the sentiment and warmth of the ageless story of the Christ Child," Mayor Carlson said.

The program will include a prayer by Rev. Stanley Bourassa of St. Bernard's Catholic church, reading of the mayor's proclamation, music by the Lincoln high school chorus and caroling to the chamber of commerce office for hot chocolate and cookies.

Valley Home Program Fri.

Valley home for the aged in Thief River Falls will present its annual Christmas program Friday at 7:30 p.m. with the public invited to attend and share in the event.

Lincoln Christmas Music Concert Sunday, Monday

CONCERT CHOIR OFFICERS will be in charge of music when Lincoln high school presents performances of its Christmas concert at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, and 7:30 pm. Monday in the school auditorium. Officers, left to right, include: (seated) Dawn Engelstad, soprano librarian; Melissa Bondy, president; (standing) Leon Rogalla, vice president; Shawn Fremstad, bass librarian; Peggy Mehrkens, alto librarian; and Gary Cornell, tenor librarian. In addition to selections by the massed choir, performances will be given by the orchestra, Lincoln singers, freshman choir, boys, girls and mixed ensembles, girls choir and various soloists and accompanists. General director for the program is David Morken.

Solosits, ensembles and instrumentalists will be featured with larger choral groups when the annual Lincoln high school Christmas vocal concert will be presented Sunday at 4:30 p.m. and Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. General director of the program is David Morken, vocal music instructor at the school. Admission will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Soloist Melissa Bondy will open the program with "I Sing of a Maiden" by Bob Burroughs, accompanied by Coreen Larson on piano and Nora Hushagen on flute.

The concert choir will follow with "Midst the Deep Silence," a Polish carol arranged by Carolyn Jennings, and a seventeenth century motet entitled "Command Thine Angel That He Come" by Dietrich Buxtehude. Instrumentalists will be Yvonne Anderson and Nora Hushagen, flutes, and Coreen Larson, harpsichord.

Lincoln Singers will perform "Let The Bright Red Berries Glow" by Garry Cornell, accompanied by Mary Rogalla on guitar; "Christmas Dance of the Shepherds" by Zoltan Kodaly; and "Gloria in Excelsis," a Polish carol accompanied by Jennifer Westlin on piano.

Freshman choir will present "Sing Gloria" by Katherine Davis; "Could This Be a Special Night?" by Gilbert Martin, accompanied by Jodi Skime on piano; and "Hospitality Carol" by Austin Lovelace, accompanied by Jennifer Davidson on piano.

Boys ensemble consisting of Gary Cornell, Jim Hayes, Jeff Hamerlinck, Craig Goodrich, Paul Cuppett, Bruce Tranby, Lee Genereux and Brian Barth will sing "The Boar's Head Carol" by Robert Shaw.

"Carol of the Bells" by M. Leontovich and "Shepherds Awake!" by K.K. Davis will be sung by the girls ensemble including Melissa Bondy, Teresa Nelson, Coreen Larson, Connie Geatz, Dawn Engelstad; Linette Olson, Dana Torkelson, Sarah Wedul and Beth Jenson.

The two ensembles will then combine voices for a medley of songs by Irving Berlin.

MCC's Holiday Concert Thurs.

Marshall County Central high school's music department will present its annual Christmas concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, December 15, in the Newfolden high school gymnasium, under the direction of Sheila Nelson.

Featured in the concert will be the junior high band and choir, junior and senior high pop choirs, varsity and jazz bands, and boys, girls and mixed choirs. Performance is open to the public.

City Council Adopts Budget Tuesday Night

Thief River Falls city council met last night in council chambers at city auditorium, approving a 1984 budget of $8,748,723, and informing holders of on-sale liquor licenses that a special referendum vote would be required in order to issue a one-day permit to sell intoxicating liquors on Sunday, February 26, during the World Series snowmobile race here.

Budget, which was approved on recommendation of the finance committee, included $143,110 in transfers from fund reserves, in order to balance budgeted revenues of $8,605,613 with expenses of $8,748,723. According to Alderman Jim Womack, chairman of the finance committee, those transfers would come primarily from water and wastewater department reserves.

Approved along with that budget was the 1984 revenue sharing budget, which included expenditures of $3,000 to the Pennington county fair board; $5,100 to the Para-transit bus program; $10,300 for senior meals; $3,500 for Falls delivered meals; $1,500 for the council on aging; $6,500 for senior citizen cab subsidies; $3,300 for the historical society; $6,000 for fire hydrants; $13,000 to rebuild east side tennis courts; $300 for annual audit fees; $7,500 for the wading pool project; $15,000 for economic development by Jobs Inc.; and $5,000 for the Ripley Alliance for battered women.

With revenues totalling $97,000, this left a fund balance of $17,000 to be used for miscellaneous requests for funds which can be expected during the coming year, according to Womack.

Approval of the budget was passed with one dissenting vote by Alderman Don Goodrich, who objected to the revenue sharing funds allotted to rebuilt tennis courts and assist the Ripley Alliance, noting that other expenses such as a street department vehicle had been removed from revenue sharing and placed back in department budgets. He complained that expenditures had been effectively raised by 10.3 per cent.

Mayor Carlson complimented the finance committee on accomplishing a difficult task in balancing the budget, accusing Goodrich of "second guessing and crying" over items his own committee (parks and recreation) passed over his head.

Delegation of on-sale liquor license holders was present to request a special use permit

Shelly Nelson State Beef Princess

"BEAUTY AND THE BEEF" could well be the pun applied as a title for this photo of Minnesota Beef Princess Shelly Nelson of rural Red Lake Falls and the Nelson's purebred Hereford herd sire "Nez 14L". The four and one-half year old bull weighs 2,100 pounds and has been shown by Shelly and her father Jerry at several county fairs. The Nelson herd is accustomed to being handled by the Nelsons and viewed by visitors and therefore seems unusually quiet.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"A Minnesota Beef Princess can't properly wear a crown on her hat if she's afraid to get a little manure on her boots."

Blame that bit of homely philosophy on this writer who was impressed with the practical attitude of Shelly Nelson, an 18-year-old rural Red Lake Falls farm girl who recently won the Minnesota Beef Princess title at state competition in Minneapolis. She entered the competition as reigning Northwest Stockmen's association Beef Princess.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nelson and a senior at Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls, Shelly is heavily involved in the Nelsons' Oakhill Hereford Farm beef operation. That involvement is translated into physical handling of some of the farm operations, working directly with the cattle and showing them at county and state fairs.

"[illegible] like working with the cattle," she emphasized during a Times interview. "I really do enjoy it. I like watching them grow and I feel proud of the increasing quality of the herd. I just enjoy having them around and being around them."

Shelly was crowned Northwest Beef Princess last June at the Northwest Stockmen's association picnic and contest at Red Lake Falls. She has since represented the association at several parades, awards presentations at county fairs (including Pennington) beef promotion booth and the state contest. She was runner-up to Minnesota Beef Queen Tammy Crawford of Beaver Creek and therefore received the Minnesota Beef Princess title. The state queen, she noted, can expect to spend about 75 days away from home during her year's reign, promoting the beef industry.

State competitors were judged on the basis of 40 points for interviews and prepared speeches; 30 points for personal appearance, poise and neatness; and 30 points for beef knowledge and public relations ability.

A member of the Hilltop Ramblers 4-H club for 11 years, Shelly has been in the beef project for nine years and shown Nelson herd cattle in [illegible] competition. She has also carried projects in sheep, clothing and foods, exhibited at Red Lake county fairs in Red Lake Falls and Oklee and won four state fair trips with sheep or beef cattle. Last summer she won the beef heifer championship at the county fair and earned a blue Visitors and spectators are welcome.

CORRECTION

In listing the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the Hazel Christenson birthday party, two names were inadvertently omitted. They were Shaun Schipper, Hillsboro, N.D., and Kris Anderson of Moorhead. The Times regrets the omission.

Stigen Benefit Concert Sunday

Helen Dahlstrom and Polly Reed will be performing a very special Christmas concert of piano and organ music at 7 p.m. Sunday, December 18, at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls.

That concert will be held in honor of Susan Stigen, a 28 year old nurse who has been hospitalized multiple times with complications resulting from diabetes, and who is presently unable to work. A love offering will be taken to assist with her expenses. Public attendance at the concert is being encouraged.

Parents Are Alerted To Child Abuse

Articles in the December and January issue of "PTA Today", the national PTA's magazine, discuss child sexual abuse and ways parents can keep their children safe on the streets.

Child sexual abuse is a topic frequently avoided by parents because they do not believe it can happen to their child, says Beverly Slan, an active member of the Washington school PTA in Glenview, Ill., and author of one of the articles in the magazine. "No child, anywhere, is immune to the possibility of being sexually abused," Slan says.

Most parents worry that child sexual abuse offenders are strangers, when in actuality they are more likely to be persons you would least suspect. In the article, Irv Miller, assistant state's attorney in Cook county, Ill., advises parents, "Don't be so trusting. I have seen cases where the offender was a youth organization leader, a church teacher, — one case even involved a therapist at a children's hospital." Such offenders usually gain the child's confidence in order to establish a close, unbreakable bond. The child often admires the offender and would not turn him in, or is simply embarrassed and frightened to admit the abuse.

Better communication and education are the keys to protecting children from sexual abuse, according to Slan. An open relationship between parents and children will help adults feel comfortable about giving children information on sexual abuse, and also help children feel close enough to their parents not to be afraid to tell them anything.

Many PTAs sponsor fingerprinting programs for children, which former New York state PTA president, Joan Ball, likens to an insurance policy — "something parents hope they never have to use, but are important to have if needed." PTAs are adopting guidelines, working with police departments and have even obtained funding for these programs.

Since fingerprinting is only a means of identifying children but can not prevent child abduction, parents should consider preventive measures to protect their children. In an article in "PTA Today", Child Find, a non-profit organization dedicated to finding missing children, suggests the following:

— Don't leave children unattended in vulnerable places, such as a parked car, in public bathrooms or anywhere in shopping malls;

— Adopt a family code word and instruct your children never to go anywhere with an adult — even one they know well — unless the code word is given first;

— Keep young children — up to age six — under adult supervision at all times;

— Make sure children age four and older know their own telephone numbers and how to make long-distance calls;

— Most important, talk to children about the possibility of kidnapping and teach them how to get help if they are abducted.

Another way many PTAs have helped protect children is by starting block parent programs. Typically, block parents agree to watch for children when they walk to and from school. If children feel ill, frightened lost or are being followed or bothered by someone, they are welcome at block homes identified by signs placed in their windows. National PTA says it is crucial to involve local police departments in the planning, regulating and screening of volunteers for such programs.

Sabol Studies Horticulture In UMC Class

Diane Sabol

Three months ago Diane Sabol of Thief River Falls began working on the poinsettia crop at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) which is now in full bloom.

Students in commercial horticulture crops class follow a rigorous schedule of shading for over 300 poinsettia plants they are growing in the hoop house for the Christmas season. In October the students began working in teams of two to cover the plants at 4 p.m. and uncover them at 8 a.m. each day, including weekends.

"Poinsettias are raised for their bracts, or red leaves, and not for their flowers," commented Roger Wagner, associate professor of horticulture and course instructor.

Last year's crop was fantastic, according to Wagner, "but this year the crop is unbelievable." Wagner said the superior crop was due not only to increased use of fertilization, but also to the concern shown for the plants by the students.

Commercial horticulture crops class is the winter sequence of a continuing course for horticulture students. Greenhouse management is taught during fall quarter and bedding plant production is offered for spring quarter.

The crops class acquaints students with producing plants for a specific date, a very necessary skill for employment in a greenhouse or garden center operation," according to Wagner. Timing is very important.

"There's nothing cheaper than a poinsettia the day after Christmas," laughed Wagner. "But now we're not thinking Christmas; we're into Easter."

The class is now transplanting Easter lily bulbs.

Although Wagner is the instructor, he says the students do all the work. He tells them what to do and explains how to do it and lets problems develop to see how the students handle them.

By the end of the course students will have a full year of crop growing which they record in journals. Details are written throughout the year on every crop. They describe what goes on with the crops, when the buds come out and how diseases are treated.

Northrop Kids Give Christmas Program Tues.

Northrop elementary school will present a public performance of its annual Christmas program at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 20, in the school gymnasium.

Students in kindergarten and grades one and two will present "What Is A Gift?", directed by Jeanne Harger. Kindergarten songs will include: "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," "What's A Gift, We'd Like To Know," "Love Came In With Santa," "Mechanical Toys," an instrumental "We Are Toys," and a poem "That's A Gift." First grade songs will include: "Oh What A Joy, We're Going To Be Gifts" and "Elfie The Elf." Second grade songs include: "Little Donkey Please Be Gentle," "Little Rag Doll" and "Christmas Bells Are Ringing," with accompaniment by Jennifer Nicholason.

Grades three, four and five will present a Christmas musical fantasy, "The Greatest Christmas Card in the Whole Wide World," by Betty Hager and Fred Bock. Directed by Pat Beauchane, the story is about a family selecting a Christmas card. Cast members include Tina Belto, Tim Stengrim, Kyle Evenson, Tonya Hible, Darrin Haagenson, Carla Sorenson, Angie Kukowski and Brian Lehrer. The chorus will sing: "Deck The Halls," "Here We Go A Caroling," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," "The King's Song," and "The Angels Song."

Services Set At Oklee For Geo. Spong, 88

Funeral services for George E. Spong, Sr., 88, of rural Oklee, will be held Friday at 2:00 p.m., at the Salem Lutheran church, rural Oklee. Spong died Friday at his winter home in Mesa, Ariz.

Rev. Charles L. Gunderson will officiate at the services with Leona Sletto serving as soloist and Alice Skreland, as organist. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers will be all men attending the service.

Serving as active pallbearers will be Mark, Ricky, Kevin and Scott Spong, Irvin Saetre, Bob and Leslie O'Neill and Don Stenberg.

A prayer service will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m., at the Petterson Funeral home, Oklee, where the body will repose after 3:00 p.m., that day. The body will also repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

George E. Spong, a son of the late Oscar and Martha Spong, was born April 3, 1895 in Minneapolis. He attended school and grew to manhood in Minneapolis. In 1921, he moved with the family to rural Oklee.

He was married June 2, 1934 at Oklee to Dorothy Bakke. The couple farmed north of Oklee until retiring. They spent their winters in Mesa, Ariz., and their summers on the farm north of Oklee.

Spong was active in various community affairs, having served as township clerk for many years. He had also been a member of the elevator board, school board, and ASCS board. For recreation, he enjoyed team bowling.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Homer (Esther) Saetre, 1800 Center Square, Moorhead; five sons: George E. Spong, Jr., Oklee; Larry, Thief River Falls; Earl, Great Falls, Mont.; Dafy, Mapleton; and Dale, Grand Forks, N.D.; 16 grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren; and a brother, Carl Spong, 1261 North 8th, Fargo, N.D.

He was preceded in death by a son, Ernest, who died in 1969; a sister and two brothers.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS in Snorre lodge, 70, Sons of Norway, were presented at the meeting of the organization held December 7. The memberships were presented by President Robert Stroble to Mrs. Ray Rambeck, left, and Mrs. Lester Chapman, center. To be eligible for life membership, members must be 65 years of age and been a member for 30 years.

Elida Moen Services Held In Newfolden

Funeral services for Mrs. Elida Moen, 91, of Newfolden, were held today (Wednesday) at 10:30 a.m., at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in that city. Mrs. Moen died Saturday at Oakland Park Nursing home in Thief River Falls where she had been a resident since September 6 of this year.

Rev. Steve Estrem officiated at the services. Kathy Rokke was soloist and Judy Dpray, the organist. Interment will be in Spruce Valley cemetery. The Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Ronnie Moen, Richard Moen, Marvin Moen, Gerald Moen, Tim Peterson and Dean Anderson.

Mrs. Moen, the former Elida Mathilda Peterson, was born Sept. 24, 1892 in Spruce Valley township of Marshall county to Erick and Mathilda Anderson Peterson. She grew to womanhood in that area and was married there in 1910 to Clarence Moen. Following their marriage, the couple lived in Spruce Valley township, where Moen was in road construction and Mrs. Moen worked as cook. After her husband's death in 1933, Mrs. Moen later moved into Newfolden, where she lived for many years.

She was a member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church.

Surviving are a son, Morris Moen, Newfolden; two daughters: Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Thief River Falls; and Mrs. Oscar (Evelyn) Paulson, Newfolden; 22 grandchildren, 55 great-grandchildren, and two sisters, Evelyn Johnson, and Ruth Engstrom, both of Middle River.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lena Snare were held Saturday at 2:00 p.m., at Greenbush at the United Free Lutheran church. Rev. Burton Rygh officiated. Tom Anderson was the soloist and Mrs. Gerald Dvergsten, the organist. Interment was in the United-Paull church cemetery, near Greenbush, with the Collins Funeral home of Greenbush, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Walton Olen, Milton Olen, Kenneth Snare, Dennis Halbert, Harold Halbert and Pete Zahara.

Services were held the previous Wednesday at Crete, Ill., where she had resided for the past 16 years.

Mrs. Snare, the former Lena A. Snare, was born March 27, 1889 in Marshall to Asle and Anna Snare. As a child, she moved with her family to the Pelan community. There she attended school and grew to womanhood.

She was married Sept. 7, 1907 to Amund Snare at Paull Lutheran church, the first couple to be married in that church. The couple made their home on a farm near Strathcona until 1912, when they moved to Dewey township of Roseau county, near Pelan. In 1914, they moved to a farm near Greenbush. Later, they resided at Kennedy, Karlstad, Lake Bronson and Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Snare was a Gold Star Mother.

She is survived by five daughters: Mrs. Vern (Agnes) Kramer, Crete, Ill.; Ellen Bengston, Manchester, Tenn.; Mrs. Ray (Emma) Engblom, Mora; Mrs. Peter (Amy) Zahara, Buffalo, Wyo., and Velna Gelbert, Shepard, Mont.; two sons: Gustav of Crete, and Amund, Chicago Heights, Ill., 18 grandchildren, 34 great-grandchildren, six great-great-grandchildren; a sister, Mary Erickson, Leona Valley, Calif., and many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in 1955, two sons, two daughters, and eight brothers and sisters.

34 Businesses Are Helped By SBA Program

Celso C. Moreno, district director of the Minnesota small business administration (SBA) office, announced recently that local development companies in Minnesota have invested over $3,000,000 in 34 small businesses since the inception of the program in June of 1982.

"These development companies, certified and supported financially by the SBA, have helped save and create many jobs throughout Minnesota by providing needed fixed asset financing through the SBA 503 program", said Moreno.

"The SBA 503 program is a major economic development tool within the federal government", said Moreno. "They are local development companies, by in large, locally organized, raise their own money and SBA guarantees their debentures."

The SBA, through the 503 program, guarantees 100 per cent of debentures issued by local development companies which in turn provide part of the financing for long term fixed assets for small businesses. Typical financial arrangement would have the debenture provide 40 per cent of the project cost, with 50 per cent of the cost coming from a private sector lender, who gets 100 per cent first position on the fixed assets. Remaining 10 per cent is equity provided by the small business or by the community as an incentive to attract the small business.

Funds may be used to purchase land and construct buildings, purchase of existing buildings, for renovation of existing building, or to install machinery and equipment with a life longer than the term of the note.

SBA Completes Ten-Year Study On Incomes

Results of a 10-year study show income realized by small business proprietorships from 1972 to 1982 lagged behind personal income realized by the general public, according to the Minnesota small business administration.

Using data originating in the U.S. department of commerce, the study by the U.S. SBA's office of advocacy showed that during the 10-year period, proprietorship income increased by 60 per cent in Minnesota. About 85 per cent of all small businesses are sole proprietorships.

During the same period, personal income in Minnesota rose 157.1 per cent. For the nation as a whole, for the same period, proprietorship income rose 56.5 per cent and personal income rose 151.1 per cent.

Minnesota showed the best ranking out of 50 states for both sole proprietorship income and personal income in the upper Midwest.

"Two conclusions can be reached: (1) Minnesota is a relatively good place to live in terms of income, but (2) small business owners suffer by slower increase in their incomes," according to SBA director Celso C. Moreno. "During 1972-82 there was an unusually large increase in the workforce, accounting for the relatively sharp rise in personal income. At the same time, the decade was marked by three recessions, and in recessionary times, income of small businesses suffer more than personal income. Moreover, from 1979-82 growth, profits and income of all businesses were relatively stagnant."

Moreno said the income study was part of SBA's expanding economic research. "This research," Moreno added, "is resulting for the first time in a reliable and solid small business economic data base, which will be helpful to policymakers in shaping statutory and regulatory decisions."

Copies of the complete listing of states and the percentage of income growth is available from the SBA, 610-C Butler Square, 100 North Sixth Street, Minneapolis, MN 55403.

CLINGING TIGHTLY to Daddy (Jim Benoit), Karen, two, decided that she was as close to Santa Claus as she wanted to get. Although she was willing to accept several candy canes offered at arm's length, no amount of encouragement was enough to convince her to get any closer. She later peeked back into the room several times, fascinated by Santa's "Ho Ho Ho", but limited her gift requests to one word: "Bear," said from across the room.

Rites Held For William And Brock Woodard

Funeral services were held today (Wednesday) at 11:00 a.m., at St. John Lutheran church in Fargo for William Nathen Woodard, 4, and Brock James Woodard, 2, of Fargo, grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gast of this city. The children died Sunday in a fire in their home at Fargo.

Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery at Hallock.

Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery at Hallock.

Both children were born in Karlstad, William on Jan. 22, 1979, and Brock on Oct. 15, 1981. Since July of 1982, they have lived in Fargo.

Surviving are their parents: Tim and Dianna Woodard, Fargo, a brother, Brady, 10, and their maternal grandparents, Chester and Gladys Gast, Thief River Falls; and their paternal grandparents, Woodrow and Joyce Woodard, Hallock.

C. J. McEnelly Dies Dec. 8 In Huron, S. D.

C.J. "Mick" McEnelly, 71, of Huron, S.D., and formerly of Goodridge and Thief River Falls died Thursday morning, December 8, at the Violet Tschetter Memorial home in Huron.

Memorial services for C.J. McEnelly were held Monday at 11:00 a.m., at the first United Methodist church in Huron. Rev. Richard Salmonson officiated. Serving as organist was Mrs. Frank Smith.

Clair John McEnelly, a son of the late J.A. and Clara Halverson McEnelly, was born Dec. 29, 1911 in Pennington county. Following his graduation from the Goodridge high school, he worked for the Math Barzen grain company, transferring to the grain plant in Thief River Falls in the fall of 1938.

On Jan. 21, 1939, he was married at Bemidji to Dorothy Noper. They moved to Huron, S.D., in 1945, where he was employed by the Sheldon Reese elevator. In 1956, they purchased Schultz Coal and Feed yard, and in 1966, he organized Mick's Milling.

Surviving are his wife, a son and daughter-in-law, C. John and Alexis McEnelly, Huron; a daughter and son-in-law Pamela and Rollie Kludt, Watertown, S.D., five grandchildren; Casey, Sean and Aubrey McEnelly, Laurie and Terry Kludt; a great-grandchild; Erik Kludt; two sisters: Cora Bakkee, Los Angeles, Calif., and Ruby Ramsey, Thief River Falls; and one brother, Oliver McEnelly, Goodridge.

Two brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

Small Retail Outlets Show Sales Revival

Minnesota district office of the Small Business administration notes that according to SBA's office of economic research, small retailers are playing a major role in the revival of retail sales.

In the first six months of 1983, sales by small retailers rose 8.1 per cent, whereas sales by large retailers increased 6.1 per cent. Small retailers, during that period, generated about 65 per cent of total retail sales and accounted for 70 per cent of the 7.4 per cent retail sale gain over 1982.

"These figures," district director Celso C. Moreno said, "confirm our finding that the nation's small business community is leading the current recovery."

SBA's study also showed that small companies account for about 63 per cent of employment in the retail industry. In these six months, 14,143 small retail firms started business, providing more than 80,000 new jobs.

ASC Election, Convention In Warren Thurs.

Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation (ASC) service will hold its convention at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the community room of First American Bank in Warren.

Community committeemen will elect a member to the county committee for a three-year term, to replace Alton Nybladh, who has served three consecutive terms and is not eligible for relection. Convention delegates will also elect a county committee chairman, vice chairman and two alternates to the committee for the coming year. Present members of the committee are Chairman Leo Orpen, Nybladh and Einar Strandquist.

Community committeemen were elected December 5, according to Orpen, who noted that 699 votes were cast, of a possible 3,227 eligible farmers. Those elected from this area included: Harold Lambert, Clifford Jorde, Eldon Augustine, Joseph T. Ose and James R. Muzzy, all of route 2, Thief River Falls; Roger Anderson and Merlin Boe, Viking; Harold Brandon, Virgil Wagner and Wayne Wagner, Middle River; Ronald Borg, Newfolden; Armand Westlund, Strathcona; Lloyd Wiseth and Rodney Wayne, Goodridge; Steve Holte, Gary L. Anderson and Steve Sparby, Grygla; Carroll R. Curtiss and Jerome Berg, Middle River; and Roland Klamar, Bruce Lunsetter and Gary Satre, Grygla.

ASC community committees are in charge of local administration of national farm programs such as commodity loans, wheat and feed grain set-aside, wool, agricultural conservation, and disaster aid.

Record High Savings Set By MnDOT

Record $18 million in savings was set by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) under its value improvement program during fiscal year 1983, ending June 30, according to commissioner Richard P. Braun.

Savings since the program began in 1972 total about $60 million.

Braun said value improvement "brings a project down to its most basic function" and seeks new or different ways to achieve the project's purpose at the lowest possible cost.

"The program enables us to take a fresh look at things and encourages creative ways to do them better," he said.

Value improvement has involved hundreds of employees who have made thousands of suggestions to refine or modify highway engineering and other department projects. The program also includes private contractors working with Mn-DOT. Braun said Mn-DOT has realized savings on several occasions from a new technique or process proposed by a contractor.

Monies saved under the program are used to improve service and safety for motorists, truckers and other users of Minnesota's transportation system, Braun said.

Projects where value improvement techniques were used to reduce costs during 1983 ranged from $11 million from realignment of sections of TH 610 and TH 252 in Anoka county and redesigning the TH 610 bridge over the Mississippi River at Coon Rapids to $5,000 from using more energy-efficient road lighting. Other project savings included replacing six bridges with culverts, $396,000; recycling bituminous materials on US 10, $64,128; and revising median barrier design on I-94 in Minneapolis, $9,409.

Braun said the savings indicate the program's effectiveness and Mn-DOT's willingness to depart from conventional methods when a better one can be found.

"These achievements demonstrate that no matter how well we do things, we are still able to find ways to improve our methods and resulting service to transportation system users," he said.

Financial Aid Offsets Higher 'U'M Tuition

Rising tuition has been offset by the increased amount of student financial aid, resulting in no major change in the number and kinds of students who have access to the University of Minnesota, the board of regents was told recently.

During the past year the level of aid to students in Minnesota has risen about 79 per cent, while the University of Minnesota raised tuition an average of 15 per cent. The result, according to Dave Berg, director of the university's management planning and information services, has been a "very undramatic" decline in enrollment this quarter. Enrollment fell somewhat less than two per cent to 57,831 students fall quarter.

"The trend of freshman admissions was down nearly everywhere," Berg told the board in his report on how tuition and enrollment are linked. Most big ten schools had decreasing numbers of entering freshmen this fall, ranging from a 9.5 per cent decrease at the Unniversity of Illinois to a 0.2 per cent decrease at the University of Michigan, Berg said. The exception was the University of Wisconsin, where freshman admissions increased 6.5 per cent.

Based on the number of 18-year-olds, enrollment could have fallen as much as 4.5 per cent, Berg said. "We did not project that large a drop in enrollments when we planned the budget because in projecting enrollments we took into consideration the trend of salaries for college graduates versus high school graduates," Berg said. As the difference between the two categories increases, more people generally choose to go to college, he said.

Shawn Mahoney, chair of the board's student representatives, said that even though the enrollment decline was "undramatic," the issue of financial aid still needs more work. "If there is one potential student in Minnesota who looks at the University of Minnesota and says, 'I can't go there, it's too expensive,' I think that's unfortunate," Mahoney said.

Regent Mary Schertler warned fellow board members not to let higher levels of financial aid overshadow the need to hold down tuition. "I don't think financial aid should be emphasized so much that we stop worrying about keeping tuition low," Schertler said.

Board also discussed the administration's program for improving the English speaking proficiency of foreign-born graduate teaching assistants. In a report required by the state legislature, John Wallace, assistant vice president for academic affairs, described the program, which includes the use of videotapes, tutoring and testing. Program results from the fall quarter aren't available, but will be sent to the legislature when they become available.

Regent's policy on investments in companies with operations in South Africa was amended to prohibit the university from investing in companies that have not signed the Sullivan principles, six rules against racial discrimination. Although the university's investment counselors have been instructed to only buy stock in companies that subscribe to the Sullivan principles, it had not been part of the official policy.

Board adopted a policy in June 1982 that prohibits investment in companies with operations in South Africa unless no alternative investment would give the same return. Since that time, the market value of university holdings in such companies has risen from $23.5 million to $28.1 million.

Through the Labor Department's national program to provide training and employment-related services, a total of almost 210,000 people received assistance during fiscal year 1981, such as nutritional services, health and medical care, and emergency help, according to the department's 69th annual report.

Hill-Burton Aid May Help In Paying Bill

People who have a hospital or nursing home bill they cannot pay may find Hill-Burton can provide the help they need. Although many persons are not aware of it, more than 90 hospitals, nursing homes and other health care facilities in Minnesota are required by the Hill-Burton act to provide a certain amount of free or reduced-cost care each year to low-income persons who have no other way to pay their hospital bills.

Hill-Burton care is not "charity" care. Rather, it is one of the ways these facilities — along with hundreds of others across the country — contracted to pay back federal dollars given them under the Hill-Burton act between 1946 and 1974. Hospitals and other facilities given such federal aid must provide free or reduced-cost care each year for 20 years.

Also, in return for their federal dollars, each facility incurred a "community service" obligation to serve its community without discrimination for as long as that facility exists — providing service to any persons in the community regardless of sex, race, age, national origin, religion; whether or not they receive public benefits such as Medicare or Medical Assistance; have no doctor with staff privileges; or cannot pay a deposit before being admitted.

These hospitals must provide emergency services even if the patient cannot pay the bill — however, such patients can be billed. Patients are considered to be living in the service area of a Hill-Burton facility even if they live with a relative, or live there temporarily because of a job such as farm work or migrant labor.

To be eligible for Hill-Burton, a person's income must fit within the income guidelines and he or she must have exhausted any other means of paying hospital bills. Eligibility is based only on income, not assets. Some facilities have chosen to give free or reduced-cost care to those earning up to twice the income guidelines. Facilities also can choose the types of services they will provide under the program. (Some Hill-Burton facilities do not provide all types of services to eligible persons.)

Each facility must give to every patient seeking service a written notice explaining Hill-Burton services, and in addition, must post signs about the program in conspicuous places including the admissions office and the emergency room. To learn if it's a Hill-Burton facility, watch for the signs or inquire at the facility. If it is, Hill-Burton care can be applied for at any time — even for old bills incurred as early as 1980, or if a bill has already gone to collection. However apply as soon as possible if help is needed.

The 20-year limit of many facilities may end soon, or the amount year facility gives out each year may be exhausted before the end of the year. If this has occurred, don't hesitate to ask when the program begins in the next fiscal year, and apply then. The facility must determine in two working days whether or not an applicant qualifies for free or reduced-cost care, and must notify the applicant in writing.

If a person is covered under Medicare, Hill-Burton does not apply to covered items, deductibles or co-payments, but it can pay for non-Medicare covered bills such as custodial nursing home care. Also, any nursing home which received Hill-Burton funds must become Medicare certified and should be reported if it has not.

The Minnesota department of health and the community legal education program (CLE) monitor Hill-Burton facilities to make sure they fulfull their obligations to the community. For information about Hill-Burton or about the duties of a particular facility or to file a complaint, write the Dept. of Health at 717 Delaware St. S.E., Minnesota, MN 55440, or call 612-623-5444. Or call the CLE program at 612-522-6636.

Barley Day In Grand Forks Set January 10

Plans have been completed for the 1984 Red River Valley barley day to be held January 10 beginning with registration at 9 a.m. in the Grand Forks civic auditorium.

American Malting Barley association, Inc. president, W. Kirk Miller, has announced that the 1984 show will feature a luncheon presentation by USDA deputy assistant secretary for economics, Dawson Ahalt. Title of Ahalt's presentation is "Implications of Present and Future U.S. Farm Policies for Coarse Grain Producers."

In his role as deputy assistant secretary for economics, Dr. Ahalt is responsible for providing economic background assumptions for the administration's policy-making process.

Other program highlights include reports on malting barley production management, recommended malting varieties for 1984, barley disease control, new improved malting barley varieties for North Dakota and Minnesota, use of plant growth regulators and a status report on the new North Dakota barley council.

Snow Dumped On Roadways Creates Hazard

"As good neighbors and motorists, we urge Minnesotans to avoid adding to the hazards of wintertime driving by shoveling or blowing snow from their driveways or sidewalks onto public roads," said Curt Christie, state maintenance engineer, Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT).

Snow dumped, plowed or shoveled onto a roadway can create a real hazard not only for motorists but also for snowplows. Even heavy snowplows, said Christie, have been damaged when hitting compacted and frozen snow deposited on the highways.

In some parts of the state, snow pushed onto a highway causes snowdrifts which are hazardous to motorists. The person responsible for depositing snow onto the highway may also be liable in a civil lawsuit if damages or injuries occur as a result of the action, Christie warned.

Shoveling snow from driveways and sidewalks onto public roads and streets may be punishable as a misdemeanor (Minn. statutes 169.42 and 160.27, subdivision 5;, he said.

Misdemeanors are punishable by a fine up to $500 and-or a jail sentence of up to 90 days.

David Lilly Named U of M Finance V.P.

David M. Lilly, a longtime leader in Minnesota business and civic communities, has been appointed vice president for finance and operations by the University of Minnesota board of regents.

Lilly, 66, has been acting vice president since May, when Frederick Bohen resigned to take a similar job at Brown university in Rhode Island. Before taking over the vice president's duties, Lilly was a special consultant to university president C. Peter Magrath.

As acting vice president, Lilly headed a task force that suggested that the university can improve Minnesota's economy by raising its academic standards and by becoming more accessible to newcomers and to business.

Lilly came to the university from the board of governors of the federal reserve system in 1978 to be dean of the school of management. He previously had been chairman and president of the Toro company of Minneapolis.

"I cherish the opportunity and the challenge to be of assistance to such an important institution to our state and nation," Lilly said.

Of Lilly, Margrath said: "We consider ourselves equally fortunate in persuading him to serve the university. He's a proven manager in the best sense of the word. He cares about educational excellence and support for educational programs, and for Minnesotans, that means a continuation in the university's impressive record of service to our state."

Lilly, a graduate of the St. Paul academy and Dartmouth college, began his business career as a clerk at First National Bank of Minneapolis. After serving as an Army major and winning the bronze star during World War II, Lilly joined the Toro company in 1945 as vice president and director.

He has served as a trustee of Carleton college and the St. Paul academy and has been a member of the visiting committee to the Harvard graduate school of education. He is currently or has been a director of General Mills, the Dayton Hudson corp., the St. Paul companies, Honeywell and several Twin Cities banks. He has also been a trustee of St. Paul Children's hospital and the science museum of Minnesota and a member of the governing board of common cause.

MCRC Cautions Be Wary Of Yule Appeals

Minnesota charities review council (MCRC), the state's charities watchdog for 37 years, suggests that while it is the season to be jolly and generous, it might also be wise for the average donor to play a bit of the Scrooge in some cases.

For years charitable organizations have recognized that this is when people feel the need to give generously, and as a result your mailbox gets filled, you receive telephone appeals and people come to the door or solicit on street corners. You cannot respond to every request, so what to do?

Start with some simple questions. Does the letter mention that your gift is tax deductible? If it does not, the solicitation may not be from a charitable agency at all.

Does the mailing include unordered merchandise such as greeting cards, return address stickers or a token gift? This is not only an expensive way to raise money but we think it is exploitive because it makes a great many people feel obligated to return or pay for the "gift." The fact is, you are not under any legal obligation for items you did not order and you should pay only if you feel the enclosure has some worth for you.

Is the mailing elaborate? Does it include glossy photographs? Was there a first class stamp on the envelope and another stamp on the return envelope? These are touches that increase fund raising costs and should make you wonder about the efficiency of the mailing organization.

Does the solicitation tell plainly what the organization does or are there simply a lot of generalized claims for doing great things?

When people come to the door soliciting charitable contributions, demand complete identification, ask where the agency they represent is located and what will be done with the money raised. If the answers given raise any doubts, ask the solicitor to leave a name and address where your gift can be sent after you have checked the charity.

Do not give cash. Write a check and make it out to the agency, not to an individual.

If the solicitation comes by telephone and you are not familiar with the caller, ask that the appeal be put in writing and sent to you by mail. And do not assume that just because the person calls you by your first name it is someone you know. Always remember, if people want you to give them money the least they can do is identify themselves clearly and answer any reasonable requests for information.

It is wonderful to be goodhearted any time of the year, but there is no season favorable for being softheaded.

natives and seeking public input to determine which would provide the greatest efficiency and cost savings while adversely affecting the least number of people. Committee will return their suggestions to Braun by January 1, and his final decision is expected by February 1.

According to Wolfe, effect of consolidation on MnDOT employees would be an important consideration, but he suggested that relocation of top level people would be the primary result, with few changes affecting maintenance people or lower level engineering staff.

Both alternatives would alter the way department services are delivered in northwestern and north central Minnesota. "There have traditionally been four northern Minnesota districts headquartered in Duluth, Bemidji, Brainerd and Detroit Lakes," said Wolfe. "People of this area will have to decide if they will be getting the service they need with one less district headquarters, one less district engineer and one less engineering staff."

Plan two, which seemed to be the plan most favored by those attending the meeting, would add all of Koochiching, Itasca and Cass counties to the district on the east side, and add Crow Wing, Wadena and Mahnomen counties to the south. This would result in competition between Brainerd and Bemidji to be named as district headquarters. However, according to Wolfe, there has been pressure to move the Brainerd headquarters to St. Cloud for a long time, which would most likely leave the district headquarters in Bemidji.

This plan would also combine parts of the Detroit Lakes district and the Willmar district, which would require choosing one of those cities as the district headquarters. According to Wolfe, locating a design center in Detroit Lakes which would service the entire state, is being considered. This could move central office functions while maintaining a number of people at that location, which would give added weight to the needs of this area.

Primary reason given for preference of plan two was the direction in which the district expanded, into tourist areas and toward the metro district, which were felt to give added weight to the large area's construction needs. Concern was expressed that the district office remain located in Bemidji, since personnel there, were familiar with the needs of the area and had a good working relationship established already.

Under alternative plan one, Mahnomen, Clay, Becker, Wilken and Ottertail counties would be added to the existing district. This would result in competition between Detroit Lakes and Bemidji for the district headquarters location. Although the possibility of relocating that headquarters in Thief River Falls was suggested, Wolfe said that the probability was "remote," due to the expense of relocating approximately 60 employees from both Detroit Lakes and Bemidji. Relocating the Bemidji office to Detroit Lakes could involve 30 to 35 people. Decision on where to locate the district office would be up to Commissioner Braun.

Wolfe estimated that the consolidation process would probably take a couple of years once the commissioner makes his decision, and suggested that an organized effort be made to inform the commissioner how the area feels about the consolidation plans.

The drafting equipment was recently added to the architectural drafting program at the AVTI.

TRACTOR
HEAVY DUTY

SAFETY REMINDER for persons attempting to use booster cables for starting stalled vehicles are issued by various safety organizations every fall and winter. What can happen is illustrated in the photo above. This battery was being used in a tractor on the Don Steinhauer farm of rural Thief River Falls. On Sunday Steinhauer wanted to start the tractor and used his car battery for a booster. He hooked the cables directly from car battery posts to tractor battery posts, then walked around the tractor and pushed the foot starter button with his hand. The battery, located in a case about three inches higher than the battery itself, exploded within three feet of Steinhauer's face. He immediately ran to a water supply and washed his face and eyes, but reported soreness in his eyes the following day. Despite being enclosed in the case, fragments of the battery were found eight to 10 feet from the tractor. "I've jumped batteries millions of times," Steinhauer said, "and this is the first time I've ever had one explode. It sounded just like a rifle shot. I think a bad clamp on the booster cables was the cause, but I don't know for sure. Anyway, I thought people should be aware that batteries can explode and it's a good idea to be careful." Take note, people; it CAN happen to you.

allowing them to sell on-sale liquor on Sunday, February 26. Tom Greelis, owner of Family Bowl, noted that was the day of the World Series snowmobile race in Thief River Falls. With approximately 5,000 people expected to be brought to town by the two-day event, he said that they wanted to be able to serve those customers what they wanted.

Council informed the bar owners that state law dictated that the only way in which Sunday liquor sales could be approved would be through a referendum vote, suggesting that it would be "ludicrous" to go through the expense of a special election for a one-day event. Although council expressed a willingness to hold an election if the license holders wished to petition for it, they declined, noting that Sunday liquor referendums have been defeated on several occasions.

Roger Anderson, owner of the Rusty Nail, commented that he did not feel that Sunday liquor, in itself, would be as important as the impression the town made on people that they were "willing to go all-out to serve them and make the event a success."

In other business the council:

— Approved renewal of regular on-sale liquor licenses for Lon's, Best Western, Rusty Nail and Family Bowl;

— Ratified a utilities committee recommendation requiring L.B. Hartz Wholesale to pay $8,334.16 over a 10 month period, due to a faulty transformer which caused their electric meter to malfunction. Action will be taken to recover costs from the transformer supplier;

— Approved a resolution selecting Plan two for reorganization of the Minnesota department of transportation, recommending Bemidji as headquarters for this district (see separate story);

— Heard that establishment of a used car lot by Carl Ferber along Highway 1 North, would be in violation of the present zoning ordinance, but would be ignored by the planners office until the planning commission meets January 9, since planned revision of the code would allow that use in the C-2 zone;

— Heard that workshops were being put together for January to inform businesses interested in taking advantage of the city's designation as an enterprise zone;

— Referred a request by the Back Court Club to utilize the auditorium on Saturdays to the parks and recreation committee;

— Expressed approval of a request to change the state aid formula, but decided to request further information from the Minnesota association of small cities before giving them any money for lobbying expenses;

— Approved "Housekeeping" resolutions establishing the boundaries of the city for federal aid purposes, reaffirming the transportation plan; and revising funds on the frontage road project on Highway 59 south to use federal funds to pay for it;

— Accepted the resignation of Duane Walton from the planning commission;

— Heard that a report would be forthcoming in settlement of the employees contract with the Teamsters union.

Musical Set At Goodridge For Tonight

Goodridge elementary school is presenting a Christmas musical entitled "Return of the Star" today (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium. All children in grades kindergarten through sixth will be involved.

The story tells of Monte Mean, played by James Troska, the money-hungry owner of a toy shop, who only loves Christmas for the extra cash it brings him. Sammy, played by Shannon Henrickson, is a poor boy who goes to work for Mr. Mean so he can earn money to buy his sister a doll.

When Monte is injured in a fall and can't work for several days, Sammy and the Star (Kim Wayne) run the toystore. Star is a kind soul who represents goodness and love. When Sammy and Star sell out all Mr. Mean's stock and work hard to help him out, his attitude toward others is changed and he decides there is something to Christmas other than money. The three stars of the show will be aided in telling their story by singing and dancing toys and other characters.

Also performing that evening will be the fifth grade band. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Many Holiday Decorations Are Poisonous

Holidays are here and with this time of year comes beautiful plants, Christmas trees all trimmed and sparkling good times with family and friends and children anxiously awaiting Santa's arrival.

But amidst all this hustle and bustle, some of these holiday decorations can be poisonous.

Most people do not realize that just one or two mistletoe berries can be fatal if ingested by a child or that one-half to one ounce of alcohol can cause a child to become unconscious, have convulsions and possibly stop breathing.

"We do not want to alarm people unnecessarily. However, it is important to know that some holiday items have the potential for creating a serious poisoning. By taking a few minutes to become aware of which items can be problems and taking the necessary precautions, everyone can have a safe holiday season," said Samuel Hall, M.D., medical director of the Minnesota poison control system in St. Paul.

Hall offers the following guidelines for ensuring safety during the holidays:

(1) Alcohol is potentially the most dangerous poison people have in their home during the holiday season. In relatively small amounts (one-half to one ounce) alcohol can cause severe problems in a child. Keep all liquor, beer and wine out of the reach of small children. After parties make sure all glasses are emptied and not left setting on tables. Often curious children empty the glasses as they have seen the adults do. Also alcohol is the main ingredient in colognes, perfumes and aftershaves. Alcohol used in baking or cooking is safe for children because the alcohol vaporizes with heat.

(2) Pointsettias are not as poisonous as originally believed. This is basically a safe plant to have in the home.

(3) All parts of the Jerusalem cherry plant are very poisonous. If any of this plant is ingested the poison control center should be called immediately.

(4) Mistletoe is another dangerous plant. All parts of this plant are very poisonous. If any part of this plant is ingested the poison control center should be called immediately. Also remember that the berries fall off the mistletoe, so hanging it above doorways, etc., does not ensure safety. Children always have a way of finding things on the floor.

(5) Relatively non-toxic plant is the Christmas cactus. However, if large amounts of this plant are ingested it could cause vomiting and diarrhea.

(6) Holly plants are very poisonous and if parts of this plant are ingested the poison center should be called immediately. This plant also has berries and leaves that fall off as the plant dries. Be aware of this.

(7) Generally, Christmas trees do not cause any problems. But if the needles are ingested they may cause an upset stomach and some vomiting. Also the needles are very sharp and may scratch or stick in the mouth or throat.

(8) Preservatives for Christmas trees are usually a sugar solution and are not toxic. If the solution is homemade, caution should be taken depending upon the ingredients used. Anyone with questions about the ingredients should call the poison center.

(9) Evergreen scent spray is a non-toxic product, however, caution should be used when spraying so that the product is not inhaled.

(10) Snow spray is also non-toxic and again, caution should be used when spraying so that the product is not inhaled.

(11) Tinsel and icicles are usually not a problem if small amounts are ingested. If large amounts are ingested or coughing or choking occur the poison center should be called immediately.

(12) Shellacked ornaments are not poisonous if ingested because the shellac is non-toxic once it has dried.

(13) Snow globes generally contain liquids and snow particles that are not poisonous.

(14) Button batteries commonly used to power everything from wristwatches to new Christmas toys are especially dangerous. Because of their small size they can easily be swallowed. Serious damage to the intestines may result due to corrosion and release of caustic ingredients. Do not allow children to play with these batteries or put them in their mouths.

If anyone has any questions about poisonous holiday decorations, etc., or suspects a poisoning they should contact the poison center immediately. The number to call in the Twin Cities is 221-2113. Outstate residents may call toll-free 1-800-222-1222. Poison information specialists will be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to answer all calls.

Minnesota poison control system is the state-designated poison information and emergency center based at St. Paul-Ramsey. The poison center, in conjunction with other Minnesota hospitals is concerned about the safety of the state's residents during this holiday season.

ANNUAL MEETING of the Pennington county fair association attracted mostly members of the board of directors Monday evening in the basement meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Opinions and ideas regarding operation of the county fair were not lacking, however, and discussion was active. The 1984 county fair budget projects a loss on operations and officers are seeking input on how to make the fair a more efficient operation without reducing quality.

State Firms Get Federal Contracts

Two Minnesota small businesses have been awarded federal contracts totaling over $540,000.00.

Reach-All Manufacturing & Engineering company of Duluth received a contract valued at $392,872 from TACOM for truck, maintenance and aerial platforms; and Durable Metal Products, Inc. of Minneapolis received a contact valued at $148,212 from TACOM for cylinder assembly.

District SBA director Celso C. Moreno said the contracts are an example of the "far greater emphasis" the SBA is placing on its procurement assistance programs; those programs which assist small firms to obtain a greater share of the federal procurement dollar.

"Minnesota has not obtained its fair share of the federal procurement dollar in the past," Moreno said, "therefore, our office intends to go well beyond what's required of us to insure the federal procurement dollar finds its way to Minnesota small businesses."

AF Recruiter Selected For Health Fields

TSgt John G. Drennan has taken over the air force health professions recruiting for North Dakota and Minnesota as of December. Drennan will be in charge of all the medical and nurse recruiting for his area and will be announcing all the current programs as they open.

The air force often opens new programs for such specialties as nurse anesthetist, OB-GYN specialist, and many more.

Drennan was number one recruiter for Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin for 1982 and will be based out of the Grand Forks office. His phone number is (701) 775-9361 and he will be accepting collect station to station calls from within North Dakota and Minnesota.

Behavior Tips Suggested For Office Parties

The office party, luncheon and cocktail get-together provide a setting for mirth, merriment and trouble, according to a New York human resources consultant. He warns that promising careers and marriages have been jeoparadized or ended by those who haven't watched their behavior at such affairs, and offers some suggestions.

(1) If you drink after the first drink, make the rest non-alcoholic — perhaps ginger ale, or club soda with a twist. It's inexcusable to drink so much as to unhinge the tongue or raise the vocal volume. Remember, your conduct will be observed by subordinates and superiors alike.

(2) Be discreet. Don't divulge confidences you'll regret when you are back at work, especially subjects involving your boss. Don't discuss work-related problems or people.

(3) Be friendly, not amorous. Many a holiday party flirtation has led to job and family problems. No matter how strong the temptation, play it cool and avoid embarrassment.

(4) Instead, use the occasion to make new friends and contacts. Be merry and congenial without trying to be the life of the party.

(5) Offer to serve hors d'oeuvres and replenish drinks. Generally, attempt to be helpful and considerate.

(6) Don't overstay your welcome. Leave at a reasonable time while there is still an upbeat tempo. Compliment fellow employees who arranged the affair, wish everyone a happy holiday "and to all a good night."

(7) Finally, go home to your family and friends with a clean conscience and a clear head — ready to fully enjoy the holidays.

Social Security Men Here Tues.

Ted Hoversten and Neil Rowe, field representatives of the Grand Forks social security office will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Polled Herefords
OAKHILL HEREFORD FARM
MINNESOTA BEEF PR

OAKHILL HEREFORD FARM is the name used by Jerry Nelson and his family for their registered Hereford beef operation. The Nelson's daughter Shelly, 18, has reigned since last June as Northwest Stockman's association Beef Princess when she was selected at competition in Red Lake Falls. At the state contest early this month she was named first runner-up to the state beef queen — Tammy Crawford of Beaver Creek — and was given the Minnesota Beef Princess title.

Ideas Offered For County Fair In 1984

about specific items in the financial report, most of which seemed to indicate difficulty in substantially reducing expenditures of the association. Costs of judging could likely be reduced only by using local judges, it was noted, which could lead to a number of problems. Last year the fair had well over 3,000 exhibits in 4-H and open class and more than 1,000 exhibitors.

President Swanson said that in discussions by local officers with officials from other county fairs, it is a general consensus that fairs which can break even on their grandstand attractions are doing well. It was suggested that the Pennington fair board eliminate grandstand events which might be expected to lose money, thereby reducing the number of grandstand attractions.

It was also suggested that economies could be made in the premium list by reducing the quantity printed, making them available to be picked up rather than mailed and expanding the sales effort to secure advertising to support premium list publication.

Question of the fair taking over operation of the demolition derby was also raised. The fair board has received a percentage of the gate from the sponsoring Jaycees who provide promotion and manpower to conduct the derby. It was pointed out that up to 40 volunteers are required to conduct the event and that the Jaycees have used their share of the revenue from the derby to subsidize Summerfest events for the community.

Anderson noted that the county board has provided the fair with about $9,000 per year since 1976 and the association is appreciative of the support. He also pointed out that the city of Thief River Falls has provided in kind services in many ways toward the fair operation and in 1984 may make a cash contribution as well. (At its meeting the next night, the city council approved a budget calling for allocation of $3,000 to the county fair from revenue sharing funds.)

At both the regular meeting and reorganizational meeting, the question of expending funds for delegates to attend the state convention was discussed. Representation by the local association was agreed to be important and directors voted to allocate $300 each for three delegates to attend the annual convention.

Membership in the county fair association was also a topic of much discussion and the suggestion was made that the present life membership plan be abandoned in favor of annual membership. Rationale presented was that people with an investment in membership would take a more active interest in the fair and have more extensive participation in its operation. Suggestions were also made for membership sale through county 4-H clubs and a membership booth at the fair itself. The association has a membership list of over 400 but the list is not current.

Comment was asked about last year's "Grandstand Jam" music event for young people. Director Arlen Ellingson said that conduct of those attending was exemplary and he would have no reluctance at all to handling a similar event in 1984. The jam proved popular with young people and was one of the few profit-making grandstand attractions of the fair.

Directors of the association plan to meet on about a monthly basis from now on and persons who would like to provide ideas or suggestions may contact any of the directors or president Swanson.

To Meet Thurs.

Oakland Park Nursing home board meeting will be held Thursday, December 15, at 1:30 p.m., at the Home.

Steve Dalager To Entertain Local Seniors

Steve Dalager will be the featured entertainer at the senior citizen's day program Thursday from 3 to 4 p.m. at Northwest regional library in the meeting room. Come Home for Christmas

If you are a Catholic who has stopped going to church, this invitation is for you.

Whether you have been angered, hurt, bored, or just taking a sabbatical, we would like to invite you home for Christmas. Christmas is a time for family gatherings, reunions, and peace. St. Bernard's Catholic Community misses you and needs you.

Twenty years have passed since the opening of the Second Vatican Council in 1962. The upheaval in the Church during those years has knocked alot of us on our ears. There has been plenty of head bumping and limping away. The media has feasted on "the conflicts and changes in the Church." Our ups and downs become a giant Soap Opera.

But family remains family. And the loss of any member, for whatever reason, diminishes and saddens everyone.

Your life, your experience, even your anger and hurt are important to us. You can help us become more understanding and compassionate followers of Christ. We need you to become what He is calling us to be.

We cannot turn the clock back or pretend things will be what they once were. What family hasn't changed in the last twenty years? We cannot promise that everyone will agree on everything. What family does? We cannot even say there won't be more turbulance up ahead? Who can?

But we can say that we still find Christ and his love in the community of the Church, the Scriptures, and the Eucharist. And we believe you can too.

We can also say that as far as we are concerned the Church is still your home and we are still your family. And we would like you to feel that way too.

We would like to begin again by simply listening to you. Please feel free to call either Fr. Stan Bourassa or Fr. Dave Super at the parish rectory, 681-3571.

We hope you will think about and pray about this invitation. Whatever you decide, please join us at one of our Christmas Masses to worship and celebrate together on that great feast of homecoming and family joy.

The CHRISTMAS MASS SCHEDULE is as follows:
10:00 p.m. ....Saturday, December 24
8:00 a.m. ....Sunday, December 25
10:00 a.m. ....Sunday, December 25

Senator Says Doctors Must Review Costs

U.S. Sen. David Durenberger warns that health care quality may suffer under attempts to control the cost of health care unless physicians continue to lead programs to review and monitor costs.

Durenberger made his comments at the annual meeting of a health care evaluation foundation in Bloomington recently.

"The choice is not between peer review and nothing at all. If you don't do it, an insurance company will. There is a concern that patients will be discharged too early or that services the patient needs will not be provided. It is precisely for these reasons that I insisted on a Medicare review system based on peer review and not on intermediary review," Durenberger told the physicians, officers and directors of the foundation.

Congress created the professional review organization program in 1972 to control waste of tax dollars under Medicare. A new Medicare payment system went into effect October 1, along with new methods for monitoring costs and quality of care.

Durenberger told the group, "The new health care marketplace is abound with opportunities for the physician who practices cost-effectively. The potential rewards are boundless where peer review exists. Peer review shows the physicians how to be cost effective and in doing so assures quality care and contains costs."

Shelly Nelson Named State Beef Princess

ribbon at the state fair.

She owns one of the Nelsons' 74 brood cows and has sold several of its daughters to her father who has retained them in the herd. All of the Nelson cattle are registered Polled Herefords, built from a herd of 12 heifers and one bull purchased in 1972. That year Jerry and Pam bought 160 acres from Mrs. Nellie Bache and moved from Thief River Falls where they had lived since being married in 1963. They added another 160 acres three years later.

Mrs. Nelson is the former Pam Slage of Red Lake Falls where her father has been an elementary school teacher for more than 30 years. Jerry Nelson was originally from the Newfolden area and graduated from high school in Thief River Falls. The family also includes two sons, Brian, 20, who is attending meatcutting school at the Pipestone AVTI, and Brandon, 8, at home. Jerry has been employed for about 18 years by Forsberg's, Inc., of Thief River Falls.

Shelly is an honor student and member of the National Honor society at Lafayette high school where she was president of the sophomore class and is vice president of the senior class. She has played varsity basketball for three years and this season is co-captain with Mary Gilbertson. She has also played varsity volleyball for three years, plays flute in the school band, sings in the choir and show choir and has won star ratings at state area music festivals in the show choir and a duet.

She is treasurer of her 4-H club and a substitute Sunday school teacher at St. John's Lutheran church in Red Lake Falls. She enjoys cooking (beef is a staple on the family menu, of course!), reading fiction and fishing. And when time permits during hunting seasons she loads up a .22 rifle and takes a walk in the woods on the farm in quest of grouse, squirrels or rabbits.

Shelly has been actively supported during her reign as Northwest Beef Princess by Mrs. Pauline Purath and her son Gary of Red Lake Falls, who have served as chaperones for her public appearances.

"This experience has been good for me in a number of ways," Shelly said of her Beef Princess role. "I have been able to meet a lot of people; it has pushed me to learn more about the product that we raise on our farm and expect consumers to buy; and it has put me in public situations where I have had to be more conscious of appearance and develop my speaking ability."

She didn't say it, but in keeping with the introduction to this article, it also gives her a chance to more frequently wear a second pair of boots.

BEEF COW HERD on the Oakhill Hereford farm owned by the Jerry Nelson family now numbers more than 70 animals. Shelly Nelson, a senior at Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls and recently selected Minnesota Beef Princess, is an active participant in the beef operation and enjoys working with the cattle. The Nelson farm is located along the Red Lake river three miles northeast of Red Lake Falls.

WHEN TIME PERMITS, Shelly Nelson likes to load up her .22 rifle and take a walk in the woods along the river which runs through the family farm northeast of Red Lake Falls. The reigning Northwest Stockmen's association Beef Princess and recently selected Minnesota Beef Princess hunts grouse, rabbits and squirrels.

G.F. Audubon Meeting Set For Thursday

Grand Forks Audbon society will hold an open chapter meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Starcher hall, room 105, on the University of North Dakota campus. Purpose of the meeting is to plan for the December 18 Christmas bird count. Biologist Jeff Lang will also give a presentation on Minnesota five-lined skinks.

Refreshments will be served and the public is invited to attend.

Prowlers Host Spuds Friday

To say that Thief River Falls hasn't had a whole lot of success against Moorhead in basketball in recent years would be an understatement. The Prowlers haven't beaten the Spuds since the 1964-65 season, losing eight straight in the infrequent series.

They'll take another shot at it Friday, though, when the Prowlers open their 1983-84 home schedule with an 8 p.m. game against the perennially strong Spuds in the Lincoln high school gym.

"Moorhead, from the scouting reports we have, has a pretty talented team," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Tom Hunt. "We're obviously going to have to put a good game together to be able to complete with them."

Thief River Falls lost its first two games on the road to start the season, falling to Roseau 52-44 and Detroit Lakes 45-41 last week. Moorhead opened with a 75-68 win over Fargo South and then lost a close 58-55 decision at Little Falls in a match-up of two highly regarded Region 8AA teams.

"We're 0-2. I don't like it and the kids don't like it," mentioned Hunt, who said the Prowlers must improve their shooting percentage and will have to get more production out of their inside people if they are to start winning basketball games.

Hunt doesn't plan to alter the Prowlers' fast break attack for Moorhead Friday. "We have to try to continue the philosophy we want to establish this year," he explained. "We want to get up and down the court and put the ball up 60 times a game. Defensively, Moorhead may present some problems for us, and if the situation dictates it, we'll certainly have to show some patients on offense, but we want to get up and down the court as much as possible."

Despite the one-sided scores the series as produced since it was restablished in the 1980-81 season — an average 30-point victory margin for the Spuds in six games, including three post-season meetings — Hunt said the Prowlers are looking forward to the game.

"I'd like to think the kids get motivated for every game, not just when we play teams like Moorhead," he offered. "We have an opportunity Friday night to see what the top half of Region 8AA basketball is like."

Northland Has Perfect Weekend

In case you didn't notice Northland community college athletic teams had an exceptionally successful weekend with a perfect 6-0 sweep in basketball (men's and women's) and hockey.

Northland hockey team beat Mesabi 10-5 and 9-8 in a Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) series at Virginia. In basketball, Northland hosted Red River community college of Winnipeg, with the Northmen winning 101-64, 110-47 and the Northwomen winning 79-48, 71-27.

All three Northland teams are short on numbers, but they each have talented athletes who work hard to overcome the lack of depth.

Miscellaneous

+ Northland community college transfer Matt Fontes and his University of North Dakota teammates will tackle the University of Minnesota in a Dec. 22 basketball game at Minneapolis. Fontes, the second-leading all-time scorer in Northland history with 1,100 points the past two years (trailing only Terry Harris, who had 1,440 in 1979-80 and 1980-81), carries a 12.8 scoring average as a starting forward for the Sioux. He scored 20 points in an 86-55 victory over Southwest State Saturday that upped the UND record to 5-1. He leads the team with an average of 4.5 assists per game. North Dakota will be idle until their date with the Gophers, billed as the world's tallest basketball team because of the four seven-footers on the squad.

+ Warroad Lakers, who will be hosting the United States Olympic team in a 7:30 p.m. game Wed., Dec. 28, began the week as the leader in the Manitoba Branch of the Central Amateur Senior Hockey League. The Lakers were 8-4 for 18 points in their first 12 games, followed by Thunder Bay and Steinbach with 17 points each, East Kildonan and St. Boniface with 13 each and Morden 8. Tickets for the Lakers-Team USA game are available at TG Sporting Goods in Thief River Falls.

NCC Teams Will Try To Continue Winning Ways

Buoyed by two-game weekend sweeps by all three teams, the Northland community college athletic squads, an accumulative 11-2 for the still-young 1983-84 season, will be trying to continue their winning ways this week, but against much stiffer competition.

Coach Chet Engelman's basketball team, 4-1, will start things tonight (Wednesday) with an 8 p.m. game here in Thief River Falls against the Bemidji State University junior varsity, a team that already owns wins over Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) opponents Itasca, Hibbing and the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Showing great balance, the Northmen have seven players sporting double figure scoring averages through five games. Sophomore all-state candidate Kyle Ramsey leads the list with a 28-point average, with Shorty Johnson averaging 12 points per game, Kevin Sanders and Rick Van Camp 11 each, while Jon Neumann, Rod Scales and Bud Fontes all average 10 points.

Northland has a team average of 99 points per game. The opposition has averaged 70.8 points per game.

Engelman admits the games have been loosely played to date. The Northmen will have to tighten things up tonight, he warned. "This game may show our weaknesses on defense," he acknowledged.

First taste of MCCC competition will come the first part of next week for the Northmen when they participate in the Minneapolis community college invitational tournament, a four-team, two-day affair. On Monday, Northland plays Willmar at 6:30 p.m. and Austin faces the host Minneapolis squad at 8:30. On Tuesday, first round losers meet in the third place game at 6:30 p.m. and the first round winners meet in the tournament title game at 8:30.

Coach Deb Jacobson's women's basketball team, also 4-1, will be in Bloomington Saturday for a 1 p.m. game against Normandale. Jacobson said it should be a good test for the Northwomen, who have lost the services of freshman guard Kari Skoglund to a knee injury suffered in Friday's win over Red River community college of Winnipeg. The team's top ball handler and passer, Skoglund was to undergo exploratory surgery today and will be out of the line-up from four to six weeks.

Shorthanded Northwomen called on cheerleader Gwen Nylen to fill out a five-member squad Saturday against Red River. Nylen will stay with the team, and two other squad members who were not on hand Saturday — freshmen Jenyne Boehler and Maryann Smith — will be back in uniform this weekend to give the Northwomen seven players.

Northland returns home to host an alumni game Monday at 6 p.m.

Meanwhile, Northland's unbeaten hockey team, off to a 3-0 start, will get a big test with a weekend series against highly regarded Hibbing. The MCCC encounters will be played in the Thief River Falls sports arena Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Hibbing is coming off a weekend split at the University of Minnesota-Crookston where the Cardinals won the first game 4-3, then blew a 3-0 second game lead in losing 7-5 after taking a 5-3 lead into the third period.

"That first one was the best hockey game I've seen in years," reported Hibbing coach Frank Catani. "Both teams were really even. In the second one, we just quit in the third period."

Hibbing was a preseason MCCC favorite, and Northland coach Tony Dorn, Jr. said that situation hasn't changed. "I think Hibbing is going to be the team to beat this year," he warned.

Northland beat rival UMC 5-4 to start the year last week, then swept Mesabi on the road over the weekend.

"The guys are enthusiastic," reported Dorn. "They know they can compete in this league. We had an excellent practice Monday. They're looking forward to the weekend. It could be a real good series."

Forced to skate with just two lines through the first three games because of a shortage of depth, Dorn has had a few more players report in recent days to help alleviate the numbers problem.

Dorn hopes the Northmen can maintain the fan support they received in last week's home opener against UNC. "The crowd response was great," he said. "The players really, really appreciated it."

This will be the final outing for the Northmen until they resume their schedule after the holidays.

CO-CAPTAINS OF the 1983-84 Lincoln high school swimming team, Dave Ose (left) and Jeff Rosetta, will lead the Prowlers into their season-opener Thursday when Grand Forks visits Thief River Falls for a 5 p.m. dual meet in the Franklin middle school pool. The Grand Forks squad is a cooperative program featuring swimmers from both Red River and Central high schools.

Prowlers Lose To Bemidji 2-1

You have to wonder if members of the Lincoln high school hockey team might be experiencing a little deja vu after a 2-1 Tuesday night Section 8 loss at Bemidji dropped the Prowlers' record to 0-3, with Fargo South awaiting them Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. game at the sports arena.

If you recall, that's exactly the same situation the team faced a year ago when a promising Thief River Falls squad stumbled to a 0-3 start, but knocked off Fargo South 8-5 in game No. 4 en route to a 12-game unbeaten streak that ultimately led to a 14-5-1 regular season record.

In 1982-83 the Prowlers lost to Grand Forks Central 3-2, Fergus Falls 5-2 and Bemidji 6-4 to start the year. It's been the same teams this winter, with the Prowlers, once again highly regarded in preseason polls, losing to Grand Forks Central 9-4, Fergus Falls 3-2 and Bemidji 2-1.

Last night, Thief River Falls snapped a scoreless tie on a Tim Bottem goal just 21 seconds into the second period.

Bemidji tied it, though, when Joe Pelawa scored at 12:29 of the period, then got the game-winner from John Yetter at 11:28 of the third period.

Lincoln Swimmers Open Schedule On Thursday

Jay Forney, who completed his coaching duties with the Lincoln high school girls a month ago, will direct the boys Thursday when the Prowlers open their 1983-84 swimming season with a 5 p.m. dual meet against Grand Forks in the Franklin middle school pool.

Thief River Falls will be in action Saturday as well, competing in the 1 p.m. Bemidji Relays.

In his second year as head swimming coach, Forney says he's excited about the job this year, not only because of a strong nucleus of Prowlers returning, but also because of a positive experience he had at the two-day coaches' clinic he attended this fall at Hamlin University featuring Ernest Maglischo, author of Swimming Faster.

"Last year was a growing experience with the swimming program," acknowledged Forney, who is enthused by a turn-out of 32 boys for the sport in grades 6-12. A year's coaching experience will help, he noted. He will be assisted this winter by Sally Wilise and Will Werner, a work-study student from the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) who was a state meet competitor at International Falls.

Thief River Falls had a 4-8 dual meet season record a year ago, placed seventh in the sectional meet and capped the season with two divers finishing in the top 20 at the state meet.

Forney says the emphasis will not be placed on bettering the dual meet record, but instead the Prowlers will gear their entire season toward the Section 8 meet at Bemidji State March 2-3.

"We feel we can move from that seventh place finish to fourth," said Forney. "That's our goal." He guessed Bemidji and Brainerd would be the sectional leaders, but hopes to be able to compete with a group of teams that includes Alexandria, Fergus Falls and Moorhead.

There are 12 lettermen on hand, led by senior co-captain Dave Ose, who owns the varsity individual medley (I.M.) record. He placed third in the I.M. and fifth in the 100 freestyle in last year's sectional meet.

"We're looking for David to have a very successful season," noted Forney. "He will be the swimmer to beat in the 200 I.M. and will be one of the top contenders in the 100 freestyle in Section 8."

Thief River Falls also boasts two outstanding divers in senior co-captain Jeff Rosetta and junior Todd Wing.

"We expect both of our divers to make the finals at the state swimming meet this year," Forney says matter-of-factly.

Rosetta is in his fifth season as a varsity diver, owning the current team diving record. Wing starts his fourth year of varsity diving after placing 14th in last year's state meet. They will be expected to battle each other for top honors in Section 8 this winter.

Others who should supply points this year are senior Craig Goodrich, who returns to competition this winter; senior Brett Olson, a transfer student; and freshmen Joe Drevlow and Todd Carlson.

Basketball Games Saturday, Monday, Tuesday

Goodridge Has Holiday Tournament Scheduled

Goodridge high school holiday invitational basketball tournament, an eight-team, three-day affair, gets underway Saturday, with games resuming Monday and Tuesday of next week.

In Saturday's first round quarterfinals, Warroad plays Plummer at 1 p.m.; Grygla takes on Gonvick-Trail at 2:45; Oklee meets Strandquist at 6:30; and host Goodridge goes against Redlake at 8:15.

Same starting times will be used for Monday's semifinals, with first round losers playing in the afternoon consolation round and first round winners meeting in the evening championship round.

Area action Tuesday found Grygla dropping a 54-49 decision to Warroad while Plummer defeated rival Oklee 61-49. The Eagles, 0-3, will be idle until the Goodridge invitational. The Cardinals, 2-1, visit Argyle Friday before participating in the Goodridge event.

Other area teams were idle Tuesday. Middle River, 1-1, will be at Strandquist Thursday; Goodridge, 1-1, visits Fisher Friday before staging its invitational; and Marshall County Central, 1-0, will host Stephen next Tuesday.

Eric Eskeli scored 18 points and grabbed 14 rebounds Tuesday in leading Plummer to a 61-49 win over area rival Oklee.

Visiting Bobcats had a 12-8 first quarter lead, but the Cardinals went ahead 25-24 at halftime and took a 44-39 lead into the final eight minutes.

Plummer coach Jim Baron said it was "one great night" for Eskeli, "his best night ever."

Gene Fisher added 14 points to the Cardinals' total, with Tim Gagner and Duane Franklund getting 10 each, while the fifth Plummer scorer, Warren Tvedt, had 9. Kevin Enerson scored 20 for the Bobcats.

Both teams enjoyed a strong shooting night from the field where Plummer was 26-for-51 (51 per cent) and Oklee was 21-for-42 (50 per cent). The Cardinals, however, were just 9-for-26 from the free throw line (35 per cent) and the Bobcats were 7-for-12 (58 per cent). Plummer had a big 33-19 rebound edge and topped the turnover charts 18-16.

Prowlers' Win Streak Is Snapped By Warren Girls

Season-opening three-game winning streak for the Lincoln high school girls basketball team came to an abrupt end Tuesday when the Prowlers lost 43-23 at Warren.

A 21 per cent shooting night from the field (9-for-42) made it a long evening for the Prowlers.

"It was the worts shooting night I've seen in six years of coaching here," reported Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "That, and our inability to handle their press (24 turnovers), took us out of the ball game."

Warren owned an 11-8 first quarter lead, opened up a 23-13 halftime cushion and had a 31-18 third quarter bulge.

Michelle Olson scored 15 points for the Prowlers despite heavy defensive coverage, but the rest of the Prowlers' scorers combined for just eight points.

"I wasn't happy with our production," acknowledged Schafer. "We have to have somebody to go along with Michelle."

Leslie Goulden took game-high scoring honors for Warren with 17 points, but Schafer said sophomore Michelle Puetz did an outstanding job on her defensively. Puetz, a late addition to the squad after the girls' swimming season was completed, blocked five Goulden shots, and finished the night with seven blocks all together.

"That was one of our few bright spots," mentioned Schafer.

Warren shot 37 per cent from the field (20-for-54) and 43 per cent at the free throw line (3-for-7). Thief River Falls shot 38 per cent at the line (5-for-13). The Ponies had a sizeable 33-19 rebound advantage. They also had 12 turnovers.

Thief River Falls will be at Park Rapids Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. game. The Prowlers will compete in the four-team, two-day Marshall County Central invitational tournament Thursday and Friday, Dec. 22-23, to close out their pre-holiday schedule.

Thief River Falls youth hockey teams won 11 of 12 games over the weekend, sweeping eight games from Fergus Falls and winning three of four from Alexandria.

Coach Scott Bergland's Bantam B team improved its record to 3-1-1 with 6-2 and 3-1 wins over Fergus Falls and an exciting 2-1 victory at Alexandria. Thief River Falls earned its first victory of the year Saturday morning, 6-2, behind Grant Larson's two goals and single tallies by Lynn Skibicki, Mitch Wilebeski and Chris Johnson. Thief River Falls then won its second game of the day at Alexandria, 2-1, with Jason Lindquist and Johnson scoring goals. Sunday, Johnson, Lindquist and Larson scored goals as Thief River Falls completed the three-game sweep with a 3-1 win over Fergus Falls. Kent Holmes and Terry Hunt shared the goaltending duties and played solid games.

Coach Dale Wennberg's Pee-Wee B team moved its record to a fine 5-1 level with three impressive wins. In Saturday's opener, Todd Stewart earned the shoutout by making ten saves in a 6-0 victory over Fergus Falls. Paul Borchert had the hat trick, while Todd Mack, Jerod Kolden and Paul Hejlik added single goals. Roger Anderson's hat trick, plus two goals by Borchert and single tallies by Paul Kezar and Mack earned Thief River Falls a 7-3 win 60 miles down the freeway at Alexandria. Sunday, Thief River Falls won its third game of the weekend 9-6 over Fergus Falls as Borchert, Anderson, Derek Larson, Derek Lee and Kezar all scored.

VFW Bantam A team continued Thief River Falls' great weekend play with three big wins. Thief River Falls dominated both games with Fergus Falls, winning 6-2 and 5-0, collecting 122 shots on goal in the two games. John Thompson, Steve McGann, Jon Matson and Jason Hallamek each scored twice, while Chad Gunderson, Jeff Grand and Kent Hamre scored single goals in the series. In Alexandria, goals by McGann, Bill Dicken and Hallamek gave Thief River Falls a 3-1 victory and a 3-2 season record.

Eagles Pee-Wee A team improved its record to 4-1 with a pair of wins over Fergus Falls, along with a 3-2 loss at Alexandria. Saturday, Corey Poole's hat trick led Thief River Falls to a 7-2 victory over Fergus Falls, with the winners out-shooting the host team 39-9. Thief River Falls won Saturday's rematch 7-5, with the seventh goal coming on an open net.

Thin Ice

Editor's Note: column writer John Michael Anderson's submitted material was a little soggy this week after reliable sources report that, fully clothed, he found the water near Rochester wasn't frozen over on the state of Minnesota-shaped pool at the Fergus Falls motel in which the Thief River Falls delegation was headquartered. Tragedy was averted, however, when he quickly surfaced near Zumbro Falls, crossed Lake Pepin and crawled to shore by Reads Landing.

LHS Freshmen Beaten By EGF 53-46 Tuesday

East Grand Forks defeated visiting Thief River Falls 53-46 Tuesday in freshman high school basketball play.

Thief River Falls trailed at the quarter stops 12-8, 28-16 and 44-30.

Griff Newland and Brian Stark had 16 points apiece for Thief River Falls. Paul Grainger scored 17 for East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls, 1-2, will visit Crookston Thursday for a 4:15 p.m. game, then host Warren Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. in the city auditorium.

Archery Club Meets Tonight

Thief River Falls Archery Club will be holding its regular monthly meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the indoor range, located above the old arena in downtown Thief River Falls.

Mustangs Face EGF Opponents In Wrestling

Oklee-Plummer cooperative high school wrestling program, 2-0 in dual meet competition, will face East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Thursday at Oklee, then take on East Grand Forks Tuesday at Plummer.

Dual meet competition started for the Mustangs last week with back-to-back wins over Roseau 44-18 Thursday and Warren 56-12 Friday. Oklee-Plummer earlier competed in invitational tournaments at Staples and Bagley.

Darrin Tougas remained unbeaten for the Mustangs at 126 pounds with a 9-0 record, but Thursday's match was highlighted by the 185-pound bout where Karl Mattison of Oklee-Plummer faced Lester Kvien of Roseau. Kvien decisioned Mattison 12-3 in the Bagley invitational the previous Saturday, but Mattison turned the tables to win an exciting 11-10 decision Thursday.

Friday's win over Warren featured seven Oklee-Plummer pins, including a 20-second job by Duane Baker.

Top match in the Oklee-Plummer vs. Sacred Heart encounter will probably take place at 155 pounds where unbeaten Mark Kerr of the Eagles takes on Troy Gustafson of the Mustangs. Kerr defeated Gustafson in overtime in sub-region competition last year.

Alumni Game For Prowlers Is Planned

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) is planning its third annual Prowler Alumni hockey game Sunday, Dec. 25, at 7 p.m. at the old arena.

Plans are to have the game split into two groups: 1972-82 alumni and alumni graduating before 1972. Each group will play two periods of hockey against each other.

Any Prowler hockey alumni interested in playing should contact Dale Wennberg at 681-1745 or Tom Goddard at 681-5421.

— Pool Schedule —

Wed., Dec. 14 — 3-5:30 p.m. LHS swim team practice.

Thurs., Dec. 15 — 5 p.m. LHS swim meet vs. Grand Forks; 8-9 p.m. aerobics swimming.

Fri., Dec. 16 — 3-5:30 p.m. LHS swim team practice.

Sun., Dec. 18 — 2-3 p.m. open swimming; 7-8 p.m. open swimming.

TRF Boosters Club To Meet On Thursday

Final Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting until after the New Year will be held Thursday in the basement of the Rex Cafe.

Lincoln high school basketball coach Tom Hunt will be the guest speaker at the 12-noon luncheon meeting.

TRF Backcourt Club To Meet

All Thief River Falls Backcourt Club members are asked to meet in the Lincoln high school cafeteria Friday before the start of the Thief River Falls vs. Moorhead varsity basketball game that night in the school gym.

Meeting time will be approximately 7:15 p.m. Backcourt Club is striving to show support for all basketball functions in Thief River Falls, explain club officials. It was decided at the last meeting that one way to show support for the program is to show up as a group at the Prowlers' games.

Any fan wishing to become a Backcourt Club member can join the organization Friday night. Memberships, with dues priced at $1 per year, will be sold that night.

State Duck Stamp

A painting of three wood ducks in the water was chosen as the design for Minnesota's 1984 migratory waterfowl stamp.

A panel of judges picked the design from among 173 entries in this year's art competition. Winning artist is Thomas Gross of St. Paul.

Gross also entered last year's stamp competition and finished in 6th place. He is employed by the Ramsey County welfare Department and paints as a hobby but says he may devote full time to art if he continues to enjoy success at it.

Stamp is required of persons ages 16-64 inclusive who hunt migratory waterfowl in Minnesota, in addition to a small game license and a federal duck stamp.

Turkey Hunt Sign-Up

Department of Natural Resources has issued a final reminder to persons planning on entering a computerized drawing to obtain a permit to hunt wild turkeys next spring.

Applications for the drawing must be postmarked no later than Friday, Dec. 16, and the drawing will be held Jan. 4.

A total of 3,000 permits will be issued. Anyone who is a legal resident of Minnesota and 16 years of age or older by April 14, 1984 is eligible to apply.

In applying for a permit, one of five separate hunting time periods must be selected: April 14-18; April 20-24; April 26-30; May 2-6; or May 9-13. (All dates are inclusive.)

Persons who wish to hunt as a group may submit their applications in a single envelope. Chance of the group being drawn will be the same as for an individual applicant.

Successful applicants, except those who hunted turkeys in a previous Minnesota season, will be required to attend a three hour "turkey hunter orientation program." Sessions will be offered statewide at numerous locations during March and April, said wildlife officials.

Only successful applicants will be notified following the drawing. Hunters will be required to purchase a $10 turkey hunting license in addition to a 1984 small game license.

Girls High School Basketball

Offense Leads Cardinals Win

Plummer's offense was clicking Tuesday as the Cardinals racked up a 74-54 girls high school basketball win over the Clearbrook-Gonvick cooperative program.

Jody Pahlen scored 28 points in three quarters worth of work as the Cardinals posted quarter leads of 22-7, 40-27 and 62-41. Pahlen inched closer to the 1,000-point plateau with the effort, needing just 11 points Thursday at home against Argyle to break that coveted mark. Robin Brantl also hit double figures for the winners with 12 points.

"Offensively we were pretty good," acknowledged Plummer coach Rick Koivisto. "Defensively I wasn't too satisfied."

LeeAnn Bardwell scored 23 points for the Clearbrook-Gonvick squad, which also includes the communities of Leonard and Trail thrown in for good measure.

Plummer shot 44 per cent from the field (30-for-68) and 82 per cent from the free throw line (14-for-17). Host Clearbrook-Gonvick shot just 29 per cent from the field (20-for-70) and 58 per cent at the line (14-for-24).

Pahlen also had 12 rebounds for the winners, who had a 43-32 edge in that department, but they also had 25 turnovers.

Plummer is 3-2 for the year. Thursday's game against Argyle will close out the 1983 portion of the Cardinals 1983-84 schedule.

Goodridge	46

Poor shooting, particularly at the free throw line, cost Goodridge Tuesday as the Huskies lost a 51-46 home court Polar Conference decision to Red Lake Falls.

Goodridge was just 4-for-17 at the free throw line (24 per cent) while Red Lake Falls was 11-for-15 (73 per cent). The Huskies actually outscored the Eagles from the field, although the shooting percentage wasn't good. Goodridge was 21-for-80 (26 per cent), with Red Lake Falls going 20-for-54 (37 per cent).

Red Lake Falls, ahead 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, made it 27-21 at halftime and opened up a 42-27 third quarter spread before an effective Goodridge full-court press defense in the fourth quarter pulled the Huskies to within one point with one minute left in the game. The Eagles sank four free throws down the stretch, though, to protect the lead.

"We really looked sharp coming back in the second half," reported Goodridge coach Patti Johnson. "The free throws killed us, though."

Jennie Boutain scored 16 points and Lori Sjulestad had 10 for the Huskies. Mary Gilbertson led the Eagles with 13 points.

Johnson was happy with the Huskies' efforts on the boards against the taller Eagles, with Red Lake Falls managing only a 35-32 rebound edge.

Goodridge, 1-3, hosts Fisher Thursday to close out the pre-holiday schedule.

host Eagles lost a 54-49 North Border Conference decision to defending league champion Warroad.

"Our kids played real well," praised Grygla coach Vern Johnson. "They played a real good game, but you just can't make up for the height."

It was close throughout. The two teams played to a 14-14 first quarter stand-off, with Warroad posting a narrow 25-24 halftime lead. The Warriors had a 39-35 third quarter edge.

Chris Runnels, a 6-4 senior, scored 22 points to pace the winners. Tony McLean had 15 points for the Eagles, who do not have a player over the six-foot mark. Wayne Byklum and Bill Neuschwander had 10 points each.

Grygla out-scored Warroad from the field, hitting 23 of 61 shots (38 per cent) while the Warriors were 20-for-42 (48 per cent). But the Eagles were just 3-for-8 from the free throw line (38 per cent) where Warroad was 14-for-27 (52 per cent). Warroad's size advantage produced a 36-21 edge on the boards, but Grygla's press forced the Wariors into 33 turnovers. The Eagles lost the ball 15 times.

"Our press gave them a lot of trouble," mentioned Johnson, "but again, the size just wore us down."

Officials Discuss Fishing Programs

A precedent-setting conference between state officials and representatives of sport fishing clubs from throughout Minnesota drew about 150 persons to a recent day-long session which laid the groundwork for a closer working relationship between anglers and the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

More than 50 clubs and outdoor organizations sent spokesmen to the meeting to present their views on a wide range of projects, problems and opportunities.

Meeting was called to explore ways to utilize the new $2.50 per fishing license surcharge which will take effect in 1984. Money will not be available until 1985 unless interim financing is approved by the legislature at its next session in March.

Meeting at the Hopkins House in suburban Hopkins was sponsored by the Minnesota Sportfishing Congress (MSC). Congress president Frank Schneider, Jr., St. Paul, described the conference as "the most significant meeting between sport fishing interests and elected or appointed state officials ever held in Minnesota."

On hand were the top officials of the DNR and key members of state senate and house committees concerned with natural resources, fishing and tourism.

Schneider said the conference represented "the primary function of the MSC — to cause an interaction between sport fishing interests and the people who make the laws to identify problems and agree on solutions."

"We want to help steer the local club through beaucratic process to get things done that it can't do by itself. And this was a heck of a start," he said.

In addition to a wide range of project proposals, two major announcements were made during the sessions.

First, MSC field director Gene Archambault of Mankato disclosed the MSC's plan to establish a regional organization with directors in key locations throughout the state. Regional directors would have responsibility for recruiting new clubs and individuals and would also recommend to the MSC board various local projects that could be financed by the new surcharge levy.

Second, DNR fisheries chief Dick Hassinger announced a corollary program called the Cooperative Opportunities for Resource Enhancement (CORE).

CORE program is designed to give local clubs and organizations an opportunity to outline a specific project and present the plan to the DNR for review and possible financial and personnel support.

DNR commissioner Joe Alexander said the success of a local club's petition for funds would depend on the "feasibility of the project and its impact on the public and the local fisher." Alexander pointed out that the new $2.50 surcharge will not result in a "bottomless barrel" and that the new funds — about $4 million per year — "must be spent wisely."

Alexander said his department would welcome the MSC's participation in the screening process to select the most worthy projects for possible DNR support. In most cases, Alexander said, the DNR would provide technical assistance, materials and equipment while the local organization would provide labor and maintenance.

Alexander said such projects could include fishing piers, portable hatcheries, rearing ponds, public access, lake rehabilitation, stocking programs, removal of fish from overcrowded lakes, stream improvement, etc.

Topics covered at the wide-ranging meeting included public access, protected waters, shoreline management, fishing piers, volunteer programs, water surface management, agricultural runoff, law enforcement, spawning area protection, commercial fishing, experimental programs, the planting of new species and water pollution.

Elected state officials at the meeting included Sen. Gene Merriam, Coon Rapids; Rep. John Sarna, Minneapolis; Rep. Tom Osthoff, St. Paul; Rep. John Rose, Roseville; Rep. Randy Kelly, St. Paul; Sen. Ember Reichgott, Robbinsdale; and Hennepin county commissioner Sam Sanavich.

Large entourage from the DNR included Alexander; Dr. Larry Shannon, the new director of fish and wildlife; Hassinger; enforcement chief Fred Hammer; Karin Loechler, Metro and Rochester Regional Administrator; and Duane Shodeen, Metro Region fisheries supervisor.

LHS Basketball JV Girls Top Warren 51-26

Thief River Falls exploded for 23 points in the first quarter Tuesday en route to a 51-26 junior varsity girls high school basketball win over Warren.

Brenda Russell led a balanced Thief River Falls attack with nine points as the winners posted quarter leads of 23-2, 34-12 and 43-25.

Thief River Falls is 3-1 for the year.

BOB WOLFE, district engineer for the Minnesota department of transportation, explained that the commissioner of transportation is studying consolidation of district offices, with the purpose of reducing costs. He pointed out that under the reorganization, size of districts in the metropolitan area would be reduced, while the district in which Thief River Falls is located would be expanded. Possibility of moving a district office to Thief River Falls was described as "remote."

REORGANIZATION OF the Minnesota department of transportation was discussed by district engineer Bob Wolfe at a Tuesday noon meeting at the Best Western Inn. Two alternatives are being considered for reducing the number of districts in the state, with the final decision to be made by Commissioner of Transportation Richard P. Braun. Wolfe urged those attending the meeting to consider which of the plans best met the needs of the area, and recommend its selection to the commissioner. Head table included: (left to right) Mayor Bob Carlson; Cliff Larson, resident MnDOT engineer; Wolfe; Ron Martin, chamber of commerce vice president; and Jerry Sandstrom, executive vice president of Jobs Inc.

MN Tax Burden Advances To 10th High In Nation

Minnesota's total state and local tax burden moved up a notch in 1982 — from 11th highest in 1981, to 10th in 1982. The state's 10 per cent rise in taxes moved Minnesota further away from the U.S. average and also further solidified the fact that Minnesota is the highest taxed state in the Midwest.

According to Don Paterick, executive director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, the new figures are bleak, but not surprising. "These are the first comparative tax figures reflecting Minnesota's recent tax increase enactments, which were passed to ease the state out of its recessionary related fiscal problems," he said.

"While the state appears to be moving ahead on its fiscal stability course, it is coterminously moving up the ranks in tax collections and rates. These new 1982 figures represent only a portion of the recent tax increases and I expect that Minnesota will continue its upward climb next year when the 1983 figures are available."

The state-by-state tax burden rankings are based on data provided by the U.S. department of commerce, and are analyzed by the Minnesota Taxpayers association. The burdens are compared both on a per capita basis, and per $1,000 of personal income.

When per capita (collections divided by the population) are compared, Minnesota's $1,290 is the 10th highest in the nation. The 10 per cent rise in this tax burden over 1981 was high enough to edge the state of Maryland out of the number 10 spot it held in 1981. The increase compares with a U.S. average rise of nine per cent in 1982. Minnesota's total tax burden is now 10 per cent above the average burden nationwide, and 19 per cent above the average of the midwestern states.

Minnesota's rise in total burden can be primarily attributed to increases in the state's personal income tax and the sales tax. Minnesota moved from seventh highest in individual income taxes in 1981 to fourth highest in 1982. The 1982 per capita of $380 represents an 11 per cent rise over the 1981 burden of $343. The states of Wisconsin, Oregon and Hawaii were bumped to lower rankings, as Minnesota moved in to secure the position of fourth highest. The individual income tax burden in Minnesota is 63 per cent above the U.S. average; it is more than double the average per capita amount imposed by the other states in the Midwest.

According to Paterick, one reason for the state's increased income tax burden is the surtax which was effective at a seven per cent rate in January of 1982. "However, the commerce figures reflect taxes collected through June 30, 1982. Therefore they reflect only six months of collections with this seven per cent rate. Next year the collections will show six months at a seven per cent rate and six months at a 10 per cent rate. These increased revenues, together with a minimal indexing adjustment, and other deduction changes will simply pull Minnesota right to the top. It's possible that the state could be competing with Delaware for the number one distinction in the per capita income tax burden," Paterick said.

Minnesota's sales tax ranking surged ahead in 1982, from 36th highest in per capita collections in 1981 to 20th in 1982. The per capita of $215 in 1982 showed a 27 per cent rise from the previous burden of $168. Minnesota still remains lower than the U.S. average of $228, but has inched ahead of the $207 per capita average in the Midwest.

Paterick again points to the past legislative sessions for the reason behind Minnesota's climb. "The new 1982 ranking reflects 12 months of collections with a five per cent sales tax rate. In 1981, we have 12 months with a four per cent rate. Minnesota's surge in the sales tax rank is simply a reaction to the surge in the rate. Next year will again be worse: The 1983 figures will reflect six months with the five per cent rate and six months with a six per cent rate.

"What is disturbing," Paterick continued, "is that Minnesota's sales tax is no longer reasonable. We can no longer 'excuse' the high income tax by pointing to a low sales tax. The current six per cent rate is imposed by four other staes and is exceeded only in the states of Washington and Connecticut. It is also becoming difficult to find much competitive solace in the fact that food and clothing are exempt. All states with a rate of six per cent or higher similarily exempt these items, with the exception of Washington and Mississippi; Washington does not impose an income tax and Mississippi ranks 50th in the total tax burden," Paterick said.

Minnesota's property tax ranking showed improvement in 1982, moving from 22nd to 25th highest. The per capita amount of $342 is only four per cent above the $327 amount in 1981. The state remains below the U.S. average of $362, and the Midwest average of $384 per capita.

"Our property tax looks to be reasonable and competitive in 1982," Paterick said. "Yet I feel that this will be short-lived. The rankings reflect property taxes paid in 1981 which showed minimal homeowner increases. In 1982, however, Minnesota witnessed what was probably the highest tax increase in history — 24 per cent. We'll be moving up the ranks in 1983," Paterick predicted.

Corporate income taxes showed a drop in the 1982 rank and also in the per capita collections. The state dropped from sixth highest in 1981, to eighth in 1982. Collections totaled $80 per capita in 1982, representing a two per cent decline from 1981. This marks the second year in a row where corporate collections have dropped in rank. Minnesota is 18 per cent above the U.S. average per capita collections of $68 in 1982.

"Corporate collections will continue to drop in dollar amount and probably in rank for the next two years," Paterick said. "This downturn is not a result of legislative changes but reflects an overall decline in profits. Corporate income tax collections are not anticipated to reach the peak amount witnessed in 1980 — until 1985," Paterick continued.

The association also ranks the states based on per capita state and local expenditures. In 1982, Minnesota ranked fifth highest in the nation with a per capita amount of $2,373, representing a spending level which is 24 per cent higher than the U.S. average. Alaska, the District of Columbia, Wyoming and New York were the four states ranking higher than Minnesota.

"These four states are not really comparable with Minnesota," Paterick said, "which places the state in a rather conspicuous position. Alaska's per capita expenditure amount is distorted because of the pipe line and oil economy. The District of Columbia is not a state and Wyoming's per capita expenditures are somewhat askewed because of the small population which is about half the size of Minnesota's Hennepin county population. Wyoming also does not impose an income tax. That leaves Minnesota and New York at the top of the spending heap. I certainly hope that we are not getting to the point where we are comparing spending levels between Minnesota and New York," Paterick said.

Major spending categories cited by the association which are above the U.S. average are as follows: Elementary and secondary education-22 per cent higher; welfare-41 per cent; highways-44 per cent; sewerage-65 per cent, natural resources and parks-48 per cent; general control-28 per cent; and interest on debt-69 per cent. Minnesota is below the U.S. average for police and fire protection and corrections.

The Minnesota Taxpayers association is a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization dedicated to the advancement of efficient, economical government.

GIRL SCOUTS SHARED the holiday spirit with residents of several nursing homes in Thief River Falls last week, caroling, demonstrating hand-made puppets, and bringing Christmas stockings for the residents. This group consisted of Brownies, Juniors and Cadets from St. Bernards Catholic and Franklin middle schools, and performed for residents of the convalescent nursing care unit at Northwestern hospital.

MADD Plans Drunk Driver Victim Vigil

A nationwide candelight vigil in remembrance of victims of drunk driving crashes is planned for the evening of Sunday, December 11, as the beginning of "National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week." In Minnesota, a memorial ceremony will begin at 7 p.m. inside the rotunda of the State Capitol building in St. Paul.

"We must stop and remember those who have been victimized. Unfortunately, this is such a wide-ranging problem, that most of us know someone — a friend, a relative, a co-worker, a classmate — who has been injured or killed by an intoxicated driver," said Hildy Jacobsen, president of Hennepin county Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD). Jacobsen and the other officers of Minnesota chapters of MADD invite everyone in the state to particiate in some manner.

Those who cannot attend the ceremony at the State Capitol are encouraged to organize a local vigil at their county seat, or to pay homage in their own individual way. People unable to travel to St. Paul, but who would like to have a loved one's name read at the vigil can do so by writing MADD, P.O. Box 35012, Edina, Minnesota 55435 or call (612) 938-0700.

Anyone wishing to participate in the vigil is encouraged to enter the south entrance of the Capitol at 6:30 p.m. on December 11. Starting at 7 p.m. the names of those killed or injured by drunk drivers will be read. Participants are encouraged to bring pictures of loved ones. They may also bring their own memorial candles.

Jacobsen reminds those traveling to the event that "until intoxicated drivers are removed from the roads for good, safety belts are the best protection against them."

Throughout the rest of "Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week" in Minnesota (December 11-17) other events including media appearances, press conferences and local speaking engagements will be conducted. For more information write: MADD, P.O. Box 35012, Edina, Minnesota 55435 or phone: MADD at (612) 938-0700; Karen Romness, (612) 427-1318; Bob Milner, (612) 724-4296; or Jeanette Pugh, (612) 537-7305.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear mother and dad, Ida and Leo Horien, who passed away Dec. 18, 1982 and Dec. 13, 1967.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true.
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, me miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face.
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by the family

Card of Thanks

The family of Egbert I. Malberg wishes to extend their thanks and appreciation to all who expressed their sympathy in numerous ways during this time of bereavement. A special thanks to the Marshall County Nursing Service, Good Samaritan Center, nurses at Warren hospital, Dr. Pinsonneault who were so kind and considerate of the family during the final days.

We would like to express our thanks to Quanrud funeral home, Pastors David Christensen, T. J. Weltzen, Robert Moberg for their comforting words, Mark Swanson for the beautiful solos, the Rebekah circle for serving the luncheon and the friends who brought food to the house.

Card of Thanks

My heartfelt thanks to Dr. Krepp, Dr. Thorsgard and the nursing staff for the excellent care I received while at Northwestern hospital.

Thank you for all the flowers, gifts, letters, cards and telephone calls and to Pastor Broughton and all others who visited me at the hospital and after I returned home. Thanks for food brought to our home.

I also want to thank my family for their help and concern.

May God bless you all.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to the many wonderful friends, neighbors, relatives and to the community who so lovingly gave us support, comfort, prayers and love in the loss of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Olger B. Green.

Special thanks to Pastors Dick Larson, Roger Hanson and Clifford Kalmoe for prayers and words of comfort, to Dr. E. Thorsgard for special care and kindness; organist Jerry Jorgendal and Zion Silvertones for beautiful music; the grandsons for serving as casket bearers; and the American Legion posts of Newfolden and Thief River Falls, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and all who accorded military honors.

Thanks also to the staff at Green Funeral home for support and thoughtfulness; the World War I Barracks, Odd Fellows, Sons of Norway and area morticians who attended the service in body; the Zion women for serving dinner, those who brought food to our homes, and to all who expressed sympathy through cards, letters, memorials, floral arrangements and phone calls.

All thoughtfulness shown our families at the loss of our loved one will always be remembered. God bless you all.

County Board Proceedings

December 14, 1983
Official Proceedings
Pennington County
Board of Commissioners
Tuesday, October 25, 1983

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' room of the Courthouse, in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, October 25, 1983.

Members present: Tasa, Koop, Stenberg & Grabanski. Hoffman absent. In the absence of Chairman Hoffman, Vice Chairman Tasa assumed the chair.

Inar Mikkelson was in to discuss having a small part of the Ditch 25-3 in Section 32, Norden Township, and Section 5 in Sander's Township cleaned. Engineer Olson and Commissioner Koop have looked at this and it is in need of cleaning. Mikkelson is willing to clean a short stretch in Section 5 without charge to the County in order to get the water moving. The Board okayed this with the Engineer to oversee the project.

Roy Jorgenson from Inter County Community Council and Bill Seeger from Multi-County Housing met with the Board concerning applying for a County Housing Rehab Grant from the Federal Government which would include all housing within Pennington County outside of the Thief River Falls City limits. Both the mayors from St. Hilaire and Goodridge have been contacted and are interested. Motion made by Commissioner Koop, seconded by Commissioner Stenberg to authorize Inter County Community Council to apply for the Housing Rehabilitation Grant. Motion unanimously carried.

Sandy Vandermay was in from AT&T to discuss a new telephone system for the Courthouse. It was the decision of the Board that the Courthouse Building Committee will get quotes for a PBX Telephone System from various vendors and then a decision will be made.

Susan Olson, Director of the Inter County Nursing Services was in to discuss the possibility of the State merging Health Care Services with Welfare. The Board asked Ms. Olson to write a letter to Bev. Driscoll asking what the Human Services Policy Committee knows of these actions.

Pennington County Soil & Water Conservation District Board was in to present their budget and request $24,713.00 for 1984. In 1983 the County appropriated $14,000.00 to the Soil & Water Conservation District and budgeted $1,000 for insurance. No decision was made by the Board.

At 2:00 p.m. the Chairman called the Revenue Sharing Proposed Use Hearing to order. It was explained that the purpose of this meeting was to hear from anyone that would have proposed use for Revenue Sharing funds for the 15th Entitlement. The Auditor mentioned that the Revenue Sharing Renewal had not been passed but looked good for that happening. He estimated $150,000.00 for the next year. No one appeared before the board.

Motion by Commissioner Stenberg, seconded by Commissioner Koop that the following resolution be adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED that the recommendations of Proposed Uses for Allocation of Revenue Sharing Funds for the 15th Entitlement Period be as follows: (Listed in order of Proposed Expenditure, Capital Improvement and Maintenance).

Governmental Administration, $20,000.00, $0; Library, $0, $19,965.00; Social Service for Aged & Poor, $0, $3,396.22; Highway Equipment, $100,438.78, $0; Education Services, $0, $6,000.00; Totals, $120,438.78, $29,361.22.

Upon call for vote, the foregoing resolution was declared unanimously adopted.

(The Revenue Sharing Proposed Use Hearing was adjourned and the regular Board meeting reconvened.

Tom Williams, Representative from Blue Cross-Blue Shield, was in to discuss insurance premiums for 1984. He also described the Aware Physician's program. Under this program the rates for single coverage would be $74.13 with family coverage being $159.94. Under the regular program the rates for a single will be $78.48 and family $164.89. The Board asked Tom to try to cut the premium to $155.00 or lower.

Moved by Commissioner Stenberg, seconded by Commissioner Grabanski to appropriate $8,780.92 to the Pennington County Fair Association for 1983 to pay all loans the Fair Board made to finance the 1983 fair. Motion unanimously carried.

County Engineer Olson discussed J.D. No. 1's outlet No. 2 which is being worked on by Red Lake County. Discussed petitioned work on ditches and the estimated cost of the work. Also discussed overlay project for 1984 on SA No. 27.

Motion by Commissioner Koop, seconded by Commissioner Stenberg to adjourn the meeting until Wednesday, November 9, 1983, at 10:00 a.m. Motion unanimously carried.

Official Proceedings
Pennington County
Board of Commissioners
Tuesday, November 9, 1983

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioner's room of the Courthouse in Thief River Falls, MN at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, November 9, 1983. Members present: Koop, Hoffman, Tasa, Grabanski & Stenberg. All present.

The minutes of the September 27, October 5, 11 and 24 were approved as mailed.

Gordy Forester, new area wildlife management officer, was in to discuss the purchase of the Al Bacon property in the NW¼ Section 28, Smiley Township. The Board asked him to bring the appraisal before the Board before they could approve the request. A short note from the Smiley Town Board was presented indicating they approved the sale.

Chris Twomey was in to discuss the ambulance service and Northwestern Hospital Board's decision to sell the service. They are now reviewing the possible buyers. The two criteria the possible buyers must meet are: (1) The medical director must be from Thief River Falls and (2) They will provide the advanced life support.

Commissioner Koop introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners go on record as supporting the Glenmore Foundation in their effort to develop a local chemical dependency outpatient treatment resource in Thief River Falls, MN, as a part of their joint venture agreement with, the Day-Night Unit of Northwestern Hospital. The County Board supports Glenmore's application for a Rule 43 License for this program from the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and upon vote, declared unanimously adopted.

Wayne Halseth, Wayne's Ambulance Service, Fosston, appeared before the Board and asked what kind of subsidy would be available from the County for an ambulance service. The Board advised him that the CHS subsidy of $14,183.88 would be available but that was all they would guarantee.

The Board then proceeded to hear quotes from telephone companies. The companies had been instructed to quote a PBX telephone system for the County Welfare and Extension Offices on the first floor of the Courthouse with expansion capabilities to allow the whole Courthouse to be connected at a future date. Three quotes were received with all having a one year warranty and optional maintenance agreement after that time. Quotes are on file in the Auditor's Office. Motion by Commissioner Tasa, seconded by Commissioner Koop to purchase a telephone system from AT&T for the Welfare and Extension Offices for the amount of $11,402.80. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Richards was in to discuss the possibility of supervising a deputy in Goodridge. The City of Goodridge would hire a deputy under the MEED program. Commissioner Koop made the motion, seconded by Commissioner Stenberg, that the County Sheriff supervise a deputy for Goodridge, hired by the City of Goodridge under the MEED Act. Motion unanimously carried.

At 4:00 p.m. the Ditch Hearing adjournment from October 28, 1983, resumed with Sam Brattell giving an overview of problems and what they thought should be done to resolve them. The following were suggested: Delete 40 acres West of the Railroad in W½ 16-154-43 — Lester Halvorsons. Add the following parcels: NE¼SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and NE¼SE¼ all in Section 7-154-43. Rausch agrees to clean the ½ mile North where the ditch ends. Ditch No. 70 and Old Ditch No. 44 will stop 100' South of railroad between Section 6 & 7 North Township. Questions were raised on ditch going ½ mile North between Section 19 & 20. This was determined not a legal ditch. Commissioner Koop introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, pursuant to order for reviewing the benefits for drainage supplied by County Ditch No. 70, there were duly appointed viewers who filed a preliminary report of their findings:

WHEREAS, there was a public hearing held on October 28, 1983, of the preliminary report of the viewers whereby a couple of amendments were proposed to their report;

WHEREAS, the viewers did review these proposed amendments and made an amended final report to the County Board of Commissioners on November 9, 1983.

WHEREAS, the viewers report recommended that the City of Thief River Falls remain responsible for the maintenance and repair of County Ditch No. 70 from the City lagoon in Section 31 in North Township East to the outlet into the Red Lake River as ordered by the County Board of Commissioners on December 5, 1978;

WHEREAS, the viewers report recommended the County Ditch No. 44, the old County Ditch No. 10, and County Ditch No. 70 be consolidated into one ditch known in the future as County Ditch No. 70;

WHEREAS, there is money left in the County Ditch No. 44 account; and

WHEREAS, the County Board of Commissioners desire to accept the report of the viewers;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1) The final report of the ditch viewers on County Ditch No. 70 be accepted.

2) That County Ditch No. 44, Old County Ditch No. 10 and County Ditch No. 70 be consolidated into one ditch system hereafter known as County Ditch No. 70.

3) All money left in the County Ditch No. 44 account be and is hereby transferred to County Ditch No. 70 account.

4) The City of Thief River Falls agreement to clean County Ditch No. 70 from the lagoon East to the outlet at Red Lake River remain in effect as ordered by the County Board of Commissioners on December 5, 1958.

5) That all assessed values as set by the viewers of Ditch No. 70 be hereinafter placed into effect.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Stenberg and upon vote, declared unanimously adopted.

The following bills were presented, read and approved:

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The Free Market is Flying High

The advocates of a national industrial policy — read centralized planning — believe that more government control of the economy would be a good thing. Bureaucrats, they argue, could plan out the economy and do a better job than consumers and businesses working together through the free market.

This, of course, is a silly idea but Washington is a breeding ground for silly notions, and when silliness threatens to become enshrined in law, it is a matter of serious concern to the American taxpayer.

The politicians, bureaucrats and left-wing intellectuals who let the phrase "industrial policy" loll at the end of their tongues the way a baby plays with its first word would do well to remember Alfred Kahn's reasoning behind the airline deregulation bill of 1978: "One reason I thought we ought to get out of the regulation business was because you can't predict anything from Washington."

Mr. Kahn did not say that bureaucrats could not predict everything from Washington. He said they could not predict anything.

Alfred Kahn ought to know as he was the Chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, the agency that used to regulate the airline industry until Mr. Kahn led the drive to deregulate that industry and put himself out of a job.

Kahn was joined in that effort by President Carter, Sen. Edward Kennedy and Ralph Nader as well as conservative Republicans. Thus, only five years ago, congressmen and public interest groups spanning the political spectrum from left to right joined together in an overwhelming rejection of an industrial policy for the airline industry. That same coalition then began the drive to deregulate the trucking industry, bus lines and railroads.

As the debate on industrial policy continues it may pay to compare the five-year history of airline deregulation with the previous 40 years of government control of airline prices and route schedules.

Let us, as Hubert Humphrey used to say, look at the record.

Bureaucrats argue that regulation keeps prices down, but under deregulation airline tickets have dropped from what they would have been under government-set pricing schedules by more than $10 billion during the five years since 1978. In 1978 dollars, the cost of a flight from New York to Los Angeles has dropped from $312 to $195, and this Christmas a college student in Boston can visit his grandmother in Florida for $49.

Such discount pricing was illegal under regulation.

Score one for the free market: lower prices for consumers.

Critics feared that deregulated airlines would end service to smaller communities. While very small airports have lost an average of nine per cent of flights, no community has lost all service since 1978 and the explosion of new and expanded commuter airlines has actually increased service to many cities and towns.

Score two for the free market: more and better service.

Government bureaucracies often pose as the only bulwark against monopolies and the concentration of economic clout. Under deregulation, however, the number of interstate airlines jumped from 36 to 98, and the market share of the large airlines dropped from 91 per cent to 79 per cent. (Contrast this with the 40-year history of regulation when no new interstate airlines were allowed.)

Another win for the free market: more innovations, more airlines and more competition.

Union leaders in the airline industry clamor for a return to the "good old days" of regulation, claiming that employment and wages in the industry are falling. Well, despite two recessions since deregulation, there are now roughly 5,000 more jobs in the airline industry than in 1978. As for wage reductions, the downward adjustment of wages in the industry is simply a long overdue change given that the average airline employee earns $39,000 — a full 70 per cent more than the average working American. Relizing this, employees of Republic and Pan Am Airlines have voted to accept wage reductions and the elimination of featherbedding work rules in order to keep those airlines competitive.

The free market wins the fourth round with increased employment and an end to the subsidies for high income airline employees by the average income traveler.

But aren't some airlines going bankrupt? Yes, but that happens in the free market. What the evening news often overlooks is the 22 new airlines that have entered the business.

What about safety the union leaders cry: Safety, we should remind these gentlemen, was not deregulated and all studies confirm that safety remains at an all time high.

In sum, a deregulated airline industry has brought us lower prices, new airlines, more and better service, more jobs and one less bureaucracy.

Those who wish to extend the failure of industrial policy from the sad past example of airline regulation to our entire economy are standing athwart the path of history and yelling, "Stop. Turn back."

The American people are not listening. They are on the phones with their travel agents.

The High Cost of Economic Illiteracy

Grab pen and paper. It is time for a pop quiz.

After subtracting federal, state and local taxes, how much profit do you think the average manufacturing company earns as a percentage of sales? If a company sells $1 worth of goods or services, is the after-tax profit: 50 cents; 20 cents; 5 cents?

Now, the same question for oil companies, auto manufacturers, electric utilities and insurance companies.

Okay, hand in your papers and compare your estimates with the answers given in a recent poll by Opinion Research Corporation which asked the same questions. And then let's compare those poll results with the facts.

The over 1,000 adults responding to the telephone poll guessed that the average manufacturer earns 37 per cent after-tax profit on each dollar of sales. — In reality after-tax profits are roughly one-tenth of that figure.

Those questioned believed that the big oil companies must be pulling down the big bucks. They guessed that average after-tax profits for oil companies at 60 per cent of sales. Ralph Nader's histrionics notwithstanding, the true figure is 4.3 per cent. (Oil company stockholders wish that Ralph Nader was right on this one.)

The auto industry? Poll respondents guessed their profits at 41 per cent of sales. Detroit, I'm sure, appreciates this vote of confidence, but automakers actually lost money last year.

The gong also sounds for our 1,000 poll respondents who guessed that electric utilities were racking up profits of 48 per cent of sales. They earned 11.2 per cent. The guess of 55 per cent profits for insurance companies was off by a factor of eight. Insurance company profits were seven per cent of sales.

The gap between perception and reality of corporate profit levels raises three questions. How did this misperception arise? Should we be concerned by it? And, if we are concerned, what can we do to correct it?

Addressing the second question first, the answer is a resounding yes. We should be alarmed at this shocking level of economic illiteracy, for bad information leads to bad economic policy. It is a lot easier for politicians to rail against the "obscene profits" of oil companies and demand higher taxes if the voters believe that present profits are 60 per cent of sales. A tax hike of 10 per cent of sales would sound reasonable, when in reality it would wipe out the profits of the oil companies and drive them into bankruptcy. The same scenario holds for other industries.

Why are we so misinformed about business profits? I would suggest two contributing factors. Both politicians and union leaders find it to their advantage to exaggerate profit levels and can often be found in front of television cameras pushing untrue, yet headline-making statements.

Too often politicians look at business not as the engine of economic growth but as the vulnerable target for new taxes. Overstating profits makes such tax hikes popular. Union leaders couple demands for higher wage increases with feigned outrage about unconscionably high profits. You have plenty of money, the argument runs, give us some of it. Recently the chickens have come to roost for those union bosses in the auto and steel industries as they were just beginning to learn that low levels of earning lead not to higher pay for workers but to plant closings and fewer jobs.

Businessmen and women must also shoulder some of the responsibility for these exaggerated estimates of corporate profits. Too often, they highlight the dramatic growth of profits during a recovery, boasting that earnings are up, say 400 per cent, without explaining that this growth is based on depressed earnings during a recession. Understandably, most companies downplay falling profits and losses.

Lastly, we come to the question of what the business community can do to bring down the high level of misinformation on corporate earnings. I am not going to recommend some expensive education campaign at this point, but rather suggest some small steps that businessmen and women can take.

Start with your own family. If the over 16 million Americans who run businesses on a full-time or part-time basis simply discussed the economic facts of life with their children over dinner the ignorance level would drop sharply overnight.

Schools could invite local businessmen and women into the classrooms to discuss the role and size of profits in the business world. Businessmen and women could also reach out to civic groups, church groups or sit down with their congressmen when they visit the district.

Small steps, but important.

The debate over economic policy affects the future of all Americans and we cannot allow this debate to continue surrounded by the amount of misinformation revealed in this recent poll.

Noon Lioness Club To Tour Decorations

Thief River Falls noon Lioness club has made arrangements to transport residents of Valley Home and the Skylite Apartments to see the many decorates homes in the city, starting at 6:30 p.m., Monday, December 19. Residents with decorated houses are asked to turn on their lights early that evening.

On December 28, Lioness members and their spouses and children will be caroling at Oakland Park nursing home and Valley Home, starting at 6:15 p.m. Following the caroling they will gather at Milly Dallmann's home for refreshments.

Noon Lioness Club is a women's service organization. As such, it has available for use by anyone in the community, a remote TV control unit and also a telephone answering and calling unit. Club also recently donated funds to the Faribault Lion's club large-print book fund. This is a project administered by the Faribault club whereby they purchase large-print books which are available for no-charge loan distribution to any handicapped resident of Minnesota. Anyone interested in having more information about any of these items may contact President Octavia Jorgenson or any member of the Noon Lioness club. Group holds its regular meeting at noon the second Wednesday of each month at the Best Western.

Mark Twain's Christmas Concert Thur.

Mark Twain elementary school Christmas concert entitled "What Is A Gift?" will be presented Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Franklin middle school gymnasium, according to music instructor Jeanne Harger, director. She will be assisted by the elementary school teachers.

Kindergarten students will sing "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," "What's A Gift We'd Like to Know," "Love Came In With Santa" and "Mechanical Toys." A poem entitled "That's a Gift" and an instrumental number "We Are Dolls" will also be presented.

First graders will give a peek into their toy shop by singing "Oh, What A Joy, We're Going To Be Gifts!", "Jingle Bells" and "Elfie the Elf." Instrumental numbers will include "Now We Let You Peek Into Our Toy Shop" and "Christmas Toys Are Singing Songs."

Second graders will sandwich instrumental numbers "Everybody's Singing Loud and Clear" and "Christmas Bells Are Ringing Joy" around vocal numbers entitled "In the Toy Shop" and "The Little Rag Doll."

Numbers by third graders include "Oh, What A Joy, We're Going To Be Gifts!", "Toyland," "Left-Over Easter Hare," "Do You Think That I Look Funny?" and a square dance to "Oh, When the Gifts Come Flowing In."

Fourth and fifth graders will combine in singing "Day by Day," "Lullaby for Jesus" and "Super Gift from Heaven." Also included in their program participation will be "What Is A Gift?" by fourth and fifth grade girls, "O Holy Christmas Morning" (fifth grade instrumental); "Listen While the Angels Sing" (fourth grade instrumental); and "Silent Night" (third grade instrumental).

Minnesota safety council estimates that between five and seven persons may die in Minnesota traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday and between 310 and 350 persons may be injured on Minnesota highways that weekend.

Pennington Co. 4-H'ers Get State Awards

Pennington county 4-H'ers were honored with state awards at the University of Minnesota-Crookston ag activities day on December 2. Day's events of judging contests and workshops in agriculture areas including crops, dairy and livestock kept 16 county 4-H'ers occupied.

Pennington county's livestock judging team, made up of Todd and Matthew Carlson of Happy Acres and Robert Solem of New Solum, earned first place among other statewide competing teams. Todd Carlson earned honors as the high individual judge among all competitors, with Robert Solem placing second as an individual within a team, and Matthew Carlson placing third as an individual within a team.

Other 4-H'ers attending the ag day in general livestock judging were Troy Carlson, Paul and Suzanne Johnson and Kelly Swanson, Happy Acres; Lisa Edington, New Solum; Daryl Rupprecht, Silverton; Cindi Solem, City View; and Twyla Svendsgaard, Mavie.

Dairy judging contestants were Deborah Grandbois and Edna Johnson, Sanders; Scott Muzzy and Wayne Rausch, Steiner; and Dale Rupprecht, Silverton.

Deborah Matero, county extension agent, and Peter Solem accompanied the Pennington county contestants during the day's activities, along with a delegation from the local Future Farmers of America.

Expect USDA Decision On Disaster Soon

Congressman Arlan Stangeland has been informed by agriculture secretary John Block that a decision on disaster relief for farmers in Polk and Marshall counties will be reached within the next two weeks.

If a disaster declaration is issued for 1983 crop damage, qualified farmers will be eligible for low-interest loans covering 80 per cent of their losses, up to $500,000.

"There was major crop damage in parts of these counties," Congressman Stangeland said. "Some farms weren't hit hard, while others were devastated." Congressman Stangeland says he has contacted Block several times during the year pressing for action.

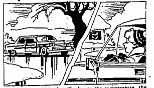
Heavy rainfall began in Polk County on June 1 and continued through the end of September. A wide variety of inclement weather damaged crops in large portions of Marshall county. Unseasonably low temperatures, excessive rain and hail were followed by extreme heat and drought during the 1983 growing season.

Stangeland, a member of the House agriculture committee, helped secure a disaster declarations in November for 1983 crop damage in Pennington and Red Lake counties. Disaster declarations were also made for Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties.

"When farmers are hit by consecutive years of natural disaster, their equity is diminished rapidly," Congressman Stangeland said. "It is vital that local lenders see that USDA is willing to lend a hand to hard workers who have been devastated by natural disasters."

Earlier this year, Congressman Stangeland said he persuaded FmHA to open a new office in Crookston and to train new disaster teams to process relief applications. He said he also secured "limited resource" loans and is seeking extra leniency for farmers in Red Lake and Pennington counties who have been hit by five straight years of disaster.

Helpful Hints on Holiday Driving



Some drivers think that the lower the temperature, the slicker ice on the road will be. Ice at 30°F has been proven to be more slick than ice at zero degrees.

Even if you consider yourself the world's best driver, winter weather requires paying added attention to the rules of the road.

Here's some advice from the Independent Insurance Agents of America (IIAA) that can help you drive more safely this holiday season:

- Keep in mind that ice at 30°F has proven to be more slick than ice at zero degrees. Take extra care when driving slick roads and be sure your car has snow tires on.
- Certain items should be placed in the car in case you find yourself stranded, or if your tires lose traction. For lost traction, keep sand, cat litter or some sort of traction mats on hand. Flashlights and blankets, as well as canned drinks and packaged foods, could be lifesavers if your car breaks down on a deserted road.
- Begin driving in winter weather by slowly accelerating to determine if your wheels may spin—if they don't, reduce your speed and drive carefully. If they do, use the steering wheel. Steer the car in the direction you want the front to go and the rest of the car will probably skid out sideways. Do not brake until you have regained control of the steering wheel. Apply gradual pressure on the brakes.
- While driving, remember to keep sufficient distance between you and other cars. It takes three to nine times as far to come to a stop on snow and ice.
- Be sure to have antifreeze in your windshield washer as well as some in your cooling system.
- If you're stranded, stay with your car. Exercise to keep warm. Use a flashlight. Leave the window open just a crack, if the engine is running, for some fresh air. Use flares if you have them.

Little Oak

Mrs. Arnold Haugen, Goodridge

Supper guests at the Howard Hanson home on Friday evening were Pastor and Mrs. Roger Fehr, Nathan and Bethany and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson.

Joane Hanson spent the weekend with Wendy Hanson in Grand Forks, N.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen called at the Willie Mostrom home in Gonvick Monday afternoon.

Guests Sunday evening at the Howard Hanson home to help Joane celebrate her 18th birthday were Lorraine Waine, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Waine, Jaclyn and David. Happy birthday Joanne.

Noel and Nick Stromme of Perham spent Wednesday and Thursday at the Henry Burrack home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen called at the Willie Good home Tuesday afternoon. Jeff Dahlen also called there that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ulwelling and Faith of Grand Forks, N.D. came to the Henry Burrack home on Thursday. They left Faith at her grandparents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burracks and they went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Scott Goderstad at their home until Saturday.

The Nazareth ladies aid met at the dining hall on Thursday afternoon for their monthly meeting. Officers were elected. Christmas carols were sung and the ladies packed the cookie cans for the shut-ins. A delicious lunch was served and they exchanged Christmas gifts. Quite a few were in attendance.

Yvonne Good called at the Willie Good home one day this week.

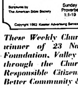
WELCOME



Wonder what it's like down there? Then go on down. Why do you hesitate? You're being welcomed with love and warmth. The beautiful spirit of God beckons you. A wonderful experience awaits you.

Need a miracle today? What better place to find it than in the House of God. Inside you will feel the love and joy of being in the presence of the Lord. Sit down and relax; with poise, confidence and happiness at having made the decision yourself. Listen to the minister and give thought to his words and their meaning. Join in the singing and be glad. Shed your tensions. Meet your neighbors and make new friends.

Lonely? Unhappy? Fearful? You needn't be. The doors are open to you. Step in and create a miracle for yourself.

Land Disposal Alternatives Are Discussed

Minnesota, through its waste management board, is addressing the state's total hazardous waste problem in a program that emphasizes waste reduction, treatment, incineration, recycling and other alternatives to the land-disposal of hazardous waste, according to the board chairman Robert Dunn. The key to this comprehensive, long-range approach is the state hazardous waste management plan.

Development of the plan is one of the board's three main hazardous waste responsibilities, along with the designation of "preferred areas" for commercial hazardous waste processing facilities and the selection of at least one site for a secure hazardous waste disposal facility. "Certainly, the controversial nature of the board's siting activities has often overshadowed the board's planning efforts," Dunn states.

"But the development of the hazardous waste management plan — which will chart the state's strategy for dealing with hazardous wastes through the remainder of this century, and beyond — is the board's most important function. On December 21, the board is expected to issue a draft of the plan for public review. A formal hearing on the draft plan will be conducted in mid-January."

The plan will provide a definitive picture of the types and volumes of hazardous wastes expected to be generated in Minnesota through the year 2000 and will review the current disposal and management of the state's hazardous wastes. It will also evaluate the need for hazardous waste treatment and disposal facilities in the future.

Most important section of the plan will consist of new policies and programs designed to reduce the generation of hazardous wastes in Minnesota and encourage businesses and industries to recycle, treat and incinerate their hazardous wastes, Dunn said. Hazardous waste disposal is only a "last resort" in the board's recommendations for Minnesota's hazardous waste management needs.

The board estimates that annual state hazardous waste generation — which now totals approximately 174,000 tons — could be reduced by 32 per cent over the next 16 years with the implementation of new waste reduction programs, and that nearly 80 per cent of Minnesota's hazardous wastes could be reprocessed through the establishment of new programs and treatment facilities.

Policies and programs outlined in the plan will be reviewed and acted upon by the state legislature in 1984 and in future legislative sessions. Many of the programs to be recommended in the plan could have wide-ranging impacts on citizens throughout the state. Proper hazardous waste management is often expensive, and the costs associated with new hazardous waste management programs could, in the future, be borne by businesses, consumers and taxpayers.

Other sections of the plan will deal with the need to properly enforce the state's regulations of companies that generate, transport or dispose of hazardous wastes, and many recommend improvements in the state's regulatory system. Still other portions will concern liability for the proper disposal of hazardous wastes.

Policies and programs that result from the plan will help to determine the eventual type of facility utilized for the disposal of those hazardous wastes that cannot be further reduced, processed or recycled. It will also have a bearing on the types of wastes disposed of at that facility, and the restrictions and requirements placed on generators who use Minnesota's disposal site.

As required by state law, the plan will be designed to reduce both the generation of hazardous wastes and Minnesota's dependence on land-disposal.

Already, many citizens around the state have attended waste management board public meetings to participate in the development of this plan. But because the plan will not be finalized until 1986 (when the board selects a final site for a disposal facility), there is still ample opportunity to become involved in the board's planning activities.

Governor Perpich has appointed a special citizens' committee in each of the potential siting areas for a hazardous waste disposal facility to work with the board in developing the hazardous waste management plan. These committees meet twice a month and will soon begin reviewing the draft plan.

Committees welcome the interest and participation of local residents as they work to review the draft plan and make recommendations on it to the waste management board. Participation of other residents is also encouraged. Those who would like additional information on the board's planning activities or the local review committees may contact the board by writing to: 7323 58th ave. North, Crystal, MN 55428; or calling toll free 1-800-652-9747.

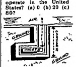
Taking this little test can help you show how bright you are when it comes to the facts about producing electricity at nuclear power plants.

1. In round figures, how many nuclear power plants are licensed to operate in the United States? (a) 0 (b) 20 (c) 80?

2. What percentage of the nation's electricity is generated by nuclear power? (a) 0 (b) 5 (c) 13?



3. Nuclear waste will be buried in glass containers. (a) True (b) False?

4. There is no accepted method for disposing of nuclear waste. (a) True (b) False?

ANSWERS: 1. (c) About 80 nuclear power plants are licensed to operate and about 60 more units are in the planning or construction stages. 2. (c) Nuclear power provided 12.6 percent of the electric generation in 1982 and experts at Edison Electric expect that percentage to grow to almost 22 percent by 1990. Coal is the biggest source for electric generation, accounting for 53.2 percent in 1982. While coal and nuclear together already account for two-thirds of all electric generation, that fraction is expected to be three-fourths within seven years. 3. (b) False. This myth probably arose from the fact that nuclear waste may be changed into a glass form before it is placed in a canister for burial. The canister would be made of thick-walled steel and would be put into yet another container, a heavy, metal overpack. This package would be surrounded by a crushed rock backfill in a deep geological formation such as salt, basalt or tuff. 4. (b) False. The Federal government has determined that high level nuclear waste can be buried safely and permanently in deep rock formation which have withstood the elements for thousands of years. Congress put its seal of approval on the finding when it passed the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. That law not only sanctions disposing in geologic formation, it mandates it.

Turkey Supper Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halvorson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lester Halvorson of North, Floyd Mathieu and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem to a turkey supper at their home Friday. Floyd furnished the turkey.

A late Monday afternoon visitor at the Lloyd Larson home last week was Mrs. Doris Augustine of rural Holt.

Egbert Malberg Dies

Mrs. Ethel Moe, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kron were among the many who attended funeral services for Egbert Malberg at the Zion Lutheran church in Viking Saturday afternoon. Egbert was born Dec. 24, 1893 in Excel township but spent most of his life in the Viking area. There are now only two left of the P.B. Malberg family of nine. Those two are Mrs. Mildred Malmquist of Fort Wayne, Ind. and Mrs. Stella Sands of Alvarado. Sincere sympathy is extended to Clarissa Malberg and her family.

Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter and Hope of Strandquist spent Tuesday last week at the home of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson. Mrs. Jim Helgeland of Roseau was also a dinner guest at the Larson home.

West Steiner homemakers and families enjoyed their annual Christmas party at the home of Alvin and Nina Halvorson Sunday afternoon. A brief business meeting was held followed with a program of carol singing and several readings including the Christmas story from Luke 2:1-20. Secret pals were revealed when each one received a gift from her pal. New names were drawn for the 1984 year. Several good cheer boxes were packed and a gift of $10 will be sent to the Fergus Falls state hospital. Everyone enjoyed the bountiful lunch. Present were Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rausch, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yonke, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Muzzy, Mrs. Ethel Moe, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Muzzy, Mrs. Eldon Moe, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter, Kent and Hope of Strandquist, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson and grandsons Jeremy and Andrew Coykendall, Melvin Saugen, Olaf Jorde and Alfred Stroberg along with the Alvin Halvorsons who were host and hostess.

Mrs. Clifford Jorde, Mrs. Harold Halvorson and Mrs. Ted Hornseth attended the Christmas meeting of the Esther circle of Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday evening at the church library lounge with Mrs. Lloyd Hogenson as hostess. The Rebekah circle met in the library lounge Thursday afternoon. Among those present were Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf and Mrs. Alfred Solem.

Wednesday evening visitors at the Lloyd Larson home were Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Augustine of Holt.

The senior citizens' rhythm band played several selections for the residents and staff at Oakland Park nursing home Monday evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson attended the Holt Keenagers Christmas dinner Friday, Dec. 9 at noon at the Holt community center. Ham and escalloped potatoes were furnished by the club. Otherwise the meal was potluck. The afternoon was spent with an exchange of gifts and a short Christmas program. Andrew Coykendall spent the afternoon at the Ivan Melvie home at Holt.

25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Moe and James and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson attended the open house at the Thief River Falls armory Saturday evening in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Jay and Carol Garthus of Holt. A program was presented and Cathy and the Alley Cats provided music.

Co-op Annual Meeting

A large number of people attended the Grygla Cooperative store annual meeting which was held at the community center on Wednesday, Dec. 7th. A business meeting was held with president Eddie Moe presiding. Tim Holte gave the secretary's report. Eddie Moe read the financial statement of the year's business, showing that the Co-op had a good business year. An election of officers was held with the following results: Eddie Moe was re-elected and Sheldon Peterson was elected to serve on the board of directors. Palmer Holte, former board member asked to have his name removed from the slate of candidates. Door prizes were won by Dorothy Dyrseth, C.N. Anderson, Arne Nelson, Paul Saurdiff, Otto Sigerud and Carrie Solem. Donald Verbout, manager of the store, was present to assist in the business meeting. About eighty lunches were served by the Grygla senior citizens which were paid by the Grygla Co-op store. Free tickets were given to everyone present.

The members of the Esther circle of Our Savior's church met at the Harry Johaneson home on Monday afternoon. Those present were Ida Mae Korstad, Dorothy Byklum, Edith Magnusson, Evelyn Tanem, Sharon Englund, Pauline Warne and Alice Johaneson. The afternoon was spent in preparing rags for rugs and visiting. Alice Johaneson served lunch.

Recipes in a Nutshell

"LOW-SODIUM HOLIDAY TREAT"

Individuals cutting down on salt must be forever watchful of the foods they eat.

Show your thoughtfulness during the holiday season by presenting baked goods with reduced sodium content made with Planters Dry Roasted Unsalted Cashews.

HOLIDAY CRANBERRY SHORTCAKE

Makes 8 to 10 servings

1/2 cup sweet unsalted margarine, melted
1 3/4 cups sugar
2 cups cranberries
1 cup chopped Planters Dry Roasted Unsalted Cashews
3 eggs, separated, at room temperature
2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder, regular or low-sodium
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 pint heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg

In small bowl, combine 1/4 cup melted margarine, 1/2 cup sugar, cranberries and cashews; spread evenly in two 8-inch round cake pans.

In medium bowl, on high speed of mixer, beat egg whites until stiff. In large bowl, combine flour, baking powder and remaining 1 1/4 cups sugar. In medium bowl, with mixer, beat together yolks, remaining 1/4 cup margarine, milk and lemon rind; blend into flour mixture; fold in egg whites. Spread evenly in pans over cranberries. Bake at 375°F. for 35 to 40 minutes. Invert onto wire racks, cranberry side up; cool completely.

Place one cake layer on serving plate. Beat heavy cream and nutmeg until stiff; spread 1 cup over cranberries; top with remaining cake layer, cranberry side up. Spread remaining whipped cream on sides and pipe rosettes around edge of cake. Refrigerate 1 hour or until serving time.

TENTH BEEF COOK-OFF WON BY MAN

Emile Ferrara of Bristol, R.I., won $5,000 for his quick to prepare entry, Top Round Aromatica, at the 10th Annual National Beef Cook-Off.

The American National CowBelles sponsor this contest with the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board to expand awareness and preparation of lesser known economical cuts of beef.

To enter the 1984 National Beef Cook-Off held Sept. 9-11 in Albuquerque, N.M., or to obtain a copy of the winning recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to National Beef Cook-Off, P.O. Box 10201, Chicago, IL 60610.

TOP ROUND AROMATICA

2-pound beef top round steak, cut 1 inch thick
1 to 2 tablespoons peppercorns, crushed
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1/4 cup dry red wine
2 tablespoons cognac
1/2 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Combine crushed peppercorns, butter and garlic powder; spread evenly on both sides of steak. Heat oil in heavy frying pan over medium-high heat. When very hot, add meat and brown evenly on both sides to degree of doneness desired. Allow 7 minutes for rare, 8 minutes for medium-rare and 9 minutes for medium. Place steak on serving platter; keep warm. Deglaze pan with wine and cognac over high heat; cook 1 minute. Reduce heat, add cream and chopped parsley and continue cooking 1 to 2 minutes. Season with salt to taste. Carve steak diagonally across the grain into thin slices. Pour sauce over steak; garnish with parsley. 4 to 6 servings.

Hunting Success—And Accidents

Following comments were made by Dana Nordine of the North Star News at Karlstad shortly after the close of the 1983 deer season:

While on the subject of hunting. . .

I would suppose that the structure of the season is, partially at least, a result of meetings held by the DNR and the public. It seems that ever since the season was changed from what hunters commonly refer to as the old 'nine-day season' there have been complaints by the hunters to return to the 'old season'. And the DNR is not immune to public pressure.

The advantage sought by hunters who desired a return to this type of season rather than the split season of the past few years is that with more hunters in the field, there are more deer moving.

One of the advantages of the split season, according to comments by some DNR officials, and simple logic, is that the split season greatly reduces the number of hunting accidents.

The past season provides a good correlation between the type of season and the number of hunting accidents, at least locally. I can't remember a deer season with as many 'local' accidents as the one we have just experienced. But if the split season produces less accidents, then I have to favor that over the season that puts all hunters in the field at one time.

It may be true that the deer are moving better with more hunters about, but I can live a whole lot better with less venison in my freezer than I can with an accident on my conscience.

Give It A Chance

Following editorial is from the Bemidji Pioneer:

Surveys show that most Americans don't know what to make of the breakup of the Bell System. But why should they? Even experts can't agree on what the future holds for telecommunications.

All that's known for certain is that American Telephone & Telegraph, the world's largest corporation, never will be the same again after Dec. 31. On New Year's day, AT&T will split into eight independent companies. Local telephone service will be provided by seven regional firms. What's left of AT&T, including its prestigious Bell Labs research arm, will compete with IBM in computers and with Sprint and MCR for long-distance business.

For many years, AT&T's virtual monopoly on the telephone business in the United States has given the Americans universal phone service that is the envy of the rest of the world. No matter its benefits, however, monopoly status distrubed anti-trust purists and the Justice Departments filed suit to separate AT&T from its Western Electric manufacturing division.

AT&T agreed to its own breakup even before completion of the anti-trust trial. No wonder. The days of dial-ring-talk-listen are numbered. The world is engulfed in a telecommunications revolution.

As differences between computers and telephones continue to blur, it may not be long until telephones and computers combine in a single terminal. Wires already transmit data as well as voice. And, major corporations are establishing their own communications systems, some utilizing satellites. Divestiture thus gives AT&T an opportunity to compete in the lucrative and growing high-techology market. If the new firms succeeds, its shareholders may achieve a return on investment that far exceeds anything permitted the old monopoly by federal and state regulators.

Win or lose, the new AT&T should have little direct effect on telephone service. The impact of divestiture on telephone users will depend mainly on the performance on each new regional company.

Nevertheless, divestiture will cause some increase in most telephone bills, at least initially. One reason is that long distance charges no longer will be priced to subsidize local calls. For the same reason, long distance callers can expect a price break.

To minimize the loss of long distance revenues, the Federal Communications Commission has authorized the new regional telephone companies to charge residential customers a $2 monthly fee for access to long distance lines. Self-styled consumer champions in Congress saw the access fee as a political issue. A bill that would block the access fee and require AT&T and other long distance providers to subsidize the regional companies already has passed the House. Fortunately, the Senate has not rushed to vote on the measure. Divestiture ought to have a chance to work before Congress intervenes.

The telephone service provided by AT&T has surpassed anything offered by the state-owned phone systems that operate in most other nations. Hopefully, freeing AT&T to enter high technology competition will help to keep the United States in the vanguard of the telecommunications revolution.

Freeze Movement Should Define Peace

Following editorial by Bob Johnson is from the Wadena Pioneer-Journal:

In the past several months we've read many reports of activities of the so-called "peace" movement and their proposals for a nuclear freeze. One group in Moorhead recently said it will challenge Repr. Arlan Stangeland on the nuclear freeze issue in the 1984 election.

The nuclear freeze propaganda weighs very heavily upon the emotions of fear, guilt, horror, despair and hopelessness. Much of this propaganda has been gathered, interpreted and disseminated by organizations such as The World Peace council, the U.S. Peace council and the Center for Defense Information. These high-sounding titles hide a background, history and philosophy most Americans would find shocking.

The World Peace council is an outgrowth of a 1948 Soviet-sponsored congress in Poland. The current president is Romesh Chandra, who has long been a controlled Soviet agent.

The groundwork for formation of the U.S. Peace council was laid by three veteran organizers of the Communist party in the U.S. The executive director of the council is Michael Myerson, a long-time functionary of the New York State Communist party.

The Center for Defense Information is directed by a retired Navy rear admiral who appeared on Soviet television and condemned the policies of the U.S. while apologizing for every new Soviet weapons deployment.

What so many peace and nuclear freeze advocates fail to acknowledge is that the United States has already done what they are now demanding we do as a show of good faith. We have frozen our strategic nuclear forces while the Soviets have amassed the largest military might in history.

In the 1972-82 decade, we cancelled the B1 bomber, closed down our Minuteman production line, delayed deployment of the MX missile, cancelled development of the neutron bomb, cut our navy almost in half, stopped the draft, abolished the Air defense command officially, dismantled our only U.S. anti-missile defense system, cut military defense spending to half of that of the Kennedy defense budget, reduced our supply of surface-to-air missiles to zero and withdrew 1,000 warheads from our European installations.

The Soviet Union now holds a strategic advantage over the U.S. of from two to five to one, depending on which weapons category is being counted. Unless that advantage is countered soon by a commitment to rapid production and deployment of a space-based defense system, where we hold the technological advantage, we will be left with only two options — submission to nuclear blackmail or surrender.

Yet the peace movement rejects the third U.S. option — a space-based, non-nuclear defense system that kills only missiles, not people.

Perhaps we should ask the leaders of the freeze movement for their definition of peace. History teaches us that those who place a higher value on peace than liberty deprive themselves of both.

Borrowed Nonsense:

"In keeping with our policy of total honesty," the real estate salesman said, "I'm going to tell you the disadvantages of this property as well as the advantages. First of all, there is a stockyard half a mile to the west, a rubber factory and hide and tallow rendering plant two blocks to the east and a vinegar works just south of here." "What are the advantages?" the prospect asked. "Well," the salesman said, "you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

It's really hard to break old habits. A group of Twin Cities suburban housewives went to a club that featured a young male stripper and it was really embarrassing. As he took off his clothes, they took them and hung them up.

CHRISTMAS SAFETY TIPS

When selecting toys for children, make sure there are no sharp edges or small parts that might be swallowed.

Keeping the holiday season merry may mean being more alert to possible safety hazards when shopping for gifts or decorating the home, experts say.

Here, from the Independent Insurance Agents of America (IIAA), are some hints to help you have a happier—and safer—holiday:

- While shopping for gifts, make sure your purse or billfold is closed at all times. Do not leave any packages or purses unattended. This time of year, unfortunately, brings purse snatchers and pickpockets out in droves.
- Make sure your credit card slip has been filled out properly before signing and make sure your card is returned. If you should decide to use cash instead of credit, keep it concealed until you must pay. You might consider using travelers checks or money orders at this time of year.
- If you're buying a fresh tree, its branches and needles should bend easily with very few needles falling off. Peel a bit of the trunk off and touch the bottom. It should be sticky with resin. Once you get the tree home, cut a few inches off the bottom and place it in a stand with water. The tree should be placed away from any heat vents, ducts or fireplaces.
- Christmas lights should be used with caution as they can cause fire and shock. According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, you should check plugs and connectors for loose or missing links—they may expose bare metal conductors. If so, do not use the set. Also check the sockets. A damaged socket may give a person a shock. If the prongs on the light set bend, or if there is any bare wire, do not use the set.
- When selecting toys for children, read the labels for safety and age recommendations. Make sure toys do not have sharp edges or small parts that might be swallowed. Also make sure the toy is in one piece after the child removes it from the package. Wires, staples and pins may injure the child. Return the item if it is not intact.

Looking Backward

1923 — 60 YEARS AGO

Mrs. J.M. Bishop conducted a meeting of child welfare workers in Bemidji. — H.O. Chommie delivered the address at memorial services conducted by the local Elks Lodge. — Clyde Nason drove a Lincoln car from the Twin Cities to Thief River Falls in seven hours and 38 minutes, setting what is believed to be a record. — The Times is printing a book of 400 receipes compiled by the local Legion Auxiliary unit.

1933 — 50 YEARS AGO

Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston opened Dec. 11. — National Elks magazine placed Roy Oen of Thief River Falls, captain of the University of Minnesota football team, on its All-American team. — Hans Anton was reelected president of the Pennington county fair board.

1943 — 40 YEARS AGO

Paul Engelstad was reelected president of the Pennington County Farm Bureau at its annual meeting. — Rev. Henry J. Soltau, Minneapolis crusader against liquor and vice, addressed two large audiences in the city auditorium. — Lampert Lumber Co. purchased the Skarstad-Daniels Lumber Co., established in 1937 by Alred Skarstad and S.F. Daniels. — Jack McKechnie was elected master of the local Masonic Lodge, succeeding B. Dan Bjorkman.

1953 — 30 YEARS AGO

Kathryn Vorachek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Vorachek, a senior at the University of Minnesota, was presented with the "Little Red Oil Can" award for her contribution to the institution. — Conrad A. Jensen was reelected head of the local Sons of Norway Lodge. — County board called for bids on a new court house, the bids to be opened Jan. 26 — Carl Torgerson and Fred Koop were reelected to the Thief River Falls Creamery board at the annual meeting, with Albert Hanson being elected president. — Herman A. Kjos was named to succeed Bertrum Molseth as master of the Masonic Lodge.

1963 — 20 YEARS AGO

Westaker Lutheran church in Newfolden moved into its new building in time for the holiday season. — Elected for two-year terms to the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce were Jon Metusalem, Donovan Narverud, Glenn Peterson and S.E. Sinding, with Randall Noper and J.J. Womack reelected for two-year terms. Pennington county placed first in the state in soil sampling for 1963 and received a plaque from the Farmer Magazine in St. Paul. — Carl Hovie retired after 39 years as a postal carrier in Thief River Falls — Mr. and Mrs. Emil Farmes of Thief River Falls celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

1973 — 10 YEARS AGO

Efforts to organize a youth-senior citizens center in Thief River Falls resulted in a report to the city council by a committee recently organized to compile information concerning the need and support for such an undertaking, but no action was taken immediately. — Early morning fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Wedul about 2½ miles south of Thief River Falls.

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

I regularly travel to visit businessmen, conducting workshops to increase profitability and survivability. These travels are tough because it is not uncommon for me to be in three communities within 24 hours, covering 400 to 500 miles each day. But the opportunity to discover what is happening is important to me, as well as the chance to help. As a 30-year businessman, who has met payrolls and problems, I can communicate in a way that an 'outsider' can not.

Today a successful businessman needs to plan ahead. To do that he must look at the future based on what is happening in the world, as well as the United States and his home town. He has to determine how the future affects his business.

This is the "information age," and things happen so fast that not keeping current could be the equivalent of sentencing your business to death. My inability to conduct all of the workshops that are requested around the country has me using this and next week's columns to provide some insights that I believe are needed today.

Our first step in planning must be an understanding of what is happening in the world, the nation and the marketplace we serve. That will be our starting point.

A look at our world and check on potential international customers will reveal that most do not have the ability to buy from us. They are in hock up to their necks, probably to the point where most will default on what they owe. Furthermore, the dollar is expensive, with high interest rates and the desire by many to transfer funds to a secure and stable United States, coupled with the requirement that oil be paid for in dollars or gold, and that further complicates any sales.

Our costs are so much higher than our overseas competition, that we are having trouble selling overseas. The labor cost, alone, on one of our cars, is $1,500 to $2,000 more, per car, than the Japanese, after deducting transportation cost. There are few countries who exceed us in total cost. Even our professional and contracting firms are watching their businesses decline in the face of foreign competition we can not meet or beat.

So the world isn't going to provide a demand surge for goods and services that we must sell to achieve real continuing prosperity.

Looking at the United States, the problems are apparent. Our expensive dollar versus the cheaper other currencies and lower costs of other nations make us increase our purchases of foreign products at the expense of American products. That's also exactly what consumers from other countries are doing, buying non-American products which are cheaper.

With 9½ per cent unemployment (it's much more, but we define unemployment as people out of work who are actively searching for a job and we exclude those millions who have just given up looking!), interest rates that are too high to permit most Americans to afford a new home (with each new home there are purchases of appliances, carpeting, furniture, as well as the materials, and labor that goes into the house), the ever-growing federal deficit (now anticipated at between $150 billion and $200 billion each year) which translates into higher inflation and less credit availability for everyone else, there is little doubt that interest rates will rise even further.

Put all of this together and it becomes apparent that few businesses will enjoy much recovery unless we do something to solve our problems. Since the solution will hurt our pocketbooks, I just don't have much hope. After all, who would favor wage and benefit cuts of significance to get labor costs down, or investment at high interest rates to get productivity up. . . or elimination of special interest programs to reduce the federal deficit coupled with higher taxes. None of these solid solutions will take place.

As a businessman, I think that realism would force me to not be optimistic about the future.

The alternative, a scenario based on good times, low interest rates, full employment, less greed and more understanding, available credit, our ability to compete internationally, and so much more, isn't likely based on human nature. While I have a lot of faith in the Lord, I suspect He feels that in giving us a free will, that we have the obligation to get ourselves out of our own mess.

Whether we will or won't is something I don't know. I suspect that we will stupidly continue to regress into another recession that could be worse than what we have experienced. We have ourselves to blame. Our politicians really reflect our unwillingness to act maturely.

Succulent Christmas Goose This Year Order Early – Order Now

Every year we read about the succulent roast goose served by Mrs. Crachit in Dickens' Christmas Carol. This year, why not serve one? It is unexpected holiday excitement that will fill your family with Victorian Christmas glow.

Today's best goose is well-bred, frozen and should have a USDA Grade A inspection seal on the package. Look for it. It means the bird is far meatier, far less fatty, and time and work saving since it is obligingly self-basting. Order yours at once to ensure you have it in plenty of time for the holidays.

Thaw bird according to package instructions. Follow the table below for correct roasting times. If you cook the bird unstuffed, cooking time will be slightly shortened.

Ready-to-Cook Weight (Pounds)	Time at 400° F.	PLUS Time at 325° F. (Hours)	Total Roasting Time (Hours)
8 to 10	1 hour	1-1/2 to 2	2-1/2 to 3
10 to 12	1 hour	2 to 2-1/2	3 to 3-1/2

APRICOT-WALNUT STUFFING

- 1 cup (1-lb. 1-oz.) canned apricots, drained
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 6 cups day-old bread, cubed
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup golden raisins
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Dice apricots. In bowl, pour melted butter or margarine over bread cubes. Combine with apricots and all remaining ingredients. Toss lightly to mix well. Makes enough stuffing for a 10 to 12 pound goose.

What Parents Can Do About Drug Abuse

You can help your children say no to drugs. That's the message from the National Institute on Drug Abuse. Strong family support helps children develop the personal values and self-confidence they need to resist peer pressure.

Start early, the Institute advises parents. Talk to your children before they have a problem. Although peer pressure can have a strong influence on your children, your love and guidance will help them resist negative pressures. Let them know it's okay to say no to drugs.

Learn about drugs so that you can give your children accurate information. Talk to them before they have problems. As early as the fourth grade, your children may have knowledge of drugs and much of it will be wrong. Set the record straight and let them know where you stand.

While your children need your support, you, too, may find the need for help if drug problems arise. Many parents find getting together with other parents to set behavior guidelines and standards is helpful.

For free flyers giving futher guidance, write to the National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information, P.O. Box 1909, Rockville, Maryland 20850.
